BUILDING COMMITTEE.

The following report of the Building Committee was presented:

Gentlemen, — Your committee appointed to confer with the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough, with respect to the purchase of a part of the property known as the Separate school property, beg to report as follows.

Your committee beg leave to report that they entered into negotiations with the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough, and attached hereto will be found a copy of the communication, which speaks for itself. Your committee recommend that they be authorized to act jointly with the committee of the Town Council in closing the purchase of said property, and take such steps as are necessary in the interests of the Board for the carrying out of the same.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. P. Kennedy, Chairman.

The communication referred to was as follows:—

"To H. P. Kennedy, chairman of the Building Committee of the Board of Education, town:

"Dear Sir, — The Committee of the Whole Council last night considered your communication to them of the same date regarding the purchase of the Separate school grounds for Collegiate Institute and armouries purposes, and passed the following resolution for presentation to the council:

"That this committee recommend to the council that the council cooperate with the School Board in contributing $10,000 each, to be supplemented by $10,000 from the Government, for the purchase of the Separate school grounds at $30,000, as a site for armouries and for a Collegiate Institute, and that the matter be referred to the Finance Committee to settle details, and carry the arrangements to a conclusion, with power to send a deputation to Ottawa if necessary, the expenses of such deputation to be paid by the treasurer upon the certificate of the members thereof.'

"Yours truly,
"G. M. Roger,
"Mayor."

It was moved by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. Jameson, that the Building Committee's report be received and adopted.

It was moved by Mr. Pringle, seconded by Mr. Crane,

"That the Committee on Appointments be authorized to advertise during the present month for one Collegiate Institute teacher, male, and one public school lady teacher, as per schedule."

The motion was carried

The Board then adjourned.

MADE BANDMASTER A PRESENTATION

Mr. J. M. Greene the Recipient of a Purse of Money From Salvation Army Band.

Last night at the conclusion of the Festival in the Salvation Army Barracks the members of the Band made a presentation of a purse to the Bandmaster, J. M. Greene, who left this morning for England to attend the International Congress. The presentation was made by Mr. W. Payton, who read the following address:—

Peterborough, June 6th, 1904.

To Brother J. Mendell Greene,
S. A. Bandmaster,

Dear Comrade,—We, the members of the S. A. Band desire to take this opportunity on the eve of your departure to London, England, to attend the great International Demonstration, (S. A. Congress) of presenting you with this purse of money as a small token of esteem in which you are held by the members of the Band. We only wish it was more as we feel you are deserving of it.

We pray that you will have a pleasant and profitable trip and that God will be with you all the way, that He will abundantly bless you and bring you safe home again, full of faith and the Glory of God and with a renewed determination to lead us on to greater victories.

Goodbye and God Bless You, Till We Meet Again.

WM. E. PAYTON.
W. NORTHCOTT.

Mr. Greene acknowledged the kindness of his fellow-bandsmen in a few words, expressing his deep gratitude for the kindness of his associates. Mr. W. Northcote, deputy bandmaster, will have charge of the band in Mr. Greene's absence.

THE NEW PRINCIPAL

Of Presbyterian College at Montreal is Prof. Scrimger.

PROF. CAMPBELL RESIGNS.

Was Teacher to the New Principal and Does Not Care to Serve on the Staff Under Him—He Had Also Been Acting Principal Since Rev. Dr. MacVicar's Death—His Trial For Heresy.

St. John, N. B., June 6.—Prof. Scrimger was appointed principal of the Presbyterian College at Montreal on Saturday. Prof. John Campbell scored a sensation by resigning.

The suggestions of the committee on the Presbyterian College were introduced just before the close of the morning session. When the resolution appointing Dr. Scrimger was passed Prof. Campbell rose and spoke for only three minutes.

He said that thirty-one years ago he had been offered a position at Ottawa, but decided to leave the matter to the church. The latter sent him to Montreal, and even though the position was not so good as the Ottawa one, yet he put aside all personal feelings and accepted it, as he believed, for the benefit of the whole church.

PROF. JOHN CAMPBELL

Dr. Scrimger came to him as a young man, passed through his hands and was now being placed over him. For himself, Prof. Campbell did not care; but he felt he owed some duty to his friends, and must consider their feelings. He had the greatest respect for Dr. Scrimger's manhood and learning, but could not consent wisely to retain the position.

He believed that no fault could be found with the administration of the college during his term as acting principal.

The speech was very short and caused a lot of sympathy for the speaker.

The general comment was that while all sympathized with Mr. Campbell and regretted that he should be compelled to take such a step, the assembly deprecated the manner in which he spoke, for although his words were not unkind or harsh, his manner was slightly importunate.

In 1893 Prof. Campbell was tried for heresy before the presbytery of Montreal in connection with certain statements made in his address, "The Perfect Book and the Perfect Father." There he was condemned by a majority vote. He appealed to the synod of Montreal and was sustained by an almost unanimous majority, only three members siding with the Montreal minority. To save the Montreal presbytery from humiliation a finding was adopted which granted the appellant a larger theological liberty than he had claimed.

The heresy with wich Prof. Campbell was charged involved no special point of doctrine, but was based in the expression by him of doubts regarding the absolute inerrancy of the Bible and his advocacy of a further revision of the existing translations. He was thus to a certain extent in line with the later developments of what has come to be known as the "higher criticism," and the larger theological liberty granted by the Synods of Montreal and Ottawa was a victory of the advanced section of the church. But the very vagueness of the charge and the growing distrust of the new doctrines shown by the more conservative members of the church has apparently caused a certain amount of dissatisfaction in that section which it was not politic to ignore. Much has to be done in these days for the sake of peace and there is little doubt Prof. Campbell's reasonable expectation regarding the principalship was disappointed in order to prevent the breach from becoming wider and the conflict from becoming embittered.

Read of how a whole family got cured by using these wonderful Pills.

Mr. Henry Hedrick, South Woodslee, Ont., says that Doan's Kidney Pills are far ahead of doctor's medicine.

He writes: "I have tried Doan's Kidney Pills and can honestly say that I never used anything better. I was so bad with my kidneys I could hardly raise myself up without help but Doan's Kidney Pills cured me.

"My wife was always complaining of a lame back, and they completely cured her.

"Our son was also troubled with his kidneys and as your pills had done us so much good we got him to try them and they cured him as well. They are far ahead of doctor's medicine, and I advise a trial of Doan's Kidney Pills for all sufferers from kidney trouble."

The Gentleman From Indiana

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Copyright, 1899, by Doubleday & McClure Co.
Copyright, 1902, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

The words, the air, that husky voice, recalled to the men of Carlow another day and another procession not like this one. And the song Wilkerson was singing is the one song every northern born American knows and can sing. The leader of the band caught the sound, signaled to his men, twenty instruments rose as one to twenty mouths, the snare drum rattled, the big drum crashed, the leader threw his baton high over his head, and music burst from twenty brazen throats:

"Glory, glory, hallelujah!"

Instantaneously the whole procession began to sing the refrain, and the people in the street and those in the wagons and carriages and those leaning from the windows joined with one accord. The ringing bells caught the time of the song, and the upper air reverberated in the rhythm.

The Harkless club of Carlow wheeled into Main street, 200 strong, with their banners and transparencies. Lige Willetts rode at their head, and behind him strode William Todd and Parker and Ross Schofield and Newt Tibbs and Hartley Bowlder, and even Bud Tipworthy held a place in the ranks through his connection with the Herald. They were all singing, and behind them Helen saw the flag covered barouche and her father, and beside him sat John Harkless, with his head bared. She glanced at Briscoe. He was standing on the seat in front of her and Minnie and both were singing. Meredith had climbed upon the back seat and was nervously fumbling at a cigarette. "Sing, Tom!" the girl cried to him excitedly.

"I should be ashamed not to," he answered, and dropped the cigarette and began to sing "John Brown's Body" with all his strength. With that she seized his hand, sprang up beside him, and over the swelling chorus her full soprano rose, lifted with all the power in her.

The barouche rolled into the square, and as it passed Harkless turned and bent a sudden gaze upon the group in the buckboard, but the western sun was in his eyes and he only caught a glimpse of a vague, bright shape and a dazzle of gold, and he was borne along and out of view down the singing street.

"Glory, glory, hallelujah!
Glory, glory, hallelujah!
Glory, glory, hallelujah!
As we go marching on."

The barouche stopped in front of the courthouse, and Harkless passed up a lane they made for him to the steps. When he turned to them to speak, they began to cheer again, and he had to wait for them to quiet down.

"We can't hear him from over here," said Briscoe. "We're too far off. Mr. Meredith, suppose you take the ladies closer in; I'll stay with the horses."

"He's a great man, isn't he?" Meredith said to Helen as he handed her out of the buckboard. "I've been trying to realize that he's the same old fellow I've been treating so familiarly all day long."

"Yes, he is a great man," she answered. "This is only the beginning."

"That's true," said Briscoe. "Only wait awhile, and we'll all go on to Washington and get a thrill down our backs when we hear the speaker say, 'The gentleman from Indiana,' and see John Harkless rise to speak. But hurry along, young people."

Crossing the street, they met Miss Tibbs. She was wiping her streaming eyes with the back of her left hand and still mechanically waving her handkerchief with her right. "Isn't it beautiful?" she said, not ceasing to unconsciously flutter the little square of cambric. "There was such a throng that I grew faint and had to come away. I don't mind your seeing me cry. Pretty near everybody cried when he walked up the steps and we saw that he was lame."

John Harkless looked down upon the attentive, earnest faces and into the kindly eyes of the Hoosier country people, and as he spoke the thought kept recurring to him that this was the place he had dreaded to come back to; that these were the people he had wished to leave, these who gave him everything they had to give, and this made it difficult to keep his tones steady and his throat clear. Helen stood so far from the steps (nor could she be induced to penetrate farther, though they would have made way for her) that only fragments reached her, but these she remembered.

"I have come home. Ordinarily a man needs to fall sick by the wayside or to be set upon by thieves in order to realize that nine-tenths of the world is Samaritan—and the other tenth only too busy or too ignorant to be. Down here he realizes it with no necessity of illness or wounds to make him know it, and if he does get hurt you send him to congress. There will be no other in Washington so proud of what he stands for as I shall be. To represent you is to stand for fearlessness, honor, kindness. You have sent all of the Crossroaders to the penitentiary, but probably each of us is acquainted with politicians who ought to be sent there. When the term is over I shall want to take the first train home. This is the place for a man who likes to live where people are kind to each other and where they have the old fashioned way of saying 'home,' other places they don't seem to get so much into it as we do. And to come home as I have today—to see the home faces—I have come home."

CHAPTER XV.

It was 5 o'clock when Harkless climbed the stairs to the Herald office, and his right arm and hand were aching and limp. Ross Schofield was the only person in the editorial room, and there was nothing in his appearance that should have caused a man to start and fall back from the doorway, but that is what John did. "What's the matter, Mr. Harkless?" cried Ross, hurrying forward with a fear that the other had been suddenly re-seized by illness.

"What are those?" asked Harkless, with a gesture of his hand that seemed to include the entire room.

"Those?" repeated Ross, staring blankly.

"Those rosettes — these streamers — that stovepipe—all this blue ribbon?"

Ross turned tale. "Ribbon?" he said inquiringly. "Ribbon?" He seemed unable to perceive the decorations referred to.

"Yes," answered John. "These rosettes on the chairs, that band, and"—

"Oh!" Ross answered. "That?" He fingered the band on the stovepipe as if he saw it for the first time. "Yes; I see."

"But what's it for?"

"Why—it's—it's likely meant fer decorations."

"It seems to have been here some time."

"It has. I reckon it's most due to be called in. It's be'n up ever sence—sence"—

"Who put it up, Ross?"

"We did."

"What for?"

Ross was visibly embarrassed. "Why—fer—fer the other editor."

"For Mr. Fisbee?"

"Land, no! You don't suppose we'd go to all that work and bother to brisken things up for that old gentleman, do you?"

"I meant young Mr. Fisbee. He is the other editor, isn't he?"

"Oh!" said Ross. "Young Mr. Fisbee? Yes; we put 'em up fer him."

"You did? Did he appreciate them?"

"Well, he—seemed to—kind of like 'em."

"Where is he now? I came here to find him."

"He's gone."

"Gone? Hasn't he been here this afternoon?"

"Yes; some the time. Come in and stayed durin' the leevy you was holdin' and saw the extry off all right."

"When will he be back?"

"Sence it's be'n a daily he gits here by 8 after supper, but don't stay very late. Old Mr. Fisbee and Parker look after whatever comes in then, unless it's something special. He'll likely be here by half past 8 at the farthest off."

"I can't wait till then. I've been wanting to see him every minute since I got in, and he hasn't been near me. Nobody could even point him out to me. Where has he gone? I want to see him now."

"Want to discharge him again?" said a voice from the door, and, turning, they saw that Mr. Martin stood there observing them.

"No," said Harkless. "I want to give him the Herald. Do you know where he is?"

Mr. Martin stroked his beard deliberately. "The person you speak of hadn't ought to be very hard to find in Carlow, and—well, maybe when found you'll want to put a kind of a codicil to that deed to the Herald. The committee was reckless enough to hire that carriage of yours by the day, and Keating and Warren Smith are sitting in it up at the corner with their feet on the cushions to show how used they are to riding around with four white horses every day in the week. It's waiting till you're ready to go out to Briscoes'. There's an hour before supper time, and you can talk to young Fisbee all you want. He's out there."

The first words Warren Smith spoke had lifted the veil of young Fisbee's duplicity; had shown John with what fine intelligence and supreme delicacy and sympathy young Fisbee had worked for him, had understood him and had made him. If the open attack on McCune had been made and the damnatory evidence published in Harkless' own paper while Harkless himself was a candidate and rival he would have felt dishonored. The McCune papers could have been used for Halloway's benefit, but not for his own, and young Fisbee had understood and had saved him. It was a point of honor that many would have held finical and inconsistent, but one that young Fisbee had comprehended was vital to Harkless. And this was the man he had discharged like a dishonest servant, the man who had thrown what (in Carlow eyes) was riches into his lap, the man who had made his paper and who had made him and saved him. Harkless wanted to see young Fisbee as he longed to see only one other person in the world.

As the barouche drove up to the brick house he made out through the trees a retreative flutter of skirts on the porch, and the thought crossed his mind that Minnie had flown indoors to give some final directions toward the preparation of the banquet. But when the barouche halted at the gate he was surprised to see her waving to him from the steps, while Tom Meredith and Mr. Bence and Mr. Boswell formed a little court around her. Lige Willetts rode up on horseback at the same moment, and the judge was waiting in front of the gate. Harkless stepped out of the barouche and took his hand. "I was told young Fisbee was here."

"Young Fisbee is here," said the judge.

Mr. Fisbee came around the corner of the house and went toward Harkless. "Fisbee," cried the latter, "where is your nephew?"

The old man took his hand in both his own and looked him between the eyes and thus stood while there was a long pause, the others watching them. "You must not say that I told you," he said at last. "Go into the garden."

But when Harkless' step crunched the garden there was no one there. Asters were blooming in beds between the green rosebushes, and their many fingered hands were flung open in wide surprise that he should expect to find young Fisbee there. It was just before sunset. Birds were gossiping in the sycamores on the bank. At the foot of the garden, near the creek, there were some tall hydrangea bushes, flower laden, and beyond them one broad shaft of sun smote the creek bends for a mile in that flat land and crossed the garden like a bright, taut drawn veil. Harkless passed the bushes and stepped out into this gold brilliance. Then he uttered a cry and stopped. Helen was standing beside the hydrangeas with both hands pressed to her face and her eyes cast on the ground. She had run away as far as she could run. There were high fences extending down to the creek on each side, and the water was beyond.

"You!" he said. "You! You!"

She did not lift her eyes, but began to move away from him with little backward steps. When she reached the bench on the bank she spoke with a quick intake of breath and in a voice be almost failed to hear, the merest whisper, and her words came so slowly that sometimes minutes separated them. "Can you—will you keep me—on the Herald?"

"Keep you"—

He came near her. "I don't understand. Is it you—you—who are here again?"

"Have you forgiven me? You know—now—why I wouldn't resign? You forgive my—that telegram?"

"What telegram?"

"The one that came to you—this morning."

"Your telegram?"

"Yes."

"Did you send me one?"

"Yes."

"It did not come to me."

"Yes—it did."

"But—what was it about?"

(To be concluded to-morrow)

Could Not Sleep At Night.

Was All Run Down.

Had No Appetite.

FOOD WOULD NOT DIGEST.

Mrs. I. W. Warner, Riverdale, N.S., is glad there is such a remedy as

Burdock Blood Bitters.

IT CURED HER AND WILL CURE YOU.

She says: "I wish to add my testimony to the many others who have spoken so highly as to the unfailing virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was all run down, had no appetite, lost all ambition, could not sleep much and had terrible headache and backache, and my food did not digest properly. I saw B.B.B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. I am so glad there is such a remedy provided for suffering humanity, and cannot praise it enough for I think there is no medicine like it on the market."

$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. W. J. Kidder, of Hill Dale Farm (Enosburg Center), Enosburg, Vt., writes: "During the past year I found myself expecting maternity, and in rapidly failing health. I suffered dreadfully from bloating and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker each day and suffered much sharp pain at times. I felt that something must be done. Took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became excellent, and I could do all my own work. I had a short, easy confinement and have a healthy baby boy."

Sunshine Furnace

Flues Easily Cleaned

Cleaning out the flues of most furnaces is so difficult and complicated that only an expert can do it, and experts' services usually come high.

The flues in the Sunshine Furnace can be cleaned from two different clean-out doors and from the feed-door, so that there is no part of the flues which is not easily reached.

A special brush for this purpose is always supplied, and the operation is so simple that a boy can perform it.

The whole Sunshine Furnace construction is on the same plan of simplicity.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

Stock market this morning was irregular with business still confined within small limits. In the early movements O.W. was rather dampening to speculative sentiment as it suggested the possible flattening out of the recent active movement. The stocks were extremely dull at the start with a declining tendency and while more business was done after first hour it was not to the benefit of values which showed a total loss of one p.c. from last night. The general list gradually weakened as the recession in O.W. became pronounced. There was very little feature to the speculation.

The market turned strong about 2.30 o'clock and the close was at about the highest of the day.

FINE ADDRESS ON EDUCATIONAL WORK

ne would rather remain preaching the Gospel; but it being impressed upon him that in training those to preach the Gospel he was as much doing the work of God as in preaching to a congregation, he decided to enter the work and with much reluctancy to leave the George Street Church, he went to the University at Cobourg. The work there was no sinecure and the speaker found that all a man's energies had to be employed. For the first three years he felt somewhat lonesome in the work, as he missed the variety of the church work which was the life of a minister. But there was compensation in the increasing sympathy with the students and in the increasing familiarity with Christian truth. It was necessary to do more studying than when in the ministry for the students were constantly asking questions and the speaker found that in everything he was likely to meet he must have the strong conviction and must be perfectly frank. There was joy in sympathy with the students in their studies for they appreciated any effort made to assist them.

There was a great variety of intellects among the students, some being bright and some rather dull, but as a rule they were men of keen intellect, and broad outlook. The preachers of to-day should speak more of the noble work of the ministry and seek to have others follow in their steps.

In referring to Toronto University the speaker said that during the past three years it had made very rapid strides and was going ahead in every particular, several new buildings being erected. The efficiency in the work, and the religious influence was always on the increase. A University Y.M.C.A. was being organized and a building was expected to be built for this purpose. Provision was now made that the students could take Bible study in the first year and continue it if desired. He spoke of Victoria University as having about it a splendid religious atmosphere. At the beginning of the past year there were eleven volunteers for the mission work, while this number had increased to 31 at the close of the year. A splendid religious work was being done among the students and the College was enjoying great prosperity in all respects.

The report of this morning's session, is unavoidably crowded out.

of Ottawa, would pay the town a visit, and as far as he could see there was no reason why the change should not be made, as there were no excursions yet arranged for that day.

Ald. McWilliams speaking on the matter, concurred in the suggestion, but thought that the change might be made for one year only, as an experiment, and moved that the first Monday in August be made Civic Holiday for the future.

Ald. Morrison thought that the matter might be referred to a committee, and in the meantime an effort might be made to ascertain whether any interests would be prejudiced.

The Mayor thought that the day should be fixed permanently, as considerable trouble had been experienced in the past.

The motion of Ald. McWilliams was carried.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, Mr. A. Ash addressed the council on some difference as to a sewer connection, and the matter was referred to the Board of Works to report upon.

BYLAWS.

Ald. Johnston moved the first reading of a bylaw to provide for the fire department government. The brigade shall consist of 15 ordinary men, a chief and an assistant chief. This bylaw confirms the payment of salaries to the firemen passed early in the year. The bylaw was passed.

Bylaws providing for the raising of money for the construction of sewers and granolithic walks, was passed.

Ald. Johnston moved the first reading of a bylaw to provide for the appointment of Samuel Wainwright, as fire engineer, and John Montgomery and W. Parnell, as drivers for the fire brigade. The bylaw was carried.

Ald. Johnston also moved the first reading of the bylaw authorizing the purchase of 400 feet of fire hose at 90 cents per foot, from the Gutta Percha and Rubber Co. The bylaw was carried.

The Mayor, who left the chair for the purpose, moved that the Street Commissioner be instructed to place a man on the streets to keep them clean.

Mayor Roger moved, seconded by Ald. Mason, that men be employed to trim the shade trees, except where objected to by property owners. —Carried.

The council then adjourned.

Renton and Burns will run their postponed footrace to-morrow evening at 7.30 o'clock.

LAWN TENNIS.

The cinder court at the Y.M.C.A. is being fitted up and will be ready for use in a few days. A club of about twenty members has been formed.

BASKET-BALL.

A meeting of the "Junior Arrows" basket ball team, will be held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. Important business.

BASEBALL.

Last night the first half of the second games in the Guild League were played, George street winning from St. Paul's by 10—3, and St. Andrew's and St. Luke's playing a tie game, each scoring one run. The first game was played on the Benson avenue grounds, and outside of one innings was a good exhibition of baseball. In their first turn at bat St. Paul's brought in 3 runs which ended their run-getting. The Methodists were shut out in the first, but in the second innings by bunching hits Sturgeon was touched up for 10 runs. He was replaced by Watt in the next innings and no further scoring was done. Parnell pitched for George street, and in only one innings was he hit freely. His support outside of the first innings was good. H. R. H. Kenner umpired.

The teams were:—

St. Paul's—Rosenburg, Sturgeon, Stacey, Boyd, Wightman, Walker, Ferguson, Watt, Carmichael.—3.

George street—Mess. Robertson, Humbers, Miller, Dobbin, Parnell, Curtis, Hutchinson, Metheral, Dredge.—10.

Last night on Nicholls Oval a game was played between the Excelsiors and Victors. The Victors did not live up to their name. They were vanquished by a score of 19 to 0. Batteries—Excelsiors, Belleghem and Hayes; Victors,—Hawkins and Hall.

THE JAPANESE LAND ATTACK.

Preceded Sea Attack on Port Arthur Monday Night.

COSSACKS HARRASSING JAPS

Jap Advance Upon Port Arthur by Land is Hotly Contested by the Russians—Vivid Description of a Cossack Sortie.

Che Foo, June 8.—Preceding a sea attack on Port Arthur Monday night, the Japanese apparently made a determined effort to advance on that stronghold by land.

Russians Poisoned Water.

Tokio, June 8.—The Chinese say that when the Russians abandoned Takukao they poisoned the water sources. Admiral Kataoka is investigating the charge.

Togo Locating Mines.

Tokio, June 8.—Admiral Togo has succeeded in clearing the channel leading into Talienwan. He began locating the mines on June 3, and since then he has found and exploded 41. Monday a small steamer was able safely to enter the harbor. The work of locating other mines is now continuing.

Where Kuropatkin Is.

Paris, June 8.—The Foreign Office received advices yesterday morning definitely announcing that General Kuropatkin with his main force is at Liaoyang.

THE ADVANCE RETARDED

Cossacks Make Desperate Efforts to Harrass Japanese.

Liaoyang, June 8.—The Japanese have drawn in their advance guards from Vafangow. They blew up part of the railway and the telegraph station on the night of June 3. The damage was soon repaired.

Samsonoff's Cossacks are harrassing the Japanese toward Port Arthur. Cossaks searching the hills occasionally catch detached parties unawares. Samsonoff's fight with the Japanese, June 3, in the valley of Putsiantun took place in an immense amphitheatre in the hills. Samsonoff threw forward skirmishers to feel out the Japanese positions. The Cossacks and dragoons crept forward, examining the steep hillsides, deep ravines and dry water courses likely to protect Japanese ambuscades.

Finally the Japanese fire on the crest of the hills located them and the assailants swarmed up almost inaccessible cliffs without stopping to breathe. The Japanese first kept in the shelter of rocks, but the Russian fire searched them out and they flitted shadow-like across the rocks as the Cossacks continued to advance, while the dargoons cleared the valley leading from the amphitheatre. The Japanese cavalry retreated, unwilling to risk a collision at close quarters.

Cossacks Encircle Japs.

The Russian line encircled one great hill on which was the principal Japanese position, like a living ribbon creeping toward the summit. Col. Sereda led the advance until he fell wounded, half way up the cliffs. The command devolved upon Lieut.-Col. Chichesville, who continued the forward movement, clearing the Japanese from the heights. In the meantime a Russian battery placed an accurate shrapnel fire among the hill tops, hastening the Japanese retreat. Two Japanese sharpshooters on the summit of a hill seriously annoyed the Russians at a critical period of the advance. An officer of Terileski's company scaled the rocks and in the face of almost certain death killed both the Japanese, returning unharmed.

Soon after the Russians had occupied the hilltop and an entrenched village they received an order to retire. Just then the Japanese artillery reserve was brought into action and showered the retiring Russians with shrapnel, but failed to get the exact range. Besides Col. Sereda, 17 Russians were wounded in the day's encounter. The Japanese losses owing to the accuracy of the Russian artillery fire, seemed heavy.

War Correspondent Killed.

Newchwang, June 8.—A private telegram just received from Shankaikwan says that Lewis Etzel, correspondent of The London Daily Telegraph, and Ernest Brindle of The London Daily Mail, were fired upon by Chinese soldiers while in a junk between Shwantaitze and Erdiko. Etzel was killed, but Brindle is believed to be safe. They left here on June 3 to investigate the movements of some bandits. Etzel was a native of Butler, Penna., and his father resides now either at Denver, Col., or San Diego, Cal. United States Consul-General Miller has left here by special train for the scene of the killing of Etzel, and will make a personal investigation of the death.

—This is "leaky" June.

YOUTHFUL PRISONER BEFORE MAGISTRATE.

Earl Schweier Sent to Mimico for Indefinite Period.

The Boy who Stole the Horse and Buggy on Saturday was Caught at Fenelon Falls.

After having driven more than one hundred miles during the past three days in search of Earl Schweier, Constable Adams returned to town yesterday afternoon, having been successful in his mission. It was not until yesterday that Mr. Adams was enabled to locate the youngster, although he searched diligently all day Sunday and Monday forenoon. While at Omemee yesterday he was informed by a 'phone message that the little horse raider had been captured at Fenelon Falls, and there he was found and brought back again.

The boy took a varied course in reaching what proved his destination, Fenelon Falls, having travelled fully 60 miles. He arrived in the vicinity of that town on Sunday evening, tired and hungry, and the poor beast was in the same frame of body; neither had had anything to eat, as far as can be learned, since Saturday at noon. A farmer's wife, named Mrs. McNeil, noticed a horse standing on the side of the road near her home, a short distance from Fenelon Falls. She could see no one in the buggy, and thinking the horse had strayed away from some house, she investigated and found young Schweier fast asleep in the buggy. Upon being awakened he said he could not find his way home. He was taken into the house and refreshed, and the police notified. The police were on the look out for the lad, and wired to the Chief of Police here that a capture had been made.

The boy stated to Constable Adams that his father had a horse almost exactly like the one he was driving, and he thought it belonged to his father. He had evidently made the horse travel at a rather fast pace for the animal was pretty well used up when found. Mr. Robinson, who owned the horse, and who accompanied Mr. Adams, drove the horse back to town, while Earl went with the constable.

Yesterday afternoon the young prisoner appeared before the Magistrate and pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a horse and buggy. He was sentenced to a term in the Mimico Industrial School for boys, the term to be an indefinite period not to exceed five years.

The boy who is only ten years of age, and is an innocent-looking little fellow, seems to be beyond all parental control, and the Magistrate had no other course than to act as he did concerning the matter. On two occasions the boy boarded the train for Port Hope, and twice he ran away and went out of town, being brought back by farmers. He was sent to the Children's Shelter, but nothing could be done with him there.

HORSE RAN AWAY BOY WAS KILLED.

Terrible Accident Near Fowler's Corners Last Evening.

Ira A. Young, the Eight Year old Son of Mr. A. Young Loses His Life.

A fatal runaway accident occurred last evening a short distance from Fowler's Corners, when Ira Oswald Young, son of Mr. Andrew Young, who live on the fourth line of Smith, lost his life. The deceased boy who was eight years of age, was playing in front of his father's house when he noticed a friend of his, Orville Young, son of Mr. T. D. Young, a boy of fourteen years of age, driving down the road on the way to the Post Office. The horse was attached to a road cart with simply a seat and no back. Ira Young jumped into the cart to accompany his friend and get the father's mail also. This was about 7.30 o'clock. Upon returning from the Post Office the horse in some way became frightened at a distance of about 50 yards from the Post Office and both the boys were thrown out. Orville Young escaped with a severe shaking up, but his young friend fell forward and was trampled upon by the horse and his skull crushed. His death occurred almost instantaneously. The horse was caught after running about half a mile.

The terrible accident has cast a gloom over that part of the community and the deepest of sympathy is felt for the sorrowing family to whom the shock was a dreadful one to bear. The boy was a bright little fellow and was a great favourite with all who knew him.

The funeral will take place from the family residence to-morrow afternoon at one o'clock and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery.

Presents for June Bride.

On the principle that the best is none too good for the June bride, the selection should be made at the best store. The Peterborough Cash Bookstore has a display of recherche wedding gifts so large and varied that every taste is easily suited. Only a partial mention can be made here—Cut glass, remarkable for its beauty and richness, books, Bibles, purses, card cases, wrist bags, fans, framed pictures, works of art, etc. A. H. Stratton & Co.

We advise everybody to use Sunlight Soap—
It makes child's play of work.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow.

WAS MARRIED IN LINDSAY.

Mr. Wm. Boyd Irwin Wedded to Miss Rose Dunsford.

(Lindsay Post.)

A social event of great interest to our town citizens was the marriage of Miss Kathleen Rose Dunsford, daughter of the late J. W. Dunsford, Lindsay, which took place on Wednesday, June 1st, at St. Paul's church. The hour had been announced for 3 o'clock p.m., and long before that time St. Paul's was filled with interested spectators, who were eager to catch a glimpse at the popular bride. At the appointed time the bridal party entered the church to the harmonious strains of the Wedding March. The bridegroom, Mr. Wm. Boyd Irwin, was at the altar, awaiting the coming of the bride elect, and in a short time they were united in the bonds of wedlock, by Rural Dean C. H. Marsh, who pronounced them man and wife. No prettier wedding gathering could have assembled to celebrate the first of the June weddings, and although the day broke in with rain, the elements seemed to suspend their watery operations, while the party were on their way to and from the church, thus creating a feeling of assurance that no day through life is so dark or dreary that there is not room for sunshine within, if not without.

The bride was gowned in champagne silk voile trimmed with flowers of silk applique. Instead of the conventional veil, the bride wore a pretty picture hat of champagne chiffon with pink rosebuds. A handsome shower of bride roses was the finishing touch to the dainty costume. The first bridesmaid was Miss B. Belcher, Peterborough, and Miss Mary Dunsford was the second. Both wore gowns of reseda green gloria, trimmed with medallions of champagne applique, also champagne straw hats with pink rosebuds, and carried bridesmaids' bouquets of pink roses. The groomsmen were Mr. Jarvis, of the Bank of Commerce, Peterborough, and Mr. Burwell Bonnell, Bobcaygeon. Messrs. Cust and Mossom Boyd, jrs., and Mr. Logie, Bobcaygeon, acted as ushers.

After the ceremony the wedding party returned to the residence of Mrs. Dunsford, where a reception was held. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The hall and balustrade were festooned with trailers of purple and white lilacs, smilax, etc. In the library, where the dejeuner was served, the table was twined with smilax and lily of the valley; ceilings and walls were draped with rich hangings of purple and white lilacs, tulips and lily of the valley. The drawing room was decorated with the same rich spring flowers, and the bride and groom received the good wishes of their many friends under a large Chinese umbrella which had been suspended from the ceiling for that purpose. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Irwin left for the West, the bride being gowned in a tailored costume of grey French tweed with hat to match.

Amoast the invited guests from out of town were; Mrs. H. J. Wickham, Mr. Percy Hamilton, of Toronto; Mr. J. E. Belcher, Mrs. Martin Dunsford, Mrs. Geo. Dunsford, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Belcher, the Misses Belcher and Mrs. Hammond, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs W.T.C. Boyd and family, Mrs. De Grassi, Mr. Chas. Logie, Mrs. Whish, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Smith, Mrs. Hamilton, Dr. and Mrs. Bonnell, the Misses Bonnell, Bobcaygeon; Mr. N. H. Cowdry, Waterford; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gossage, Gravenhurst; Mrs. Irwin, Peterborough; Judge and Mrs. Barron, Miss Barron, Stratford; Mr. and Mrs. Mossom Boyd, and family, Rev. Walter Creighton, Bobcaygeon. The Lindsay guests were, Judge and Mrs. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Edwards and family, Mrs. Tate, Miss Leary, Dr. and Mrs. Burrows.

The presents to the bride form a magnificent collection of valuable, useful and ornamental treasures, which will long remind her of the esteem of her many friends and of her wedding day.

DYSPEPSIA CURED

A Severe Sufferer Tells How he Overcame the Trouble.

"Not only do I not hesitate to declare the benefit I have received from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I feel it my duty to do so." These are the words which Mr. Edward Lavoie, of St. Jerome, Que., lately addressed to the editor of L'Avenir du Nord, when relating the story of his cure. Mr. Lavoie is well known in St. Jerome, and what he says carries weight among those who know him. For a considerable time he was a great sufferer from dyspepsia, which caused severe headaches, pains in the stomach and sometimes nausea. Sometimes he felt as though he would suffocate, he would become dizzy, and experience ringing noises in the ears. His appetite became poor, and his general health so bad that he found it almost impossible to work, and when the headaches attacked him he had to quit work. For six months, he says, he suffered both physically and mentally more than can be imagined. During this time he took medicine from several doctors, but found no help. Then one day he read of the cure of a similar case through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to try them. He used the pills for a couple of months, and they have made him feel like a new person. He is no longer troubled with any of the old symptoms, and says he can now go about his work as though he never had dyspepsia.

The digestive organs—like all the other organs of the body—get their strength and nourishment from the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. This new blood strengthens the stomach, stimulates the liver, regulates the bowels and sets the whole digestive system in a healthy, vigourous state. Good blood is the true secret of good health. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always bring good health to those who use them. You can get these pills from your medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Public Lands.

More than 22,824,290 acres of the public lands were turned over to private individuals last year. This means that an area almost equal to that of the state of Indiana has within that time been added to the productive regions of the United States. Most of these newly opened lands were homesteaded by farmers.

FUNERAL OF LATE DR. J. C. MOFFATT

Took Place Yesterday at Norwood and was Largely Attended

A Masonic Funeral—Members of the Order Present—A Prominent Citizen.

Norwood, June 7th.

Dr. J. C. Moffatt, one of Norwood's most prominent citizens, passed away at his home, Peterborough street, on Saturday, June 4th, in the 46th year of his age.

Dr. Moffatt was born in Leith, Scotland. His father died when he was an infant, and his mother married Mr. D. D. Galletley, in Scotland, in 1863. They moved to Canada, and lived in Galt, Brantford, Port Hope, Peterborough, and are now living at Banff Springs, N.W.T. Dr. Moffatt was 14 years old when he came to Canada. He taught school for several years, but entered upon the study of medicine in 1884, graduating from Trinity College. He first practiced at Smith's Falls and Keene, but moved to Norwood 13 years ago, and since that time has practiced his profession and also carried on a successful drug and stationery business.

The deceased was a member of a number of fraternal societies, and at the time of his death was the D.D. G.M. for District No. 12, A. F. and A. M. He was a member of Norwood Lodge, No. 257, A.O.U.W.; also a member of the Chosen Friends, Lodge No. 315, and a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, Court 600, Asphodel. He was a Presbyterian in religion and a Liberal in politics.

He leaves a wife and two children, one son, Gordon, who is cashier in the Union Bank, Norwood, and one daughter, Annie, at home; a sister is Mrs. Fulcher, of Banff.

His wife was Miss Annie McFarlane, daughter of the late John McFarlane, Otonabee. She has two brothers, Hugh and Peter of Otonabee, and two sisters, Mrs. John Mein of Peterborough, and Mrs. D. McRae, of Toronto.

The funeral took place from the family residence, Peterborough street on Monday afternoon. There was service at the house at 1.45. The cortege left the house at 2.30, and proceeded to the Norwood cemetery. The following was the line of the procession: A. O. U. W., Chosen Friends; Foresters, marshalled by Mr T. Fraser; Masonic Order, marshalled by Mr. J. B. Pearce, the mourners, and then citizens.

The cortege was the largest seen here for 40 years. The bearers were Messrs. J. Cummings, Dr. Coughlin, Dr. Ford, W. E. Roxburgh, Dr. Pettigrew, Dr. Shaw.

Among the large number of floral offerings were: Square and compass from the Masonic Lodge, Norwood; square and compass from Peterborough and Corinthian Lodges; anchor from A.O.U.W., Norwood; pillow from Chosen Friends; anchor from niece and nephew, Mr. and Miss McRae, Toronto; sprays from Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Cuffe, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Squire, Mr. and Mrs. A. Farley, Mr. D. Anderson, Mr. Scriver and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. Pearce, Miss M. Isaac, Miss Morrison; basket of flowers Mr. and Mrs. D. McLean; box of roses from a friend, Toronto.

Among the members of the Masonic Order present were: From Peterborough and Corinthian Lodges: R. W. Bros. B. Shortly, H. Rush and R. E Wood; W. Bros. G. I. Rossel, W. Stocker; Bros. J. English, McGillHood.

Keene Lodge — J. Shaw, P.D.D., G. M.; R. Humphrey, W.M.; J. McNeil P.G.S.; R. English, P.M.; A. D. Anderson, P.M.; J. Duff.

OTONABEE COUNCIL.

J. C. Waldie applied for a grant for wire for snow fence. He was granted 25c per rod. The Reeve was appointed to measure and give an order to the Treasurer for what length he thinks would be a benefit to the road.

R. P. Carey and Chas. Edwards were present asking that the established road running between lots 17 and 18 and through east 1-2 of lot 18, con. 9, be closed and the 8th line be opened in lieu of it. The Clerk was instructed to advertise and post up notices and prepare a by-law closing up the said road, said by-law to be considered on the 18th of July next.

Timothy Walsh was present asking compensation for six young cattle, killed on the railroad, having strayed from lot 19, con. 10, caused by parties going through said lot for a winter road and leaving the fences down. Laid over for further consideration and inquiry.

On motion the following persons were exempted from performance of street labour: Mrs. Jas. Roach, Keene; Mrs. Thomas. Allandale, Edward Wright, Downer's Corners.

The Reeve and Councillor Porter were appointed to expend what money they consider necessary to repair the Peterborough and Otonabee boundary; Messrs. Fife and Porter for the Otonabee and Douro boundary; Messrs. Fife and Carey for the Asphodel and Otonabee boundary.

1,500 was voted to be expended for the improvement of the roads in the township.

A petition was presented by a number of inhabitants of Allandale to have Mrs. Jas. Armstrong removed to the house of Providence, Peterborough — granted, and removal to be left to Mr. Carey.

On petition from the ratepayers of Allandale and from road divisions No. 23, (C. Howson) to have their road work commuted at 75c per day, the Clerk was instructed to prepare a by-law in accordance.

The following accounts were passed: W. Dickson, $35.00, his portion for completing the assessing and $1.00 for postage; S. Mather, for repairing account, $11.25; Jermiah Fitzgerald, cedar, $1.44; Sawyer Massey Co., moulds for concrete culverts, $0.43, freight 90c.

Council adjourned till 20th June.

Was Slave Before the War.

Binghampton, N.Y., June 7.—Mrs. Henrietta Moore, colored, aged 103 years, died in this city yesterday. Mrs. Moore was born in slavery, in Maryland, but escaped and served as a nurse for the northern troops during the civil war.

MR. FIELDING'S BUDGET SPEECH

Safeguarding of Canadian Industries Its Keynote.

DUTY ON SLAUGHTERED GOODS

Tariff Raised 30 Per Cent. on Certain Woolens—Maximum and Minimum Tariffs—Statement of the Minister Forecasting Their Adoption Received With Ringing Cheers—Tariff "Sore Spots" to Be Healed.

Ottawa, June 8.—To the many triumphs achieved by the Laurier Government was added one more yesterday in the announcement of an adjusted tariff suited to the changing needs of the Canadian people. The budget speech by Hon. W. S. Fielding was a record of remarkable business administration and a revelation of resourceful statesmanship. The story of the condition of Canada's bountiful treasury was a surprise only in the degree of affluence to which it has reached, with an estimated surplus of $16,500,000, and a reduction in the national debt of $7,500,000 for the year. It was shown that the net debt of the country has been decreased by $1,000,000 in the eight years of Liberal rule, notwithstanding the many large undertakings and large capital expenditures. The other evidences of prosperity were equally conclusive. Mr. Fielding justified the Government's policy of a moderate tariff, and proceeded in a most business-like way to announce some changes which were deemed necessary for present needs.

Tariff Revision Promised.

A commission will be appointed to take evidence, and the tariff will be revised along the lines of a minimum and maximum tariff, to suit our own tastes and requirements in dealing with different nations. This announcement was received with ringing cheers from the Government benches. The enthusiasm increased as the Finance Minister revealed changes which are designed to remove grievances respecting certain well-known "sore spots" in the tariff schedule.

To Prevent "Dumping."

The greatest enthusiasm was excited over the proposed special duty to prevent the "dumping" of goods in Canada at slaughter prices. It is designed to end this by adding an amount equal to the difference between the invoiced price and the real value up to 50 per cent. of the duty in general lines, and 15 per cent. in the iron and steel items. As the Government's plan was revealed, the astonishment of the Opposition was plainly apparent, while the joy of the Liberals rose correspondingly.

The Opposition Critic.

The critic selected by the Opposition to reply to Mr. Fielding was Mr. A. C. Bell, one of the front benchers of the Opposition, but even so experienced a Parliamentarian as Mr. Bell had to spar for wind, and when the Finance Minister sat down at 5.40 asked that the House rise at that hour for dinner, thus giving him respite to 8 o'clock. Last evening he criticized the Liberals for deserting their free trade policy, and contended that the prosperity of the country was due to Providence and the large trade figures to inflated prices.

Liberals Well Satisfied.

Sir Richard Cartwright will reply to-day and a great speech is expected from the veteran Knight. The announcements of the budget have caused the utmost satisfaction in the ranks of the Liberals, who recognize that the skillful provisions of the amended schedule have met the pressing objections, and that the uninterrupted prosperity which Canada has enjoyed for the past seven years will go on under the most favorable circumstances so far as can be settled by the tariff conditions. One of the interesting incidents of the afternoon was the presence on the floor of the House of Herr Bopp, German Consul in Canada, who was compelled to listen to the story of the success of the surtax on German goods, which is working beneficially to Canada and other British colonies.

THE TARIFF RESOLUTION.

The following are the tariff resolutions:

That it is expedient to amend "The Customs Tariff, 1897," to the following effect:

Notwithstanding anything contained in schedule D, the minimum duty on the undermentioned articles shall be as follows:

Manufacturers described in item 394 of schedule A (excepting blankets, flannels, bed comforters and counterpanes), composed wholly or in part of wool worsted, the hair of the alpaca, goat or other like animal, 30 per cent, ad valorem.

Twine and cordage of all kinds, N.E.S., 20 per cent., ad valorem.

Notwithstanding anything contained in schedule D, the maximum duty on the undermentioned articles when imported under the British preferential tariff shall be as follows:

Tableware of china, porcelain or other clay, 15 cent cent. ad valorem.

Common and colorless window glass, 7½ per cent., ad valorem.

The words "palls and tubs of wood" shall be omitted from item 330 of schedule A.

Item 323 of schedule A shall be amended by adding the following words: "Provided that the minimum value of an open buggy shall be forty dollars and the minimum value of a covered buggy shall be fifty dollars."

Schedule C shall be amended by adding the following: "643, Stallion and mares of less value than $50 each.

Item 308, schedule A shall be repealed and the following substituted: therefor: "203, plate glass not beveled, in sheets or panes not exceeding seven square feet each, N.O.P., 10 per cent. ad valorem. 203 A, plate glass not beveled, in sheets or panes exceeding seven square feet each and not exceeding twenty-five square feet each, N.O.P., 25 per cent. ad valorem.

Duties on the undermentioned articles shall be reduced as follows:

Silk fabrics when imported by manufacturers of men's neckwear for use exclusively in their manufacture of such goods in their own factories under regular orders to be made by the Minister of Customs, 10 per cent. ad valorem.

Items 22, 151, 170, 171, 172, 173, 175 and 178 of schedule A shall be repealed and the following substituted: 22, Paraffine wax candles, 25 per cent. ad valorem. 151, Paraffine wax, 25 per cent. ad valorem. 170, Illuminating oils composed wholly or in part of the products of petroleum, coal, shale or lignite, costing more than thirty cents per gallon, 20 per cent. ad valorem. 171, Lubricating oils, composed wholly or in part of petroleum, costing less than twenty-five cents per gallon, 2½ cents per gallon. 172, Crude oil petroleum, gas oils (other than benzine and gasoline), about 40 beaume gravity, at sixty degrees temperature, 15½ cents per gallon. 173, Oils, coal and kerosene distilled, purified or refined naphtha and petroleum and products of petroleum, N.E.S., 2½ cents per gallon. 175, Lubricating oils, N.E.S., and axle grease, 20 per cent. ad valorem. 178, Vaseline and all similar preparations of petroleum for toilet, medicinal or other purposes, 25 per cent. ad valorem.

Molasses, the product of any British colony included in the benefits of the British preferential tariff, in the original package in which it was placed at the point of production and not afterwards subjected to any process of treating or mixing, shall be free of duty. The package also to be free. Provided, however, that this shall not apply to molasses to be used for the purpose of distillation.

The following articles now dutiable shall be transferred to the free list:

Goats, for the improvement of stock, under such regulations as may be made by the Minister of Customs.

Whale oil soap.

Plain basic photographic papers, baryta counted for albumenizing or sensitizing.

Hydro-fluo-silici acid.

Glass cut for the manufacture of dry plates for photographic purposes, when imported by the manufacturers of such dry plates for use exclusively in the manufacture thereof in their own factories.

Ferment cultures to be used in butter making.

Printing press of a class or kind not made in Canada.

Machinery of a class or kind not made in Canada for the manufacture of linen.

Machinery of a class or kind not made in Canada for the manufacture of brass goods, such as are mentioned in item 492, schedule B.

Well-drilling machinery and apparatus of a class or kind not made in Canada for drilling for water and oil, not to include motive power.

Artificial teeth.

Quassic juice, crude petroleum, fuel and gas oils, 40 beaume gravity or less, at sixty degrees temperature (Dot 8233), specific gravity.

The free admission of machinery and appliances of a kind not made in Canada for use exclusively in alluvial gold mining, authorized by section 4 of chapter 15 of the acts of 1903, shall be continued until the first day of July, 1905.

The following proviso shall be added to sub-section A of item 7 of schedule A: Provided that bottles and flasks and packages of gin, rum, whiskey and brandy, of all kinds and imitations thereof, shall be held to contain the following quantities (subject to the provisions for addition or deduction in respect to the degree of strength), viz.: Bottles or flasks and packages containing not more than one gallon per dozen, as one gallon per dozen. Bottles, flasks and packages containing over one gal-

"POOR DIGESTION, LANGUID AND TIRED."

[An Interesting Letter Concerning Pe-ru-na.]

Miss Della Janveau, Globe Hotel, Ottawa, Ont., is from one of the oldest and best known French Canadian families in Canada. In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, she says:

"Last spring my blood seemed clogged up, my digestion poor, my head ached and I felt languid and tired all the time. My physician prescribed for me, but a friend advised me to try Peruna. I tried it and am pleased to state that I found it a wonderful cleanser and purifier of the system. In three weeks I was like a new woman, my appetite had increased, I felt buoyant, light and happy and without an ache or pain. Peruna is a reliable family medicine."

Adia Brittain, of Sekitan, O., writes:

"After using your wonderful Peruna three months I have had great relief. I had continual heaviness in my stomach, was bilious, and had fainting spells, but they all have left me since using Peruna."

—Adia Brittain.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

BAD PRACTICES OF BAD SMALL AND BIG BOYS

Mischievousness Interference with Power Light Wires.

A correspondent sends the following letter, which should be strictly heeded by those to whom it applies, and parents should also use their influence with their boys—if the modern parent has any control over the modern boy—in order to prevent a practice which not only represents a criminal destruction of property, but may possibly lead to manslaughter. Probably the perpetrators of the misdeed referred to do not appreciate the dangerous nature of their amusement. With the high voltage of the power line wires, if by reason of the insulators being broken, the wire should fall upon man or beast or—boy, instant death would be the result. The letter is as follows:

Editor Examiner,—I would be obliged if you would insert in your valuable paper in the ordinary news column the fact that the small boys, and sometimes larger boys, are given to the habit of throwing stones at the insulators upon the different power lines. I would also draw your attention to the fact that this is a criminal offence, and that some day or other the fact of an insulator being broken will cause a wire to fall with serious consequences to anyone who may come in contact with the same.

Only two weeks ago one power company went over its pole line, and replaced probably about thirty insulators, which had been broken in this manner, and it was only yesterday that the company had to put twenty-four more on. This is a very serious thing, and we would appreciate anything you might insert that would tend to stop this practice.

CONFERENCE ENDED, MINISTERS DEPART

Final Draft of Stations Presented Yesterday Afternoon and Chairman Elected.

Report of the Last Day's Proceedings of the Conference—Resolution re Temperance and Moral Reform—Conference Sessions Were Most Helpful.

The Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference concluded its session last evening, when a short meeting was held.

Ten sessions were held during the past week, each being fraught with instructive addresses, interesting and profitable discussions and encouraging reports. The meetings were of a helpful and harmonious nature, and the Conference was one of the most successful lous nature, and the gathering

The final draft of stations was presented last evening with many changes.

The eighth session of the Conference opened yesterday morning. Stationing committee left at ten o'clock, and were requested to report at three o'clock in the afternoon.

The secretary of the Conference was instructed to prepare a memorial to the Minister of Justice in keeping with certain items of the report of the Committee on Temperance and Moral Reform. This report called for legal enactments for the cessation of gambling and suppression of all news in the sporting columns of the press in relation thereto. The report was strongly worded in reference to prohibition; recommends local option measures wherever practicable, the organization of the Voters' League, thorough organization of the circuits for temperance work, and stating that the only course open to the Christian church was uncompromising hostility to the social custom of drinking and the legalized sale of liquor. It called, especially on the Legislature, the duty of enacting the fullest measure of prohibition possible, and greatly commended the work of Dr. Chown.

Greetings were received from the London Conference and heartily reciprocated by telegram.

Rev. S. C. Stevenson, M.D., the great organizer of the Forward Movement, addressed the Conference. Behind him was a string of missionary publications, which formed the text of his words.

The following thirteen ministers were nominated as the nominees for the Board of Examiners. The first nine were elected:—Revs. T. J. Edmison, B.A., B.D., S. J. Shorey, W. J. Crothers, D.D., J. McCamus, W. B. Tucker, B.A., B.D., R. Bamforth, B.A., J. G. Lewis, B.A., G. F. Metzler, M. A., B.D., Ph. D., G. W. Clarke, B.A., Wm. Johnson, W. H. Adams, J. A. Jewell, B.A., J. Ward, B.A., B.D.

On the motion of the Conference, Rev. S. J. Shorey and W. W. Chown, Esq., were elected representatives from this Conference to the General Conference Board of Temperance and Moral Reform. Rev. H. Thomas and Rev. G. R. Clare and Messrs. T. C. Denille and Eben Preston were appointed representatives to the Dominion Alliance Conference.

The programme Committee for the Conference of 1905 are,—The President and Secretary of Conference, pastors of the Picton Methodist Churches and Messrs. G. D. Platt, K. McKenzie, H. C. Mullen, E. P. Hough, J. P. Blakley, W. W. Williams and E. A. Morden. The Billeting Committee consists of the above with the exception of the officers of Conference.

The financial year will close on May 15th.

Rev. S. F. Dixon presented the completed report of the Epworth League Committee. It approved of the recent movement now so widespread, of summer schools, one of which is to be held at Twelve O'clock Point, near Trenton, June 23rd to June 30th, for the study of the Bible and of missions and recreation. Prof. McLaughlin, Dr. A. C. Crews, Dr. Sutherland and other are to lecture. The Forward movement has given $4,000 this year. A decrease in the League is owing partly to the merging of its work into other parts of church life and to the movement of the young people to other parts of the Dominion.

A most interesting pastoral address was presented by the Rev. E. B. Lanceley of Port Hope. This is to be printed and presented to the people.

This afternoon the Conference visited the Electric Works.

MISSIONARY DELEGATE RECIEVED AT CONFERENCE

Yesterday Afternoon's Session was an Interesting one.

The ninth session of the Conference opened yesterday afternoon with the usual devotional exercises.

The treasurer of the Superannuation Fund presented the financial report of that fund.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. E. G. Patterson, General Superintendent of the C. G. E. Works for his kindness and courtesy in allowing the Conference the privilege of inspecting the Works.

Rev. J. S. McMullen, treasurer, presented the Epworth League report. Mr. McMullen was re-appointed treasurer.

A resolution was passed thanking those who had opened their homes to the Conference, and aided so materially in the billeting of the same.

A vote of thanks was also passed thanking the press for the manner in which the various sessions were reported.

Rev. J. N. Clarry introduced to the Conference Miss Mary Wilson, who was presented with a purse in recognition of her services in the Conference Post Office.

A report of the Theological Union was presented by Rev. H. S. Spence.

Rev. R. Taylor was superannuated for the period of one year.

It was recommended by the Stationing Committee that Messrs. W. E. Honey and W. W. Jones be ordained for special purposes.

It was decided that permission be given to the Chairman to employ the following young men as candidates for the ministry: Messrs. J. R. Beck, H. E. Graham, W. M. Edwards, G. C. R. McQuade, J. W. Miller, V. Park, A. J. McCulloch, J. O. Totten, F. J. Clark.

The election of Chairman then took place and the Conference adjourned to meet again in the evening to hear the result of the vote for Chairman, and conclude all business.

CONCLUDING SESSIONS OF THE CONFERENCE.

Reports and Resolutions at the Sessions Yesterday.

At the evening session the report of the Treasurer of the Sunday School Aid and Extension Fund, was received, and Rev. R. Taylor re-appointed Treasurer.

A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. E. S. Cragg for his work as railway certificate clerk.

The Conference then adjourned to meet again next June in Picton. The meetings here have been of a most harmonious and helpful character and the ministers and laymen present expressed themselves as highly delighted with the week spent in Peterborough and were also delighted with our progressive and picturesque town with its many attractive points of interest. Many of the delegates left for their homes last evening, while others went to-day. The effects of the visit of so many ministers of the Gospel will no doubt be a helpful one to the general spiritual welfare of the town.

DOMINION DAY AT THE DRIVING PARK

Good Programme of Sports and Games to be Presented.

Last night a meeting of about a dozen prominent and energetic business citizens met in the Examiner office to consult concerning some or-run off at the Driving Park on July 1st.

The result of their deliberations was the decision to arrange a programme of sports and games to be run off at the Driving Park on Dominion Day.

Committees were appointed to arrange for a programme of athletic sports and games and races.

A committee was also appointed to arrange with the officials of the Turf Club to secure the grounds for the afternoon of July 1st.

More detailed information will be forthcoming as soon as arrangements are sufficiently forwarded to warrant it. At any rate our citizens may look forward to a fine day's sport and enjoyment.

Y. M. C. A. Tennis Club.

The Y.M.C.A. Tennis Club will meet to organize on Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock. All members interested are invited to attend.

VISITED C. G. E. WORKS.

Large Number of Ministers and Laymen Accepted Invitation.

Yesterday afternoon a large number of the ministers and laymen attending the Conference, accepted the invitation of Mr. E. G. Patterson, General Superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Works, to visit and inspect the works. The kindness of Mr. Patterson, who showed the visitors through the entire works, was greatly appreciated and all were highly delighted with the magnitude and completeness of the work being done in one of the most important manufacturing industries in the Dominion. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Patterson upon the return of the delegates to the Conference.

WILLIAM ARMSTRONG WAS FOUND GUILTY.

Charge of Obtaining Money Under False Pretences Sustained

Judge Weller to Give Sentence on Monday—The Noted Swindler in Court Again.

William E. Armstrong, alias Wm. Armstrong, Stanley Steele, was yesterday tried before His Honour Judge Weller, in the County Judge's Criminal Court, and was found guilty of the charge of obtaining money under false pretences. The Judge reserved sentence until Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. R. S. Wood conducted the prosecution, while Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the defence.

The accusation read as follows:—

Before Charles Alexander Weller, Esquire, County Court Judge of the County of Peterborough, exercising criminal jurisdiction under the provisions of the Act intitled "The Criminal Code," W. E. Armstrong, alias Wm. Armstrong, alias Stanley Steele, of the Town of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, who is committed for trial to the Common Jail of the said County of Peterborough, and is now a prisoner in close custody therein, stands charged this day before the said Judge, sitting in public open court, assembled for the trial of the said W. E. Armstrong, alias Stanley Steele. For that the said W. E. Armstrong, otherwise known and called Stanley Steele on or about the 28th day of March, A.D., 1904, unlawfully and with fradulent intent by an advertisement in the Ottawa Citizen, published in the City of Ottawa, which advertisement is in the words and figures following, that is to say:—"Wanted—100 young men and women, neat appearance; fair education; to remain in charge exhibits World's Fair, St. Louis, seven months; salary $35 monthly and board; fare advanced; five dollars deposit required as guarantee of good faith; half returned by remaining; send money express order or registered letter; if more applicants than vacancies, money returned. William Armstrong, Box 848, Peterborough, Ontario," did falsely pretend to one Austin McKenna and others and the public at large that he, the said W. E. Armstrong, otherwise known and called Stanley Steele, was in a position to engage and employ, or was properly authorized and engaged to employ, or had the means of engaging or employing one hundred young men and young women to remain in charge of exhibits at the World's Fair, to be held in the City of St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, at $35.00 per month and board, whereas the said W. E. Armstrong, alias Stanley Steele, was not in a position to engage or employ, and was not authorized to engage or employ nor had he the means of engaging or employing one hundred young men and young women for the duties and purposes aforesaid by means of which false pretences the said W. E. Armstrong, otherwise known and called Stanley Steele, did then unlawfully and fradulently obtain from the said Austin McKenna the sum of five dollars contrary to the provisions of the Criminal Code, and the said W. E. Armstrong, otherwise known and called Stanley Steele, within named, upon the within charge being read to him by the Judge that he has the option either of being forthwith tried without the intervention of a jury upon this said charge or of remaining untried until the next sittings of the General Sessions of the Peace of this County, consents to be now tried upon the said charge by the said Judge without a Jury, and the prisoner pleads not guilty to the said charge. And further the said W. E. Armstrong, alias Stanley Steele was on the 9th day of June, A.D., 1887, before the Supreme Court of the County of Antigonish, in the Province of Nova Scotia, convicted of an indictable offence, that is to say, an assault with intent to commit murder.

The evidence given at the trial was practically the same as that given at the preliminary hearing, before Magistrate Dumble some weeks ago, and which evidence was reported in these columns. There were no witnesses called for the defence on either occasion.

QUIET WEDDING THIS MORNING.

Nuptials of Miss Margaret M. Roy and Mr. Roland Denne.

At 10 o'clock this morning a quiet wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. R. M. Roy, corner of Sheridan Terrace and Hunter street when his second daughter, Miss Margaret May Roy, was made the bride of Mr. Roland Denne, also of town. The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. C. Davidson, assisted by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt. The bride was most handsomely gowned in blue canvas cloth over petunia Dresden silk with touches of petunia velvet and cream lace and wore a hat of blue tulle with crimson roses; she was attended by Miss Margaret Denne, sister of the groom, who wore a dress of Swiss muslin with lace insertion. The bride carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses while the bridesmaid carried crimson roses.

The nuptial knot was tied beneath a flower bell and festoons of white lilacs and smilax. The room was most tastefully decorated with varieties of flowers and plants. Mrs. C. B. McAllister played Mendelssohn's wedding march and also sang the wedding hymn.

The bride and groom who were two of Peterborough's most popular young people, were the recipients of a host of handsome remembrances from a large circle of friends. Many of the groom's friends sent beautiful cut glass presents.

Owing to the illness of the groom's mother, the wedding was a quiet one only the immediate relatives and friends being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Denne left on the 11.35 C.P.R. train this morning for New York.

Tickets for St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild Annual Stony Lake Trip, which will be held on Thursday, June 23rd, may be had at J. D. Tully's Drug Store, H. H. Edmison's Drug Store, and the Examiner Office. Tickets 75c. Malorana Harp Band Orchestra on board.

New Illuminated Sign.

A very effective and well executed sign has been hung out in front of Dr. F. L. Robinson's livery stables, Charlotte street. It is made of galvanized iron in the shape of a shield, the body being painted a rich salmon tint. For the purpose of illumination the lettering on the sign is stencelled out in good clear characters, which are plainly read through bright green glass over the stencillings, when lighted with electric lights. Around the shield a brilliant border of red stones adds to the fine effect. It is one of the largest illuminated signs in town—the dimensions being six feet by four feet. It is "built for business," and will no doubt be a business bringer. This is another well designed piece of publicity work from the sign department of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, and is a credit to the workman who carried out the design.

A BAKER'S VAN GETS "OFF ITS NUT"

Its Driver Dragged Through the Streets.

A peculiar ,but not very serious, accident resulted from the wheel nut of one of Stock's bread vans coming off on Water street, near McDonel, yesterday afternoon, about two o'clock. The wheel came off, the horse got "off," also the driver, Mr. G. Billings, who had the reins fastened around his waist, was dragged several yards on the ground. The horse was soon stopped. The driver had no bones broken, but was considerably bruised and cut, the wheel having passed over his body.

MR. FIELDING'S BUDGET SPEECH

ion, but not more than two gallons per dozen, as 2 gallons per dozen. Bottles, flasks and packages containing over two gallons per dozen and not more than 3 1-5 gallons per dozen, as 4 gallons for 15 bottles, flasks or packages.

Item 462 of schedule B, the free list, shall be repealed and the following substituted: 462. Philosophical and scientific apparatus, utensils, instruments and preparations, including boxes and bottles containing the same, of a class or kind not manufactured in Canada, when specially imported in good faith for the use and by order of any society or institution incorporated or established solely for religious, philosophical, educational, scientific or literary purposes, or for the encouragement of the fine arts, or for the use or by order of any college, academy, school or seminary of learning in Canada, and not for sale, subject to such regulations as the Minister of Customs shall prescribe.

The dumping clause.—That whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Minister of Customs or of any officer of customs authorized to collect customs duties, that the export price or the actual selling price to the importer in Canada of any imported dutiable article, of a class or kind made or produced in Canada, is less than the fair market value thereof, as determined according to the basis of value for duty provided in the Customs Act in respect of imported goods subject to ad valorem duty, such article shall in addition to the duty, otherwise established, be subject to a special duty of customs equal to the difference between such fair market value and said selling price. Provided, however, that the special customs duty otherwise established in respect of the article, except in regard to the articles mentioned in items 224, 226, 228

The foregoing provisions respecting a special duty of customs shall apply to imported round rolled wire rods not over three-eighths of an inch in diameter, notwithstanding that such rods are on the customs free list. Provided, however, that the special duty of customs on such wire rods shall not exceed 15 per cent. ad valorem.

If at any time it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Governor-in-Council, on a report from the Minister of Customs, that the payment of the special duty herein provided for is being evaded by the shipment of goods on consignment without sale prior to such shipments, the Governor-in-Council may in any case or class of cases authorize such action as is deemed necessary to collect on such goods or any of them the same special duty as if the goods had been sold to an importer in Canada prior to their shipment to Canada.

If the full amount of any special duty of customs be not paid on goods imported, the customs entry thereof shall be amended and the deficiency paid upon the demand of the collector of customs. The Minister of Customs may make such regulations as are deemed necessary for carrying out the provisions of the foregoing sections and for the enforcement thereof. The special duty mentioned in the preceding sections shall not apply to goods of a class subject to excise duty in Canada, nor to imported goods entered for consumption prior to the eighth day of June, 1904.

That it is expedient to provide that there shall be paid out of the consolidated revenue a bounty of one and a half cents per gallon on all crude petroleum produced from wells in Canada on and after the 8th day of June, 1904.

That the Minister of Trade and Commerce may make such regulations as is necessary respecting the payment of the said bounty.

Estimated Surplus $7,500,000.

Mr. Fielding in his budget speech estimated the revenue for the current year at $71,000,000; ordinary expenditure, inclusive of sinking fund payments, $54,500,000 capital expenditure, $11,500,000; surplus over all current and capital expenditures, $7,500,000, inclusive of $2,500,000 added to the sinking fund. The debt of Canada to-day is about a million dollars less than when the Liberals came to power, although immense public works have been undertaken and carried to completion.

POWERS OF AUDITOR

Mr. Lennox Suggests Revision of the Audit Act.

THE PREMIER'S OBJECTIONS

Declares That the Responsibility For the Expenditure Must Rest With the Government—Correspondence Regarding the Sydney Strike—Mr. Fitzpatrick's Amendment to the Railway Act—Ottawa Electric Bill.

Ottawa, June 7.—Preparatory to taking up the budget to-day, the House spent a long day yesterday on private bills, questions and motions introduced by private members. The bill respecting the Ottawa Electric Company was debated for over three hours, the Opposition reviewing their objections to the powers given the company. They were joined in the debate by Mr. C. B. Heyd, the Liberal member for Brant, in the request to refer back, and when the motion for third reading was made fifteen Ministerialists, including Sir William Mulock, joined the Opposition forces and carried Mr. Puttee's amendment to refer back, with instructions to amend by eliminating the power to buy the stock of the Consumers' and the Metropolitan Companies in Ottawa. A couple of other private bills were also referred back.

The Sydney Strike.

Earlier in the day Sir Wm. Mulock read the correspondence respecting the offered intervention in the Sydney strike, showing that the Government's service had been declined by both parties.

The Audit Act.

Late last night Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to a lengthy speech by Mr. Lennox, declined to appoint a special committee to review the audit act, maintaining that under the system of responsible Government the Government of the day, responsible to Parliament and representing the people, must in the final issue control the expenditure of the public money rather than the Auditor-General. In this position he was supported by Hon. John Haggart, ex-Minister of Railways, who made the original contract for electric power on the Cornwall Canal, into a discussion of the merits of which contract the debate drifted. The debate was concluded at 2.25, the motion being declared lost on a division.

Amendment to Railway Act.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick introduced a bill to amend the railway act. He said: This is a bill introduced for the purpose of meeting a difficulty that was suggested during the course of the discussion on the Grand Trunk Pacific bill, that is the difficulty with respect to the apportionment of freight rates as between the two companies operating under a joint traffic arrangement. It was suggested that the Railway Commission had not full control over such an arrangement. I myself at the time was of opinion that they had that control, but I think on looking at the act that the control would only be with respect to companies operating in Canada. It would not be applicable to a company operating partly in Canada and partly in the United States. Nor do I think that the provisions of the Railway Commission apply, for instance, with respect to a transportation company that would be under a foreign corporation. That is one amendment. The second is with respect to the nationality of the directors of subsidized railways in Canada.

The bill was read a first time.

Bills Passed.

The following bills were passed through the final stages: Respecting certain patents of the Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, and others—Mr. Grant. To incorporate the Chicoutimi & Northeastern Railway Company—Mr. German. To incorporate the Montreal, Nipissing & Georgian Bay Railway Company—Mr. Campbell. A number of private bills were given second reading and sent to committees.

Required Help to Move in bed
Was a Great Sufferer and Almost in Despair—New Hope and Strength Came with the Use of
DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.
This great food cure is doing wonders for weak, worn-out and discouraged women.
Many medicines which are prescribed in such cases are merely stimulants which give temporary relief and arouse false hope.
Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food actually forms new, rich blood and increases the vitality of the body, its benefits are thorough and lasting and its cures permanent.
Mrs. M. A. Clock, Meaford, Ont., writes:—"Three years ago I became very much run down in health and suffered from weak, tired feelings, indigestion and rheumatism. At times I was so badly used up that I required help to move in bed. While sick and down hearted I received Dr. Chase's Almanac and sent for some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
"Under this treatment I soon began to improve, and by the time I had used eleven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was happy to find myself strong and well again. I often think of what a lot of money I spent for medicine which did me no good, and believe I owe my life to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I hope women who suffer as I did will benefit by my experience and use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.
To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 4

The Gentleman From Indiana

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Copyright, 1899, by Doubleday & McClure Co.
Copyright, 1902, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

"It was signed," she said; "it was signed"— She paused and turned half away, not lifting the downcast lashes. Her hand, resting upon the back of the bench, was shaking. She put it behind her. Then her eyes were lifted a little, and, though they did not meet his, he saw them, and a glory sprang into being in his heart. Her voice fell still lower, and two heavy tears rolled down her cheeks. "It was signed," she whispered, "it was signed—'H. Fisbee.'"

He began to tremble from head to foot. There was a long silence. She had turned full away from him. When he spoke his voice was as low as hers, and he spoke as slowly as she had. "You mean—then—then it was—you?"

"Yes."

"You!"

"Yes."

"And you—you have—you have been here all the time?"

"All—all except the week—you were—hurt."

The bright veil that wrapped them was drawn away, and they stood in the quiet, gathering dusk. He tried to loosen his neckband; it seemed to be choking him. "I—I can't—I don't comprehend it. I am trying to realize what it all means."

"It means nothing," she answered.

"There was an editorial yesterday," he said, "an editorial that I thought was about Rodney McCune. Did you write it?"

"Yes."

"It was about—me—wasn't it?"

"Yes."

"It said—it said that—that I had won the—the—love of every person in Carlow county."

Suddenly she found her voice. "Do not misunderstand me," she said rapidly. "I have done the little that I have done out of gratitude." She faced him now, but without meeting his eyes. "I owed you more gratitude than a woman ever owed a man before, I think, and I would have died to pay a part of it."

"What gratitude did you owe me?"

"What gratitude? For what you did for my father."

"I have never seen your father in my life."

"Listen. My father is a gentle old man with white hair and kind eyes. My name is my uncle's. He and my aunt have been good to me as a father and mother since I was seven years old, and they gave me their name by law, and I lived with them. My father came to see me once a year; I never came to see him. He always told me everything was well with him, that his life was happy, and I thought it was easier for him not having me to take care of, he has been so poor ever since I was a child. Once he lost the little he had left to him in the world, his only way of making his living. He had no friends; he was hungry and desperate, and he wandered. I was dancing and going about wearing jewels—only I did not know. All the time the brave heart wrote me happy letters. I should have known, for there was one who did and who saved him. When at last I came to see my father he told me—he had written of his idol before, but it was not till I came that he told it all to me. Do you know what I felt? While his daughter was dancing cotillons a stranger had taken his hand and—and"— A sob rose in her throat and checked her utterance for a moment, but she threw up her head proudly. "Gratitude, Mr. Harkless!" she cried. "I am James Fisbee's daughter!"

"You!" he said. "You!"

He fell back from the bench with a sharp exclamation and stared at her through the gray twilight. She went on hurriedly, still not looking at him. "I wanted to do something to show you that I could be ashamed of my vile neglect of him—something to show you his daughter could be grateful—and it has been such dear, happy work, the little I have done, that it seems, after all, that I have done it for love of myself. It is what I had always wanted to do—to earn a living for myself, to live with my father. When I came here, my aunt and uncle were terribly afraid I would stay with him. It was to prevent this that they determined to go abroad, and my father said I must go back to them. Then you were—were hurt, and he needed me so much he let me stay. When you—when you told me"—she broke off with a strange, fluttering, half inarticulate little laugh that was half tears and then resumed in another tone—"when you told me you cared that night—that night of the storm—how could I be sure? It had been only two days, you see, and even if I could have been sure of myself—why, I couldn't have told you. Oh, I had so brazenly thrown myself at your head time and again those two days in my—my worship of your goodness to my father and my excitement in recognizing in his friend the hero of my girlhood that you had every right to think I cared; but if—but if I had—if I had—loved you with my whole soul I could not have—why, no woman could have—I mean the sort of girl I am—couldn't have admitted it—must have denied it. Do you think that then I could have answered 'Yes,' even if I had wanted to—even if I had been sure of myself? And now"— Her voice sank again to a whisper. "And now"—

"And now?" he said tremulously. She gave a hurried glance from right to left and from left to right, like one in terror seeking a way of escape; she gathered her skirts in her hand as if to run into the garden, but suddenly she turned and ran to him. She threw her arms about his neck and kissed him on the forehead.

When they heard the judge calling from the orchard they went back through the garden toward the house. It was dark. The whitest asters were but gray splotches. There was no one in the orchard. Briscoe had gone indoors.

"Did you know you are to drive me into town in the phaeton for the fireworks?" she asked.

"Fireworks?"

"Yes. The great Harkless has come home." Even in the darkness he could see the look the vision had given him when the barouche turned into the square. She smiled upon him and said, "All afternoon I was wishing I could have been your mother."

He clasped her hand more tightly. "This wonderful world!" he cried. "Yesterday I had a doctor—a doctor to cure me of lovesickness!"

After a time they had proceeded a little nearer the house. "We must hurry," she said. "I am sure they have been waiting for us." This was true; they had.

From the dining room came laughter and hearty voices, and the windows were bright with the light of many lamps. By and by they stood just outside the patch of light that fell from one of the windows.

"Look!" said Helen. "Aren't they good, dear people?"

"The beautiful people!" he answered.

A Heart to Heart Talk

The Hon. Amos P. Atkins, who is one of the most prominent men in New Albany, Ind., and Treasurer of Floyd County, has this advice to give to those who are shut up within the narrow confines of office or shop:

"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery seems to take the place of hard training in developing strength, vigor and endurance of the system and expelling all impurities, with which the blood sometimes gets clogged. I have found by personal experience that it enables me to do more hard work, and at the same time endure more physical strain and partake with greater vim in outdoor sports than anything I know of. It can always be relied upon to increase the appetite, induce healthful sleep, and tone and refresh a worn-out system.

"A number of my friends who have used it speak in the same high terms, and we have reason to consider it an office man's friend."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood-purifier and health-giving tonic that contains no alcohol, opium or other narcotic. It is a purely vegetable compound, made from roots and herbs in an up-to-date pharmaceutical laboratory, and has been used and recommended by thousands of people during the past thirty-seven years.

$3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the above testimonial, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

A DOG'S TESTIMONY.

It Was In His Own Defense and Was Irresistible.

In one of the Prague district courts recently a foreman named Dastych sued a manufacturer named Weinwert, alleging the latter's dog had bitten him, thereby rendering him for some time unfit for work. The dog was produced in court and the services of a veterinary surgeon were requisitioned as expert evidence. Herr Desensy, in the presence of the judge, did his utmost to irritate the dog, and even struck it, but all to no purpose. The dog remained calm, and finally, finding the proceeding monotonous, crept under a stool. "Quiet as a lamb!" was the finding of the veterinary surgeon; but "Oh, no," said the foreman, "the dog behaves itself because its master is present." So the dog was taken out into the corridor, among the public, this time unmuzzled, and the veterinary again tried his best to irritate the animal. Doggy wagged his tail, offered first one paw and then the other, and, its advances being rudely repelled by the unfeeling veterinary, ran back into court, sat upon its hind legs before the judge, and begged! Not even the hard heart of a judge could resist this appeal, and the animal left the court without a stain upon its character.

The Clerk and the Verger.

The late George Clarke was for many years the verger of St. James' Cathedral, and was reputed to have an acrid wit that sometimes stood him in good stead. His ability at repartee, however, was not more marked than that of Mr. Taylor, who, in the early forties, was the clerk of the cathedral. Mr. Taylor, in the old fashion, sat under the pulpit, and returned the responses to the rector during the service. His it was to receive the customary pew-opener's fees at weddings, while the verger took those at funerals. It is a well known story amongst Toronto's older families how Mr. George Kingsmill, then Chief of Police of the city, told the verger of that day, after a wedding, in which Mr. Kingsmill participated as "acting father," that the clerk of the cathedral obtained his money from the quick, while the verger got his from the dead. The late Dean Grasett was fond of telling this story.—Toronto News.

Danger Signals.

Red skirts and red neckerchiefs worn by women picking up coal on railroad tracks have caused so many nervous thrills to engineers on locomotives rushing at high speed around curves that one of the principal transportation companies in the country is doing everything in its power to check the wearing of this danger signal color wherever its trains run, a proper precaution against the premature breaking down of men of long experience at the throttle.

When the Tree Falls.

Close to the old palace of the emperor of Korea, now deserted, is the hill of Pouk Han, about which there is a curious superstition. It is believed that when the last tree is gone from Pouk Han the end of Korea is at hand, and it is death for any one to cut wood on the mountain. At present there is but one tree on the summit, whose solitary and rugged appearance gives the impression that the prophecy is not far from fulfillment.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

To McMillan & Maguire:—

New York, June 8.—We hear that Manhattan and Metropolitan and B.R.T. are going to be taken in hand. We suggest buying little of them on any weakness.

FIN. BUREAU.

New York, May 8th.—Paris close wheat half higher, flour 3-4 to 1 higher. Wheat pit crowd and Counselman buying July. The forecast says showers in S. W., some buying on this; corn steady, scalpers selling. Sickle Roberts buying July and September. Hogs close strong ten cents higher. St. Louis gets 42,000 wheat to-day and ships 78,000. Minneapolis stocks — Wheat decreased 425,000 for four days. London close wheat unchanged to 1-2 lower. Liverpool close wheat 1-8 lower corn, 1-4 higher.

Chicago, June 8th.—A cable says British Government on India give total yield of 9,389,000 tons against 7,775,000 tons last year.

Kansas City wires—Minneapolis is bidding 3 cents over Kansas City July for new No. 2 hard wheat for country shipments from interior points during July. This is equal to 88 cents; Chicago based on yesterday's close.

Chicago, June 8th.— A Long Island miller in office to-day says his mill must stop, as he can get no wheat to grind. This market is absolutely bare of spring wheat.

NEW READY TO WEAR CLOTHING HOUSE.

Messrs. Lang and Maher will Open a New Store Aug. 15th.

Peterborough is progressive, new manufacturers and new mercantile establishments are entering the arena of competition, and presenting new claims for public favour. The latest new mercantile enterprise will be launched by Messrs. Lang & Maher, on Aug. 15th.

On that date the new firm will open a new store in the premises on George street, between the premises of Adam Hall, and Loeh Bros.' fur store. This building will be thoroughly remodelled and modernized. It will be widened by the removal of the stairway, and fitted up in the most elaborate and stylish manner for the reception of a magnificent new stock of perfectly new ready-to-wear clothing, and a new and beautifully complete line of gentlemen's furnishings.

Mr. Lang (J. O. T.) and Mr. Maher, (Jos.) have had a lengthened experience in their line of business and they know where to find and how to buy to advantage, the best of ready-to-wear clothing and gentlemen's furnishings in Canada.

When you think of the clothing you need for next autumn wear, remember that Lang & Maher will offer a splendid new stock to choose from on or about August 15th next.

FORESTERS AND CIVIC HOLIDAY.

The Change of Date Productive of Confusion and Inconvenience.

The change of the Civic Holiday date has caused considerable consternation to the excursion committee of Court Littlejohn, C.O.F. It appears they had booked their annual excursion to Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, for the usual date in August, and the Grand Trunk has printed the tickets and forwarded them to the local ticket agent here, and supplied all the station agents between Peterborough and Toronto with the 18th of August printed on them. The committee are strongly protesting against the change, as the date named for Peterborough Civic Holiday is the same, it is asserted, date, as that fixed for Toronto Civic Holiday, and it is said the railway company will decline to accept any excursions on that day.

A JUNE WEDDING.

Nuptials of Mr. John Grisdale and Miss Dolly O'Brien.

St. Peter's cathedral was the scene of a very pretty ceremony on Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, when Rev. Dr. O'Brien united in marriage Mr. John Grisdale and Miss Dolly O'Brien, eldest daughter of Mr. John O'Brien, Albert street.

The bride, who was charmingly attired in grey voile over grey, and wore a picture hat to match, was assisted by her sister, who was attired in green muslin voile. The groom was assisted by Mr. Jas. Maher.

The happy young couple after the ceremony drove to the residence of the bride's parents, where they received the congratulations of their friends, and after which all sat down to a sumptuous wedding dejeuner.

The popularity of the bride was evidenced by the large number of beautiful gifts which she received, among which were two handsome wicker chairs from the armature department of the C.G.E.

The happy young couple will reside on Driscoll Terrace, fifth ward, and their many friends will wish them a long and happy wedded life.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO ACCOMMODATE CITIZENS

Will be put on Grand Trunk Next Monday—To run to Toronto.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company will on Monday put a special passenger train between Peterborough and Toronto which will prove a great accommodation to the citizens of this town as well as the other towns along the line. The train will consist of a combination smoker and baggage car, a vestibuled first-class coach and a parlour car. It will leave Peterborough at 7.20 o'clock every morning for Toronto via Lindsay and Blackwater Junction, arriving in the city at 10.10 a.m., and returning will leave the city at 7.25 p.m., reaching Peterborough via Lindsay at 10.25 p.m. This will be added to the regular service and continued throughout the summer.

SUCCESSFUL START.

Sovereign Made her First Trip Down the Otonabee Yesterday.

The new steamer Sovereign made her first trip down the river yesterday afternoon, a number of citizens enjoying the sail. The boat ran smoothly and those on board were delighted with the new craft. The officers are Capt. Copperthwaite, the mate Mr. C. J. Snyder and engineer Mr. J. Logan.

On Monday the Sovereign was inspected by Government Inspector Thompson, the hull and boiler being pronounced satisfactory. The Sovereign promises to be a very popular boat this season.

ANNUAL INSPECTION OF BATTALION TO-NIGHT.

Cadets and Companies Were Inspected Yesterday—Showing was Excellent.

Yesterday morning Lieut. Col. Hemming, D.S.A., inspected the Cadets. Owing to the disagreeable weather conditions the inspection took place in the Drill Shed instead of on Central Park as announced. The Cadets made an excellent showing, their work being of a most creditable nature. The Company drill, manual and firing exercise was gone through in splendid fashion, while the Company marching was neat, good time being kept and all worked well together. Lieut.-Col. Hemming expressed himself as being highly pleased with the showing of the Cadets. He spoke of their prompt movements and the firing exercises which was exceedingly well done. The officers showed themselves to be well fitted to carry out their duties; the officers are Capt. O'Connell, 1st Lieut. Miller and 2nd Lieut. Perdue.

On Tuesday evening four companies of the 57 Regiment were inspected by Lieut.-Col. Hemming, while last evening the inspection of the remaining four companies took place, and the stretcher-bearer corps gave an exhibition of their work. Company drill, section drill, section drill for non-commissioned officers was gone through in this inspection. The work of the companies was very favourably commented upon by Lieut.-Col. Hemming, who appeared well satisfied with the showing of each company and section.

The annual inspection of the battalion will take place this evening, when Col. Buchan, D.O.C., will be present. The battalion will march out at six o'clock, and the same course as that followed last year of capturing the summit of the Fifth Ward hill will be followed. The attack will commence at the Hunter street bridge and continue until the kopje is captured.

The Bell and the Canada Machine System Occupy Attention of Town Council.

The Lindsay town council at a recent meeting considered the question of telephone franchises.

It appears from the report of the proceedings that the property committee recommended the granting of an exclusive five-year franchise to the old stand by for 25 years, the Bell Telephone Company. At the meeting a communication was read from the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, informing the council that Peterborough had granted a franchise to the latter, and that they were installing a system of 500 'phones, and requesting the council to defer action pending further investigation.

The clause of the report referring to the telephone franchise matter was referred back to the committee.

At a subsequent meeting of the Council as Board of Works, the application of the Bell Company to open up certain streets, and erect poles, was withheld.

TRIO OF JUNE WEDDINGS CELEBRATED YESTERDAY

The Leafy Month of Matrimonial Matches.

Love's Young Dream Develops Into Reality.

June is the month of matrimony, and the preliminary skirmish of courtship is revolving itself into the pitched battle of matrimony, to be fought out on the basis of which of the happy pair can be the most amiable and harmonious. Below will be found a record of several of these perennially interesting events:—

STEERS — BAKER.

An interesting event occurred on Wednesday, June 8th, the occasion being the first wedding celebrated in Bethany Tabernacle, when Pastor Steuernagel united in marriage, Miss Frances M. Steers and Mr. R. Wesley Baker.

Miss Nellie Curtis was bridesmaid, while Mr. Walter Hetherington supported the groom.

After the ceremony the bridal party returned to Rosebrook cottage, the residence of Mr. T. A. Allum, where, after spending a pleasant hour, and partaking of luncheon, the young couple repaired to their new home. The popularity of the bride was evidenced by the numerous and handsome presents she received. The best wishes of their friends follow Mr. and Mrs. Baker to their home.

OLDHAM—BRUTON.

A very pretty June wedding took place at the home of Mr. Thomas Oldham, 469 Downie street. His youngest daughter, Mary, was united in marriage to Mr. W. H. Bruton, of Toronto. The bride came in leaning on the arm of her brother, John, and looked charming, carrying a bouquet of white roses and carnations. Her dress was of white organdie with lace yoke and Brussels net and bow knots, and was most becoming. The bridesmaid Miss Margaret Oldham wore a blue organdie over white lace chiffon and ribbon trimmings, with white chiffon hat with lily of the valley crown and draped with lace, carried a bouquet of pink carnations and lily of the valley. Mr. Albert Edward Bruton attended the groom. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. H. Brace of the Park street Baptist church, in the presence of the immediate family connections, among whom from a distance were Mrs. H. H. Bruton, mother of the groom, and Mr. A. E. Bruton, brother, and Mrs. A. N. Winters, sister of the bride, all of Toronto. The presents were useful and valuable. Mr. and Mrs. Bruton will reside at 299 King street.—Com.

LAING—McINTOSH.

In Erskine Presbyterian Church, Toronto, on Wednesday, June 8th, the marriage took place of Torrance R. Laing, a prominent young business man of Montreal, to Miss Jean Christie MacIntosh, of Brantford, the couple left by steamer Kingston for the east. This wedding will have a special interest to many in Peterborough, the bridegroom being a well know Peterborough boy, son of Mr. Robert Laing, formerly in the employ of the Peterborough Bookstore, now connected with the Grant-Hamilton Oil Company. His many friends here extend cordial congratulations.

SHALL THE BOY BE SAVED BY CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

The Society Doubts the Reforming Results of Criminal Association.

The officers of the Children's Aid Society are making every effort to have the boy, Schweier, who has been committed to the Industrial School for horse stealing, turned over to the Society, to be dealt with, according to their recognized practice. The Society is strongly opposed to the commitment of children to institutions, believing that it is only in rare cases that any improvement is made in places of that kind. On the other hand their experience goes to show a child who has been wayward and even criminal, becomes happy, contented and virtuous, when placed in congenial surroundings.

This child, who is not yet ten years of age, will, the Society hopes, be handed over to it by the authorities.

AN ACCIDENT

Mr. John Williams Injured at the C.G.E. Works Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. John Williams, 423 Sherbrooke street, who is employed at the Canadain General Electric Works, was the victim of a very painful accident. While at his work he was loosening a bolt and the wrench which he was using accidentally slipped, striking him on the right eye injuring the eye-ball painfully. Dr. Young was summoned and treated the injury. It is hoped that the sight will not be destroyed.

CONFERENCE NOTES.

A Peterborough Platform at this Year's Session of Conference.

It seemed quite appropriate for the Bay of Quinte Conference to meet in Peterborough this year as the four ministers on the platform are all connected in some way with Peterborough or the county. The president was pastor of George Street Church, the secretary and two assistants were ordained in the George Street Church here 17 years ago, the former being still in this district; the lay secretary is also from this district. The nominee for next year's presidency was also from Peterborough, being the pastor of Charlotte street church. So it was much of a Peterborough platform at this year's Conference.

ENNISMORE'S ANNUAL PICNIC.

To be Held This Year on Tuesday, June 14th.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's annual picnic success in connection with St. Martin's T.A.S. will be duplicated and improved upon—on Tuesday, June 14th, in Tara Grove, Ennismore. The previous picnic occasions under Rev. Father Fitzpatrick's auspices have been splendid successes, but arrangements are being perfected to make the Ennismore picnic of 1904 surpass all previous attempts and achievements.

The usual, and several unusual, picnic attractions will be presented and the programme of speeches will be contributed by several distinguished public men.

Remember that the Ennismore picnic at Tara Grove, on June 14th will surpass in every respect all former occasions of the kind.

A Fifty Million Dollar Problem

The above title is the caption of an interesting pamphlet issued by the passenger department of the Grand Trunk Railway System, in connection with the World's Fair at St. Louis, April 30th, to December 1st, 1904. The publication contains a very comprehensive and interesting description of the Fair, given in the speech delivered by the Hon. Richard Bartholdt, in the House of Representatives, Washington. The information contained in the brochure will tell you how to solve the "$50,000,000 problem," and help you to decide upon the best way to reach St. Louis, the cost, many suggestions, and a number of sidetrips that may be taken en route, with the price of tickets, etc. The pamphlet is for free distribution and may be obtained from any of the agents of the Grand Trunk Railway System.

Presents for June Bride.

On the principle that the best is none too good for the June bride, the selection should be made at the best store. The Peterborough Cash Bookstore has a display of rechercho wedding gifts so large and varied that every taste is easily suited. Only a partial mention can be made here—Cut glass, remarkable for its beauty and richness, books, Bibles, purses, card cases, wrist bags, fans, framed pictures, works of art, etc. A. H. Stratton & Co.

PETERBOROUGH TAKES PROGRESSIVE STEP

Combination of Industries to be Established Here.

Cold Storage and Provision Business—Of Great Value to Dairy Industry.

Another combination of industries is on its way to success. It is formed under the name of the Peterborough Cold Storage and Provision Company, Limited, having been incorporated with an authorized capital of three hundred thousand dollars. It will give employment to a number of workmen when in full operation. The charter grants the privilege of building wholesale houses, cool curing rooms, warehouses, slaughter houses and abattoirs, for the export of the various products, as eggs, poultry, butter, cheese, lamb, beef and pork, together with any product of the farm, or the manufacture of any article of commerce.

The plant will be centrally located and convenient to both lines of railway, and will have the most up-to-date mechanical refrigerator system that a Canadian house can possess. The separation of the building from the slaughter house, outside of the city, will be a necessity, as many of the products are very sensitive to their surroundings, for instance, butter, cheese, fruits, etc.

The building is proposed to be built with solid stone and cement, at least three to four stories high, and will have such a capacity that it will serve for the accommodation of the various branches of industry that so many of our products demand in exportation to Great Britain and other countries.

The cold storage system has now become the great manipulator by which the farmer can bring his products into the markets of other countries, thus affording to the Canadian farmer a higher price for the products of the soil on which depend the prosperity of our country.

This combination of industries will create a greater interest for the benefit of farmers, who are the capitalists of this company, and serve their purpose to reach the climax of their position in obtaining the highest price possible, by bringing their products here and placing them on the English market with the consumer, who gives the price, which declares unto them the best Klondyke investment obtainable, so enriching the farmer that he becomes more prosperous and giving the world at large more prosperity.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

DRUGGISTS OF DISTRICT HELD ANNUAL MEETING.

Enjoyed a Trip Down the Otonabee and Elected Officers.

Tuesday was a great day for the druggists, for it was the occasion of the annual meeting of District No. 3, comprising the Counties of Northumberland, Ontario, Durham, Victoria and Peterborough. Each of the counties were well represented by delegates at the meeting which was held on the City of Peterborough. The visiting delegates were guests of the local Druggists' Association, who were present with their wives, to enjoy the trip and transact business. The City left the wharf at 1.30 and the business was transacted while the sail down the river was being made. A stop was made at Rosa's bridge, where a pleasant social hour was spent. Tea was served on the return trip, Mr. H. Long being the caterer.

The officers elected were:

President—J. H. Jury, Bowmanville
Sec. - Treas.—Dickson Davidson, Peterborough.

The list of delegates was a representative one, including Messrs. J. H. Jury, of Bowmanville; E. Gregory, Dencon, Lindsay; Allison, Port Perry; Nicholls, Uxbridge; Loucks, Campbellford; Denike, Havelock; McDermid, Bowmanville.

KEENE CHRONICLES WEEKLY INSTALMENT

Gossippy Record of the Week's Events in the Valley Village.

Keene, June 7.

Mr. W. Grubbe, of Thistletown, was the guest of Dr. Shaw on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Geo. Archer, of Campbellford, spent a few days with Mrs. Wm. Campbell last week.

Miss Aggie Doris left for Albion, N. Y., this morning to care for her sister, Mrs. A. O'Donoghue, who is very ill.

Mrs. Geo. Buck and Miss Fowlds, of Hastings were guests of Miss M. Campbell, on Monday.

Rev. McCullough, of Franktown, who twenty-four years ago was stationed in this circuit, conducted services in the Methodist church on Sunday.

A number of our citizens attended the funeral of the late Dr. Moffatt in Norwood on Monday. He was well known in this community, having been principal of the public school some years ago. Later he opened up a practice in his profession which he was compelled to discontinue owing to ill-health.

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterian W.F.M.S. was held on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Fifty-four delegates from neighbouring towns and villages were present. Reports were given by the different officers showing that the work of the past year has been very successful. Miss Sinclair, returned missionary from Indore, gave two addresses of particular interest on the work done there. Addresses were given also by Rev. A. B. Winchester, Toronto, and Rev. Mr. McLennan, Norwood. The members of the choir assisted with the musical part of the programme.

THE ANNUAL PICNIC ST. JOSEPH'S DOURO

It Will be Held on Thursday, June 23rd.

The twenty-fifth annual picnic in connection with St. Joseph's Church, Douro, will be held in the usual place on Thursday, June 23rd. Rev. Father Keilty, who has always made these picnic occasions a success, promises that this picnic will be the best of all. Proceeds of picnic in aid of the stained glass window fund of St. Joseph's Church. Remember the date, June 23rd.

CHEESE BOARD MET WEDNESDAY MORNING

Highest Price Offered for Cheese was Eight Cents.

There Were 6276 Boxes Boarded—Salesmen at First Refused to Accept—the Cheese Sold.

A meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday. The buyers present were Messrs. Kerr, Fitzgerald, Cook, Whitton, Rollins, Wrighton, R. Gillespie, Noble and G. A. Gillespie. Owing to the resignation of Mr. E. M. Elliott as vice-president of the Board, Mr. John Campbell was elected to the position.

The president read the rules of the Board, explaining certain passages of the same. There was considerable discussion on the question of agreement between buyer and seller that both may have satisfaction in transactions. It was suggested that every buyer deposit $100 as a guarantee that he pay the price offered at the Board. Some buyers, it was claimed, refused to pay the price offered at the Board, owing to the price of cheese falling subsequently. Several plans to overcome this difficulty were discussed, and finally it was decided to lay the matter over until the next meeting.

There were 6,276 cheese boarded as follows:

Keene	213
Warminster	205
Shearer	135
Central Smith	218
North Smith	189

Buckhorn	150
South Burleigh	40
Brickley	80
Shamrock	95
Dartford	155
Percy	180
Killarney	131
Fenella	71

The bidding was opened by Mr. Whitton, who offered 7 1-2c. This was raised to 7 3-4 by Mr. Fitzgerald, to 7 13-16 by Mr. Whitton, 7 7-8 by Mr. Gilleapie, and 8c by Mr. Whitton. At this price he called Ormonde, Keene, Cavanville, Lakefield, Fraserville, Fleetwood, Percy, Myrtle, Indian River, Melrose Abbey, but all refused.

Mr. Rollins offered 8c and called North Smith, Warsaw, Oakdale, Pine Grove, Maple Leaf, Young's Point, North Dummer, Stony Lake, South Burleigh, Oak Leaf, Ballyduff. All refused but Oak Leaf.

Mr. Cook at 8c called Missing Link, Mount Pleasant, and Fenella. All refused.

At 8c Mr. Kerr also tried his luck and called Ormonde, Lakefield and Keene, but all refused.

It was suggested that the Board adjourn for a week, but as there had been no meeting for three weeks it was decided to continue.

At 8c Mr. Whitton started again, and called Percy and Ormonde, which accepted.

At 8c Mr. Rollins called Warminster, North Smith, Pine Grove, Maple Leaf, Stony Lake, Oakdale, North Dummer, Young's Point, all accepting.

At 8c Mr. Cook too Lang, Missing Link, Mount Pleasant, Fenella, and Central Smith.

At 8c Mr. Whitton took Westwood, Villiers and Melrose Abbey.

At 7 7-8c Mr. Whitton called Cavanville, Keene, Shearer, Norwood, Indian River, Dartford, but all refused, asking for 8c.

The Board adjourned for one week, less than one half the cheese being sold.

The total number of pounds of cheese sold at the Peterborough cheese board last year, was 6,995,240, for which $748,627.81 was realized. This was a record year, the receipts being nearly $150,000 in advance of any previous year.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield.

Mr. R. Johnston has had the old front in his dry goods store replaced by a plate glass window. The work is being done by Mr. F. J. Moore, and will make a decided improvement in the appearance of the store.

The annual Olympic Excursion from Peterborough passed through the village on Thursday last en route to Burgeigh Falls, per steamer Majestic, where dinner was served. After a sail around the lake the excursionists had supper, which was also supplied by the Burleigh Falls Hotel. The 57th band, which accompanied the excursion and kept the crowd in tune, held an open air concert after supper. The boat arrived in Lakefield on the return trip, at 9.15 p.m., and was met by a special train from Peterborough. The crowd was unanimous in voting it the best trip of the season.

The Grove Preparatory School held its annual excursion to Stony Lake on Friday last per steamer Empress.

Several members of Clementi Lodge, A. F. and A. M., attended the funeral of their late brother, Dr. Moffatt, at Norwood, on Monday.

Mr. E. Bravender of Hudson, N. Y., spent Sunday in the village.

Mr. Barnard of the Bell Telephone Company, paid a visit to the Lakefield exchange on Monday, and found the branch in a flourishing condition.

A meeting of the Free Library Board was held on Monday evening in the town hall.

Miss L. LeFevre is home from Muskoka on a visit to her father.

Mr. Stuart Tighe and Mr. David Gallagher left last week for Calgary, N.W.T.

Mr. Harry Munro left last week for Montreal, where he has secured a position with the Montreal Light and Power Co. Mr. Munro during his sojourn in the village has made many friends, who will learn with regret of his departure. His absence will also be felt in the Presbyterian choir, where his voice was a great help.

Messrs. George and Jas. Hendren have returned to the village after a short visit with friends in Rochester, N. Y.

An adjourned meeting of the Court of Revision was held in the Town Hall on Monday evening. Mr. J. M. Kilbourn, representing the Lakefield Portland Cement Co., discussed the assessment of the Cement Company with a view to having it lowered, but nothing was done to change the present assessment.

A monthly meeting of Clementi Lodge, A. F. and A. M., was held in the Lodge room on Tuesday evening. R. W. Bro. Dr. Shaw, acting-D.D.G. M., paid an official visit to the Lodge, and at the close of the meeting the visiting brother was banquetted by the members of the local lodge.

PASTORAL ADDRESS AN EXCELLENT ONE.

Presented by Rev. E. B. Lanceley, of Port Hope, at Monday Afternoon's Session of the Conference.

At the session of the Conference on Monday afternoon, Rev. E. B. Lanceley, of Port Hope, read the annual pastoral address which was as follows:—

Beloved Brethren,—After another year of happy and arduous toil for the advancement of the Redeemer's Kingdom assembled in our annual Conference in the beautiful City of Peterborough, we address you in the name of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. We are especially grateful that it has pleased God to attach the tokens of His gracious approval to the combined efforts of ministers and laymen for the salvation of souls. With Wesley we still are able to explain "the best of all is God is with us." We rejoice in the evidences of a more intelligent and vital grasp of the fundamental principles of Christianity by our people resulting in a richer, broader, deeper and more Christ like life. No greater calamity could befall us than a decline of Spiritual power, unless it would be its utter loss. Other churches may find their strength in the social element, others in the splendid heritage of royal antecedents, others expand their resources in ritualistic imagery and others in intellectual strength and culture, but the Methodist church shall be a society or "company of men having the form and seeking the power of godliness, united in order to pray together, to receive the word of extortation and to watch over one another in love that they may help each other to work out their salvation." The Methodist church must ever and always stand for Spiritual birth, Spiritual growth and Spiritual equipment, or die. The why of its existence is found in the cry and hunger of the common people for the Gospel as we preach it. We can thank God that there is no article in our creed that we dare not carry to the ends of the earth and publish to the multitudes without reservation. There is not a doctrine we hold that does not sustain and strengthen every related truth. We have no contradictions to reconcile, nor theological tenets which require reconstruction or made to mean something they do not say. Our system of doctrine is entirely in harmony with the common sense of all classes. Is there an intelligent conscience anywhere that does not easily respond to the offer of a free and full Salvation resting upon the doctrine of universal redemption? Is there a manhood that does not feel itself honoured as God appeals to its self respect, by saying "come let us reason together." "Though your sins be as scarlet they shall be as white as snow, though they be red like crimson they shall be as wool."

Is there a penitent who does not welcome the aid of the Holy Spirit in leading him out of darkness into light, and presenting the prospect of a forgiveness of all the sins of the past? Is there a young convert who does not rejoice in the witness of the Spirit and the blessing of a conscious Salvation while he exultingly sings:—

My God is reconciled
His pardoning voice I hear
He owns me for His child
I can no longer fear.
With confidence I now draw nigh
And Father Abba Father cry.

No lodier ideal of devotion can be held out before the vision of the child of God than that which is found in our doctrine of Christian perfection. The institutions of our church adapt themselves to all the conditions of men. They greet the infant of days, the child of tender years, surround the youth not so much with prohibition as with protection; afford splendid bulwarks to the mature manhood of life, and add comfort and consolation to the dying saint. No community on earth has greater reason to prize the means of grace within its fellowship, and no Christian worker can find more perfect facilities for usefulness than those furnished by the resources of our common Methodism.

The successes of the past impose much larger responsibilities upon the church of the present and future. We commend to you, brethren, the various enterprises of the church. Let none of her interests suffer. See that ye abound in every good work. The success that has crowned our missionary efforts during the past few years has scarcely known a parallel in the history of modern missions. The fields now are already white unto harvest. What we have is plenty of onlookers, but what we want is labourers. Pray ye the Lord of the harvest that He send forth labourers into His harvest.

We recommend our people to patronize our educational institutions where the moral and religious character of our sons and daughters will be shielded from the influences which threaten to unsettle the foundations of our cherished faith.

We strongly urge the cultivation of the connexional spirit throughout our church. The great institutions of our Methodism are vitally related to the work accomplished in our lowliest circuit or mission. The individual church, which lives only for itself, is already dead in spirit, and on the way to inevitable extinction. When we grasp the principle that whatever helps THE church helps A church, we have but testified to a principle which is operative in all life. The more thorough knowledge of the vital relation of the institutions of our church to the life of the individual churches would lead to a more sympathetic and intelligent support of these institutions. The growth and development of this connexional spirit would enlarge our vision, widen our horizon, bring us more and more into sympathetic touch with the other great Christian denominations of our country, with some of which we cheerfully welcome a movement looking in the direction of organic union. With such a union would come not so much a saving of money but not so much a saving of money, as places and peoples now destitute of the Gospel may be brought within the possibility of seeing the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

As believers in the connection that exists between precepts and the promises of God you will appreciate the importance of the work among the young people. The officers and teachers of our Sunday school are evidently selected with a view to their piety, zeal, efficiency, and are in thorough sympathy with their work. We, however, mourn over the fact that during the past two or three years there has been reported a notable decrease in the attendance of young people, not only in the Sunday school, but also in our Epworth Leagues. This defection is principally seen among our boys and young men. The future of the home, the church and the nation, is in the hands of the children of to-day, and the religious life of the world twenty-five years hence is what we make it now. Recognizing, as we do, that our children through the merits of the atonement of Jesus Christ, are children of God, and heirs of the Kingdom of Heaven, let us see that they are trained up in the nuture and admonition of the Lord, putting away forever from us the pernicious doctrine that a child becomes the child of the Devil before he can become a child of God.

We are glad to notice that in some of our churches, Young Men's Guilds and Clubs have been formed, that the physical and social interests of our young men, as well as the moral, intellectual and spiritual, are receiving the attention of our officiary, and that even the recreations of the youth are coming under the judicious guidance of the church. We note with unmixed pleasure the gradual elimination of the distinction which once was so sharply drawn between the so-called secular and sacred in human life. We would remind you of the advisability of dividing life into the sacred and the sinful, for surely whatsoever is not sinful is sacred. We trust that this great truth shall so possess, sway, hallow and inspire our whole being that every manifestation of our many sided life shall be an act of pure worship. Only thus can we hope to see the Christ-spirit permeate and helpfully transform all politics, all commerce, all art, all social intercourse—in a word, all human relations. "Whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by Him."

It is a matter of gratification that in our country God is rewarding the insight and frugality of our people by what is known as temporal success. Not unfrequently, however, do we see such increase of temporal prosperity followed by a decrease of vital godliness. We would remind you that only the complete and practical recognition of the great truth that it is the Lord God that hath given thee power to get wealth, and to Him you are responsible for the proper disposal of your means, can transmute wealth into elevated moral character and thus constitute riches a real means of grace.

In the domain of politics, a great responsibility rests upon the Church of God. We earnestly counsel you to set your face steadily against bribery and corruption in all its forms; cultivate independence of thought and action in all things concerning which you are interested. Always put principle above party. It is useless to petition any Government for reforms while we unhesitatingly support those who refuse them, and equally useless to condemn abuses while we persistently vote for those who perpetuate them.

We have no need to remind you of your duty to the temperance question. Our ministers, as a rule, are safe guides on this question. Follow them, for the traditions of our Methodism, the teachings of our Bible, the interests of our children, the security and comfort of our homes, the moral well-being of our country, the safety of our religious and civil institutions, and the integrity of the manhood of the future, demand at once, and forever, the abolition, as far as is in our power, of the iniquitous liquor traffic.

We cherish the memory of those devoted ministers, who, during the year, have passed life's raging fever, and crossed death's sullen stream, and gone to be forever with the Lord—William Tomblin, Eli Woodcock, John English, Thos. R. Hall, John B. Clarkson, Joseph Kilgour, Richard T. Courtice and Thos. S. McKee, were holy, devoted, faithful men of God, who served their generation well and have fallen asleep. While we say farewell to these ascending Elijahs, we rejoice that from the school of the prophets, many young men are coming to fill their places, and the ranks of God's sacramental host remain yet unbroken. For you and your children is perpetuated a ministry which will in the days to come, be a source of abundant peace and blessing.

Brethren, we live in stirring times. Concerning all moral questions we must give no uncertain sound. God permits us to live that we may speed the right and bring to naught the wrong. The time is short.

'Tis not for man to trifle: life is brief
And sin is here.
Our age is but the falling of a leaf
A dropping of a tear;
We have no time to sport away the hours,
All must be earnest in a world like ours,
Not MANY lives but only ONE have we
One, only one,
How sacred should that one life ever be
That narrow span,
Day after day filled up with blessed toil
Hour after hour still bringing in new spoil.

About Your Complexion.

A yellow muddy complexion tells of derangements of the liver and indicates the presence of bile poison in the blood. As a family medicine Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are of inestimable value.

FISHERY REGULATIONS.

Anglers in Ontario Must Hereafter Have a Permit.

Toronto, June 8.—Deputy Commissioner Bastedo of the Fisheries Department is in receipt of the new regulations of the Dominion Government, which go in force immediately. The regulations are as follows:

"No one shall catch in one day by angling more than eight small or large mouthed bass, four maskinonge, twelve pickerel (dore), or four lake trout; a greater number of speckled or brook trout that in the aggregate shall weigh more than ten pounds, and no greater number than thirty speckled or brook trout, the said number weigh less than ten pounds.

"No bass less than 10 inches in length, speckled trout less than 6, pickerel (dore) less than 1 inch in length, and maskinonge less than 30 inches in length, shall be sold, offered or exposed for sale, or had in possession. The measurements shall be from the point of the nose to the centre of the tail.

"The sale and export of speckled trout, black bass and maskinonge is prohibited for a period of five years, but any person from a foreign country fishing in the waters of the province and applying and paying for an angler's permit, may, upon leaving the province, when the same are accompanied by him, take with him the lawful catch of two days' angling."

Sued by His Doctor.

"A doctor here has sued me for $12.50, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coushella, Ont. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used as I had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by all druggists.

OPERATION OF THE MACHINE TELEPHONE

The Lorimer System and Characteristic Features of its Operation.

A VERY SIMPLE MECHANISM.

Visit to the Factory of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company—An Exchange in Actual Daily use—Some Interesting Facts.

The result of an investigation into the features of the Lorimer system of Machine Telephones is given below, the facts quoted having been gleaned by a personal inspection of the factory where the equipment comprising the system is manufactured, and a complete working exchange is in operation.

The system, while apparently complicated, is in reality exceedingly simple, and the work which the subscriber is called upon to do in order to become connected with another subscriber, only occupies the space of a few seconds, and is very easily learned.

This system will be installed in Peterborough during the next few months, and this town will be the first to have the Lorimer system in operation as far as subscribers are concerned. This town will also be the first of its size to have underground wires.

Peterborough, during this and preceding years has attained considerable prominence from the fact that there is possessed by the town a number of institutions and characteristic features not duplicated anywhere in the Dominion. The latest of these, regarding which Peterborough citizens are saying with considerable commendable pride, "Not another one in Canada like it," is the new system of machine operated telephones. This town was the first in Canada to grant a franchise to the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, and with one possible exception, where it is stated there is a small system in operation, the "Electric City" is the first municipality in the Dominion to have an automatic telephone system, and certainly it is the first to have a system approaching in any degree the magnitude of that about to be installed here by the Canadian Machine Telephone Company.

That the town made no mistake when the franchise was given to this Company, or rather that in the view of the members of the councils in other municipalities, no mistake was made, is attested to by the fact that since the contract with Peterborough was made, the Company has been voluntarily communicated with by seven or eight towns and cities with a view of having their system installed in these places. This fact is mentioned merely as a further evidence of the fact already patent to those who have studied the situation, that Peterborough in almost every particular, in which progressive citizenship is a feature, is abreast, and in most cases, ahead of any other place in the Dominion similarly situated as far as population, etc. are concerned.

THE TELEPHONE INVENTED.

The invention of the telephone 25 years ago by Professor Alexander Graham Bell, a Canadian, whose name is worthily associated with the instrument ever since, was recognized as one of the remarkable achievements of the 19th Century, and since its original introduction a number of very important and essential improvements have been introduced, but there has always, from the very first, almost, been one feature, which was recognized by all students as well as users of the telephone, to be what was more required perhaps than any other, and that was a system which would operate automatically without the necessity for manual interposition between the person calling and the person called. Existing telephone companies have sought to overcome this by perfecting as far as possible the equipment now used, and in a measure have succeeded, but this one link between the manually operated, and the perfect system, that requiring no human agency at "Central," remained unsolved—at least for practical uses on a general commercial scale.

THE AUTOMATIC SYSTEM.

The Lorimer system of machine operated telephones, however, has apparently supplied this missing link, and this system is that used by the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, which recently was granted a franchise by the town council, and which is now making active preparations to install the system in the near future, on a large scale.

In view of the fact that to comparatively few are the features characteristic of a machine operated telephone system familiar, and since the company has already secured a large number of local subscribers the majority of whom have never seen the system in operation, the Examiner made the work of investigating the working of the system the object of a trip to Toronto yesterday, and the General Manager of the Company, Mr. F. D. MacKay, when he learned the object of the visit, made the task an easy one.

The factory in which the telephones and the different parts constituting the system, are manufactured, is situated in a large white brick structure on Duncan street, in which is located a complete 200 subscriber exchange, which is now in daily operation.

To one who has never seen the new method telephone service, a visit to this factory is a revelation, for here a machine is made to accomplish what for many years has been thought to be impossible without human assistance, and although one would naturally think differently, the equipment is not a complicated one, nor its operation difficult to understand when it is explained, and the great wonder is that such a simple method of overcoming the greatest obstacle in the way of perfect telephone connection, had not been discovered long ago.

HOW IT WORKS.

Of the general principles of the system itself, little need be said beyond a brief discription of what impressed the Examiner as being the king-pin of the whole system. This particular part is known as the decimal indicator. One of these is attached to every section of one hundred phones, and its duties briefly are (1) To test every subscriber's line once in four seconds for incoming calls, and to pass those calls on to an idle connection division, of which, in the case of Peterborough, the management gives assurance there will be ample provision for all the demands which will be made on the service. (2) To guard subscribers' lines from interference while they are in use, and (3) to test every subscriber's line every four seconds for cross circuits or grounded wires; or in other words, the decimal indicator completes a circuit every four seconds, which is equivalent to an operator asking one hundred subscribers every four seconds what number they want, if it were possible for an operator to do that. Upon receiving a call, it stops momentarily, until the call is taken by a connecting division, when it proceeds upon its course. It does not, like the operator, wait until the connection is completed before attending to the next call, consequently it can get through three or four times as much work in the same time.

What the subscriber is principally interested in, however, is not the system itself, regarding which little thought is expended upon his part, providing it renders an efficient service, but the telephone in his office or home, and which he uses; and what he is interested particularly in is whether the new system, by which he gets the person to whom he wishes to speak, himself, or that by which he depends upon someone else to get him, is preferable, and upon this feature depends the success, or otherwise, of the machine system.

THE TELEPHONE ON THE WALL.

The telephone in appearance, is similar in its general outlines to that with which custom has made every telephone user familiar. There are, however, a few radical differences in the method of using. Directly beneath the bells in front of the telephone, as will be seen by reference to the accompanying cut, is the indicator plate, with four small levers, which may be set at any number from 0 to 9999, that the subscriber desires to call. After setting the levers at the number desired, the subscriber gives a small knob at the foot of the telephone a quarter turn, which action sets an impulse to the central station, and starts the call, which immediately releases the knob, and it springs back to its original position, in so doing conveying a contact-making arm over the contact pins, thereby causing impulses corresponding to the thousands, hundreds, tens and units, at which the levers on the indicator plate had been set, to be transmitted to the machine. As each impulse is sent, the mechanisms are stepped forward in unison, and nothing remains to be done except to place the receiver to the ear, press the ringing button, and wait the called subscriber's response. Should the number called be busy, this is made clear to the subscriber calling by the fact that as he presses the ringing button, he fails to hear the vibrations of the ringing circuit, which would be perfectly audible if the called subscriber's bell was ringing.

Telephone used by the Canadian Machine Telephone Company.

This operation, which in reality occupies only a moment of time, may be summarized as follows:

(1) Set the levers to indicate the number wanted.

(2) Turn the knob one-quarter of a turn.

(3) Put receiver to the ear.

(4) Press button, and wait response.

The work which the subscriber has to do is perfectly simple, and during the time that he is on the line he is complete master of the situation. No one can "cut in" until he is through talking, and this fact, that there is absolute secrecy, no one by any possible chance becoming connected with another telephone while it is in use, constitutes, what is claimed to be, one of the chief advantages of the machine system.

When the conversation has been concluded, the replacing of the receiver, gives instantaneous release, and the subscriber may at once call another member, or he may be called by another subscriber. The value of this instantaneous release will be appreciated by telephone users.

The method of operation is so simple that there is no possibility of a mistake being made or the instrument being put out of order.

Each telephone is fitted with a long distance equipment, for which no extra charge is made to the subscribers.

In case of a telephone being "out of order" through crossed wires or other outside cause, an alarm is sounded at the central office, attracting the attention of the single attendant, and automatically records the number of the line in trouble. The attendant can at once send out to have the trouble remedied, and this may be done before the subscriber is aware that his line is in trouble.

AN INFORMATION BUREAU.

In connection with the local office here the company will establish an information bureau, at which all local information, such as the arrival and departure of trains, the location of fires, etc., will be given to the subscribers.

While there may be some doubt as to the efficiency of the system, in the minds of those who have not witnessed its work, and who have been so long accustomed to the manually operated system, that it seems to them impossible to imagine a system operated automatically, to see the system of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company in operation, is to be thoroughly convinced of its practicability, because the principle and the method of working it out are so simple that this fact in itself is sufficient recommendation.

The factory in which the machines and their equipment are manufactured, is fitted up in a thoroughly modern manner, and well equipped for the work, and the manufacturing end of the business gives indications of the same progressiveness, and at the same time efficient management which characterizes the business end of the company.

Peterborough is to be congratulated upon the enterprise evidenced by the council in thus becoming the first municipality in Canada, as far as is known, to have a machine operated telephone system, and the fact that in the company owning this system considerable Peterborough capital is concerned, and that local men occupy the administrative offices is additional cause for gratification on the part of the citizens of the town.

THE MISSION OF THE REDEMPTIONIST FATHERS

Now in Progress at St. Peter's Cathedral.

Crowded Congregations and Eloquently Spiritual Sermons.

The mission which is being conducted at St. Peter's Cathedral for the last ten days by Redemptorist Fathers Connolly, Feeney and Zillas, of New York, has now reached the second stage of what to human judgment, would seem successful progress.

Last week the mission was addressed to women exclusively, and the attendance at the several daily services beginning with celebration of masses at 5 and 8 a.m., was on an average from 1500 to 2000.

The attendance at the services for men, to which this week is being devoted, is correspondingly large — about 1000 men assisting at the celebration of the 5 and 8 o'clock masses.

The mission preachers are men of rare pulpit power. Their sermons are earnest and spiritual, and all who come under their influence must be devotionally and spiritually edified. On Tuesday night at 7.30, the sermon was to married men, and at 8.30 to young and unmarried men. Last night Rev. Father Zillas preached a sermon on the subject of the last judgment, which was a vivid picture, glorious and lurid of the final doom respectively of the pious and impenitent.

On several occasions there was a special service in the chapel for the benefit of the French-Canadian members of the congregation, at which the sermon was preached by Rev. Father Feeney.

PARK STREET BAPTIST ANNUAL ROLL CALL

Evidence Offered of Rapid Congregational Advance.

Gratifying Increase of Membership and Contributions.

There was a great rallay of the membership at the annual roll call of the Park street Baptist church last night. The pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace was in the chair; David Holt, church clerk, called the roll and it was nearly nine o'clock before he reached the last name. This ceremony was interspersed with choice selections of sacred songs which were heartily entered into.

The visiting pastor was Rev. W. Bastow, M.A., who warmly congratulated the church on the rapid strides they are taking. A seventy per cent. increase in membership this year meant a hundred per cent. increase for the year just entered upon. An advance, said he, of $400.00 on last year is a cause for devout thankfulness. He then delivered a very spirited address with all the clearness and vigour of youth, inspiring the membership to individual effort and an onward march to triumph and conquest.

The offerings will net for the evening around $40.00. The church will commence the year with a clean sheet, all liabilities of general expenses met, and a balance on Building Fund with the lot entirely paid for. Deacon Gillespie addressed the meeting in a most hopeful strain, contrasting the beginning of the year with its closing, and set the pace for a hundred per cent. increase all round for this year.—Com.

One Month in Jail.

At the police court this morning, George Allen and his wife were charged with keeping a house of ill-fame on Simcoe street. 7 Sutherland Sisters Hair Grower

GREW THIS HAIR

Testimonial No. 422.

MISS NORA GASTAGER
2108 Centre Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.

When the scalp throws off either dandruff or a greasy substance, it is an evidence of scalp disease, and no time should be lost in correcting it. You certainly would not hesitate to take treatment were you to look at this matter through a magnifying glass. When highly magnified it resembles a working mass of insects. These creatures absorb the nutriment or life-sap of the scalp causing the scalp to become dry and feverish, resulting in the loss of hair and finally baldness. Seven Sutherland Sisters' Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner works wonders in all such cases. It thoroughly eradicates all trace of scalp bacteria and makes the hair grow unusually long, strong and beautiful. One 50 cent bottle is enough to show you that it will do all this and even more. NOW at all druggists, two sizes, 50c. and $1.00 per bottle.

THE ASSEMBLY VOTE

Large Majority Against Sending Dr. Wilkie to India.

DR. CAMPBELL'S RESIGNATION

Would Not Reconsider His Position and the Assembly Accepted It—Passed Vote of Recognition of His Ability and Services, and Adding That Heresy Trial Had Nothing to Do With It.

St. John, N.B., June 9.—Yesterday morning's session of the General Assembly was taken up wholly with a long and acrimonious discussion re the advisability of sending Dr. Wilkie back to India.

Rev. John A. Ross of Barrie, moved that a new field in India be open for him. This was strongly disapproved by Rev. J. A. Macdonald of The Globe, and others. Mr. Macdonald, knowing Dr. Wilkie as he knew him, he would not vote for sending him to India. He had the disturbing qualities in his make-up, as common to many there, and while he might do very well indeed at home, where he would be constrained by public opinion, he should not be sent to India.

Mr. B. Macdonald said the amendment was simply advocating a policy of politic opportunism which ought not to be cultivated in the church. It was also essentially a vote of want of confidence in the foreign mission committee.

Dr. Sedgwick and Judge Forbes supported J. A. Macdonald, and Dr. Fletcher, Dr. Armstrong and others favored a policy of amendment.

Rev. R. E. Knowles of Galt, moved a second amendment that the matter be referred to a commission of ten. This, after further debate, was defeated, as also was the Ross amendment and the original resolution moved Tuesday, adopting the report of the foreign mission committee, was adopted by a large majority.

This report recommended that no new field be opened and bars Dr. Wilkie from serving in India under the Canadian Presbyterian Board.

At the afternoon session reports presented from Regina Industrial Schools showed a large deficit, and a motion commending the school to the care of the Government was referred to a committee.

The committee on missionaries salaries recommended the minimum stipend be increased $50. This was adopted.

The committee re Queen's recommended that the connection between the university and the church be maintained, that graduates be given larger representation on the board of trustees, and that measures be taken to increase the present revenue by $20,000. This was adopted.

The committee appointed to confer with Prof. Campbell reported that he had emphatically refused to reconsider his resignation, and a resolution was passed accepting his resignation, but paying a high tribute to Prof. Campbell's ability and services, and stating that the heresy charges had nothing to do with the action of the assembly.

At the evening session of the general assembly it was decided on motion of Principal Patrick not to appoint a general secretary for the Sabbath schools this year, but to allow the committee to continue their work and report to the next assembly.

The report on church life and work was submitted by Dr. Ramsay of Ottawa and adopted.

In reference to the report, Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of The Globe, made a vigorous speech, advocating the idea that ministers should interest themselves in political iniquities.

On motion of Dr. McLaren, the assembly decided to petition Parliament, asking for legislation to stop betting on horse races.

Business will be resumed this morning at 9 o'clock, with the hope of being able to finally adjourn at noon.

What Prof. Campbell Says.

Toronto June 9.—Prof. John Campbell, who resigned from the staff of the Montreal Presbyterian College on the appointment of Prof. Scrimger to the principalship, is in the city. Prof. Campbell stated yesterday to the press that he had been complimented upon his moderation at the general assembly in St. John.

"There was nothing sensational in what I said, the sensation arising from what I did." He attributes his having been passed over in the appointment to the prejudice of David Morrice, who dominated the rest of the board.

"He is guilty of doing me a deadly wrong," said Prof. Campbell. Prof. Campbell also accused Prof. Scrimger of "plotting and scheming for the position."

"I never asked a vote for myself from anybody; never begged for office from any person whatsoever. Probably if this had not been my rule I might have obtained the position."

Prof. Campbell thought that the heresy charge of some years ago had also weighed against him. Besides this, his views on the temperance question are not acceptable to the Montreal community, where prohibition is in favor.

"Principal McVicar, Principal Grant and Principal King were not pledged abstainers, and the same may be said of almost all the principals of the church. I have no knowledge that this was made a ground, but it is a possibility on account of the sentiment in Montreal."

Thrown From a Wagon

Mr. George K. Babcock was thrown from his wagon and severly bruised. He applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely and says it is the best liniment he ever used. Mr. Babcock is a well known citizen of North Plain, Conn. There is nothing equal to Pain Balm for sprains and bruises. It will effect a cure in one-third the time required by any other treatment. For sale by all druggists.

Couldn't Rise From a Chair

On Account of Dreadful Pains in the Kidneys and Back—A Complete Cure by

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

In its course through the body the blood not only supplies nourishment to the various organs, but also gathers up the poisonous waste matter.

When the liver and kidneys fail to filter these poisons from the blood there are pains and aches and diseases of the most painful and fatal kind.

Because they restore the strength and activity to the kidneys and liver Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills overcome such troubles and purify the blood in a wonderfully short time.

Mr. L. W. Dennis, Welland, Ont., writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify in behalf of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. For many years I was seriously afflicted with kidney and liver troubles. At times my back would ache so bad I could not rise from a chair, and then again I would be confined to my bed. I was treated by the medical profession, but they all failed to understand my case.

"About the time I was most discouraged I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they were so strongly recommended that I decided to try them. Before I had used all of five boxes my old trouble had entirely left me, and I was again as healthy as in boyhood. I freely give this testimony for the benefit of those who suffer as I have."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 5

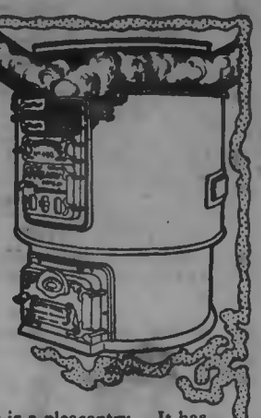
Sunshine Furnace
Water-pan



Dry air is light—it lifts and carries dust. Dry air cracks your furniture, gives you a headache, shrivels your skin, parches your lungs.

The water-pan in most furnaces is a pleasantry. It has no serious business in the work of the furnace—it is merely placed there for effect, because a water-pan is a good thing.

And a water-pan is an absolute necessity to your health and comfort, but it must be properly placed to radiate moisture evenly and uniformly throughout the house.

The water-pan of the Sunshine Furnace is the most scientifically arranged water-pan in any furnace in the world.

It does the work a water-pan should, and does it well.

COLORADO ANARCHY.

Union Miners Fire Upon the Militia at Dunnville—One Miner Killed and Fourteen Captured.

Victor, Col., June 9.—A pitched battle between the militia and union miners was fought at Dunnville, the new mining camp, thirteen miles out of Victor, shortly after three o'clock yesterday afternoon. John Carley, a union miner, was killed. The troops returned to Victor at 9 o'clock last night, bringing with them fourteen captives.

It was reported that the miners in the hills about Dunnville numbered about 250, and that it was their intention to march into Victor in a body and attempt to liberate by force the inmates of the temporary "bull pen" in Victor. That the force actually consisted of but twenty-one men is the statement of one of the fourteen men who were captured by the militia.

As the militia emerged from the cut in which the train had come to a stop they were greeted with a volley fired from points of vantage surrounding the hills. The deputies returned the fire and promiscuous shooting was enaged in for ten minutes.

DROWNED IN BARREL

Five-Year-Old Son of Mr. Hogarth Victim at Brantford.

J. JAMES DROWNED IN CANAL

Engineer Alfred Norton of Penetang Drowned By Falling Off a Ferry Boat While Waiting to Take the Night Ferry at Sault Ste. Marie—Former Bank Manager's Suicide in Winnipeg.

Drowned in a Barrel.

Brantford, June 8.—The five-year-old son of Mr. Hogarth, a teacher at Tranquility, who resides in this city, was drowned in a rain barrel yesterday afternoon. The family had just moved into a new home, and the little chap was unacquainted with the surroundings. The well was on a level with the ground and was in a dangerous location.

Drowned in Canal.

Thorold, June 8.—A young man named John James, from Winnipeg, and working on the electric light line between the new Welland Canal and the Cataract Power Company's works at Decue Falls, near here, fell into the canal there yesterday afternoon and was drowned. The body was carried away by the current and has not yet been recovered.

Penetang Man Drowned.

Sault Ste. Marie, June 8.—Alfred Norton, engineer of Ganley's tug Shawanga, was drowned Monday night by falling off a ferry boat while waiting to take the night ferry across the river. He was not seen falling in, but cries for help were heard and a plank thrown him, which he could not grab, and disappeared. The body was recovered. Norton was 52 years of age, and leaves a family of nine at his former home at Penetang.

Chas. Patterson Dead.

Winnipeg, June 8.—Chas. Patterson, former manager of the Bank of Hamilton here and at Brandon, was found dead at the home of Hon. Colin Campbell yesterday morning, where he was staying. He had turned on the gas. It is believed to be a case of suicide, as he lost his position two weeks ago.

Painter Falls to His Death.

Toronto, June 8.—Alexander Drybrough, a painter, working on the Minerva building, 10 West Front street, fell 60 feet yesterday and was instantly killed. He was at work on the mansard roof.

Found Dead.

Belleville, June 8.—Adolphus Filion, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, Trenton, was yesterday morning found dead in bed. Heart disease was the cause. He was 60 years of age.

Cut in Steerage Rates.

London, June 9.—The White Star, Dominion and Allan lines have decided to cut steerage rates from Liverpool and Glasgow to American and Canadian ports to $15, commencing June 11. The cut will be met by the Canadian Pacific Railroad line.

Coal Breaker Burned.

Hazelton, Pa., June 9.—The No. 4 breaker of the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Co., at Audenreid, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday. Eight hundred men and boys are thrown out of employment. The loss will amount to $100,000.

Murderer Captured.

Winnipeg, June 9.—An Italian, believed to be the murderer of an unknown Italian at Fort William on Monday evening, was captured at 10 o'clock Tuesday night at Finmark by C.P.R. sectionmen, and is being sent to Port Arthur in charge of Assistant Chief Connors, who was sent on his trail.

British Advance June 26.

London, June 9.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Simla says that the British advance on Lhassa has been ordered for June 26.

"I wrote to Doctor Pierce, who sent me a very kind letter and advised me."

Thousands of weak and sick women can trace the beginning of a new life of perfect health to that letter written to Dr. Pierce.

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures weak and aching backs, headaches, nervousness and other womanly ailments by curing the womanly diseases which cause them.

"In the spring of 1900 I became very ill," writes Mrs. Alvena Schotts, of Lake Washington, Lemoor Co., Minn., "my back was very weak and ached so that I could do no work at all, so I was obliged to take to my bed. I felt a constant desire to urinate and the pains in abdomen were almost unbearable. I wrote to Dr. Pierce, who sent me a very kind letter, and advised me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took six bottles of each and am a well woman now. I cannot say enough in favor of Dr. Pierce's medicines."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

The Fare Schedule on the Government's Intercolonial Railway.

Ottawa, June 9.—In the House yesterday, Mr. Emmerson, in reply to a question by E. F. Clarke, as to passenger rates on the Intercolonial, gave an answer which showed the schedule to be a complicated one, being 3 cents a mile for the first 100 miles, and decreasing to 2 cents per mile at 400 miles. Second-class rates are of two-thirds of the first-class for one-way passages, and for return fares, one and one-half times the first-class one-way fare. There are also special rates between important points, and, on the whole, the charges are lower than on other lines.

Mr. Tolton was informed that the Government has not reached a decision on the question of assisting the peat industry by bonus or otherwise.

Mr. Hyman, in the absence of the Postmaster-General, informed E. F. Clarke that the Government was not aware that certain superior officials of Toronto were canvassing letter carriers to petition the Government to further extend the time during which carriers may come in under the new act.

He said, however, that certain letter carriers, being badly advised, had failed to take advantage of the act within the specified time, and recently sought the advice of some experienced clerks in the Toronto Postoffice. These latter clerks, who were wholly disinterested, told the letter carriers they should avail themselves of the provision of the law, and some of the letter carriers had reached the conclusion that they had made a mistake at the beginning.

Mr. Wilson was informed that Prof. James Mavor of Toronto University had not been appointed by the Government to investigate a dispute between the Government and the Doukhobors.

Sir Richard Cartwright.

An annual contribution to the budget debate, awaited with almost as much interest as the budget itself, is the speech by Sir Richard Cartwright. It came yesterday, and old Parliamentarians recognized in it the same keen grasp of public affairs, the same irresistible logic and the same withering sarcasm which have marked his deliverances for nearly a third of a century. Sir Richard has for years been regarded as perhaps our greatest critic, but his hearers yesterday heard him speak quite as effectively in support of an administration whose record was deserving of as high praise as the preceding Government was of blame. Sir Richard did not, however, neglect a quiet drive at his old opponents, and added some pregnant sentences to his previous criticisms of the stuffed census of 1891. Sir Richard's conclusion was in his happiest vein of irony, in which he referred to the Opposition as "Ye men of little faith," and poured out a stream of Biblical metaphor to the great amusement of the House. Mr. Rufus Pope replied for the Opposition, and expressed fear that the anti-dumping policy would not work out. Mr. C. B. Heyd answered most effectively, and showed how the industries of Brantford had flourished under the Laurier tariff. The House adjourned at eleven o'clock.

New Ocean Line.

London, June 8.—A new steamship service to Canada is being arranged. The steamers are to run up the St. Lawrence when navigation is possible, and a fortnightly service is proposed, to be increased if business justifies it. The boats will coal at Newcastle-on-Tyne, where passengers will embark. W. Peterson, Limited, of Newcastle, and Mackenzie & Mann, of Montreal, are interested.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Montreal, June 8.—In the Court of King's Bench yesterday, Morelli, the Italian, who was charged with murdering another Italian named Comino, was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury, with a recommendation to mercy. The killing of Comino took place on April 17.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Opposition Against Sending Dr. Wilkie Again to India, But the Vote Has Not Been Reached Yet.

St. John, N.B., June 8.—At the general assembly session yesterday morning the resolutions moved Monday committing the assembly to an expression of opinion in favor of church union were carried unanimously. Dr. Sedgewick, Dr. Somerville, Dr. Murray, Dr. Bryce and Rev. J. A. Macdonald were named to appoint a committee to confer with the Methodists and the Congregationalists concerning the practicability of union.

The case of Dr. Wilkie, whose inability to work in harmony with other missionaries in Central India, has caused trouble in the church for some time, came up for a long and sharp discussion. The foreign mission board, while acquitting Dr. Wilkie of the charges of being addicted to noxious drugs, believed that he could not with advantage to the mission, be allowed to resume his work there, and recommended that he be removed from the principalship of Indore College, and that an effort be made to secure him a suitable mission field somewhere else.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the general assembly in Grand Hall, Kingston, beginning the first Wednesday in June, 1905.

The whole of the afternoon session was given up to a bitter discussion on the question of the settlement of the Dr. Wilkie difficulty. Any proposal to send him back to India met with determined opposition, it being freely stated that his presence there was a menace to the success of the church's foreign work, and would threaten permanent disruption. It was moved by Dr. Scrimger in amendment to the motion for the adoption of the report presented in the morning that a new field be established in India for Dr. Wilkie. The hour of adjournment came before a vote was taken, and the discussion was postponed till this morning.

Last evening's session was taken up with a discussion of the reports on young people's societies and Sabbath schools.

Soo Company Meeting.

New York, June 8.—A formal meeting for organization of the Lake Superior Corporation, the newly incorporated successor of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, will be held to-day at the offices of the Corporation Trust Company in Jersey City. The organization of the new corporation will be completed and new officers formally elected. A meeting of the temporary officers of the new concern and of the important interests connected with it was held yesterday at the offices of the concern at No. 100 Broadway, and the ticket to be elected to-day was decided on. It is understood that the list of officials will be, without any important changes that already announced. The official notice will be made after the meeting.

Toronto, June 8.—A message received in the city last night stated that the ticket for the directorate included Messrs. C. D. Warren, President of the Traders' Bank; T. J. Drummond of Montreal, and Messrs. Hugh Blain and N. W. Rowell, K.C., the latter two names suggested by the Ontario Government.

BURNS WON EASILY

Defeated Renton in the Five Mile Foot-race To-day.

The five mile foot race between A. J. Burns and Ed. Renton was run this afternoon and resulted in an easy win for Burns who won by several hundred yards. Burns finished with a great outburst of speed. The time was 28 1-2 minutes. The referee was C. G. Graham and the umpire J. J. Howden.

BASEBALL.

The baseball championship season in Peterborough will open on Saturday afternoon, when the strong Bowmanville team will cross bats with the Peterboroughs in a Midland League match. The visitors have always been close to the top of the ladder at the close of the season and this year's team is a fast one and will give the homesters a hard struggle. While there is some new material on the team such old reliable players as Morris, Martyn, the Weekes Bros., and others will figure on the line-up. Hooper a brother of Bowmanville's former first baseman, now with Lindsay, is doing the slab work this year for the Bowmanville team, alternating with Edick, a promising young twirler. No one should miss this game.

• • • •

Manager Whitcroft states that he will place the strongest team on the diamond on Saturday against Bowmanville that has represented Peterborough in years and he is confident of taking the visitors in camp.

• • • •

The Peterboroughs have had excellent practices this week and the boys are working harder than ever as a result of Saturday's defeat.

• • • •

The match between the Review and the Examiner is scheduled to come off next week provided the former nine can be persuaded not to backout. Our contemporaries are hard at work in preparation for the struggle and with the memory of hockey still fresh and fragrant in their memoris, are vowing sweet revenge in the baseball game, stating that their battery alone will be sufficient to trim the Examiner. Their twirler they claim can hit a fairly good sized church nine times out of ten at a distance of 30 yards, and his speed is something terrific. Keep your eyes open for the date of the collision.

• • • •

Last Tuesday on the West-end diamond, Smith street, the Young Excelsiors rubbed the name into the Never-wins by defeating them by a score of 11—6. Batteries, Excelsiors—Belleghem and Hayes. Never-wins—Sherwood and McNairn.

• • • •

St. Andrew's and St. Luke's will conclude their game this evening on the latter's grounds, weather permitting. Each team has one run to its credit and to-night's game should be very interesting.

• • • •

George Street and St. Luke's Guilds will play again to-morrow night.

• • • •

Two games which will have a very important bearing upon the standing of the teams in the Guild League, will be played next week, when St. Andrew's and Charlotte Street play at the former grounds and All Saints play at St. Paul's. Both games should be fine contests.

• • • •

The Little Pearls beat the Little Victors by 9-8 in the lumber yards Tuesday.

• • • •

The Midland League games scheduled for next Saturday are Lindsay at Oshawa, Cobourg at Port Hope and Bowmanville at Peterborough.

• • • •

The Varsity team is trimming all its opponents in Western Ontario in easy fashion.

• • • •

Two great games are scheduled for next week, the Review vs. Examiner and the B.A.C. vs. George Street Guild.

• • • •

Peterborough players have got the Irwin-etis, a batters' malady caused by fanning the air. The disease is contagious and Lindsays have caught it, but are on the mend.—Lindsay Post.

• • • •

The local team will greatly miss the good services of "Corker" Stalker in this season's games. Bill has decided to drop out this year and give the new players a chance.—Lindsay Post.

• • • •

There will be some important changes in the line up of the local team for Saturday's game with Bowmanville and the team will be much strengthened.

• • • •

A very exciting game of baseball was played on the Oval Tuesday night between the Young Excelsiors and the Victors, the Young Excelsiors winning by a score of 10-0. The line up was as follows:—Excelsiors—H. Belleghem, p.; Frank Hayes, c.; Roy Hawkins, 1st b.; Willie Clancy, 2nd b.; Reggie Duggan, 3rd b.; Harold Hickey, s.s.; Harry Clancy, c. f.; Tom Fitzgerald, l.f.; A. Davidson, r. f. Victorrs.—Hawkins, p.; Hall, c.; Heaslip, 1st b.; Grane, 2nd b.; A. Hall, 3rd b.; B. Hawkins, s. s.; Robinson, l.f.; Fitzgerald, r.f.; Long, c.f.; Batteries—Frank Hayes, H. Belleghem; Grane, Hawkins.

FOOTBALL.

After much hungering and thirsting for a League match, the Y.M.C.A. football team are about to have their longing gratified and on Saturday afternoon the Locust Hill bunch of hopefuls will be along to attempt to put the champions out of business. Not much is known of the visiting team this year, but their reputation as football artists is a good one and they can be relied upon to put up a creditable article of ball. The "Y" team will be stronger than that which played in Bridgenorth a week or so ago. Shortell will be on, Percy Campbell, last year's speedy left wing is back from College, and it is expected that he will again help his old team mates to pull out a victory. The boys have been putting in some good hard practice this week and will be in the pink of condition for the struggle. The game will be played on the T.A.S. grounds and should attract a large crowd.

• • • •

The following are the games in the the semi-finals of the Midland Football League:—

Y.M.C.A. vs. Locust Hill.
Deseronto vs. Quakers.
Bowmanville vs. Bridgenorth.

• • • •

The Y.M.C.A. Football Team will play an exhibition game with the Old Country Wanderers at the Oval this evening.

• • • •

The "Y" boys after their game with the Wanderers will pick their team for the game with Locust Hill on Saturday.

• • • •

The Y.M.C.A. boys play an exhibition game with the O.C.W. at 6.45 o'clock tonight on Nicholls Oval. The following players are asked to be on hand: McFadden, Morgan, Birk, Roberts, Noble, Cameron, Campbell, McDonald, Hall, Boyle and Shortelle. This will be a good practice game to get in shape to meet the Locust Hill team who play here at 1.15 o'clock on Saturday on the Murray street grounds.

• • • •

The Bowmanville team will have their first opportunity on Saturday of showing their worth in the Midland Football League, when they play in Bridgenorth in the first game in the semi-finals. The Bowmanville team is one of a great reputation, having lost but one game during the past three or four years and this year's bunch is about as strong as ever. The forward line has played together for several seasons and the defence contains several old stand bys who are excellent players. Many pick the Bowmanville team to win the league championship, but the fast Bridgenorth team are not of this opinion and are very hopeful of winning Saturday's game.

GOLF.

The following is the draw in the second round of the Stratton trophy competition:—

Rackham, 30 v. Sykes, 30.
Stratton, 10 v. Neill, 7.
E. H. D. Hall, 18 v. F. Hall, 15.

To be played by Tuesday night next. Cards to be as usual.

N. B.—This round MUST be played by the date set as the next draw will be made on Tuesday night next.

WRESTLING.

The medals to be presented to the winners of the different contests at the T.A.S. smoker in the Opera House on Tuesday, June 14th, are on exhibition in O'Brien's Tobacco store window. They are a handsome set and well worth contesting for. Two excellent photographs of McDonough and Hurtubise who will wrestle on that evening are also on exhibition. Both these men have widespread reputations and an excellent contest is assured.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

Bowling on the green is an exceedingly ancient pastime. We find traces of it early in the twelth century. Then it was played with stones, as smooth as possible, the idea being to roll these near a given mark. In the olden times this objective was a little cone set on on the ground some distance from the players. Sometime the game was carried on without the cone, one player rolling his stone, which then served as a mark for his opponent. The game became very popular, indeed, and was played to such an extent that it fell under the ban of the law, as did golf and football, for so much time was devoted to it that the authorities feared lest archery and other arts of war should be neglected. Singularly enough the game was thus prescribed, no penalty was set for those who persisted in it. So the "artificers" servants and others of low degree" were not greatly dismayed, but kept up their practice.

Originally an outdoor game, bowling was soon transplanted indoors, for on the green it could be played with comfort only on fine, warm days. On the alleys, however, it could be indulged in all the year round and was. Great sums of money were wagered on the results of contests, and in the reign of Richard II. we learn that many persons were thereby impoverished. From a variety of reasons, the indoor game became more and more popular than the original outdoor sport, but unfortunately it showed a decided tendency to degeneration. The aristocrats clung to the greens, for they, as they only, were permitted to maintain them, while the poorer peoples flocked to the alleys. It was not until the middle of the eighteenth century that the restrictions imposed on bowling were removed, and the full and natural growth of this pastime permitted.—Exchange.

LACROSSE.

The opening home game in the C. L.A. intermediate is scheduled to take place here on Thursday, June 16th with Orillia.

• • • •

The Examiner has received a copy of the programme of the Lacrosse and Band Tournament to be given by the Elora Lacrosse Club on June 22nd, and 23rd. Prizes to the value of $225 will be given to Intermediate and Junior Lacrosse teams, and $200 will be divided among prizes for bands. The total prize list will be in the neighbour hood of $1,000. This will be a big event in the history of lacrosse in Elora.

Miles McDonough is playing second defence for Owen Sound.

• • • •

The touring Orillia lacrosse team took the champion Brantford twelve, Minto Cup aspirants, into camp yesterday, beating them in an exhibition game by 8-4. The game was a poor exhibition, the losers who were without Cain and Powers on the home playing listlessly.

• • • •

Millbrook is scheduled to play at Port Hope to-day.

• • • •

The disagreeable weather of late has interfered materially with the practices of the lacrosse boys.

SPRINTING

To the Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In a recent issue of your paper in oticed a paragraph in which D. Belland challenged myself amongst others to a 100 yards dash. I wish to take this opportunity of stating publicly that I shall not accept this challenge for this reason:—That Mr. Belland has never in any event in which he has competed, acted as a true sport. If he wins a race, it is, of course, because he is the better man; if he loses, it is (according to his own statements) because he sold the race, consequently there is no satisfaction in competing against this man, and I do not wish to meet him in the sporting arena.

Thanking you for your valuable space I remain,

Yours etc.
WM. ARMSTRONG.

A BIG FAMILY.

New names have to be designed every year to accommodate the Disease Family, but they all revolve around one cause—The Stomach.

The receptacle of all you eat or drink cannot help but get crippled—very few escape. How can they? Just think of what lands in the stomach during a few hours—All sorts of things—sour, sweet, acid, starchy, light, heavy, vegetable and animal; all this raw material is tumbled into the stomach without much thought as to the order of its going, every particle of which has to be worked over, digested, and converted into food for nerves, blood, brain, kidneys, liver and bowels—for every tissue, cell and fibre of the body. Sometimes the stomach is overloaded, shocked and deranged and cannot do its work properly, and right here begins the starting point of disease, as no organ now receives proper nutriment, and usually the weakest cry out their warnings. That's why a well stomach means a well body, and that's why ANTI-PILL has such a marked effect. It soothes the irritated linings of the stomach, and so acts on the mucous membrane that the necessary supply of gastric juice to secure digestion is assured—ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment makes a well stomach.

JAPANESE ARMY STILL ADVANCING

Four Thousand Russians Driven From Siuyen.

JAPS ARE IN FOUR COLUMNS.

After Two Hours' Fighting the Japanese Drove the Cossacks out of Siyuen—Plans of Departure From Port Arthur, in Event of the Imminent Fall of the Fortress, Completed.

Washington, June 11.—The following cablegram has been received at the Japanese Legation from Tokio, dated June 10:

"General Kuroki reports that a detachment of our troops occupied Saimchih on June 7th. Our casualties were three killed and twenty-four men wounded. The enemy left on the battlefield twenty-three killed, besides two officers and five men who were made prisoners.

"Gen. Kuroki's army, co-operating with the forces that landed at Takushan, occupied Siuruen on June 8, driving the enemy toward Tomuchang and Kaiping. The enemy consisted of four thousand cavalry and six guns. Our casualties were three men killed, one lieutenant, one sub-lieutenant and twenty-eight men slightly wounded.

Japs in Four Columns.

Fusan, Corea, June 11.—The first Japanese army for two days past in four columns has been reconoitering the roads toward Liaoyang, Haicheng, Saimatsza and Siuyen, and they have occupied towns on these roads, dislodging the Russians, numbering several hundred, from each after sharp fighting. The Japanese casualties were 65 men killed or wounded.

Siuyen Taken By the Japs.

St. Petersburg, June 11.—The Japanese have taken Siuyen, driving out the Russians. The enemy appears to be advancing on Haicheng. Gen. Kuropatkin reports several minor engagements on June 8. The town of Siuyen was taken after two hours' fighting, the Cossacks being driven out.

There is reason to believe that the plans of the departure of the Port Arthur squadron in the event that the fall of the fortress becomes imminent have been completed. They involve the co-operation of the Vladivostock squadron.

The Battle at Saimatze.

Liaoyang, June 11.—The Russian force at Saimatze was commanded by General Erhoff, who engaged the Japanese advance at 9 a.m. on June 7. The Russian infantry advanced steadily, pushing the Japanese from their position, but their attack gradually developed strength, and the Russians, finding themselves in the presence of an overwhelming force, retired in good order. Their losses were three officers and about one hundred men killed or wounded. Russian observers think the Japanese lost more. The fighting continued until 3 p.m.

Jap's Landing at Senyuchen.

Japanese are reported as attempting a debarkation north of Senyuchen from ten transports protected by two warships.

Infernal Machines For Czar.

London June 11.—The Daily Mail asserts: "Two infernal machines were found on the night of June 7 concealed in tobacco boxes in the Tsarskoye Selo Palace, where the Russian Emperor is now residing. One of the machines was in the dining-room, the other in the audience chamber. The mechanism in each was working when discovered. The strictest secrecy is observed and this statement, although true in every detail, is sure to be categorically denied."

A BROKEN NECK.

Result of Quarrel Between Inmates of Newmarket Industrial Home.

Newmarket, June 11.—Two inmates of the Industrial Home in Newmarket had a set-to Thursday afternoon, and as a result one man, named Ball, is dead. Ball and Colsom were resting in the old house at the back of the refuge when Ball took offence at a remark concerning his smoking tobacco. Ball is said to have been of an irritable disposition and threatened to strike Colsom, when the latter took him by the shoulders and pushed him out of the house. There is a drop of about 5 inches from the door to the ground. This caused Ball to fall on his face, and he broke his neck. An inquest was held yesterday, conducted by Coroner Scott. After viewing the remains and hearing the evidence the coroner's jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death as the result of an accident.

Scholarship For McGill Student.

Montreal, June 11.—A scholarship of £80 a year, or $400, has been offered to Christ's College, Cambridge, under the following conditions: (1) That the scholar be elected from amongst the students of McGill University, Montreal; (2) that the scholar be chosen by the principal and the professors of McGill, but not by competitive examination; (3) that the scholarship be held on any subject taught at the University of Cambridge; (4) that it be called a Canadian scholarship.

WAS KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Mr. W. C. Tennant, of Toronto, Met His Death.

MISS NELLIE BLACK KILLED.

Result of a Farm Team Running Away Near Alvinston—Kicked By a Horse—Fell Through Elevator Shaft—Drowned at Port Arthur—Killed By a Trolley—Body Taken From Canal—Fell 45 Feet.

Toronto, June 11.—A railroad fatality occurred four and one-half miles west of Sharbot Lake about 6 o'clock last evening. W. C. Tennant of 76 Spadina avenue, this city, was the victim.

Together with O. Butterfield and L. Ferguson, he was traveling in the direction of Sharbot Lake on a hand-car, when overtaken by a through C. P.R. train. It would appear that the crew of the hand-car were aware of the train's approach, that they had dismounted, and was trying to save the handcar, when struck.

Ferguson escaped unhurt, while Buttetfield had his shoulder broken. Both are attached to the engineering staff, to which department Tennant also belonged. Butterfield was taken to the hospital at Sharbot Lake. His injuries are not serious.

Deceased was the only son of Mrs. Agnes Tennant of 76 Spadina avenue. A sister, Miss Isabella Tennant, lives at the same address. He was about 23 years of age and unmarried. The body was brought to Toronto last night.

Killed By Team.

Alvinston, June 11.—A sad accident occurred near here yesterday afternoon, causing the death of Miss Nellie Black, aged 16, the second daughter of John Black, farmer, residing three miles south of the village. Mr. Black was enaged plowing in the field when his team became scared and ran away. His daughter, who was standing by the fence watching them, was struck by the team when they were jumping the fence and was instantly killed.

Horse's Kick Killed Him.

Whitby, June 11.—Schooley Wilson, a former prominent resident of Pickering Township, died yesterday morning from the effects of a kick from a horse.

Fell Through Elevator Shaft.

Woodstock, June 11.—James Hays, aged 44, shipping clerk at the Bain Wagon Co., fell through an elevator shaft Thursday afternoon, and died during the night.

Drowned at Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, June 11.—John Gavin, a well-known resident of Port Arthur for 15 years, and a companion, were drowned crossing Pigeon River.

Killed By Trolley.

Ottawa, June 11.—Felix Dahe, a smart boy, who lived on St. Andrew street, was run down by a Sussex car at 1 o'clock and killed.

Body Taken From Canal.

St. Catharines, June 11.—The body of a man about 35 years of age was taken from the canal at Thorold yesterday. The body was identified by Mrs. Smithers of Thorold, as that of her brother, J. Brookmeyer, who has been missing since the 24th of May. There was nothing to indicate that his death was due to other than an accident, and no inquest will be held.

Fell 45 Feet.

London, June 11.—James Franklin Turner, a Bell telephone lineman, fell from the top of a post, a distance of 45 feet yesterday, sustaining very serious injuries to his back and legs. He was making some attachments when he slipped and fell. He was taken to Victoria Hospital, where his injuries were dressed. He is unmarried.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION RALLY

In the Y. M. C. A Building on Monday Next.

The meeting to be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday evening at 8 o'clock promises to be of special helpfulness to all who are interested in Sunday School work. Rev. G. A. MacLennan, B.A., of Norwood, the newly appointed Field Secretary of the County Sunday School Association, will give his popular address on "The Land of the Gospel." Mr. Thos. Yeidowless, of Toronto, Assistant Secretary of the Provincial Association, will also speak. Rev. J. A. Wilson, of St Paul's church, and President of the town Association, will preside. The meeting is open to all and a good attendance is expected. A collection will be taken up to defray expenses.

Clearing Sale of Boots and Shoes.

Mr. J. Kylie commences on Saturday, a clearing sale of boots and shoes at specially reduced prices. The building in which his store is situated has changed hands, and he has decided to reduce his stock at once, which is at present very complete and well assorted. Everybody can be suited and everybody is invited to come and share in the bargains, at the City Shoe Store, 139 Hunter street.

SUDDEN DEATH FROM PARALYTIC STROKE

Mrs. Isabelle Lewis Found Unconscious Last Evening—Died This Morning.

A very sudden death occurred at 6.30 o'clock this morning when Isabelle Gillespie, relict of the late David Lewis, passed away. The deceased lady who was residing at 92 McDonald street, was apparently in the best of health yesterday and when those living in the house left about 8 o'clock last evening she was sewing and did not complain of feeling at all unwell. About 10 o'clock she was found lying on a lounge in a state of unconsciousness. Medical aid was at once summoned and every possible means made use of to revive her, but all were useless and she died about 6.30 o'clock this morning. Death was due to a paralytic stroke, the right side of her body being completely paralyzed.

The late Mrs. Lewis was born in the township of Asphodel and has lived for several years in Peterborough. She was 54 years of age and her husband predeceased her by about 2 years. She leaves no children.

The funeral will take place from the residence of the deceased's brother-in-law, Mr. A. H. Miller, Carlisle avenue, on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery.

ANOTHER OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Andrew Tully, Formerly of Smith, Died in Verulam.

The intelligence reached town this morning of the death in Verulam Township, at the residence of his son, Joseph, of Mr. Andrew Tully, father of Mr. T. J. Tully, of Peterborough, and Mrs. John Lee, of Smith. The deceased gentleman, who had attained the age of 87 years, lived for a great many years in Smith township, just outside the town limits, and was one of the most widely known and most successful farmers in that township. About two years ago he removed to Verulam, being with his son ever since. He has been ailing for some months and the end came gradually and peacefully, after a long and useful life, in the course of which he made a large circle of friends, all of whom will learn with sincere regret of his death.

The late Mr. Tully came to Canada with his parents at a very early age, and ever since has lived in this vicinity. He leaves six sons and one daughter to mourn his loss, two children having died. The sons are T. J., of Peterborough; Joseph and Nisbell of Verulam; and Edward, Andrew and George of North Dakota; and the daughter, Mrs. John Lee, of Smith.

He was married twice, his second wife surviving him.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 8.30, from the residence of Mr. Jos. Tully, Verulam, to the Little Lake cemetery, Peterborough, where interment will take place.

PROGRAMME FOR DECORATION DAY

Oddfellows will Decorate Graves and Woodmen Unveil Monument.

On Thursday, June 16th, the usual Decoration Day Ceremonies will be held in Peterborough. The members of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges, I.O.O.F. will meet at 1.45 at Central Park, where they will form into line and headed by the 57th Bugle Band will proceed to the cemetery, where the graves of the departed members of the Order will be decorated. All the clergymen of the town have been invited to be present, and take part in the service of decoration.

The Woodman of the World will unveil a monument erected by them at the grave of the late Mr. F. Weldon, who was a member of the Order prior to his death.

It is probable that as has been the custom in former years, a half holiday will be observed in the afternoon.

LOCAL FIRM SENDS BUYER TO EUROPE.

Mr. Dickson Hall Leaves for the Old Country on Monday.

Mr. Dickson Hall, of the firm of Richard Hall & Son, leaves for New York enroute for the European markets, on Monday morning. He will sail from New York on Wednesday morning on steamer Cedric for Liverpool. He will be absent about two months, during which time he will visit Berlin, Paris, Manchester, Liverpool and the principal manufacturing centres of England, Ireland and Scotland. The object of Mr. Hall's trip is to purchase the latest novelties in fall and winter goods for the firm's large store here. No doubt the many customers of this store will await with interest the result of this trip by a member of the firm.

Annual Decoration Services.

The annual Decorations Services of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges, I.O.O.F., will be held Thursday afternoon, June 16th. The members of both lodges will meet at 1.45 sharp at the Central Park, and each brother is asked to provide himself with a hand bouquet and wear a white tie and white gloves. The 57th Bugle Band will also be in attendance. 3d

Sunlight Soap will not injure your blankets or harden them. It will make them soft, white and fleecy. 7B

JAPANESE ARMY STILL ADVANCING

Four Thousand Russians Driven From Siuyen.

JAPS ARE IN FOUR COLUMNS.

After Two Hours' Fighting the Japanese Drove the Cossacks out of Siyuen—Plans of Departure From Port Arthur, in Event of the Imminent Fall of the Fortress, Completed.

Washington, June 11.—The following cablegram has been received at the Japanese Legation from Tokio, dated June 10:

"General Kuroki reports that a detachment of our troops occupied Saimchih on June 7th. Our casualties were three killed and twenty-four men wounded. The enemy left on the battlefield twenty-three killed, besides two officers and five men who were made prisoners.

"Gen. Kuroki's army, co-operating with the forces that landed at Takushan, occupied Siuruen on June 8, driving the enemy toward Tomucheng and Kaiping. The enemy consisted of four thousand cavalry and six guns. Our casualties were three men killed, one lieutenant, one sub-lieutenant and twenty-eight men slightly wounded.

Japs in Four Columns.

Fusan, Corea, June 11.—The first Japanese army for two days past in four columns has been reconoitoring the roads toward Liaoyang, Haicheng, Saimatsza and Siuyen, and they have occupied towns on these roads, dislodging the Russians, numbering several hundred, from each after sharp fighting. The Japanese casualties were 65 men killed or wounded.

Siuyen Taken By the Japs.

St. Petersburg, June 11.—The Japanese have taken Siuyen, driving out the Russians. The enemy appears to be advancing on Haicheng. Gen. Kuropatkin reports several minor engagements on June 8. The town of Siuyen was taken after two hours' fighting, the Cossacks being driven out.

There is reason to believe that the plans of the departure of the Port Arthur squadron in the event that the fall of the fortress becomes imminent have been completed. They involve the co-operation of the Vladivostock squadron.

The Battle at Saimatze.

Liaoyang, June 11.—The Russian force at Saimatze was commanded by General Erhoff, who engaged the Japanese advance at 9 a.m. on June 7. The Russian infantry advanced steadily, pushing the Japanese from their position, but their attack gradually developed strength, and the Russians, finding themselves in the presence of an overwhelming force, retired in good order. Their losses were three officers and about one hundred men killed or wounded. Russian observers think the Japanese lost more. The fighting continued until 3 p.m.

Japs Landing at Senyuchen.

Japanese are reported as attempting a debarkation north of Senyuchen from ten transports protected by two warships.

Infernal Machines For Czar.

London June 11.—The Daily Mail asserts: "Two infernal machines were found on the night of June 7 concealed in tobacco boxes in the Tsarskoye Selo Palace, where the Russian Emperor is now residing. One of the machines was in the dining-room, the other in the audience chamber. The mechanism in each was working when discovered. The strictest secrecy is observed and this statement, although true in every detail, is sure to be categorically denied."

A BROKEN NECK.

Result of Quarrel Between Inmates of Newmarket Industrial Home.

Newmarket, June 11.—Two inmates of the Industrial Home in Newmarket had a set-to Thursday afternoon, and as a result one man, named Ball, is dead. Ball and Colsom were resting in the old house at the back of the refuge when Ball took offence at a remark concerning his smoking tobacco. Ball is said to have been of an irritable disposition and threatened to strike Colsom, when the latter took him by the shoulders and pushed him out of the house. There is a drop of about 5 inches from the door to the ground. This caused Ball to fall on his face, and he broke his neck. An inquest was held yesterday, conducted by Coroner Scott. After viewing the remains and hearing the evidence the coroner's jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death as the result of an accident.

WAS KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Mr. W. C. Tennant, of Toronto, Met His Death.

MISS NELLIE BLACK KILLED.

Result of a Farm Team Running Away Near Alvinston—Kicked By a Horse—Fell Through Elevator Shaft—Drowned at Port Arthur—Killed By a Trolley—Body Taken From Canal—Fell 45 Feet.

Toronto, June 11.—A railroad fatality occurred four and one-half miles west of Sharbot Lake about 6 o'clock last evening. W. C. Tennant of 76 Spadina avenue, this city, was the victim.

Together with O. Butterfield and L. Ferguson, he was traveling in the direction of Sharbot Lake on a hand-car, when overtaken by a through C. P.R. train. It would appear that the crew of the hand-car were aware of the train's approach, that they had dismounted, and was trying to save the handcar, when struck.

Ferguson escaped unhurt, while Buttetfield had his shoulder broken. Both are attached to the engineering staff, to which department Tennant also belonged. Butterfield was taken to the hospital at Sharbot Lake. His injuries are not serious.

Deceased was the only son of Mrs. Agnes Tennant of 76 Spadina avenue. A sister, Miss Isabella Tennant, lives at the same address. He was about 28 years of age and unmarried. The body was brought to Toronto last night.

Killed By Team.

Alvinston, June 11.—A sad accident occurred near here yesterday afternoon, causing the death of Miss Nellie Black, aged 16, the second daughter of John Black, farmer, residing three miles south of the village. Mr. Black was enaged plowing in the field when his team became scared and ran away. His daughter, who was standing by the fence watching them, was struck by the team when they were jumping the fence and was instantly killed.

Horse's Kick Killed Him.

Whitby, June 11.—Schooley Wilson, a former prominent resident of Pickering Township, died yesterday morning from the effects of a kick from a horse.

Fell Through Elevator Shaft.

Woodstock, June 11.—James Hays, aged 44, shipping clerk at the Bain Wagon Co., fell through an elevator shaft Thursday afternoon, and died during the night.

Drowned at Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, June 11.—John Gavin, a well-known resident of Port Arthur for 15 years, and a companion, were drowned crossing Pigeon River.

Killed By Trolley.

Ottawa, June 11.—Felix Dahe, a smart boy, who lived on St. Andrew street, was run down by a Sussex car at 1 o'clock and killed.

Body Taken From Canal.

St. Catharines, June 11.—The body of a man about 35 years of age was taken from the canal at Thorold yesterday. The body was identified by Mrs. Smithers of Thorold, as that of her brother, J. Brookmeyer, who has been missing since the 24th of May. There was nothing to indicate that his death was due to other than an accident, and no inquest will be held.

Fell 45 Feet.

London, June 11.—James Franklin Turner, a Bell telephone lineman, fell from the top of a post, a distance of 45 feet yesterday, sustaining very serious injuries to his back and legs. He was making some attachments when he slipped and fell. He was taken to Victoria Hospital, where his injuries were dressed. He is unmarried.

SUDDEN DEATH FROM PARALYTIC STROKE

Mrs. Isabelle Lewis Found Unconscious Last Evening—Died This Morning.

A very sudden death occurred at 6.30 o'clock this morning when Isabelle Gillespie, relict of the late David Lewis, passed away. The deceased lady who was residing at 92 McDonald street, was apparently in the best of health yesterday and when those living in the house left about 8 o'clock last evening she was sewing and did not complain of feeling at all unwell. About 10 o'clock she was found lying on a lounge in a state of unconsciousness. Medical aid was at once summoned and every possible means made use of to revive her, but all were useless and she died about 6.30 o'clock this morning. Death was due to a paralytic stroke, the right side of her body being completely paralysed.

The late Mrs. Lewis was born in the township of Asphodel and has lived for several years in Peterborough. She was 54 years of age and her husband predeceased her by about 2 years. She leaves no children.

The funeral will take place from the residence of the deceased's brother-in-law, Mr. A. H. Miller, Carlisle avenue, on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery.

ANOTHER OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Andrew Tully, Formerly of Smith, Died in Verulam.

The intelligence reached town this morning of the death in Verulam Township, at the residence of his son, Joseph, of Mr. Andrew Tully, father of Mr. T. J. Tully, of Peterborough, and Mrs. John Lee, of Smith. The deceased gentleman, who had attained the age of 87 years, lived for a great many years in Smith township, just outside the town limits, and was one of the most widely known and most successful farmers in that township. About two years ago he removed to Verulam, being with his son ever since. He has been ailing for some months and the end came gradually and peacefully, after a long and useful life, in the course of which he made a large circle of friends, all of whom will learn with sincere regret of his death.

The late Mr. Tully came to Canada with his parents at a very early age, and ever since has lived in this vicinity. He leaves six sons and one daughter to mourn his loss, two children having died. The sons are T. J., of Peterborough; Joseph and Nisbell of Verulam; and Edward, Andrew and George of North Dakota; and the daughter, Mrs. John Lee, of Smith.

He was married twice, his second wife surviving him.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 8.30, from the residence of Mr. Jos. Tully, Verulam, to the Little Lake cemetery, Peterborough, where interment will take place.

PROGRAMME FOR DECORATION DAY

Oddfellows will Decorate Graves and Woodmen Unveil Monument.

On Thursday, June 16th, the usual Decoration Day Ceremonies will be held in Peterborough. The members of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges, I.O.O.F. will meet at 1.45 at Central Park, where they will form into line and headed by the 57th Bugle Band will proceed to the cemetery, where the graves of the departed members of the Order will be decorated. All the clergymen of the town have been invited to be present, and take part in the service of decoration.

The Woodman of the World will unveil a monument erected by them at the grave of the late Mr. F. Waldon, who was a member of the Order prior to his death.

It is probable that as has been the custom in former years, a half holiday will be observed in the afternoon.

LOCAL FIRM SENDS BUYER TO EUROPE.

Mr. Dickson Hall Leaves for the Old Country on Monday.

Mr. Dickson Hall, of the firm of Richard Hall & Son, leaves for New York enroute for the European markets, on Monday morning. He will sail from New York on Wednesday morning on steamer Cedric for Liverpool. He will be absent about two months, during which time he will visit Berlin, Paris, Manchester, Liverpool and the principal manufacturing centres of England, Ireland and Scotland. The object of Mr. Hall's trip is to purchase the latest novelties in fall and winter goods for the firm's large store here. No doubt the many customers of this store will await with interest the result of this trip by a member of the firm.

Annual Decoration Services.

The annual Decorations Services of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges, I.O.O.F., will be held Thursday afternoon, June 16th. The members of both lodges will meet at 1.45 sharp at the Central Park, and each brother is asked to provide himself with a hand bouquet and wear a white tie and white gloves. The 57th Bugle Band will also be in attendance. 2d

Are you feeding your body and neglecting your brain power?

A dull brain is the result of an improperly fed stomach. Your brain wastes away with use the same as your body does. It must be built up and sustained with brain-nourishing food the same as your muscles, bones and tissues. The food element that makes brain is found in the outer coatings of wheat. This is the very portion of the wheat that the white-flour miller discards and with it the greatest portion of the muscle-forming elements. He leaves little else than the heat and fat-producing basic principles of the grain. In

SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT BISCUIT AND TRISCUIT

you get the whole of the wheat, which contains every element that the human body requires and in exactly the correct proportions.

Eating Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit and Triscuit means living according to Nature's laws—feeding each element in the body with the exact food in the exact quantity Nature has prescribed for each element in the body. The result is sound teeth, strong bones, elastic muscles, firm flesh, good, steady nerves, a quick, receptive brain, and the requisite heat and energy for the body.

Triscuit, the ideal toast, is made of the whole of the wheat—it tastes better than white bread toast and is infinitely better for you—try it toasted for breakfast to-morrow morning.

A PROTECTIVE TARRIFF.

The Conservatives make claim that the prosperity which has been coincident with Liberal administration of Dominion affairs is due to the old "N. P." If that is true it is due to the "N. P." with the sting taken out. The "N. P." tariff may have been protective to certain special interests at the expense of the general consumer and taxpayer. On the contrary the Liberal tariff is in many important respects protective, but it is arranged to protect those who provide the country's revenue, the consumer, as well as incidentally the manufacturer and producer. In addition to the provision previously provided striking at the root of trusts and combines, which are always found to heighten prices at the expense of the purchaser, the latest tariff legislation has now wiped out the "slaughter market" argument of the "high" protectionists. Mr. Fielding's little panacea is by no means complicated or cumbersome—it simply provides that the amount of the "cut" or "slaughter" made in price by the exporting American or other manufacturer, be added to the Canadian customs duty, that is, if an American or other manufacturer, extends a specially low price to a Canadian customer—below the regular price in the country of production—when these goods come to the border they will, before passing through the Canadian customs, have to pay a duty equal to the amount of cut or slaughter below the regular price. Thus the Canadian purchaser will pay exactly the regular price, but the amount of reduction will go in the form of an added customs duty into the public chest to help swell the national revenue, instead of into the pockets of the outside manufacturer. In other words the American manufacturer will practically contribute to the revenue of Canada. This is certainly wise and commendable legislation.

Judging by his great speech in the budget debate Sir Richard Cartwright's rheumatic invasion has not extended to his head nor his heart both of which are level and sound, respectively.

If British sympathy with the Japs may propagate the yellow peril it will stand no chance to do worse—Russianize the country — we don't encourage Jew-baiting. A Toronto youth who thought it clever to assault a Jew peddlar got sixty days in jail.

In the greatest nation in creation—the United States—a state of anarchy prevails in Colorado. In the British Empire King Edward reigns; in Colorado anarchy reigns; and King Edward doesn't wreck newspaper offices and slug the intelligent compositor either.

"In the last seven years," said Sir Richard Cartwright, "the revenue of Canada has quadrupled; the value and volume of trade in seven years has doubled that of the previous 30 years, and to-day our population is increasing in all probability at the rate of 1,000 per cent., certainly at the rate of 500 per cent., faster than it was in the decade before."

JUGGLING WITH FIGURES.

In a recent address at St. John, N. B., Mr. Watson Griffin, an official of the Manufacturers' Association, stated that last year "Americans bought from Canada 62 cents worth of merchandise per head of population, whereas Canadians per head of population bought from the United States about $21.46 worth." Further, "per head of population the Americans bought only about ten cents' worth of Canadian farm products, while Canadians bought from the United States about $2.90 worth of the same kind of farm products per head of population." Mr. Griffin seeks by this argument to show the necessity for increasing the Canadian tariff on imports from the States. The reader will at once note the fallacy involved in reducing imports and exports to a per capita basis when of the two countries interested one contains about six, the other about eighty million people. But let us meet Mr. Griffin on his own ground by reversing the process and dealing not with purchases but with sales.

Our exports (sales) of all kinds of goods to the United States in 1903, came to $72,000,000. That is to say, if there are six millions Canadians, each Canadian sold $12 worth of stuff to our neighbours.

Their exports (sales) of all kinds of goods to Canada in 1903, amounted to $138,000,000. In other words, if there are 80,000,000 Americans, each American sold to Canada $1.70 worth of merchandise.

Coming to Agricultural products alone, including animals and their products, our exports (sales) of those commodities to the United States last year were $8,000,000 or $1.50 per capita. Their exports (sales) of like commodities to us were valued at $16,000,000, or 20 cents per head of their population.

Consequently each Canadian sells seven times more agricultural products to the United States than each American sells to Canada, and the same result works out in the case of exports at large, that is to say, each Canadian sells seven times more to them than they sell per head to us. Mr. Griffin's argument turns out, therefore to be a kicking gun.

Of course the per capita basis is not a sound basis; it can be made to prove almost anything. It suited his purpose to employ it in the case of purchases, but it is obviously just as fair to employ it in the case of sales, whereupon he is at once driven up a tree.

CELEBRATION OF GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart Formerly of Peterborough Married 50 Years.

The Enterprise, of Plainville, Ill., tells of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, who formerly lived in Peterborough. Mr. Stewart was the third son of the late Hon. T.A.S. Stewart, of Auburn, and Mrs. Stewart is a daughter of Mr. Johnston, of "Redfern House" Grafton.

The Enterprise says:—

On Tuesday of this week was celebrated the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, old residents of Plainfield.

Mr. Stewart was born in Peterborough, Canada, on October 15, 1828, his parents being amongst the pioneers of that part of Canada. He was married on May 24, 1854, to Annie C. Johnston, of Grafton, Ontario, who was born in Wallford Lodge, Scotland, near Edinboro, on March 3, 1833.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart lived at Peterborough, Ontario, until 1869, when Mr. Stewart came to Woodstock, Illinois, with a view to establishing a home for his young family. He has followed a year later by Mrs. Stewart and family. After a residence of twenty years in Woodstock, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart moved to Plainfield where they have resided ever since.

Of eleven children born to this happy marriage, ten are still living, and nine of these were able to be present at this anniversary, viz: Minnie (Mrs. M. N. Richards: of North Yakima, Wash., T. A. Stewart, of Plainfield, Lizzie (Mrs. C. T. Forrest,) of Woodstock,, Ill., Dr. E. S. Stewart of Chicago, Frank W. Stewart, of Wheatland, Augus M. Stewart, of Ottumwa, Iowa, Effie A. Stewart, of Chicago, Lulu (Mrs. W. L. Flagg,) of Lohrville, Iowa, Eva Stewart, of Chicago. Bert Stewart, of North Yakima, Wash., was unable to be present. Fanny (Mrs. G. H. Parsons, of Moline, Ill., died on January 11, 1893.

Besides the above the following relatives from various parts of the continent assisted at this very happy function: Mrs. K. M. Brown, of Montreal, Canada, a sister of Mr. Stewart, Mrs. H. R. Gillard, of Grafton, Ont., sister of Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Wm. Stewart, of Topeka, Kan., Mrs. J. D. Collins and Miss Annette Collins, of Peterborough, Ont., Miss Marion Gillard, of Grafton, Ont., Milton N. Richards and two sons, John and Tracy, of North Yakima, Wash., Mrs. T. A. Stewart, of Plainfield, Geo. H. Parsons and three children, Annie, Stewart, and Edith, of Moline, (Ren, of Beloit, Wis., was unable to be present;) Mrs. E. S. Stewart and two sons, of Chicago, Mrs. Frank Stewart, of Wheatland, Mrs. Augus M. Stewart and son, of Ottumwa, Iowa, Warren L. Flagg, of Lohrville, Iowa, Walter F. Stewart, of Toronto, Canada, E. H. Brown, of Montreal, Canada, and Mack Stewart, Francis Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stewart and two children, Nina and Ruth, of Topeka, Kan.

Many letters and telegrams of congratulation were received from relatives and friends both near and distant, including a cablegram from Scotland, and souvenir gifts, emblematic of this great event, were numerous.

THIS MAN MEANS WHAT HE SAYS

He Says Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cure Stomach Troubles and Gives his Reasons for Saying so.

"Yes, I mean what I say about Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," says Henry A. Coles, of St. Mary's River, Guysboro Co., N.S., in a recent interview. "I had stomach trouble for about five years. It got so bad I was taken to my bed and the doctor was called in. He couldn't reach the trouble however, and I was suffering very bad, and not knowing what to do when my wife said, "Let us try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

"Well we tried them, and the result was that I used seven boxes and the stomach trouble left and has not troubled me since. Do you wonder I recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?"

If you can't digest your food don't worry. Get a box or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and they will do it for you.

P. Collins, clerk, half year's salary and postage...	30 00

Moved by H. Beckett and J. Clark, that this council adjourn until call of the reeve.

A WOMAN'S SYMPATHY

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too, but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need to do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c—the cost of a postage stamp. Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. Mrs. F. D. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont. MR. FISHER'S REPLY

There Was No Politics in Removing Dr. Pickell's Name.

LORD DUNDONALD ANSWERED

A Conservative Recommended in Dr. Pickell's Place—Lord Dundonald's Case Committed to Col. Sam Hughes—In His Reply Hon. Mr. Fisher Materially Enhanced His Reputation As a Keen Debater.

Ottawa, June 11.—The anticipated official statement by the Government in reference to the allegations credited to Lord Dundonald in the published reports of his speech at Montreal, that political influences had crept into the appointment of officers in a newly-organized militia corps in the eastern townships, was made yesterday. That great interest attached to the incident was evidenced by the large attendance of members on the floor and visitors in the galleries. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, without discussing the results which may flow from the unfortunate incident, remarked that Lord Dundonald must learn that we will not be dragooned in this country, and that we are under responsible Government. Therefore, no recommendation sent to Council by the General was incapable of amendment by the Government.

Politics Not the Motive.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, upon whom the burden of the accusation fell, explained that before striking Dr. Pickell's name off the list, which he did when acting as Minister of Militia, at the request of and in the absence of Sir Frederick Borden, he had received from Dr. Pickell a letter withdrawing his application for a commission. Afterwards, in reply to criticism by Col. Sam. Hughes, Mr. Fisher pointed out that the charge of political partisanship would not lie, as the only man he had recommenhed to replace Dr. Pickell was a Conservative. He quoted from the list of names submitted for officers in the regiment to show that a family compact existed. The force and vigor with which Mr. Fisher repelled the charge of political partisanship in connection with the matter and justified his action materially enhanced his reputation as a keen debater.

Another Question of Etiquette.

A feature of the incident which caused considerable comment was the fact that Lord Dundonald's defence justifying his utterances was presented to the House by Col. Sam Hughes, to whom it was sent by the General, who furnished a copy to Sir Frederick Borden just as the House opened. The Minister of Militia, who had not had time to peruse the copy, declined to submit it to the House, on the ground that the document was not addressed to him.

Lord Dundonald's Memorandum.

Col. Hughes read the memorandum from Lord Dundonald, which, he asserted, contradicted the statements of the Minister of Militia and the Minister of Agriculture, and which was covered by a note from Lord Dundonald, stating that it was in a reply to Col. Hughes' letter to his Lordship, as follows:

"In accordance with general orders, approved by council, I gave orders in the customary manner in the month of February last to organize the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons as a cavalry regiment, with headquarters in the eastern townships of Quebec. Lieut. Col. G. A. Smart was gazetted as commanding officer on Feb. 19, and other officers were also appointed to the same regiment. Shortly after the promulgation of the order authorizing the organization of the regiment, I received an order from Sir Frederick Borden, thru Col. Pinault, the deputy minister of militia, desiring him to stop the organization. No explanation or reason for this step was vouchsafed, but indirectly I learned that the minister of agriculture was responsible for the delay which thus occurred. I greatly desired to have the organization proceeded with, as the time for holding the annual camps was approaching.

"I accordingly twice communicated with Mr. Fisher by telephone on two dates some distance apart and made appointments with him in order that this reason for obstruction might be explained. Mr. Fisher did not keep either of these appointments. On the second of the occasions thus referred to, when speaking to Mr. Fisher on the telephone, I explained the urgency of completing the organization of the militia without delay, otherwise it would be impossible for it to go into camp. I also enquired what Mr. Fisher had to do with the organization of the militia, and to this Mr. Fisher responded by enquiring if I thought he had no right, as a cabinet minister, to interfere. My answer was that, in my opinion, Mr. Fisher had no right to interfere with Col. Smart's selection of officers, as I understand he had been doing. It is, perhaps, unnecessary to say here that Col. Smart's duty was to select officers for commissions and submit their names to the general officer commanding, thru the proper channel, in order that he might make recommendations to the minister of militia.

"I became convinced of Sydney Fisher's continued interference with the duty of Col. Smart in the selection of officers. Subsequently I sent in a list of officers for the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons to be approved of by the minister of militia and gazetted. Included in that list was the name of Dr. Pickell, Mayor of Sweetburg, to command a squadron, a local man of prominence, whose appointment would, I believe, have advanced the interests of the militia. Dr. Pickell was not qualified professionally as an officer. Indeed, only two out of the sixteen of the proposed officers of the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons were militarily qualified. It was impossible as well, he understood, to procure only qualified officers, as the cavalry regiments in the eastern townships had been increased since May, 1903, from four squadrons, numbering 300 men and 20 officers, to twenty squadrons, numbering 1600 men and 100 officers, on the peace establishment and with a war establishment of 1700 men.

"All the gentlemen submitted in the list undertook to qualify professionally after appointment in the usual manner. This course is customary, and has been forced upon us by the lack of qualified officers. It is a course which has always met with the approval of the minister of militia. This list of officers for the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons was submitted to the minister and included in the proposed general order which included other regiments of the militia. This list of officers of the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons was struck out of the general order by Sir F. G. Borden, and I was informed of this circumstance by Col. Pinault, the deputy minister, in a letter, of which the following is a copy:

Ottawa, May 18.—

"Dear Lord Dundonald,—Late last evening I placed before the minister The Gazette, dated 18th inst., for approval and submission to council, with the exception of the part relating to the 13th Scottish Light Dragoons, which the minister held over for further consideration. It was approved and as the minister intended to leave the city this morning for a week or so, rather than delay the submission of the remainder of The Gazette, he cancelled and initialed the appointments to the 13th instead of returning the draft to you for that purpose.

"Very faithfully yours, Lt. Pinault."

A day or two after the first list was cancelled a further list was submitted to me by the adjutant-general, which I was informed would be acceptable, and the organization of the corps would be permitted to proceed. This latter list of officers to be gazetted was sent to council and when returned the name of Dr. Pickell had been erased and the erasure was initialled by the minister of agriculture, who was acting for Sir Frederick Borden. When in Montreal on June 3, fuller details of the interference of the minister of agriculture were communicated to me in conversation, as well as by a letter from Col. Smart, which I received on the morning of June 6, the day on which I spoke at the officers' banquet. Col. Smart's letter read as follows:

Montreal, June 4: My Lord,—As requested by you last evening I have the honor to submit the following facts in connection with the recommendations for appointments submitted by me and to which the Hon. Mr. Fisher took exceptions. I submitted the name of Dr. F. E. Pickell, who is the mayor of Sweetsburg, and warden of the County of Missisquoi, to be major in command of E Squadron. Dr. Pickell is a man of means, can ride fairly well and was quite willing to take the necessary time to qualify himself for the position of major. Mr. Fisher objected to him for no other reason than he was a strong political opponent of his and was quite determined to block the whole organization unless Dr. Pickell's name was withdrawn. This I refused to do, as I had invited Dr. Pickell to come into the regiment and told Mr. Fisher that some one else would have to be responsible for the withdrawal of Dr. Pickell's name. After my last visit to Ottawa I consulted with Col. Whitley, and we came to the conclusion that unless we induced Dr. Pickell to voluntarily withdraw the organization was to be broken up indefinitely. I, therefore, communicated with Dr. Pickell and explained to him that owing to a new regulation, objection was made to the appointment of unqualified officers to field officers' rank, and asked him if he would be good enough to allow me to withdraw his name temporarily, to which he consented. I then communicated with Mr. Fisher, saying that I would agree to the withdrawal of Dr. Pickell's name. In the meantime, and on the strength of this I believe the appointment passed thru council. Your lordship will observe that I have not withdrawn Dr. Pickell's name absolutely, and have kept the position of major in "E" Squadron vacant in hope that I may yet have Dr. Pickell appointed.

Also to Another.

"Hon. Mr. Fisher also took exception to the name of Mr. T. H. Pickell, who is also very enthusiastic and would make a capital cavalry officer. I had submitted Dr. Pickell's name, recommending that he be appointed captain in "E" Squadron, but Mr. Fisher insisted that I substitute the name of Lieut. B. Steacie, making him captain and Dr. Pickell first lieutenant. I pointed out to Mr. Fisher that Mr. Pickell being a resident of the township, was entitled to a senior rank in preference to Mr. Steacie, who lives in Montreal, and moreover, as Mr. Steacie is a relative of mine, it would place me in a false position and appear as though I was unduly advancing him at the expense of others. Hon. Mr. Fisher evidently had his mind made up on the matter, and insisted on the change, to which I reluctantly agreed. I regret to say that this has caused some dissatisfaction, and I would like at the first opportunity to transfer Mr. Steacie to another squadron and recommend Mr. Pickell for his captaincy.

"With regard to the adjutancy, Captain Converse, whom I selected for this position, has served in the militia for about 15 years and for a long time served as sergeant-major in the Duke of York's Hussars. Mr. Fisher asked me to drop this man and substitute Mr. Adams of the 6th Hussars, a man who is very deaf and whom I consider physically unfit for the position. I absolutely declined to consider this at all, and Mr. Fisher waived his objections. He then asked me to recommend Mr. Adams for major or to command "B" Squadron, and this I also flatly declined to do. Out of five men whom Mr. Fisher recommended for commissions three have absolutely declined to come into the organization, so that, after all the trouble and worry inflicted on the regiment, Mr. Fisher has only been able to find two officers, both of whom are unqualified and not in any way to compare with Dr. Pickell, whom he selected. The above are the main facts in connection with this unfortunate matter, but if there is any further information desired, I will be pleased to submit it. I am yet your Lordship's humble servant,

(Signed) Charles A. Smart,
Lieut.-Colonel.

"June 4, 1904."

"I may here state that I have just communicated with Col. Smart, and it is by his permission and desire that I include this letter."

Lord Dundonald's memo concludes with the statement that the extract from the Montreal Gazette of June 9, except for a few slight omissions and inaccuracies, gives a very fair report of what he said at Montreal on the subject in question. The word "Education" should read "Etiquet" and the word "champion" should read "warden." The reference to the lack of etiquet at Ottawa his Lordship concludes, "had no application except to official matters connected with my duty."

Putting Down the Iron Heel.

Colonel Hughes asserted that Mr. Fisher, in the face of the facts, had shown considerable hardihood in making the statement that Dr. Pickell had voluntarily withdrawn from the regiment, and suggested that the Premier call upon Mr. Fisher to resign from the Cabinet, a proposition which was received with ironical laughter from the Government benches. Col. Hughes said he could easily understand how an officer with a distinguished record, descended from a family famous in the annals of the Empire, like Lord Dundonald, having put up with the petty meddling from week to week, at last determined once for all to put a stop to it and put his strong iron heel down on the neck of the Minister of Agriculture, who attempted to introduce politics into the militia.

Mr. Fisher's Reply.

Hon. Mr. Fisher, in reply, said he would not discuss the propriety of the General Officer Commanding choosing to make Colonel Hughes the medium of his communication with Parliament. He declined to recognise Colonel Hughes as the proper medium of communicating between an official and a member said the Minister of Agriculture, "or a little common sense, which he must surely have learned in two years' sojourn in Ottawa, he would have asked for an explanation, and not have created a wrong impression at a banquet." (Applause.) Mr. Fisher added that he had letters from Colonels Smart and Whitley, expressing extreme satisfaction at his part in the organization of the regiment. He then quoted from correspondence showing that Dr. Pickell's name had not been struck off until the gentleman had withdrawn his application in a letter to Colonel Smart, and he did not strike the name off as Minister of Agriculture, but as acting Minister of Militia. (Applause.) The only name he had suggested in place of Dr. Pickell was Capt. Guy Carr, a well-known Conservative and cavalry officer in the county. (Applause.) Mr. Fisher concluded by saying he left himself to the judgment of the country as to whether he had done anything to interfere with the efficiency of the militia of Canada or anything that was inconsistent with the dignity of a public man. (Loud cheers.)

No Decision Reached.

The discussion was continued by Mr. R. L. Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. E. B. Osler, Mr. Bourassa, Mr. Ingram, Mr. Lennox, Mr. Northrup, Mr. Monk, Mr. Haggart, Mr. E. F. Clarke, Mr. Pope and Mr. Fowler.

The debate concluded at 11 o'clock, and, owing to the lateness of the hour, the Finance Minister's motion to adjourn without further business was readily accepted.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Grand Orange Lodge Sat All Night at Picton.

Picton, June 11.—The Grand Orange Lodge of British America sat all night and got through with its business. Owen Sound was chosen as the next place of meeting, winning the honor from Vancouver, B.C., by two votes.

The election of officers resulted for the principal offices, as follows:

Sovereign grand master, Dr. T. S. Sproule, M.P., Markdale, Ont.

Deputy grand master, William Galbraith, Montreal.

Grand chaplain, Rev. William Walsh, Brampton.

Grand secretary, William Lockhart, Alliston, Ont.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

No Occasion for Resentment.

"Have her parents forgiven her for eloping with the young man?"

"Yes, they sort o' had to forgive her, you know, when she found out that they paid the cabman who drove her to the station."

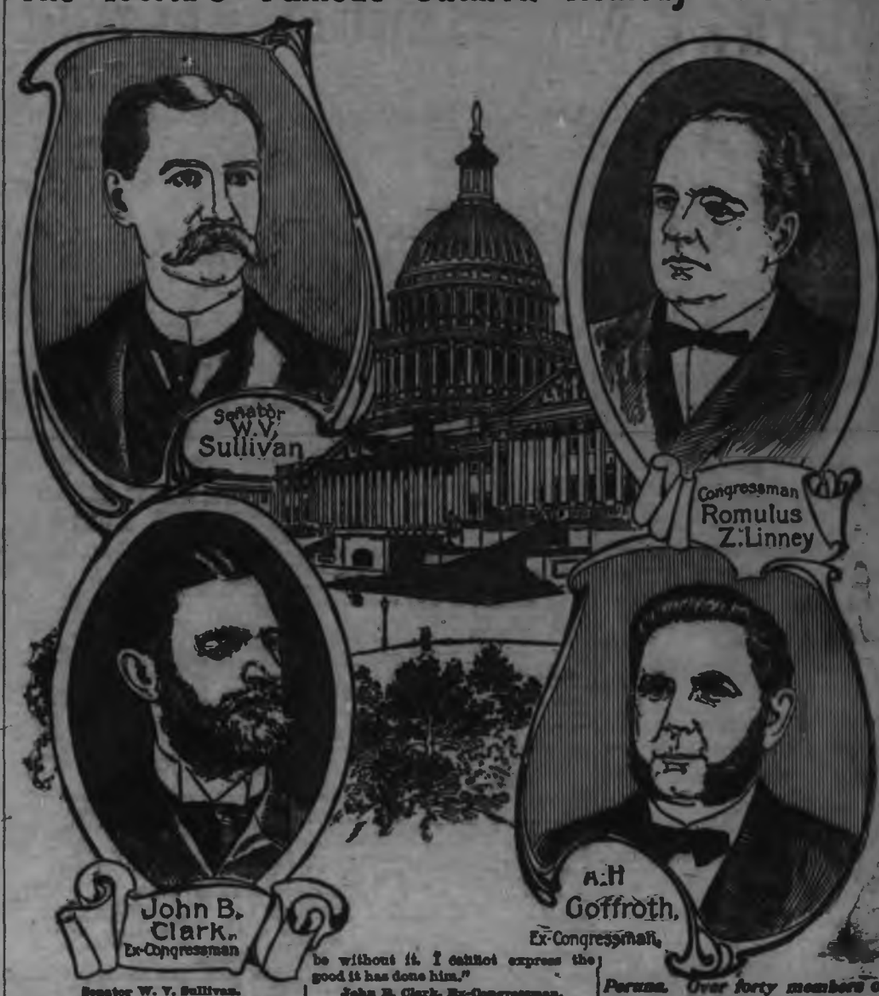
The World's Famous Catarrh Remedy---Pe-ru-na.



Senator W. V. Sullivan.

United States Senator Sullivan from Mississippi writes the following endorsement of Peruna:

"I desire to say that I have been taking Peruna for some time for catarrh and have found it an excellent medicine, giving me more relief than anything I have ever taken."—W.V.SULLIVAN.

Congressman Romulus Z. Linney,

From North Carolina, writes:

"My private secretary has been using Peruna for catarrh. He had as bad a case as I ever saw, and since he has taken one bottle he seems like a different man. I don't think any man who is under a nervous strain should be without it. I cannot express the good it has done him."

John B. Clark, Ex-Congressman,

Was ten years a member of Congress from Missouri and for six years Clerk of National House of Representatives, writes:

"I can recommend your Peruna as a good, substantial tonic and one of the best remedies for catarrhal troubles."

Ex-Congressman A. H. Goffroth,

Somerset, Pa., writes:

"I am assured and satisfied that Peruna is a great catarrh cure, and I feel that I can recommend it to those who suffer from that disorder."

Men of prominence all over the United States are commending Peruna. Over forty members of Congress have written their indorsement of it. Scores of other government officials speak in high praise of it. Thousands of people in the humbler walks of life rely upon it as a family medicine. Send for free book of testimonials.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE ANNUAL MEETING.

Reports Presented at This Afternoon's Meeting.

The Excursion to Guelph a Success—Great Benefit of Farmers' Institutes—Prospects for the Coming Year.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held this afternoon in the Council Chamber, with a large number of members in attendance. The President of the Institute, Mr. E. M. Elliott, was in the chair, and in opening the meeting spoke briefly of the good work that had been accomplished during the past year. The farmers were being educated to the great value of Institute work, and he was hopeful that during the coming year the interest in the work would increase.

Mr. Wm. Collins, Secretary of the Institute, presented the following report of the Executive Committee:—

To the Members of West Peterborough Farmers' Institute:—

Gentlemen,—On behalf of your Executive Committee, I beg leave to submit for your approval the annual report for the year ending May 31st, 1904.

The last year has been one of prosperity for the farmer, as far as good crops and satisfactory prices were concerned. We have had a fairly successful year with our Institute work—although I find a slight falling off in our membership, partly to be accounted for, probably, by the excessive cold of the past winter, which prevented some from coming long distances to the meetings. However, we had some very successful meetings.

The regular meetings were held at Lakefield, Peterborough and North Monaghan, with audiences aggregating 545, 45 and 75, respectively. Eighteen addresses were delivered in those two days by Pres. E. M. Elliott, Miss Laura Rose, O.A.C., Guelph, Messrs. T. H. Mason, Staffordville, F. H. Newman, Ottawa, and D. Hughes-Charles, Peterborough.

The supplementary meetings were held for three days, two meetings each as follows:—4th Line Smith, attendance 117, 9 addresses; Ennismore, attendance 395, 9 addresses; Stewart's (Ocanabec) attendance 156, 6 addresses.

The delegates sent were Messrs. Duncan Anderson, Rugby, Robert Thompson, St. Catharines, also we had along with us Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, and at Ennismore the Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, gave an able and instructive address. While we do not wish to particularize on any of our speakers,—as they were all good, in the strictest sense of the term,—we must say that any community who have the good fortune to get the services of Miss Rose, will get a rare treat. She will ever be welcome to Peterborough.

We might also mention that since our last annual meeting last June, we, along with East Durham and East Peterborough Institutes, ran an excursion to the Experimental Farm and O.A.C., Guelph, which was a very successful affair, both educationally and financially having about 600 passengers along all of whom expressed their delight at the beauties of the Experimental Farm, as well as the educational advantages offered. Those coupled with courteous treatment, given by the heads of the different departments in explaining to the visitors the details of the different lines of advanced agriculture, made the trip very enjoyable and instructive, but while we got good speakers, good attention, audiences who seem to appreciate the addresses and discussions, it is surprising the number of farmers who neglect and some who positively refuse to become Members, when they would be receiving all those valuable reports and bulletins (that they, as members, are entitled to) and which contains so much valuable information on all the different lines appertaining to their calling. Would any other class of business men let such golden opportunities, which can be got at so little cost, slip past them without an effort on their part, to secure them? Every one of you will say NO.

We would suggest that our members, and especially the Directors, (and it is the latter's duty) make one united effort to multiply our membership by four or five. There is no other reason than apathy on our part, as ours should be one of the largest institutes in this province.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. COLLINS,
Secretary.

FARMERS ENJOYED TRIP TO GUELPH.

Despite Disagreeable Weather, the Excursion a Success.

The annual Farmers' Institute excursion of East Durham and East and West Peterborough was run on Thursday, the 9th of June, to the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and was a fair success, considering the rainy weather we have had, especially the previous day and night. The morning was anything but reassuring, and deterred a large number from going. The special train, which started from Campbellford, brought quite a number from the east who were joined at every station by others. Quite a number came down on the regular from Menvers and joined at Millbrook, and by the time Newcastle was reached there were between 350 and 375 on board. The run to Toronto was made in good time, but owing to a wreck occurring at or near Weston to a freight, the train had to be run out by Hamilton, Harrisburg, Galt, Preston and Hespeler, and came into Guelph from the west or south west. For a similar reason a large number of other trains had to be changed to the Hamilton line, consequently the congesion of traffic caused considerable delay in crossing trains, which, with the increased distance, made it impossible to reach Guelph on time or any way near it. While the scenery was beautiful to behold the people became impatient towards the end of the journey on account of the fast they were experiencing.

The visitors, as is usual, were met by the officers of the O.A.C., who extended to all a hearty welcome, taking them round on a tour of inspection of all the various departments. The horse show was started in the agricultural grounds in the afternoon, but only a few of those who were staying over could see it, and visit the farm.

The return trip was made on the line to Toronto that was closed in the morning with the wreck. A good run was made to Toronto. A large party stayed off at Toronto, while those who returned by the excursion train reached Peterborough about 1 a.m.

Taking all things into consideration the trip was a success, although it appeared sometimes as if the fates were against it; still the people who did go were, evidently judging by their expressions, highly pleased with the outing.

Our genial friend, Mr. W. Buntom, City Ticket Agent, accompanied the party as far as Toronto, and it is needless to say that he was a host in himself, even when out with the farmers.

The crops along the lines even on the best lands, have suffered very much by the heavy rainfall of the past few weeks, some of the land being literally flooded. The outlook is not at all promising in those cases. We feel assured that the farmers of East Durham and Peterborough county will feel that they are not to be classed among those who bemoan their fate as being the worst in the world.

BOARD OF TRADE.

First Tuesday in Every Month Board of Trade Night.

A meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade was held last night in the Council Chamber, with Mr. A. H. Stratton, vice-president, in the chair.

A resolution was passed as follows: "That quarterly meetings of the Board of Trade be held on the first Tuesday in the months of March, June, September and December of each year; that the Council of the Board of Trade meet on the first Tuesday in the other months, with the exception of August."

Another resolution suggesting and recommending that the date hereafter of the town's civic holiday be changed to the third Thursday of August to the first Monday in the same month, the same day as Toronto civic holiday, was passed.

A committee was appointed to confer with the committee already appointed by the council, and with Mr. R. B. Rogers, Superintending Engineer of the Trent Canal, with reference to the opening of the Lift Lock.

CLOSING SERVICES OF CATHOLIC MISSION

Two Weeks of Very Successful Services were Held.

The Mission, which during the past two weeks the Redemptorist Fathers have been conducting in St. Peter's Cathedral, will close Sunday evening. To-night at 7.30 a dedicatory service in honour of the Blessed Virgin, participated in by the men. A shrine will also be erected to the Virgin, on behalf of the men with a procession of boys, the object of which will be to inculcate into the boys a spirit of chivalry and respect for women.

At the closing session of the Mission on Sunday evening at 7.30 the Papal Benediction will be given.

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE HARRY LONG BLOCK.

The Exterior Repainted in Harmonizing Colours.

The block of buildings occupied by Harry Long's confectionary and Jordan Bros. retail flower store, has recently been much improved. The whole front has been painted in a combination of well chosen colours which the painters have carried out with good effect. The bricks look particularly well in a clean cream colour, with the cornice and arches over the windows in a stone shade trimmed with dark green. The Venetian blinds are done in a salmon colour, trimmedf with red—the whole producing a very harmonizing appearance.

In addition to these exterior improvements, Mr. Long has added a number of new fittings, etc., to the interior of his confectionery store and palm gardens, including two very swell "silent salesmen" show cases—one for displaying high-class confectionery, the other for displaying fruit cake, etc. A massive British plate mirror in heavy gilt frame has been placed in the west end of the palm garden and other new features will be noted by visitors in the ice cream parlours.

COUNCIL WILL RECONSIDER IT.

Matter of Civic Holiday will be Discussed on Tuesday Night.

In response to the protest entered to the Mayor by a number of Societies against having Civic Holiday on the first Monday in August this year, a meeting of the Council will be held Tuesday night to consider the matter, and it is probable that since a number of Societies have arranged for excursions under the assumption that the holiday this year would be held on the same day as in previous years, the third Thursday in August, the same date will be observed this year, although this will have to be decided at the meeting Tuesday night.

The Council in making the change to the first Monday did so only after being assured that such a change would not prejudiciously affect any Societies, as it was thought that no excursions had as yet been arranged. Since it has been found that this is not the case, it is probable that for this year at least, the holiday will be held on the date on which it has been celebrated previous years.

Special Course in Music.

During the months of July and August, Alice H. Roger will hold a Special Course in Music. ENGLISH BEAUTIES.

Why They Are Such—A Dissertation on That Type of London Journalism Which Glorifies High Life.

If you take up a copy of one of the weekly papers that abandon themselves to the glorification of high life, says a writer in The London Express, you will probably read something like this:

"The Duchess came late with her enchanting daughter, Lady Magnolia, who is quite one of the beauties of the season. The Countess of Putney was lovely in pearls. Lady Slacton, who is just now in great good looks, brought her pretty girls, who attracted much attention. Mrs. Smith and her daughter were also present."

Upon analysis, we discover that the adjectives are nicely attuned to the position of the ladies to which they refer. They form, so to speak, a descending scale of admiration in which the description varies with the rank.

That a duchess or the near relation of so exalted a lady should receive a more prominent notice than a mere plebeian is quite in accord with the etiquette of Debrett, The Times and the British constitution generally. Even an Anarchist might hesitate to quarrel with the writer upon so obvious a point.

Yet the fact that Miss Smith is a real beauty, a graceful, stately English maiden, while the Lady Magnolia is a snub-nosed little vixen who powders her nose between the dances and is not wholly innocent of rouge, causes, not unreasonably, a sense of irritation against the social paragraph that so confounds them.

In the days when social journals were not read so extensively by the working classes, when, in fact, they did not exist at all, the bucks of the day chose the belles of the season for the merit of their faces. A reigning toast was not necessarily a lady of title; she might even be a person wholly unconnected with the peerage. This is a sad thought; but our ancestors, in the days when Park lane was a muddy road and the Riviera unexplored, when grouse moors were inhabited by wild persons with dirks and yachts went buccaneering in the West Indies, were, after all, very uncivilized folk, to be regarded with pity rather than with reprobation.

When is a girl not a girl? There we find another of these modern riddles which will agitate the mind of the conscientious enquirer after truth who stalks the ballrooms like a social Diogenes.

On hearing that "Lady Blunderbore brought her pretty girl from Park lane to Lady Blank's magnificent reception" he will be surprised to discover that the lady in question is a demure spinster who may ride in the front rank with the Quorn of Pytchley, but has left her teens, and the manners and appearance associated with that entrancing age, a good 12 years behind her.

Now and again—for the stock exchange is a disconcerting element—the social paragraphist will perform a little miracle all by himself. For example, Mr. Binger springs to golden heights in the world of finance; promptly quiet Mrs. Binger removes from Brixton to Mayfair, orders dresses in Bond street and diamonds in Regent street and henceforth is known to the admiring world as "lovely Mrs. Binger, who was tastefully gowned in . . . ." not more than a quarter-column of description.

The gowns of the good lady have improved in those essentials that vary a five from a fifty-guinea frock. But surely her face remains her own, and no one in Brixton regarded it as anything out of the common when she went shopping to the butcher's.

The photograph fraud is another and quite common method of establishing a social beauty and deceiving the public. A woman is as old as she looks—that is an ancient proverb; but a beauty is always older than her photograph. There is no necessity to blame her. If at five-and twenty she made a charming picture, can we be surprised if ten years later she avoids risking a further experiment? Yet the comparison between the photograph and the original will astonish the uninitiated, just as homely Anne of Cleves startled the expectant gaze of Henry VIII.

This may be an ungallant criticism, better suited to the despondent pen of Mr. Crosland. Yet it differs from the majority of that scribe's opinions in that it happens to be true.

War Medals Are Cheap.

There is a surfeit of South African war medals on the market, and they can be had for a mere song. A medal with the common Cape Colony or Natal clasp is worth practically nothing, but some of the clasps, from their rarity, have considerable value. The defence of Mafeking clasp will fetch from £8 to £9, and the clasp for the defence of Wepener, a small place which some eighty British successfully held, is worth £6. The poor fellow with the relief of Ladysmith medal can, however, get only a few pence.

The pawnshops are offered large numbers of medals, but in most cases refuse to take them, as the dealer who happens to lend money on a medal belonging to a man still in his regiment is liable to be prosecuted by the commanding officer. One man who recently visited one of these establishments said: "If you don't give me something for it I shall give it away. It took me twenty-nine months to win, but I won't keep anything that will remind me of the worst time in my life." He got four shillings.—London Daily Mail.

Oldest Love Letter in the World.

In the British Museum is an ancient love letter, supposed to be the oldest in the world. It is a proposal of marriage, inscribed on a brick, to an Egyptain Princess, and made thirty-five hundred years ago. A brick doubtless was the correct form for polite correspondence in those days, but how heavy the postage bills must have been! Only a prince could afford to send a billet doux!

Photographic Nerve Action.

Dr. Charpentier in a communication before the Paris Academy of Sciences described an interesting discovery as to the possibility of photographing muscular and nervous activity on a plate covered with a layer of platin cyanure of barium.

Nervous sensations and impressions and muscular efforts are flashed on the plate and produce a special fluorescence, showing, for instance, the action of the heart and muscles of the interior of the body.

Keep Your Temper.

The unwritten laws both of society and good manners are innumerable, but there is one that we cannot pass over in silence, and that is—never lose your temper. This applies especially when playing games. To lose one's temper in private is bad enough, but to do so in public is unpardonable. It is a crime which no hostess can forgive, for it makes all the other guests feel uncomfortable and disturbs that outward calm which is the essence of all good society.

Self Possession.

Without a tremor Mrs. Highmore preceeded leisurely to open the black bordered letter. "If there were any bad news," she said, "it would have come by telegraph. It must be that something has happened to Mr. Highmore's rich uncle."

Out Loud.

"Where's papa, Johnny?"
"He's upstairs asleep."
"Were you upstairs, dear?"
"No, ma'am."
"Then how do you know he's asleep?"
"I heard him doing it. He's sleeping out loud."

The belle of ancient India wore her hair tied by a jeweled band two or three inches back of her head and then braided into an enormous ball.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MISS ELIZABETH ALTMAN.

She Is the Trusted Right Hand of Miss Helen Miller Gould.

Miss Elizabeth Altman is the right hand of Helen Miller Gould. Through her Miss Gould's money reaches thousands of beneficiaries. Hers is the directing energy in institutions endowed by Miss Gould. The details of affairs, social and financial, pertaining to the household of Miss Gould pass through the hands of Miss Altman.

All the world knows Helen Gould, how she looks, how great her fortune is and the manner of her life. Comparatively few ever heard of Miss Altman. Yet it is through her that any attempt to see Miss Gould, to enlist her interest, to secure her personal attention, succeeds or fails. It is because of this unknown quantity that thousands upon thousands who have sought to approach the woman of widely reputed wealth have never been heard of by her. The flood of applicants surges up day by day against the secretarial wall and is thrown back by its impregnability. The object of its attack, thus guarded, remains untouched by it.

In Miss Gould's house, on Fifth avenue, an office is fitted up with desks, tables, cabinets and other furniture suitable to a place of business. Here daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Miss Altman, an assistant secretary and a stenographer are at work. There is a complete set of books, in which are kept a record of Miss Gould's personal expenditures, her charitable gifts and household expenses. Every check which Miss Gould signs is made out by Miss Altman. Orders for the payment of thousands of dollars are thus written by an agent of whose existence the recipient in most cases is unaware.

MISS ELIZABETH ALTMAN.

Confidence is the mainstay of the relationship between the principal and her secretary. Because she has proved her, Miss Gould trusts her interests to Miss Altman's judgment and her loyalty. At present at least four-fifths of Miss Gould's routine business is transacted without her intervention or knowledge, so absolutely does she trust Miss Altman's understanding of her wishes and her unerring judgment and faithfulness.

Miss Gould's visiting list is also in Miss Altman's hands. She keeps it revised to date and makes out invitation lists.

By far the heaviest and to Miss Altman the most congenial part of her work is the philanthropic. Her interest in helping others forms a strong bond between herself and her employer. Not only is she a capable and cheerful almoner for Miss Gould, but she is engaged in philanthropic enterprises and personal service of her own, about which, however, she is as reluctant to speak as is Miss Gould in regard to her larger gifts.—New York Herald.

Clothes and the Woman.

Of course where one has a maid to look after one's clothes it is an easy matter to have them receive the attention to which they are entitled. At the same time if we cannot all enjoy the luxury and comfort of having our belongings taken care of by a lady's maid we can at least go into training and learn how to do the work ourselves in a manner quite as professional. The art of knowing how is invaluable to the woman who not only must care for her own limited wardrobe, but must as well look after and keep in good condition the clothing of a large family. Every householder is ambitious that her family as well as herself shall always appear well dressed. The secret for the most part lies in putting the clothes carefully away after they have been worn. They never should be tumbled in a closet or drawer until they have been thoroughly dusted and brushed. All this sounds very prosaic, and the average woman already knows it, but she never stops to think that the immaculate appearance of the woman she envies the most, the woman who has her own maid to dress her and attend to her wants, is due mainly to this very work, done of course by the maid, but done nevertheless.

A Task In Time.

The economic value of a stitch in time is equaled by that of the tack replaced promptly, says an exchange. A sweeping day seldom goes by that the edge of the carpet is not found loose or a shade cracked from its roller. It is some work to get the hammer and tacks and make repairs, but it pays.

After years of housekeeping experience one concludes that the housekeeper needs her own hammer about as much as her own toothbrush. A few cents will buy three kinds of tacks—the common carpet tack, double pointed or straw matting tacks and very small ones for curtains.

Keep the outfit in a little box. Straw matting must be repaired at the first sign of decay or it will go to ruin quickly. The stove zinc, if ragged edges are nailed down at once, will last for a long time after it begins to wear.

Taken in time, household as well as physical ailments may be treated successfully and a long life of use follow.

Table Decoration.

In table setting there is always something new. At a recent New York dinner the hostess surprised her guests by decorating the center of her table with a cloth of pure gold thread, solidly worked, the border a lace design of white silk and fine gold mesh in diamond shape stitches. The green for the table was small ferns, set in an oval dish of dark blue china, with figures in relief representing peasants in holiday costume. At each corner of this gold center was a candlestick in dull silver of colonial design, furnished with a shade of iridescent glass, which graduated from tones of light yellow to dark orange and then to red.

Man and His Breakfast.

The Portuguese have a proverb that "no man can be a good husband who does not eat a good breakfast." Whether they mean that the man who will not eat a good breakfast cannot be a good husband or that a husband who is not provided with a good breakfast cannot be expected to be good you may decide for yourselves. In the meantime it would be just as well to be on the safe side and take precautionary measures by providing the best possible breakfast, and then if the man you have taken "for better, for worse" fails to be a good husband you may be happy in thinking that you have done your little best to make him so.

The King of the Cocos.

The sovereign who reigns over the smallest monarchy in the world is the king of the Cocos, a group of islands near Sumatra. These islands were discovered about 300 years ago by the captain of the Keeling, but were comparatively little known till 1825, when Mr. Ross, an Englishman, visited them, was struck by their beauty and took up his abode there. It is his grandson, M. George Ross, who now holds away over the Cocos.

Torpedo Nets.

Warships have absolutely no protection from torpedoes. In recent years much time has been spent in experimenting with nets made of steel wire, rope, etc., but the modern torpedo has a scissors arrangement which cuts a hole through which the torpedo may pass to the ship. Because of the yielding nature of a net the torpedo does not explode until it strikes the hard side of a ship.

Perversity of the Baby.

A father of much experience says: "Wash a baby clean and dress him up real pretty and he will resist all advances with the most superlative crossness, but let him eat molasses, gingerbread and fool around the coal hod for half an hour and he will nestle his dear little dirty face close up to your clean shirt bosom and be just the lovingest, cunningest little rascal in all the world."

Addition.

Bessie had begun to go to school, and each day she would come home with something new to tell. She had been learning addition, when she came home for dinner and said, "I know how much two and two make."

"And what," said her father, "do you and I make?"

Bessie studied a minute and then said, "Sweethearts."

Sympathy.

Cecil (sentimentally)—Don't you feel gloomy when the sky is overcast with gray, when the rhythmic rain sounds a dirge upon the roof, and the landscape's beauties are hid by the weeping mist? Hazel (sweetly)—Yes, it's dreadfully annoying. It does make one's hair come out of curl so!

A Reprobate.

Teacher—Well, Tom, where are you going? Tom (aged six)—Please, 'm, I'm going to the Band of 'Ope. Teacher—And is little Willie (aged three) going, too, or is he too young to belong to the Band of Hope? Tom—No, 'm; it's not that, but he ain't a teetotaler.—London Punch.

Her Age.

"How old would you say she was?"

"Well, let's see. When we were in high school together, she used to snub me because I was a kid. Now I'm thirty-seven, and um-m-m-well I should say she was about twenty-eight by this time."

FISH FED BY HAND.

Many Specimens of the Finny Tribe Are Easily Tamed.

Experiments made in a large aquarium have proved that fish may be easily tamed and trained. This is particularly true of blue perch. They soon consent to taking their food—ulva, a green, lettucelike weed—from the hand, and do not at all object to being handled. A huge kelp cod, a splendid specimen of rich blue and green hues, that was kept in the same tank with the perch, readily learned to feed from the hand, and seemed to enjoy being scratched and rubbed.

Sea slugs, too—singular, shell-less things possessing the faculty of secreting a purple fluid which they throw out in self defense—took their regular meal of seaweed from their feeder's fingers without the slightest fear. Sticklebacks, perch, bass and catfish are among the most easily tamed fish, and the story is told of an old fisherman who day after day fed a large horse mackerel in the open sea with pieces of the fish he cleaned. It gradually got into the habit of coming nearer and nearer to where the boat was tethered until, finally convinced that it would not be harmed, it consented to take its daily meal directly from the fisherman's hand.

Patti's Perennial Youth.

Mme. Patti, who has recently celebrated her sixty-first birthday, has not only "won its secret of song from the nightingale" has discovered that [illegible] sure, the secret of [illegible]. "I will be young as I live," she is said to have declared as a child, and she is keeping her vow with a fidelity no one else can hope to rival. Perhaps the essence of it all is her determination always to see the sunshine in life. "If there is the tiniest speck of blue in the sky," she says, "and there nearly always is, I look for it, and that makes the whole heaven blue for me"—a wholesome philosophy we should all do well to cultivate. For the rest, nature is responsible, with its sunshine and pure air, in which she loves at all seasons of the year to steep herself. "I spend three hours daily in the open air, walking or driving in an open carriage; and I accustom myself to bear the extremes of summer and winter." And this is why Mme. Patti has carried the freshness and bloom of sixteen into the sixties.

Beauty and The Man

By Keith Gordon

—Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure.—

In the long talks that those two excellent friends—Baird Dunham and Barbara Somers—had from time to time about life, the world and the men and women therein he had more than once confided to her that never could he fall in love with a woman who was not a beauty.

"I can't exactly explain how I feel about it," he said one day as they sat together in an art gallery, where his worshiping eyes returned ever and again to a pictured face of rare beauty that looked down upon them from the warm red walls. "It isn't that I think they are the most fascinating. Wit and beauty are not too fond of each other's company. Besides, the most attractive woman I've ever known was ugly—so ugly that at first she made you gasp. After that—well, she was your criterion of charm. When you left her things became stale and lifeless. All the color and sympathy went from the scene. You simply hungered for her."

He paused and turned toward his companion with a waiting, expectant look, as if he wanted to be sure that she understood, and she answered the unspoken question of his glance with a slow smile that did not betray, by so much as a flicker, the warm, reproachful, woman wrath in her heart.

She had heard practically the same thing from him before, but today for the first time her patience gave way utterly. Apparently all sense of her womanhood had been sunk in their comradeship. Instead of rejoicing in this state of affairs, a feeling of injury, outrage, suddenly flared up in her heart.

Did he think that because her features were irregular and her complexion dull she was a girl who did not need to be reckoned with? Did he suppose she was the less a woman because she was plain? Had he no idea of the sting in the remarks he was forever making about feminine beauty?

These were the questions she asked herself hotly, but her voice—that low, vibrant voice that thrilled one with its rich difference from other voices—betrayed in its full evenness no trace of the resentment that surged within her.

"You are right," she agreed, with impersonal candor. "All women should be beautiful"—there was a slight pause, a hesitation just marked enough to give force to the conclusion of her sentence—"just as all men should be big and strong!"

Dunham glanced at her quickly. For one startled moment he half thought—But, no; Barbara was too good a fellow to give a man a fleck on the raw like that. It was a mere coincidence.

Dunham was but five feet six, and, though he was well knit and substantial, with a clean bred look that was in itself a recommendation, he was a trifle sensitive on the score of the six additional inches of height that he felt should have been his.

"A man's appearance isn't of much consequence," he observed, somewhat stiffly. "His field is action. It is what he is rather than how he looks."

There was more heat in his tone than he liked, but he wasn't able to suppress it. Somehow he didn't enjoy being made to feel that he was not at all like her ideal man, even though they were nothing but friends.

"Perhaps you are right," was the mild reply, and the conversation drifted to other and safer subjects. But there was a speculative look in Barbara's eyes for the rest of the afternoon, which would have told a careful observer that she was turning some plan over in her mind.

Her usual hour of rest before dinner she spent lying at full length on the divan in her room, with her hands clasped under her head and her eyes fixed on the open fire, thinking.

So Baird could never love any one but a beauty! She carefully refrained from asking herself why this should pique her particularly, since her plainness had never interfered with their riven hip, and he spent far more time with her than with any of the pretty girls of their set. Still—

"Well, I don't care," she said aloud as, glancing at the clock, she arose and began to roll up the masses of her dark hair, sticking the great shell pins in here and there with reckless indifference. "I'm tired of hearing him talk that way. He deserves to be punished. Beauty may be the greatest thing, but it isn't greater than all other things put together.

"A few weeks of Amy will be good for him," she soliloquised as she went on with her dressing. Then, when she was ready for dinner, she sat down at her desk and wrote a letter to a former schoolmate—the beauty of her class—urging her to make her a long promised visit.

In the course of a week or two the invitation had been accepted, and Miss Averill arrived. That she was a beauty was a fact as self evident as that the sky is blue (when it is so). It was a fact that admitted of no difference of opinion.

Her skin was like a La France rose, her eyes deeply blue and her hair suggested mingled gold and copper. The curves of her gracious figure swirled and flowed in lines so graceful, so alluring that even the most sluggish beholder was kindled into admiration.

"She's a beauty, all right," Barbara decided as she kissed her in greeting and conducted her to her room, and, though she kept up her part of their animated talk about old times and old friends, her eyes feasted themselves upon Amy's loveliness. The latter's most ordinary movement was endowed with a grace that made Barbara half believe that beauty was the only thing after all. When other girls lifted their hands and removed their hatpins it was an action scarce worthy of notice, but when Amy's arms went up with a languid grace and her rather large but beautifully molded hands, with their long, tapering fingers, drew forth a glittering pin and removed her hat, Barbara felt vaguely that she was witnessing a rite—that she was seeing a poem.

But after a few days of her companionship the glamour was always bedimmed. The eyes were feasted, to be sure, but the mind and heart were starved. One wearied of her roselike, unmeaning color and the amiable but unmeaning smile and even of the very perfect rows of teeth that the smile exposed.

"I am going to have a friend with me for a month," Barbara had told Baird Dunham in preparation; "a girl that I particularly want you to meet. She's a raving beauty and as sweet as she can be."

If she had spoken all of her thoughts perhaps she might have added, "So sweet that at the end of a month you will want to kill her or do something desperate and outrageous." But, with a commendable self restraint, she banished this unruly idea to the dark chamber of unspoken thoughts.

In the weeks that followed she effaced herself, pushing Amy into Dunham's society in every possible way, but doing it so gradually and skillfully that he scarcely realised how little he was seeing of his friend and comrade. If she saw less of him, however, she saw more of Jack Lester, whose companionship was a grateful balm, because he was not forever talking about beauty, however much he may have admired it.

At first Baird haunted the house like a spirit, while his plans for Miss Averill's entertainment fairly tumbled over each other in their eagerness. These plans, of course, always included Barbara, but with a masterly skill she withdrew from them more and more until almost before Baird realized what had happened he noticed that he and Miss Averill were usually alone. With Miss Averill's exquisite profile beside him, however, he was not in a mood to complain.

Then, about the middle of the fourth week, his soaring spirit suddenly touched earth. He was guilty of a brutal, heretical thought. Right in the middle of a long afternoon that they were to spend together he was seized by a great weariness. For the life of him, he could think of nothing to say. He was bored!

He stared at the beautiful Miss Averill with a sort of stupefied wonder. It seemed incredible that the society of so exquisite a creature could be so uncommonly like muggy weather. It seemed an age since he had had a good, bracing talk with Barbara. Now that he thought of it, Barbara must be seeing a good deal of that Lester chap. Vaguely, as if he had happened upon them in a dream, he recalled having met them together several times lately.

"I don't believe you are thinking of me at all!" posted Miss Averill. "I've spoken to you twice, and you haven't even heard me. It isn't nice of you."

"Eh—what?" exclaimed Dunham, trying to call his roving thoughts together and insisting upon hearing the remark he had inadvertently missed.

"I asked if you don't think the Waldorf is lovely? I think it's just sweet."

"Yes," assented he recklessly. "That expresses it sweetly. It's just sweet." And he cast about in his mind for some excuse by which the hours that stretched before them might be shortened. He felt precisely as he had once in his childhood, when he had surreptitiously bought and eaten six charlotte russes.

Miss Averill confided to Barbara that night that she didn't like Mr. Dunham so well as she thought she did.

"He's so dull! Don't you think so?" she demanded.

"There have been times when he seemed so," Barbara confessed airily. Then she wondered if Baird's ears were aflame. Three days later the radiant Miss Averill's visit came to an end. Soon afterward Dunham dropped in to see Barbara, quite in his old manner.

"Ah, this is good!" he said gleefully as he sank into the depths of his favorite chair. "There's so much talk to make up," he went on in genial enjoyment, "that I scarcely know where to begin."

Barbara turned her head to one side and surveyed him with half closed eyes.

"We might begin with feminine beauty," she suggested helpfully. "There's so much to be said about it."

A pause followed in which several new ideas entered Dunham's mind. Then he demanded, not without a conscious sense of guilt:

"Just what do you mean?"

He leaned forward and studied her face, and though she flushed under his keen scrutiny her eyes looked back at him—proud, unwavering and a bit defiant.

"I certainly admire beauty," he began softly. "But I take back what I have said about falling in love with one. You see, little girl, I'm so used to you that the beauties bore me."

"Really," she scoffed, "for a worshiper of the fair!"

But a pair of strong arms were about her and a rueful voice pleaded:

"Scold me some other time, dearest."

Could Not Sleep At Night.

Was All Run Down.

Had No Appetite.

FOOD WOULD NOT DIGEST.

Mrs. I. W. Warner, Riverdale, N.S., is glad there is such a remedy as

Burdock Blood Bitters.

IT CURED HER AND WILL CURE YOU.

She says: "I wish to add my testimony to the many others who have spoken so highly as to the unfailing virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was all run down, had no appetite, lost all ambition, could not sleep much and had terrible headache and backache, and my food did not digest properly. I saw B.B.B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did so good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. I am so glad there is such a remedy provided for suffering humanity, and cannot praise it enough for I think there is no medicine like it on the market."

A Bargain.

"Did you hear what Whimpton's little boy said when they showed him the twins?"

"No. What was it?"

"He said: 'There! Mamma's been gettin' bargains again!'"

Hope For the Sleepless.

"My husband is dreadfully troubled with insomnia," said Mrs. Bounderby. "He wakes up about 2 o'clock every morning, and then he can't go to sleep again. He tosses about until daylight and growls and fusses so that I can't get any sleep myself."

"My husband used to be troubled that way," replied Mrs. Smythe-Smythe, "but I discovered a remedy which never fails. I noticed that my husband always slept the soundest when it was time to get up."

"That's just the way with Bounderby exactly. But tell me what you did."

"Well, when Mr. Smythe-Smythe woke up in the night and began to toss about and say he couldn't get a wink of sleep I simply walked across the room, pretended to look at the clock and said: 'Oh, that's all right. You mustn't go to sleep again. It's time for you to get up.' That always put him to sleep in a minute."

JAIL POPULATION.

Inspector of Prisons' 36th Annual Report Shows a Large Increase—The Cost of Maintenance.

The thirty-sixth annual report of Dr. Chamberlain, inspector of prisons, presented before the prorogation of the Legislature, says the sanitary condition of many of the jails has been improved, but there are still many in a very dilapidated condition and unsafe for the custody of prisoners. In Northern Ontario eight new lock-ups have been fitted up. He suggests that on account of the great extent of territory in New Ontario, the moving of prisoners and lunatics from the outlying districts to the central institutions has become so expensive that it would be well to consider the advisability of establishing a small prison and also an asylum at some point north of Lake Superior.

Committals to Jails.

The number of committals in 1903 was 9,261, nearly 1,000 in excess of the previous year. Crimes against the person have increased during the year by some 116 over the previous year, but are still less than any other year since 1877. Crimes against property have been lower than they have been for twenty-five years, the total for last year being 2,190. Crimes against public morals and decency remain about the same as the previous year. Offences against public order and peace are slightly greater than the previous year. The other crimes with which prisoners were charged were about the same as in the previous year. Committals for drunkenness were some 300 in excess of the previous year. The number of prisoners sent from our province to the Penitentiary for the past year in excess of those of the previous year were 21; and to the Reformatory for Boys, 22; and the Central Prison, 157. The total number of prisoners in the jails on Sept. 30, 1903, was 617.

Thirteen prisoners escaped, eight of whom were recaptured. There were 38 deaths. Of the prisoners 1,221 were females; 3,397 were married and 5,864 unmarried. Those who could not read or write numbered 1,662 and 6,363 were intemperate.

Cost of Maintenance.

The cost of maintaining the jails in the province for food, clothing and fuel was $57,252.84; for salaries, $86,081.95, and for ordinary repairs $7,122.23. The average cost for food, clothing and fuel was $6.18 for each prisoner committed. The greatest number of prisoners at one time during the year was 1,090; the lowest number 299. The average cost per day per prisoner was 24c.

It is worthy of note that all the jails of the province in their returns of the earnings of prisoners only report $32.89 as the total earnings of prisoners for the year. This sum was derived from the Cornwall jail.

Central Prison.

The report for the Central Prison shows 713 committals. There were 303 in custody at the commencement of the year, making the total 1,016, compared with 1,019 the previous year. The average daily population was 353. Of the number committed 455 were for the first time, 130 second, 59 the fourth and the remaining 44 from five to 15 times.

There were committed for vagrancy 201, as compared with 140 the previous year. The number discharged on ticket-of-leave was 34, and 18 were discharged on remission of sentence, together being a fraction under 7½ per cent. of the whole number of commitments. Of the total number committed one was a total abstainer, 209 were temperate and 503 intemperate. The illiterate were 67, read only 14 and 632 could both read and write. The total stay of prisoners was 128,850 days, an increase of 10,350 as compared with 1902. The gross per capita cost per diem for maintenance was 49.04c. against 55.61c. in the previous year a reduction on the previous year of 6.57c. per diem.

The total cost of maintenance outlay for the year was $63,192.77, against $58,748.32 the preceding year.

Reformatory for Boys.

In the Reformatory for Boys the number of inmates at the beginning of the year was 112, committed 44. Thirty-two were pardoned, 15 transferred to the Central Prison, three escaped and 86 were in residence at the close of the year.

The Mercer Reformatory for Females receives 111 guests, as compared with 117 the year before. Sixty-nine were there at the beginning of the year, and 64 at the close. Twenty-one were illiterate, and 86 intemperate. In the Refuge for Girls there were 72 at the beginning of the year, and 10 were committed during the year. The average population of reformatory and refuge was 133, as against 141 the preceding year.

New Provincial Crest.

A point of interest to crest collectors and others has just been decided by Premier Ross as a result of the late fire in Toronto. Nearly all the dies of the crests used with the stationery in the various departments were destroyed in the Rolph, Smith warehouse. These crests presented a great variety of design, various decorations having been introduced.

The question of adopting the correct arms of the province had been under consideration for some time at the instance of the Provincial Assistant Secretary. The fire having provided the opportunity, Mr. Ross has determined that in future all the crests will be uniform and according to the King's warrant.

A copy of this was exhibited the other day, of the date Sept. 21, 1868, Albert William Woods, Lancaster Herald, having prepared it. The warrant grants armorial bearings to the several provinces of the Dominion.

"For the Province of Ontario, Vert, a sprig of three leaves of maple slipped Or, on a chief Argent the Cross of St. George."

The Cook's Carrying Capacity.

"You are having trouble with your cook?"

"Yes. The first one carried on so."

"And how about the last?"

"She carried on so. I lost two veils and a hat."

It is far better to be innocent than cunning, to prevent the malady than cure the remedy.—Seeker.

An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health, and to the happy, exhilarating frame of mind which accompanies physical well-being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LILY.

In addition, I have had the privilege and pleasure of inducing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LILY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgements of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 5, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—Your very kind letter was received yesterday. In reply to your question about my health, I am thankful to say that I am very well. As I have never given you a statement of my case you may be interested in it.

For several years I have suffered untold agony. This suffering was continuous, but I would have violent attacks every few weeks, each attack lasting several days. The first Sunday in November, I felt the pain increasing and so did not go to prayers. The rest of the family did go and soon after the forcing down pains seized me and I had to remain on the floor until their return. I was in great pain all night, and was very sick for a whole week.

Then Mrs. L. came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine. I got my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to write myself. (My doctor could do nothing for me.) I have used 5 boxes of ORANGE LILY, have had three months of good rest, and am now well, never better in my life. I have not had the old pains since. I often ask my husband if it is myself that is going around and doing my own work. I can scarcely believe it. It brings tears of joy to my eyes. I could shout it to all the world. I cannot speak enough in its praise.

Your friend, MRS. E. H. F.

Receiving as I do, dozens of such reports each day, I felt impelled to make known to my suffering sisters the merits of ORANGE LILY. It differs from the other so-called remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter which has been irritating the membrane and oppressing the nerves, and a growing feeling of physical and mental relief is noticeable almost from the start. It is a positive, scientific remedy, and even if you use no more than the Free trial Treatment you will be very materially benefitted.

FREE TRIAL OFFER.

I want every reader of this who suffers in any way from painful monthly periods, irregularities, leucorrhœa, inflammation or congestion of the womb, pains in the back, etc., to send me their addresses, and I will forward at once, without charge, 10 days' treatment. If your case is not far advanced it may entirely cure you, and in any event it will do you much good. I am so earnest in making this statement, and so positive that it is true, that I trust every sufferer who reads this notice will take advantage of my offer and get cured at home, without a doctor's bill.

MRS. F. C. CURRAH, WINDSOR, ONT.

ORANGE LILY is recommended and sold in Peterborough by Mr. W. B. Warne, Druggist, 345 George Street.

CREATED A SENSATION IN GALT

The Whole Country Ringing with Praises of

PSYCHINE

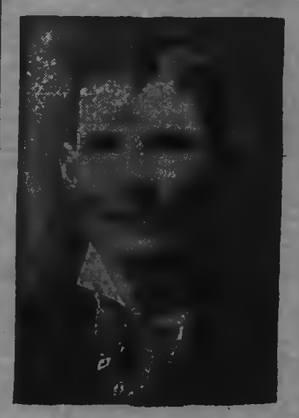
(PRONOUNCED SI-KEEN)

Mr Weaver, Cured two years ago, continues to spread the good news of his recovery from Grinder's

CONSUMPTION

Publicly corroborates the history of his restoration to health, as published recently by the daily press of Canada.

Doctors and specialists despaired of a cure and gave Mr. Weaver but three months to live.



MR. L. WEAVER, GALT.

Who desires to publicly confirm the history of his remarkable recovery, as published quite recently by the daily press of Canada. Mr. Weaver was as bad a case of Consumption as might well be imagined. He was employed for five years in the grinding room of James Warnock & Co's, better known as "The Axe Factory," in Galt. Here he contracted consumption from the steel-laden dust. He persisted with local physicians' treatment for over a year, also consulted a number of lung specialists. They all did their utmost to cure, but declared Mr. Weaver's an incurable case of grinder's consumption giving him but three months to live. Mr. Weaver himself, despaired of a permanent cure, as two of his brothers before him had already died of consumption.

It is but seldom that any remedy receives such strong endorsement as Psychine is receiving daily. Seldom indeed that the cured come forward voluntarily to state their case a second time so that all may be convinced of the truth. The instance herein reported from the busy town of Galt, Ont., is a typical instance of what is occurring in every city, town, hamlet and countryside in this broad Dominion. Scores of people living in Galt were long ago conversant with the facts of this notable case: while to others the publication of it in the daily press came as a revelation.

Scores of people recently called upon Mr. Weaver to see if all that had been published was really true. Medical men evidenced a desire to see the good work wrought with Dr. Slocum's famous remedy, Psychine (Si-keen). Mr. Weaver has also been the recipient of hundreds of letters from all parts of the country enquiring as to his case.

Sad and sorrowful is the first chapter of the story told by the man whose case has created the interest of Lung Specialists and of medical men and whose cure and complete restoration to health is the talk of Galt and the wonder of the medical profession. Such, in brief, are the opening remarks of the case of Mr. Weaver, of Galt, whose portrait appears above.

Mr. Weaver is to-day a splendid specimen of manhood and the picture of robust health. His lungs give him no more trouble. He is strong and healthy, eats and sleeps well, and feels better than he has for ten years.

Mr. Weaver's Case as given to the press, January 30th, 1904.

Dr. T. A. Slocum:—For five years I worked as a grinder in the James Warnock, better known as the Axe Factory, here. The dust from the grinding did for me what it has done for many others. It gave me "grinder's consumption." I was compelled, of course, to quit work. I persisted with two local physicians, and also consulted a number of lung specialists. Their diagnoses were all alike:—"You have Grinder's Consumption, and may possibly live three months, but you are liable to drop off at any time." This was over two years ago.

I then almost abandoned myself to what seemed my fate, my two brothers having died of consumption a few years previous. I was in an advanced stage of the disease. I was thin and weak, had night sweats, chills and fever, and a terrible cough.

I saw your advertisement of "Psychine," and I determined to try it. Through the kind advice and assistance of REV. MR. KETTLEWELL, Methodist minister in charge here at that time, I procured your treatment. The very first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking six bottles I could walk down town and even work occasionally. Have since then entirely regained my health, and work hard every day. I can eat and sleep well. I feel better to-day than I have for years. I owe my life to Psychine.

Yours truly,
LEVI WEAVER.

Mr. Weaver's second statement after the above was published.

GALT, ONT.

Dr. T. A. Slocum:—The publication of the history of my case in Toronto and Galt papers has caused quite a sensation in this town. There have been scores of people ask me if such were really the case. I have also received by mail numbers of like enquiries. Some people hardly think it possible that I was so near death's door. But I can say for certain that Psychine saved my life and I bless the day I saw Psychine advertised and became convinced of its merits enough to try it. I have spread the good news in three counties, and shall ever continue to praise Psychine. Every word as published January 30th, is true to the facts of the case.

Yours truly,
LEVI WEAVER.

If you suffer from Lung Trouble, La Grippe, Asthma, Throat Diseases, Pneumonia, Catarrh of the Stomach, Bronchitis, Night Sweats, Loss of Flesh or Run-down System, or diseases where a tonic is required, there is no other medicine in the wide world that will act more promptly or effectively.

PSYCHINE is pronounced SI-KEEN.

For sale at all drug stores, or, if you have not tried it a sample can be obtained by writing to Dr. T. A. Slocum's laboratory, 179 King Street West, Toronto, Canada. Send for Dr. Slocum's Treatise on the prevention and cure of Throat and Lung Diseases.

A sample of Psychine will be sent free of charge to all who desire to test it. Write to-day to DR. T. A. SLOCUM, Limited, Offices and Laboratories, 179 King St. W., Toronto, Can.

NERVES GAVE OUT.

For Months Mrs. Myles Lay a Helpless Sufferer From Nervous Prostration—Her Stomach Failed Her and She Could Not Sleep and Gradually Grew Weaker and Weaker.

Mrs. John Myles, Sr., of South Woodslee, Essex Co., Ont., is well known throughout the surrounding country because of her work among the sick and suffering, and it was on account of over-exertion in this regard that her health broke down and she lay weak and helpless, a victim of nervous prostration. Doctors could not help her and she resolved to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. As a result she has been thoroughly restored and by recommending this treatment to others has been the means of bringing back health and happiness to many a weakened and discouraged sufferer from diseases of the nerves.

MRS. MYLES writes:—"When I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was confined to my bed with what the doctors said was nervous prostration. My stomach was very weak and I could not sleep at all for any length of time. Nervous chills and trembling would come over me at times and I seemed to be getting weaker and weaker all the time. There were also pains on top of the head which caused me much suffering and anxiety.

After using half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I began to gain in weight and to feel stronger. Since then I have been gradually restored to health, and in looking back can say that the improvement has been something wonderful. I used in all forty boxes of this preparation and feel it a duty as well as a privilege to recommend it to all who are suffering from nervous disorders. Several persons to whom I have described my case have used it and been cured, and I am sure that I owe my present good health, if not life itself, to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

There is no guesswork about the action of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It is composed of the most potent reconstructive agents known to science, and by its direct and natural influence on the blood and nerves is certain to prove beneficial to the person using it. In nearly every community in Canada there are cases similar to that of Mrs. Myles, in which pale, weak, suffering women have been restored to health and vigor by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. If your blood is thin, if your nerves are weak, if the organs of your body are imperfectly performing their functions, you can be certain that the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will benefit you. You can prove this by noting your increase in weight while using it.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

PIANO PUPILS HEARD IN RECITAL.

Very Enjoyable Programme by Pupils of Miss Alice Roger.

Recital in the Studio was Well Attended—Pupils Displayed Remarkable Ability.

Last evening the piano pupils of Miss Alice Roger gave a very enjoyable recital in the studio, Bank of Commerce Building, before an appreciative audience. The programme was of a most interesting character and the work of the pupils was in every way most creditable. There was displayed in the rendering of every selection the fact that each pupil had been receiving thorough and careful instruction by the continuance of which some remarkable talent promises to be developed. To both teacher and pupil much laudation is due for the excellent work of last evening. During the evening prizes were presented to those standing highest in harmony, and piano, in the different grades. The successful ones were Intermediate, Miss Kathleen Blomfield; Primary, first grade, Gladys Seward, Herbert Sykes; Kindergarten, Joyce Davidson.

At the conclusion of the programme Rev. J. C. Davidson made a few complimentary remarks in appreciation of the work of the pupils, which he considered a credit to themselves and to their excellent instructor, Miss Roger.

CORONERS INQUEST WAS COMMENCED.

Inquiry into Death of Mrs. John Delaney.

The Coroner's inquest to inquire into the cause of the death of Mrs. John Delaney was commenced last night when Coroner Gray empannelled the jury, the members of which viewed the body, and the inquest was adjourned to meet Monday night at 7.30 in the Council Chamber, when the taking of evidence will be proceeded with.

The members of the jury are:—G. Ball, C. Halpin, J. P. Bryson, J. Lynch, W. J. Gearey, J. Coughlin, J. A. Tully, F. Schneider, C. B. Routley, R. MacWhinnie, K. G. Lech, W. Eyres, T. Lane, D. J. Devine.

Now's Your Chance for Trousers.

Here's some interesting news for men from the City Clothing Store, worth reading. We have just purchased one of the best and cheapest lots of men's trousers, made of fine tweed and worsted, consisting of 275 pairs. These trousers have been extra well made, well trimmed and cut in the newest fashion, and the patterns are new and dressy. The lowest they should be sold is $3.00 and $3.50, but we bought them at such a close price that we can afford to sell them at $2 and $2.25 a pair. Come and get a couple of pairs while they last. If you want working pants, we have them at 75c, $1.00 and $1.25. H. LeBrun & Co.

Ripe Canadian Tomatoes.

Just received, a small consignment of those choice Canadian hot-house tomatoes, which pleased our customers so much last season. These goods are the very finest to be had at any season of the year. S. A. OKE, 376 George street, telephone 18.

THE BEST WAY to keep the flies out is to put on your Screen Doors early.

We have better doors this year than ever, and with each door we give free one complete set of STEEL HINGES. They never break and they keep the door shut tight. All prices from 75c to $1.50.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

MENTAL STRAIN in academic examinations, is the subject of a paragraph in the Globe. It is argued that competitive examinations create too exacting a draught upon the mental and physical resources of the pupil. This may be so, but it is not, necessarily, so. Instruction, especially in primary courses — primary, as contrasted with collegiate—should properly be so directed as to appeal to the dullest in the class. If the latter is brought on abreast of the mentally more active, the dull boy or girl may have a little mental overwork, but the other members of the class will have grasped the subject and become so proficient in it that they are well equipped, without undue exertion, for any examination. This practice applied to the series of subjects in the curriculum, will secure good, and what is better, permanent results. True, galloping over the subjects of study will be reduced to a soberer pace, but what is learned will be well learned, and will stick.

THERE IS NO NECESSITY for mental strain in school or college studies. It is the experience of good students, teachers and careful observers that the average student or pupil, with reasonable application and by doing a regular and a moderate amount of study every day will come up to the final test at the close of the term well equipped to defy the examiners in regard to dealing with the questions presented. But a pupil or student who contents himself or herself with a perfunctory attention to studies during the term, leaving the work of preparation for the "Exams." to be crowded into the last two or three weeks by a feverish process of cram, involving a mental strain both of anxiety and work that is fatal in many cases to immature minds and constitutions, must expect what comes. Here is the root of the evil of examinations and when teachers and professors and pupils and students will co-operate to do work when it should be done—distributed over a whole term—then the complaints of parents and the collapse of students will cease.

THE CAUSE of mental overstrain in connection with examinations or at least, the responsibility for it, rests on a two-fold foundations—pupils and parents. The pupil who wastes the summer of the term in sport and amusement must expect to be in the case of the grasshopper of the fable, when the winter of examination comes. Parents are much to blame also. Mothers anxious for the social success of their daughters are ready to sacrifice the welfare of their girls, and risk failure in examinations or drastic mental strain in last hour preparation for examinations. Girls in pinafores who should be in bed taking their beauty sleep at half past nine or ten, are sent to parties—tricked out in extravagant imitation of the dress of their elders—stuffed with pastry, engineering precocious flirtations in close rooms—the heated air of dissipation—which will wither a flower and have the same effect upon the mental, moral and physical condition of young girls. Next day — or indeed the same day, for it is often "to-morrow morning" before the child gets home—she is unfitted for study, or anything but the doctor's attention. With such things going on during the season, what results can be expected? A mother foolish enough to do such things would be anxious to have her daughter "pass," and there would be maternal nagging to force the child to cram during the last weeks or days of the term.

COMPETITIVE examinations are falling into disfavour, if not into disuse. In University College, Toronto, credit for attendance at lectures, and for proficiency at "grinds," are becoming factors in success at examinations, and the same principle might be extended to Institute and school examinations. Instead of there being too many examinations, there are too few, that is, there should be examinations during the whole term. If periodical "grinds," such as are given in colleges, were given, and a record of the proficiency of pupils made, with the understanding that this record is to count in the concluding examination, there would be less mental strain of last-hour preparation. Pupils would have an incentive to regular study. One of the best teachers on the Collegiate Institute staff said yesterday, that there was no necessity for "home work," if the pupil attended school regularly, and paid proper and adequate attention to the lessons of the day. When a disposition is felt to execrate "examinations," let it be remembered that there are others to blame besides examinations for the mental overstrain popularly associated with them.

THERE'S NO SENTIMENT in business, but there's a deal of business in sentiment. A day or two ago two drays were seen passing down the street on their way to the cemetery, with flower-filled vases for the decorating of graves and to brighten burial plots. There's a beautiful sentiment behind this practice. It shows that the memory of the dead is held sacred, even if in life as many flowers were not strewed in the pathway of the deceased relations as easily might have been done. Oddfellows' Decoration Day is another evidence of sentiment, and next Thursday there will be a muster of the living brethren preliminary to decoration of the graves of those brethren, who have passed to the ever-blooming asphodel meadows of the better land. In this case there's sentiment in business, for the shops will be shut and a half holiday declared. Business in sentiment appeals most to the florist and the monumental artist, who supplies the stones for the florists to deck. While in thousands of cases the decoration of graves is dictated by a real sentiment of affection; yet, to show the coercive influence of example, many a husband puts an expensive monument over the grave of his deceased wife, who in life grudged her the price of a new bonnet once in five years, and scatters flowers on her grave, while in life he never offered the flower of affectionate word or caress, and even grudged her the price of a ten cent pink geranium. Still, in spite of these exceptions, it is a beautiful idea to link the living to the dead with chains of flowers—the most beautiful of nature's myriad beautiful handiworks.

THIS VETERAN GIVES REASONS

Why he Pins his Faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Worn out with Chronic Kidney Disease —The Great Canadian Kidney Remedy Banished his Pains.

Acadie Siding, Kent Co., N. B., June 10th. — (Special) — Calixte Richard, J. P., one of the most highly respected men in this part of the country, has joined the great army of those who pin their faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills. As usual Mr. Richard has good reasons for what he does, and states them as follows:

"I have been troubled with Kidney Disease for forty years and the result was I found myself a worn out man at seventy-two. But after using two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I find all my pains are gone and I can employ all my days with the best results. I cannot let the opportunity pass without letting the public know the great good that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all rheumatic pains by removing the cause; Uric acid in the blood. They put vigour and energy in place of the pain.

THREE GATEWAYS TO THE WEST.

Since the Southwest Limited, the new electric-lighted train of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, has been placed in service, Chicago to Kansas City, this company offers the best of train service to the West through three important gateways—Kansas City, Omaha and St. Paul.

The Pioneer Limited, Chicago to St. Paul and Minneapolis, for years has been the most popular train between these cities. The Overland Limited, Chicago to Omaha and San Francisco, is the most famous of transcontinental trains through Omaha.

The Southwest Limited, Chicago to Kansas City, with its standard and compartment sleepers, library-observation cars and other excellent equipment, offers travelers to the Southwest better service than they have heretofore enjoyed, and in consequence has proved a success from its initial trip.

HANGING OF BELANGER.

Rupture of Heart Caused Death of Murderer As Drop Fell.

St. Scholastique, Que., June 11.—Theophile Belanger was hanged here yesterday morning for the murder of his brother-in-law, Antoine Seguin, Feb. 13, 1903. Seguin lived at the house of Belanger, who was a prosperous farmer, and the tragedy was the outcome of a long standing family quarrel.

Belanger died of a broken heart. The doctor said that as soon as he felt the trap fall, fright caused a rupture of the heart. This is the first occasion on which it has been known that after a man has been hanged he has not shown a sign of life after the drop. There was not even a pulse beat in Belanger's body after he fell.

Belanger went to the gallows perfectly composed. He did not look like a man going to be hanged. Everything was conducted perfectly quiet. There were fifty persons in the jail yard and about a hundred outside.

The Trial of Macdougall.

Toronto, June 11.—Justice Anglin yesterday afternoon handed out judgment granting the order asked for by counsel for Alfred Macdougall against the decision of Judge Winchester to proceed with trial. The decision means that the trial cannot go on before Judge Winchester, on account of the defendant's election, which was for trial before Judge Morgan. Judge Morgan himself has evinced a disinclination to take the case on account of his personal relationships with the late Judge Macdougall. In any event, trial cannot proceed in the absence of the accused. An appeal will probably be taken.

How to Keep Well.

The best efforts of the great physicians are now expanding in finding out how to keep people well and prevent serious disease. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was prepared with this object in view. It is not only a cure for diseases of the nerves, but also a restorative to be used when vitality runs low and the weakened condition of the system invites attacks by fevers or contagious diseases.

Dogs in the Arctic.

Dogs are undeniably the most useful animals for man in his polar expeditions where sledges must be dragged over the ice of the polar sea. They have the advantage also that, unlike horses and reindeer, they readily eat their fellows. Their weight is small, and they can be easily carried on light boats or on ice floes. As the Danish government has forbidden the exportation of dogs from Greenland explorers usually get their animals from western Siberia.

The Student

He worries no more at the thought of exams,
His brains is kept clear, though he half the night crams;
This tip to all freshmen, he gladly extends.
"Abbey's Salt" used each morning, great energy lends.

Don't permit your stomach and bowels to rule your brain. They will if you are not careful. Let the stomach get foul—the bowels constipated—the liver inactive—and the brain tires, the head aches, and "you can't study."

ABBEY'S SALT protects the student from "brain fag." It keeps his stomach clean—his bowels regular—and his liver in perfect order.

Smallpox in Camp.

London, June 11.—A case of smallpox has been discovered at the London military camp on Carling's Heights, where 2,300 officers and men from all parts of the district are under canvas. The patient is a private named McCrae of No. 2 Company of the Oxford Rifles. The promptest steps were taken to prevent the disease from spreading. McCrae was isolated from the camp. Everything in the tent which he occupied was burned. His tent mates were placed in quarantine, and every member of the company was vaccinated.

Corner-Stone Laid.

Toronto, June 11.—His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor laid the corner-stone of the new Convocation Hall of the University yesterday. There was a brilliant assemblage of notables, and the ceremonies were most appropriate.

Killed By Lump of Coal.

Port Arthur, June 10.—Shortly before noon yesterday, George Malik, a Hungarian employe at the coal docks at Fort William, met his death in a horrible manner. He was assisting in the hold of the steamer Newmount, which was discharging a cargo of coal at the C.P.R. dock, when a large lump of coal dropped from a clamshell bucket, striking him squarely on the top of the head, shattering his skull and dashing out his brains. Death was instantaneous, and Dr. Hamilton, who happened to be close by, merely had to verify the fact of death.

About Your Complexion.

A yellow muddy complexion tells of derangements of the liver and indicates the presence of bile poison in the blood. Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills set the liver and kidneys in action, purify the blood, cleanse the system and assure a healthy glow to the complexion. As a family medicine Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are of inestimable value.

FAMOUS JOURNALISTS.

Some Notable Instances of Journalists Who Have Become Great Statesmen.

Lord Salisbury traveled without a servant, became a miner in Australian camps, roughed it, washed his own clothes and in later years showed his business capacity by dealing with the difficulties of an unlucky railway company so successfully that he was presented with a splendid service of plate by grateful shareholders and directors. Not the least of his possessions in his estimation was that testimonial which occupied an important place in his dining-room at Hatfield. And, mind you, he did not enter Parliament until he had qualified himself to pass the most rigid examination in the nature, politics and possibilities of the British colonies and possessions by experience and study on the spot. We heard recently all about his taking to journalism in London for a living rendered necessary because he had not altogether pleased his father by making a love match, not beneath his station, but without consideration of money. Journalism is not a bad training for statesmanship. It helped Disraeli. Lord Milner was a journalist, and he was sent to South Africa by a Liberal Government. John Morley may almost be said to be a journalist still, and Sir William Harcourt was one of the most brilliant pens on The Times. Apart from these notable instances of journalists who have become great statesmen, an interesting list might be compiled of men who have adorned literature and art and might have been famous as legislators had they chosen to give up to politics what was meant for mankind: Joseph Cowan, Sir William Leng, Geo. Meredith, Sir Edwin Arnold, Sir Edward Russell, Herbert Spencer and not a few others who served an apprenticeship on the newspaper press.—Joseph Hatton.

Temperance Affects Clubs.

The sudden closing a few days ago of the Junior Army and Navy Club, London, is significant of the condition of other West End clubs.

One cause of low club vitality lies in the remarkable fact that most of the West End clubs are face to face with a steady decline in the sale of wines and spirits. This seems to have originated about four years ago in the preference shown for light beer of German name if not made in Germany, and almost simultaneously with the introduction of barley water flavored with lemon as a summer beverage. The profit on ale and non-intoxicants is of course not so large as that on wine or spirits.

But apart from new and cheaper kinds of beverage, the clubman of today is far more temperate. In both drinking and eating he studies what he calls his liver, and endeavors to ward off a tendency to gout. Dieting among the well-to-do classes has become almost a craze in some quarters.

Club committees are face to face with a serious problem. With the high rents they pay, the receipts for food and drink are a very necessary supplement to the subscriptions, an increase in which is being seriously contemplated by more than one committee.

TALK TO YOURSELF.

Why are there so many "don't feel well" moments? What is the cause of these aches and pains? Can I banish them?

When you don't feel well your stomach is not well. That is when the ills of the body commence, and they will never end until the stomach is made right. When the stomach is wrong the whole body is liable to go wrong — Poisonous formations are thrown into the circulation in too great a quantity for the other organs to resist — Nerve tissue poisoned — Sleepless, excitable, nervous, heart irregular, headache, kidneys overtaxed, backache, kidney pains, liver clogged, constipation and bowel trouble. You can end these afflictions by helping the stomach with ANTI-PILL. It is just what a deranged stomach needs. You can prove for yourself by addressing Wilson-Fyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont., for a free trial bottle. Regular size 50 cents (a months treatment).

Sunshine Furnace

Easy to Shake.

More than half the drudgery of tending a furnace is in the shaking down. Enough to break a man's back, and certainly no work for a woman, is the job of shaking down some furnaces.

With a Sunshine Furnace you stand up and oscillate a gently working lever that a child could handle. It's so easy you won't believe it, if you've been used to the common back-breakers.

And the Sunshine is a hygienic, coal-saving, practical housewarmer in every way that a good furnace ought to be.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

SOME OF ITS RULES AT TIMES LEAD TO RIDICULOUS SITUATIONS.

Members May Not Read Their Speeches, But the Rule Is Very Widely Interpreted Through Copious Notes—Quotations From the Classics Common—A Parliamentary Rush—Kicking Out a Bill—Hear, Hear.

One rule of the British House of Commons not infrequently leads to ridiculous situations. One of the most rigidly enforced, and one over which new members are constantly tripping, is that no member must pass between the Speaker and the member addressing him. If it must be done, the unfortunate individual who desires to make his exit must double himself up and creep under the line of fire somewhat after the manner adopted by King Lawanika when attending service at St. Paul's. That dusky African potentate, finding the sermon rather wearisome, stole softly from the seat and crept on hands and knees out of the sacred edifice, thus compensating his lack of respect for the preacher by a commensurate reverence for the sanctuary.

Stealing His Thunder.

Members are not permitted to read their speeches, but notes are allowed, and these admit of a very elastic interpretation. Sir William Harcourt, in his later years, openly reads page after page, but the effect recalls the comment made on a similar practice of Dr. Chalmers, the greatest pulpit orator of his time. "Man, you was fell reading." The average speech is anything but an artistic production. The usual practice is to write it out and commit it to memory. Lord Rosebery tells an amusing story of a member who had with great care excogitated a speech from which he expected great things in the way of fame. Unfortunately he dropped the precious MSS., which also, unfortunately for him, was picked up by a waggish brother with a phenomenal memory. Spotting at once the nature of the treasure trove, the finder retired to the recess of the library, and soon had it off by heart. Returning to the House, he caught Mr. Speaker's eye before that optic had lit upon the gifted author.

Curious Psychological Study.

He then proceeded, to the delight of a number of friends who were in the know, to deliver the carefully prepared oration, and, said His Lordship, it was a curious psychological study to watch the changing expression on the proper owner's countenance. First he applauded loudly, being delighted to find a speaker agreeing so perfectly with himself, but as he recognized his own handwork, the smile faded imperceptibly into a look of perplexity, which, as doubt became certainty, was transmuted into an expression of intense chagrin and mortification. Another melancholy example of the uncertainty of human affairs, especially on paper. Mr. Gladstone, on the other hand, relied on a few notes only, but his perorations were usually written out more elaborately. His vocabulary was so copious and accessible as to be always at command, and he would proceed without haste and without a stumble through all the mazes of the most intricate subject. Mr. Balfour, too, is at his best in an impromptu reply. Then he often speaks with a felicity of argument and phrase wanting from his more carefully prepared efforts.

Classical Quotations.

A generation ago no set speech in Parliament was considered complete without the embellishment of one or more quotations from the Classics. With the advent of the middle class representative the practice gradually died a natural death. It is said that Lord John Manners, long a Conservative member of the House, once gave forth a trite Latin phrase, and wickedly added that for the benefit of honorable members opposite, he would explain its meaning. The incident would be quite in keeping with the man, who penned the famous couplet:

"Let law and learning, arts and commerce die,
But give us still our old nobility."

Mr. Gladstone was the last to make use of a classical quotation in the traditionary way. In his fine speech on the Parliamentary Oaths Bill, of which Charles Bradlaugh was the more immediate occasion, he used with great effect, to those who understood, a passage from Lucretius, the Roman poet-philosopher.

A Parliamentary Rush.

Although practically the House of Commons is the real seat of authority in the state, it still ranks nominally below the House of Lords. Thus at the opening of Parliament, when their Lordships are comfortably settled, and His Majesty on the Throne, a message is despatched for his faithful Commons to attend. Soon a distant sound, as of a rushing torrent, is heard, which increases in volume till there heaves into view a jostling, bustling, pushing, struggling mass of humanity, with the unfortunate Speaker in the van. He, poor man, far from making a decorous, dignified entry befitting his position as first commoner, is urged forward at an ever-increasing speed by the eager crowd behind, and is at last propelled into the centre of the small space deemed sufficient for the accommodation of the Lower House in a generally awry and dishevelled condition. So wild was the rush at the first session of the King's reign that many members suffered both in temper and person, and serious protests were made at the continuance of this antiquated and absurd practice.

A Football Game.

Promises of amendment were made, but likely enough the same football scrum will continue to be played, and will be accepted, just because it has always been so.

Another grievance arises through the arrival of Black Rod at inopportune moments. This official is despatched by the House of Lords when the King's assent is about to be given to bills which have passed both Houses. When he appears in sight the outer door of the House of Commons is closed, in order that, after duly knocking, his message may be delivered in proper form. Then the business in hand has to be suspended, while Mr. Speaker departs to the Upper House to witness the ceremony which on his return he reports to the Commons. It is one of the minor signs of the times that these untimely visits of Black Rod are now keenly resented, and an arrangement had to be made whereby his appearance was restricted to a more convenient hour.

Kicking Out a Bill.

There has been frequent trouble between the Houses about their respective privileges. Edmund Burke was once kept for three hours waiting at the door of the House of Lords with a bill. The Commons felt the indignity so sharply that the next bill sent down by their Lordships for consideration was forthwith rejected nemine contradicente. Mr. Speaker tossed it contemptuously on the floor and honorable members then kicked it down the straight and shot it out between the doorposts. In these more democratic days, there are not a few who would most willingly apply the same expulsive force to the hereditary House itself.

Hear, Hear.

Cheering in the House is also under strict rule, but there are occasions such as the fall of a Government, when no bonds can restrain the pent-up feeling. This, however, is exceptional. Members may not clap their hands or tramp the floor, or wave their hats except to catch the Speaker's eye. Neither can they relieve themselves by shouting: "Bravo!" "Hurrah!" or "Go it!" They may cry, "Hear, Hear,"—usually "Yah, Yah,"—as often as they feel inclined, although uninterrupted reiteration becomes obstruction and disorder. "Oh, oh," and "No, no," are permissible. If members are very impatient they may call out: "'Vide, 'vide," or if they think the orator on his legs is wasting time by platitudinizing they may loudly say, "'Greed, 'greed." Pitched battles sometimes occur between a stubborn speaker and angry members. Usually the House prevails, but sometimes it has to give in. The late Professor Fawcett once began a sentence 15 times in response to cries of "'Vide, 'vide," and was at last allowed to complete his remarks.

His Majesty's Cigars.

King Edward has reduced the art of smoking to its simplest terms. He usually smokes cigars of the choicest Cuban brand, and he generally makes use of four a day. The cigars used by the King are of a rather short, full-barrelled kind, of medium strength. They are usually smoked only about three-parts through. Occasionally, when in the billiard-room, the King prefers a pipe, and a pipe is usually used over the morning's correspondence.

Latterly, however, both pipes and cigars are much less in use than formerly. His Majesty's favorite method of using tobacco is in the form of cigarettes. He formerly affected a peculiar brand of Virginia tobacco, but since the Egyptian cigarette was first introduced to his notice by the Duke of Clarence, His Majesty has abandoned the purer American weed for the subtler aroma of the Latakia produced in the factories of Cairo.

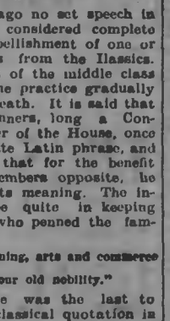
ENGAGED.

Marriage is very largely an accident. In few cases do men or women set up a standard of manly or womanly excellence and choose by it. In most cases people become engaged as the result of propinquity rather than because of any deep rooted preference.



And so it often happens that the wife enters upon the obligations of maternity just as thoughtlessly as she entered on the marriage relation, because no one has warned her of the dangers she faces.

Thousands of women become invalids for lack of knowledge of themselves. It is to this large body of women that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes as a priceless boon, because it cures womanly ills.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"After my first child was born," writes Mrs. Jordan Stout, of Burwottsgap, Frederick Co., Va., "my health was very poor for a long time, and last winter I was so bad with pain down in back I could hardly move without great suffering. My husband got me a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and a vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' which I used as directed. In four days I was greatly relieved, and now, after using the medicine three months, I seem to be entirely well. I can't see why it is that there are so many suffering women when there is such an easy way to be cured. I know your medicines are the best in the world."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the favorite family laxative. One 'Pellet' a laxative, two 'Pellets' a cathartic dose.

BLACK MAGIC.

How Hong Kong People Dabble in Some of the Dark Things.

A case was tried at the Hong Kong Magistracy recently which gives a curious insight into the "black art" as practiced by the Chinese. According to The Hong Kong Telegraph the prisoner, Kung Chi Wa, a middle-aged Celestial, was charged with stabbing a compatriot, Ning Kwee, and inflicting grievous bodily harm. On the 2nd inst., complainant was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital suffering from a dangerous stab in the abdomen, the left lobe of the liver being perforated. He was in a critical state when taken in, but was eventually discharged cured. Witness stated that the prisoner called at his house at 2 a.m. on the 2nd. On his opening the door, Kung Chi Wa stabbed him with the weapon produced. Complainant did nothing to provoke this attack, and in fact had never seen the prisoner before. Wang San, wife of the first witness, stated that she was a fortune-teller and practised magic. On the 22nd ult. prisoner's wife called, and, at her request, her horoscope was drawn. She told witness that her husband was a very unlucky man, and was always out of work. Prisoner came to her house on the 2nd inst. He then stated he was a policeman, and that he wished to put to death by magic several people he would designate. Witness, on his departure, went and reported the affair to the police. Later, the prisoner returned and then declared that he was a lukong, and must search the house. When the door was opened he stepped in and stabbed her husband.

Prisoner, in his defence, stated that on the 26th ult. he requested complainant's wife to cure him, as he thought he was a leper. She had given him some magic ointment, of a red color, to put on his face. She then performed some magic rites, and he became mad, and rushed about the streets hitting himself. He felt better since he had been in jail. Prisoner acknowledged that he was not a lukong, and that the knife produced belonged to him. He stabbed complainant because he had not been cured. His Worship said that prisoner had come very near committing murder, and was evidently a very dangerous person. He sent accused to prison for six months, and recommended that he should be examined as to his mental condition by the surgeon of the jail.

A Smart Ruse.

A retired minister of the Church of Scotland, who was known to be careful in money matters, was returning home late one night from Edinburgh. It happened that the train did not go all the way. How was he to get over the remaining eight or nine miles without having to pay for hiring a trap and yet without walking? He was equal to the emergency. Going to the nearest posting establishment, he asked if there was a horse for sale. He was told there was and said he would like to give it a trial. The horse was harnessed and covered the nine miles in grand style. As soon, however, as the manse came in view the minister said: "That'll do. I'll get out now. It's not a bad horse, but he'll not suit me!"—London Times.

Trades That London Kills.

Anxious as she is for the enlargement of her commerce and the prosperity of her people, there are certain perfectly legitimate and indispensable trades which London is not desirous of encouraging within her boundaries. By the health act, passed in 1891, it is absolutely forbidden to start anew in the metropolis the business of a "blood boiler, bone boiler, manure manufacturer, soap boiler, tallow melter, or knacker." The same statute provides that no man shall set up as "fellmonger, tripe boiler, slaughterer of cattle or horses," or in any other occupation deemed offensive by the central local authorities without their express sanction. During their regime the metropolitan board of works added to the permissive category the callings of "fat melter, blood drier, animal charcoal manufacturer, catgut manufacturer, glue and size manufacturer and gut-scraper."

How She Would Know.

"I am supposed to die of a broken heart," said the unmanageable actress. "Now, how am I to know how a person with a broken heart behaves?" "I'll tell you what to do," answered the cold-blooded manager. "You study the author of this play after he sees your first performance of it!"—Sketchy Bits.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

We Shall Spend $500,000

To Give Liquozone Away.

This Company, after testing Liquozone for two years in the most difficult germ diseases, paid $100,000 for the American rights. That is the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery.

We are now spending $500,000 to give the product away—one bottle to each of a million sick ones. We are doing this so that every sick one may let Liquozone itself prove what it can do.

Kills Inside Germs

The greatest value of Liquozone lies in the fact that it kills germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. And no man knows another way to do it. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease, as every physician knows.

Liquozone will do for sick humanity more than all the drugs in the world combined. It does what no skill can accomplish without it. It cures diseases which medicine never cured.

Acts Like Oxygen

Liquozone is the result of a process which, for more than 20 years, has been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, these gases are made part of the liquid product.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen gas, as you know, is the very source of vitality, the most essential element of life. Liquozone is a vitalizing tonic with which no other known product can compare. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill.

The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone, which—like oxygen—is life to an animal, is deadly to vegetal matter. It is carried by the blood to every cell of every tissue, and no touch of impurity, no germ of disease, can exist where Liquozone goes.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

Asthma, Abscess—Anemia, Bronchitis, Blood Poison, Bright's Disease, Bowel Troubles, Coughs—Colds, Consumption, Colic—Cramp, Constipation, Catarrh—Cancer, Hay Fever, Kidney Diseases, La Grippe, Leucorrhea, Liver Troubles, Malaria—Neuralgia, Many Heart Troubles, Piles—Pneumonia, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Dysentery—Diarrhea, Dandruff, Dyspepsia, Eczema—Erysipelas, Fevers—Gall Stones, Goitre—Gout, Gonorrhea—Gleet, Scrofula—Syphilis, Stomach Troubles, Throat Troubles, Tuberculosis, Tumors—Ulcers, Varicocele, Women's Diseases.

All diseases that begin with fever—all inflammation—all catarrh—all contagious diseases—all the results of impure or poisonous blood.

In nervous debility Liquozone acts as a vitalizer, accomplishing what no drugs can do.

50c Bottle Free

If you need Liquozone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on your local druggist for a full-size bottle, and we will pay your druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to show you what Liquozone is, and what it can do. In justice to yourself, please accept it to-day, for it places you under no obligation whatever.

Liquozone costs 50c. and $1.

COUNTRY OF WIDE-EYED DREAMS.

Where are you journeying, little boy,
So far from the world and me?
Your round, blue eyes are alight with joy
At something I cannot see.

Wonderful visions of dewy dells,
Where sprites flit to and fro
On shadowy wings and weave their spells
O'er the pilgrims that come and go;

Fire-eyed goblins that grin and nod
At the fluttering butterflies,
Fairies asleep 'neath the goldenrod
That bends under autumn skies—

All these must lie on the road you tread
And beckon you on the while
Toward the light that is lingering on ahead
In the land of the rainbow's smile.

Take me with you, far-seeing elf,
To that realm where you are to-day,
Where worldly cares and thoughts of self
Are ever so far away.

Show me the wonders your little eyes
Have learned to discover there,
For I see them light with a pleased surprise
As you sit in that rocking chair.

And swinging so dreamily, look away
To a country beyond my ken,
A country I fear you will seek some day
And never come back again.

Yet I know no way that a child may go,
With a fair and cloudless brow
And never a shadow of pain or woe,
But the one you are traveling now.

—James Montagne.

Brewery Purity.

The outward general appearance of a brewery is a true indication of the methods followed within.

Carling's brewery is clean, tidy and always well kept—no cobwebs, murky corners, dusty shelves, tainted malt, sour kegs, etc., to be seen, as in common breweries.

The plant includes a perfect system of cold storage, modern machinery for cleansing bottles and kegs, and a large staff of skilled men devote their entire time to keeping everything spic and span.

Ask for Carling's Ale—accept no other, because no other is quite so good.

CUTICURA

Soap, Ointment and Pills the World's Greatest Skin Cures.

Complete Treatment for Every Humour, from Pimples to Scrofula

WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants and the anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum, all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy, have made them the standard skin cures and humour remedies of the civilized world.

The grandest testimonial that can be offered the Cuticura remedies is their world-wide sale, due to the personal recommendations of those who have used them. From a small beginning in the simplest form, against prejudice and opposition, against monied hosts, countless rivals, and trade indifference, Cuticura remedies have become the greatest curatives of their time, and, in fact, of all time, for nowhere in the history of medicine is to be found another approaching them in popularity and sale. In every clime and with every people they have met with the same reception. The confines of the earth are the only limits to their growth. They have conquered the world.

Cuticura Resolvent, Pills, and (in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, U.S.A., 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

SPECIAL PRIZES AT EXHIBITION.

The Directors Decide to Offer Prizes for Livery and Delivery Outfits.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition it was decided to offer a special prize for each of the following:—

Best cab, best single livery horse and outfit, and the best delivery horse and wagon, which have been the property of the exhibitors for at least two months previous to the date of the Exhibition.

While they are about it, the directors might well offer a prize for the best appearing, best set up horse or team driven without the cruel check-rein. This would meet the approval of those who sympathize with the suffering that must be inflicted by the use of check and tearing reins.

BASEBALL.

George street Guild team won its first game from St. Paul's by extreme good luck, certainly not by good baseball. In the first half of the game, which was played Monday night, the Methodists scored 10 runs, while the Presbyterians succeeded in getting only 3. Last night the game was concluded and the score for the last half was 5—0 in favour of St. Paul's. George street won, however, by 10—8. The playing last night was distinctly in favour of the Presbyterians, the Methodists finding great difficulty in connecting with the offerings of Watt and Sturgeon, both of whom pitched good ball. Parnell, who was in the box for George street, pitched good ball, but his support was of the worst possible quality, and that a much larger score was not run up was certainly due more to good luck than to good playing.

The teams were:—

St. Paul's — Rosenburg, Stacey, Sturgeon, Watt, Wightman, Henderson. Boyd, Walker; Ferguson.

George Street—Munn, Robertson, Hutchinson, Parnell, Dobbin, Dredge, Metheral, Curtis, Miller.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner officiated as umpire.

On St. Luke's grounds last evening St. Andrew's beat St. Luke's in the second half of their game by a score of 3—1. The game was well-contested indeed, both pitchers doing splendid work, while the fielding was sharp and clean. St. Andrew's wins the game by a score of 4—2, the score on Monday being 1—1. The teams were:

St. Andrew's — Patterson p; McDonald c; Elliott 1b; Anderson 2b; Scott 3b, Foster ss; Reid lf; Miller cf; F. E. Kerr rf.

LACROSSE.

Thursday's game between the Peterboroughs and Orillia is the topic of conversation in sporting circles. The local bunch will be much stronger than that of last year and will make the Orillia bunch play their prettiest to win. With a few good stiff practices the locals will be in shape.

TWEED.

Although the diamonds for the crossing at Tweed of the Canadian Pacific and Bay of Quinte railways were put in two weeks ago the latter line has not had running privileges over them for the reason that they were not protected by signals. The work of putting in the signals was completed this week and they were examined yesterday by a Government inspector and found to be satisfactory. The crossing is now ready for use by both railway companies.—News.

NORWOOD

A fire of somewhat mysterious origin occurred during Monday night at Killarney cheese factory, about a mile north of this place. The fire originated near the boiler; but owing to the fact that the building was new and the lumber not thoroughly dry the fire made slow progress and was discovered by the cheesemaker; Mr. McCracken, early on Tuesday morning when he came to open the factory and the blaze was promptly extinguished. The damage was small. —Register.

The Directors of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society met at the town hall in Norwood Monday afternoon when the work of revising the prize list and other necessary preparations for the coming fall fair were made.

The Directors were all present with the exception of one and one honourary director. The chair was occupied by the President, Mr. F. Birdsall.

Several important additions and alterations were made in the prize list.

In the various classes for horses, prizes which were hitherto $2.00, $1.50 and $1.00 have been increased to $3.00, $2.00 and $1.00, and in poultry a third prize of 25c. has been added throughout the list. Hitherto only two prizes, viz., 75c. and 50c. have been given.

The Directors also decided to offer prizes to the schools in the county for collections of noxious weeds.

NATURE'S CURE FOR CHILDREN

Soothing medicines, opiates and strong drugs should never be given to little children. Any doctor will tell you this. Baby's Own Tablets should be used, because they cannot harm the smallest, weakest infant. These Tablets instantly relieve and promptly cure all stomach and bowel troubles, break up colds, prevent croup, destroy worms and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. Thousands of mothers say they are the best medicine in the world. One of these, Mrs. R. Soulland, Calabogie, Ont., writes: "I have tried many remedies for children, but Baby's Own Tablets is the best I have ever used. I have been giving them occasionally to my child since he was six months old. They have always kept him well and he is a big healthy baby." All medicine dealers sell these tablets, or you can get them post paid at 25 cents a box by writing to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

One Consolation.

Patient (feebly)—Doctor, do you think I shall survive the operation? Proud Physician—Well, sir, if you don't, you have the satisfaction of knowing that it cost nearly twice as much as any similar one performed in the city.

BUYING APPLAUSE IN LONDON.

Music Hall Entertainers Often Arrange for Public "Appreciation."

The chief claquer of the Comedie Francaise in Paris has received a pension of $160 a year. That is not very much, and yet it would strike the English playgoer as a large sum, because he imagines that the claque is not to be found in London theatres. But it is, says The London Chronicle. The claquer is given tickets which he distributes to certain people who love the drama and who he knows will applaud, and, what is more, applaud in the right place.

His business is mainly connected with music hall managers and with variety artists. Foreigners, to whom applause is as necessary as their breath, learn his name and address on the continent, and when they come to London they call on him, and, saying they have been engaged at such and such a hall, ask him to provide a guarantee of a certain amount of public "appreciation" for them. There are a number of foreigners in London who are too poor to pay for a seat in a theatre. These call on the claquer and he gives them a pass, on condition that they applaud the artists in whom he is interested. The foreigners are mainly Italians or French-Swiss. They applaud the "turns" the claquer selects, and at the close have not only witnessed an enjoyable entertainment, but are often in pocket.

But the claquer does not arrange for applause for bad performers. The public would not follow the lead of his "boys," and this might damage his business. With a good artist you can stir an applause, but no power on earth will induce the London public to appreciate a poor or a vulgar turn.

The occupants of stalls in the leading variety theatres, such as the Empire Alhambra and Palace, do not applaud so heartily as those who patronize the gallery. Even in the regular theatres one cannot help observing that the stalls are the coldest section of the audience. This must be very unpleasant to the actors, and certainly it cannot induce them to work their hardest to please.

The Pastor of the City Temple.

Of Rev. R. J. Campbell, the famous pastor of the City Temple, London, Mr. T. P. O'Connor writes: If, as a preacher, I think Mr. Campbell appeals first to the heart, he appeals scarcely less strongly to the mind. A finished scholar of the widest reading, a consummate elocutionist, enabled to make the most of a sweet but not over strong voice, in which one occasionally detects the roll of a Scottish "r," and as lucid as he is original in thought, a sermon from him is at once an emotional and an intellectual delight. He doesn't make you feel, as some preachers do, that he is a very superior person and you an abysmally inferior one. An idealist, he is yet no unpractical visionary, asking you to live up to ideals which won't work in a work-a-day world. As a moral physician he searches out the evil growths of your soul, but he doesn't treat them with fire and brimstone. Instead, he pours upon them the soothing oils of a great humanity, a great sympathy, and a great faith. "It's never too late to mend" with him. For the rest, Mr. Campbell's preaching is to all intents and purposes extemporary; he is sparing of gesture, though lacking nothing of fervor.

FIVE LIVES LOST IN A COLLISION.

Richelieu Liner Canada Sunk in the St. Lawrence.

WAS STRUCK BY A COAL CARRIER.

The Coaler Cape Breton Made a Hole in the Canada 25 Feet Wide and Went Through Her 15 Feet—Inside of Ten Minutes the Rammed Vessel Sank in Forty Feet of Water.

Sorel, Que., June 13.—The steamer Cape Breton, a coaler, anchored in the port of Sorel, started about 3.30 yesterday morning for Quebec, making a long curve and then entered the St. Lawrence River to follow the channel. Ten minutes later she ran into the R. & O. N. Co. steamer Canada, three miles below Sorel, striking her amidships, making a hole over 25 feet wide and going through her about 15 feet, almost cutting the Canada in half. Inside of ten minutes the steamer Canada sank in forty feet of water.

The pressure of the water lifted the upper deck, giving a chance to all the passengers to climb up the deck of the wrecked boat and transfer on board the steamer Cape Breton. Some of the fifty passengers threw themselves with life preservers into the river, where later on they were picked up by small boats.

So far as known five persons were drowned as follows:

M. Thibault, assistant agent R. & O. N. Co., Quebec, and his two sons.

Pursers Bonneterre and Brunette, employed by the Government at Sorel.

All the passengers were brought to Sorel by the steamer Prefontaine, which was on her way from Quebec, and were taken care of by the Mayor, C. C. Paradis, one of the directors of the R. & O. N. Co. About sixty passengers lost all their clothing, and were supplied by Mr. Paradis.

The body of Mr. Thibault was found a couple of hours after the collision. An inquest was held last night at 10 o'clock.

Thousands of people from Sorel and other places came here by excursion trains and went out on large steam yachts to the wreck. The value of the Canada is over three hundred thousand dollars. She is a total loss.

Blames Capt. St. Louis.

Quebec, June 13.—The steamer Cape Breton, which collided yesterday morning at Sorel with the steamer Canada of the R. & O. Navigation Co., arrived in port at 1.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Sergeant McCarthy, chief of the Provincial Police, and Constable Thorn went on board immediately, according to orders from the authorities to make arrests, because members of the crew were accused of having committed robbery at the scene of the wreck. They found nothing else than a few life preservers belonging to the Canada, and the Cape Breton was allowed to continue her trip to North Sydney.

Capt. Reid of the Cape Breton, says that he was on the right course when his vessel struck the Canada. He says that the collision could have been easily avoided by the Canada if Capt. St. Louis of the latter boat had taken notice of a signal of alarm which he had given. The Canada was struck on the starboard, and in ten minutes her hull had sunk to the bottom, leaving part of her deck and cabin afloat. There were some sixty passengers on board outside the crew.

The salvage boats of the Cape Breton succeeded in taking on board most of them, and the victims of the wreck were taken later on to Sorel by the steamer Prefontaine.

Loss Only $190,000.

Montreal, June 13.—There were about 100 people on board the Canada, including passengers and crew, Col. Henshaw and H. Markland Molson, directors of the company, being of the number. There was no panic. The Canada was built in 1886, and the loss is placed at $190,000. The Cape Breton sustained little or no damage.

Drowned at Toronto.

Toronto, June 13.—It was a sad ending to a Saturday afternoon's outing which resulted in the drowning of Llewellyn J. Poole. Mr. Poole and Miss Gladys McKibbon, 88 Willcocks street, had been canoeing on the Humber and were on their way home about 7.30, when a gasoline launch, owned by Dr. Emory, overtook them. There was a picnic party from Grace Hospital on the launch. They offered to tow the canoeists along. The assistance was accepted, and all went well for a short time until the canoe shipped a little water. This, it is thought, made Miss McKibbon nervous.

Mr. Poole attempted to move forward to unfasten the tow line, in the western gap, when the canoe upset or was drawn under the water. He grabbed the young lady and succeeded in keeping her above water until help reached them from the launch. She was lifted into the larger boat and then Poole suddenly sank and did not rise again.

The body was recovered Sunday at noon by Alex. Banckham of the R. C. Yacht Club, and J. W. Cummerford, and removed to F. W. Matthew's undertaking establishment.

Mr. Poole was 24 years of age and lived with his widowed mother at 308 Huron street. He carried on business as a manufacturer's agent in the Manning Chambers. He was a nephew of Dr. McKibbon.

Stood Up in Canoe.

Toronto, June 13.—Harold Douglass, 20 years of age, who came from Owen Sound six weeks ago, was drowned in the bay opposite Frederick street yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Douglass and a companion, William Bell, with whom he rooms, at 344 Berkeley street, engaged a canoe at Hynes' boat house. When about a quarter of a mile from shore young Douglass stood up for the purpose of putting on his coat, which caused the light craft to upset. Mr. Ramsden of Fisherman's Island, and James Cockerill, 411 Pape avenue, went to their assistance. They succeeded in rescuing Bell, but before they could reach Douglass he sank and did not come to the surface again.

Jumped Overboard.

Kingston, June 13.—Gertrude Fegovis, aged 18, who has been visiting Mrs. Kimball here since May 24, fell, or threw herself, overboard from the steamer American at 1 a.m., when about two miles from this city, returning from a trip to Clayton, N.Y. She had gone over with a party composed of Mrs. Kimball, Mary Brooks and Fred Dailey of Kingston. She and Dailey had a tiff on board boat and he had just left her, according to the account given by Mrs. Kimball. She was standing by the rail on the upper deck as the boat turned around Leader Island. The boat lurched and she went overboard, though a gentleman standing by her side tried to save her. The captain was told, but he did not believe the story, thinking that it was but a rumor, and being considerably engrossed with troubles of his own. There were five free fights on board and he had all he could do to keep order. When the boat was about 600 yards from this city she gave five whistles, the signal for the police, and they put off and arrested five men. One man had been stabbed in the lip. They will all be given a hearing to-morrow. Miss Fegovis was a native of Carthage, N.Y.

VICTIMS OF RUNAWAY.

Mrs. Hamilton Will Die, Three Others Badly Hurt.

Trenton, June 13.—A bad accident took place here yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. George Hamilton, his wife and daughter, Annie, F. G. Crowder and wife, Walter Young and wife and daughter, Violet, were out driving. Mr. Hamilton, who is proprietor of the Aberdeen Hotel, was driving them all behind his spirited team. The team, from some cause, took fright and ran away. In spite of the efforts of Mr. Hamilton, they bolted toward the river and jumped in. In the scramble that ensued one of the horses was killed, Mrs. Hamilton was so badly hurt that she is expected to die. Mr. Hamilton was severely kicked by one of the horses. Walter Young had two ribs broken, and his wife was injured internally. The two children were rescued after they had been under water for some time.

C.P.R. Brakeman Killed.

Ottawa, June 13.—Charles Stewart, a C.P.R. brakeman, was killed in a wreck at Thistle siding, six miles east of Chalk River, on Saturday. A spring on the front of a box car on the freight train dropped and the car striking it, left the track. The cars following piled on it. Stewart, who was on the seventh car, was badly mangled, and died a few hours later in the Pembroke Hospital. He belonged to Carleton Place and was married.

Fatally Hit By a Train.

Port Arthur, June 13.—A Finlander named Matt Anderson received injuries yesterday morning from which he is not likely to recover. He has been employed on the C.P.R. section at Mackenzie, and arrived in town Saturday night. It is believed he got intoxicated and went to sleep on the railway track. When the eastbound express passed through here early yesterday morning it struck Anderson, knocking him into the ditch. His leg was shattered, an arm fractured and two large scalp wounds inflicted.

Switchman Injured.

Toronto, June 13.—Arthur Littlejohn, a switchman in the yards at Little York, was struck by a shunting engine and thrown down an embankment, while at work yesterday morning. He was found to have sustained a fracture of the right thigh, a fracture of the pelvic bone and some severe scalp wounds.

Thrown From Rig.

Dutton, June 13.—George H. Shepherd, Councillor of Yarmouth township, was driving near his home in South Yarmouth Friday afternoon when his team ran away, throwing him out. He sustained a fracture of the right collar-bone, was bruised on the side and otherwise badly shaken up.

BAD TRAIN ACCIDENT.

Many Killed or Injured Near the Depot at Minneapolis.

St. Paul, Minn., June 13.—An excursion train bearing 700 people was run into by a switch engine in the Minneapolis yards about a mile from the Union Depot last night, and it is reported many were killed and injured.

The train was a Minneapolis and St. Louis special, which left St. Paul yesterday morning on an excursion to Carver, Minn. It bore Arlington Hill's Camp of the Modern Woodmen and their friends.

While returning to this city last night just after passing through the Minneapolis depot, the train ran into a switch engine, and the first two cars of the excursion train were telescoped, and the occupants were either killed or injured. The reports which have reached this city state that many were killed.

THE SUCCESSOR TO LORD MINTO

Has the New Governor-General Been Selected?

EARL GRAY IS THE MAN.

His Mad Experience in Colonial Affairs, As Has His Fortune Before Him—Acted As Administrator of Rhodesia During 1896-97—Brother-in-Law of the Present Governor-General of Canada.

London, June 13.—It has just been authoritatively announced that Earl Grey, Lord-Lieutenant of Northumberland, has been appointed to succeed the Earl of Minto as Governor-General of Canada.

London, June 13.—(C.A.P.)—Earl Grey has been approached on the subject of the Canadian Governor-Generalship, but no definite appointment has yet been made.

Sketch of His Career.

Albert Henry George Grey, fourth Earl Grey, is the son of the late General, the Hon. Charles Grey, second son of the second Earl Grey, and was born on Nov. 28, 1851. He was educated at Harrow School and Trinity College, Cambridge, where he graduated B.A. (Senior in Law and History Tripos) in 1873. In 1877 he married Alice, third daughter of Robert Stayner Holford, M.P., of Westonbirt, Gloucestershire.

Turning his attention to the political world, he became Liberal candidate along with Mr. Ridley for the South Division of Northumberland, and was elected (double return) in 1878, but was unseated by a scrutiny. At the general elections of 1880 he was again successful, and sat in the Parliament of 1880-1885 as a supporter of Mr. Gladstone's Administration, and was returned at the general election of 1885 for the Tyneside Division of the same county. On the introduction of the home rule policy he joined the ranks of the Liberal-Unionists, and, in offering himself for re-election on Mr. Gladstone's appeal to the country, was defeated. This ended his House of Commons career.

EARL GREY.

At an early period of his life the present Earl began to interest himself in colonial questions. For this he had hereditary aptitude, if there be anything in the theory of transmitted tendencies. His uncle, the third Earl, on the accession of the Whigs, in 1830, had taken office as Under Secretary for the Colonies, and was a notable figure among the advanced party of colonial reformers, sharing the views of Edward Gibbon Wakefield on the question of land and emigration, and resigning in 1834 because the emancipation of the slaves had been made gradual and not immediate. Becoming Colonial Secretary, the late Earl was confronted with various formidable problems, which he overcame in the main successfully, and his administrations form an epoch in colonial history. He was the first British Minister to proclaim that the colonies should be governed for their own benefit and not for that of the Mother Country. He was the first statesman to accord them self-government so far as it then seemed possible, but was overruled in his protest against the concession by which the colonies were allowed to tax imports from the Mother Country.

The Earl Grey of to-day was traveling in South Africa when in 1894 he was called to the peerage on the death of his uncle, whose distinguished career so far as concerns colonial affairs has just been briefly traced. From the experience he had then gained, his reputation as a cautious and capable man, and his Imperial sympathies, he was looked on as the most suitable successor to the late Cecil Rhodes as Administrator of Rhodesia, and he acted in that capacity during 1896-97. He was the originator of the public house trust in England.

Earl Grey is a brother-in-law of the present Governor-General. Lord Minto, having married in 1883 Mary, daughter of General Grey.

RECALL OF LORD DUNDONALD.

Report at Ottawa of the Government's Decision in the Matter.

Ottawa, June 13.—(Globe Special.)—The report was current last night that the Government have decided to ask for Lord Dundonald's recall, and that a despatch to that effect will be forwarded to the Colonial Office to-day.

A PIECE OF MASTERLY POLITICS.

The Saturday Night has the following appreciative reference to Hon. Mr. Fielding's budget speech:—

Mr. Filding's budget speech was a piece of masterly politics. Without yielding to the clamor for more protection in a sweeping sense and for the abolition of the British preference, he has apparently adjusted the tariff to meet the necessities of the situation. If any national neighbour overloaded with goods endeavours to make Canada a dumping-ground, provision is made to prevent the slaughtering of stuff here to the damage of our local manufacturers by something like what our Yankee neighbours call a countervailing duty. Those clamoring for abrogation of the British preference have quoted the woollen trade as being damaged, but Mr. Fielding has taken the powder out of their cartridge without abolishing the preferance, by a fixed tariff on British woollens somewhat greater than the general preference rate, yet lower than on similar materials coming in from other countries than Great Britain. The budget speech shows this country to be in a condition of great general prosperity, and while some manufacturers will always "holler" for more protection than they are getting, no matter how much they are granted, it is the general impression of business men and the press that a cleverer or more efficient piece of political work was never before done by a Canadian Finance Minister. If the railway policy of the Government is found to be stronger than the public ownership policy of the Opposition, as last week I expressed the fear that it might not be, the Administration need have no great anxiety. A great wave of protectionist sentiment is unlikely to meet them on their appeal to the country, if Mr. Fielding's tariff arrangements are not mere flim-flam. This appeal to the country, a number of leading men on reading the budget speech have said, is not far off.

WARSAW.

(From our own Correspondent.)

On Saturday evening the 4th inst., a very pleasing event took place at the home of Mr. Allen Payne, of Mill Site, Dummer, when a reception was tendered him at the arrival with his new bride. The happy couple was escorted to the dining room where the tables wer espread of the finest that ladies can provide.

After supper a sociable time was spent in singing and instrumental music and pass time of various kinds.

The bride and groom also received many beautiful and costly gifts showing the esteem in which they were held by their friends.

The bride's home was in Unionville, where she also received some very fine presents from her friends in that locality.

The groom was assisted by his cousin Mr. Herbert Payne, while the bride was supported by Miss Armitage of Toronto.

The wedding party then left on the train for Buffalo amid showers of rice and old boots.

We are pleased that they have returned from their honey-moon safely, and for the future intend to reside in our midst.

Effect of the "Palma Trophy" Incident Upon British Toadyism.

(Saturday Night.)

The epidemic of Yankee admiration which has been sweeping England for some time past, causing Canada to get the cold shoulder, wherever her interests happened to conflict with those of the lanky pet, has now received a jolt that is likely to prove an effective check and to assist in getting things back into their normal state. "The Palma Trophy Fraud", as it is called throughout Great Britain, has had somewhat the effect of an eye-opener on that not inconsiderable part of the English people who could not be persuaded that our neighbors fell at all short of perfection. When Chauncey Depew, one of the most famous wind-bags in the Yankee Senate—and that means in the whole Republic—referred to Canada as a spoiled child, Englishmen chuckled heartily over the joke and smilingly admitted that there was something of truth in the remark. We have lived beside the "Amurrikans" long enough to have felt their slipperiness—but when we have expressed our candid opinion we have been accused of peevishness and jealousy. The Palma Trophy business will set things right and let the world see that a bandit is none the less a bandit because he happens to be a good jollier as well. The English press is doing good work by roasting the dishonourable tricksters who entered a competition under false pretenses, and used rifles that were strictly prohibited by the rules governing the contest, as nothing in recent times has been roasted in that conservative mouthpiece of public opinion. An English correspondent of an evening paper says: "Never has such languages been used in the English press, in condemnation of what is denounced as dishonourable conduct, as appears in the 'Times' in describing yesterday's meeting of the National Rifle Association." While Canadians are not likely to rejoice over the disgusting affair, it must be expected that some few will smile in a sort of "I told you so" way; for the action of England in the Alaska Boundary bargain has not by any means been forgotten. It makes one feel a little less sore to see those who wouldn't hear anything against our despoilers themselves made the victims of the practices that we have had to put up with for so long. If England had been really open-minded and observant no indignation would have been produced by the Palma Trophy revelations at all. The methods employed by the Yankee rifle team were the recognized nail and mallet methods of the United States. Everything is fair on the part of the Republic until the fraud is detected—and then the whole thing is only a good joke. Canadian sportsmen have had to contend with this kind of thing for generations, but whenever they made a kick they received no satisfaction from those who injured them and only deprecating smiles from English sportsmen. Yankee diplomacy is on a par with Yankee sport—any kind of roguery is legitimate until it is detected and called down. We have known this ever since we first had business dealings with them, but we have been unable to help ourselves so long as England refused to listen to anything but praises of her pet. The Palma Trophy scandal will be the best piece of crookedness that was ever worked if it convinces the people who run things at the headquarters of the Empire that a Yankee, while he may be a very decent fellow personally, is not altogether reliable when a chance to win stakes crops up.

THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

What has the Opposition accomplished, from a party point of view, by the prolonged debate this year and last on the Grand Trunk Pacific? Mr. Borden has certainly made it clear that, if he were in power he would buy the unprofitable Lake Superior division of the Canadian Pacific, enabling that company, with the purchase money, to complete a shorter and better route from Winnipeg via Duluth and the Soo or via Minneapolis and the Soo, within American territory, to Sudbury and Montreal. This was part of his wild scheme of Government ownership and operation last session, and he has not departed from it. But what has his party to gain by it beyond the moral support and probably the material support too of the Canadian Pacific? How can any Canadian Conservative conscientiously favour a project for further Americanising a line built and bonused in a princely manner as a great national highway?

Mr. Borden has also carried the party some distance in the direction of Socialism. In Italy and Germany the State owns and operates the railways chiefly for military reasons. In Australia the State owns and operates them in order to ensure the speedy development of the country, but, though the official reports are satisfactory enough, the facts recently brought out by insiders show that the policy conduces to extravagance, inefficience and corruption —or a state of things, in short, familiar to ourselves in connection with the Intercolonial. Sixty years ago the British Parliament took power to purchase all the railroads after a period of 21 years, but no one seriously advocates such a step to-day, the results of State operation on the continent having demonstrated that, allowing for all its imperfections, company ownership and operation is distinctly preferable in the public interests. In the United States our Socialist friends desire to see the railways and everything else nationalised, so that society may be resolved in the end into a vast pooling arrangement whereby the strong shall maintain the weak and the thrifty support the improvident. But, as in England, so in the States, the temper of the Anglo-Saxon race is not favourable to such experiments, and the acquisition of the railways by Government is advocated by few outside the diminishing Populist party and the Socialist proper.

How many Canadians familiar with the history of the Intercolonial would care to see that road carried to the Pacific What would be the consequence to the farmers, and others, constituting the bulk of the population, who are and would continue to be served by company lines? Would they not be paying commercial rates on their own produce together with extra taxes make up the loss arising from the political or electioneering rates granted to the settlers along this transcontinental road? Mr. Borden ignored the interests of this multitude and listened only to the voice of Mr. Robin of Manitoba and shrill cry of Mr. Maclean of the Toronto World, whose mission is to save mankind by patent cure-alls that come to him in his dreams.

Apart from this what has the Conservative leader achieved? The broad fact remains that the Grand Trunk Pacific project is an incomparable better bargain for the people than the Canadian Pacific, which the Conservatives engineered twenty years ago; and that its close connection with the Grand Trunk and with the network of the Grand Trunk lines in Ontario and Quebec, will make it of enormous service not to the West alone but to the older provinces, whose goods are shipped thither, and that at once. The wheat yield in the West already exceeds the capacity of existing railways for hauling the surplus to Lake Superior in the season of navigation, and, as there is but one all-rail line, winter rates are high. Naturally, the Canadian Pacific does not wish to see its monopoly disturbed, and the Opposition, acting on its suggestions, have done their best to prevent competition by a new road; but the settler can hardly be expected to take that view of the situation. Again, every reasonable person will admit that the older provinces, which have already made sacrifices for the development of the West and are now making more, deserve some consideration; and that the opening of the immense back country between Winnipeg, Abbitibbi, Quebec and Moncton by this road cannot fail to augment their population, wealth and importance. Lastly, is it not plain that the expenditure of $150,000,000—if that be the cost— on this work during the next four or five years must tend to mitigate the commercial depression that is slowly creeping over the United States, and must soon, after our seven fat years, reach us?

Mr. Borden has run counter to the interests of the country as a whole and will pay the penalty at the approaching elections, despite the efforts of the Canadian Pacific on his behalf.

Floods in Arkansas.

Pine Bluff, Ark., June 13.—The flood in the Arkansas River Saturday night reached by far its most destructive stage in Jefferson County, when part of the Frenchtown levee, about three miles below the city, broke and turned the river through a rich section of the country filled with growing crops of cotton and corn. The damage to plantations cannot be estimated under hundreds of thousands of dollars, for growing crops of cotton and corn were literally swept away.

A RUSSIAN SUCCESS

They Claim to Have Wiped Out Two Japanese Battalions.

RUMORS OF NAVAL BATTLE

Two Russian and Four Japanese Battleships Are Said to Have Been Sunk, But There Are No Confirmations of the Rumors—Japanese Have Occupied Several Important Points—Buried 704 Russians.

Haicheng, Manchuria, June 13.—A flanking movement of the Japanese around the Russian left from Fengwangcheng, June 9, was repulsed with a loss of two whole battalions.

A large Japanese force moved out in the morning along Fengwangcheng and Haicheng road. The Russians had a force strongly posted in a ravine 30 miles southeast of Haicheng. The Japanese were preceded by two battalions, who walked into the Russian ambuscade. They received a murderous rifle and artillery fire at close range abd were wiped out, only one or two escaping.

The main Japanese force, which was greatly superior to the Russian force, tried to outflank the Russians, who drew off without losing a man. The Japanese closing in, found the ravine vacant, save their dead.

Great Naval Battle Rumored.

St. Petersburg, June 13.—Rumors are in circulation here to the effect that a great naval battle has taken place off Port Arthur, in which two Russian and four Japanese battleships were sunk. No confirmation of the rumor can be obtained.

Many Lives Lost.

Liaoyang, June 13.—Ensign Mariloff, who has returned from the battle of Saimatzo, fought on June 7, says that the Japanese lost about 300 men. He spoke in the highest terms of the work of the two Red Cross doctors, who attended the wounded under fire. When the order came to retire, these doctors refused to leave the bandaging station until the last of the wounded had been brought and attended to.

After the battle a wounded Russian was found with his tongue cut out and his fingers severed. There is a general disinclination to attribute this mutilation to the Japanese after the kindness which had previously been shown to the Russian wounded, and it is thought to be more probable that it was the work of Chinese bandits.

It is alleged that during the engagement the Japanese again misused the Red Cross by getting within 400 yards under its cover and then firing volleys.

Reports of the Siuyen fight of June 8 say that the Japanese lost 100 killed and the Russians 121 killed and wounded, including two officers.

Killed 15 Bandits.

Haicheng, June 13.—Ten Cossacks along the railway south of Haicheng, on June 9, came in contact with fifty Chinese bandits. Fifteen of the bandits were killed or wounded and eight were captured. The Cossacks lost one killed and two wounded.

Won't Relieve Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, June 13.—Relief is felt in military circles at the removal of discussion in the military councils. It is understood that the sole responsibility devolves upon General Kuropatkin and that no serious attempt will be made to relieve Port Arthur.

It is reported that the Vladivostock squadron now consists of three cruisers and four ironclads. It is therefore presumed that the squadron has affected a junction with some of the Port Arthur vessels.

The newspapers report that there is great distress in Vladivostock arising from the enhanced prices of food, and it is feared that the stock of petroleum and candles is giving out.

Twelve trains are arriving daily at Liaoyang with reinforcements.

Buried the Russians.

Tokio, June 8.—The military commission assigned to bury the Russian dead in the battle of Nanshan Hill at Kinchou, May 26, presented its report yesterday. They report that ten Russian officers and 664 men who fell in the battle had been carefully buried, and thirty men were buried by the outposts, making the total number of killed and left behind by the Russians 704.

To Head Off Kuroki.

Lodon, June 13.—In a desperate effort to checkmate the advance of General Kuroki's army, which threatens the Russian rear at Mukden, Kuropatkin, according to Russian reports has despatched troops from Mukden to turn Kuroki's right wing. The Russians do not believe that the Japanese column which captured Siuyen was followed by either of the main armies in Southern Manchuria, and consequently do not believe that Haicheng is in danger.

In spite of the endeavor on the part of the Russian officials to minimize the importance of the advance of the Mikado's first army, military experts point to the fact that Siuyen is of great strategical importance.

Port Arthur Under Fire.

London, June 13.—News from the Far East mostly concerns the situation at Port Arthur, but the sources of information are not the most trustworthy.

According to The Rome Tribuna's Che Foo correspondent the fortress has been incessantly bombarded for seven days. All the western portions of the town have been destroyed and several Russian warships have been damaged.

The Japanese squadron is backing up the land assaults and is keeping out of range of the guns. People from Port Arthur were convinced that Sunday would be the decisive day.

About Your Complexion.

A yellow muddy complexion tells of derangements of the liver and indicates the presence of bile poison in the blood. Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills set the liver and kidneys in action, purify the blood, cleanse the system and assure a healthy glow to the complexion. As a family medicine Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are of inestimable value.

DEBATE WILL BE BRISK.

Over the Question of Retention of Sir Percy Girouard.

London, June 13.—(C.A.P.)—The majority report of the select committee on the Intercolonial Council Railway question recommends retention of the Commissioner of Railways at Pretoria, but proposes to relieve him of the responsibility of financial management. The minority report, signed by Sir Farrer and Mr. Hoskin, recommends the abolition of the commissioner and the substitution of a financial controller aided by a board. A lively debate is expected Monday.

The Times' Johannesburg correspondent wires that the retirment of Sir Percy Girouard at the present juncture would entail no reflection on the qualities which raised this able officer to his prominent position. His appointment to carry on the work initiated at the close of the war was not only fully justified, but was absolutely the only possible selection. Lord Milner's work is now accomplished.

Graphic Criticises Mr. Fisher.

London, June 13.—(C.A.P.)—The Daily Graphic says Hon. Sydney Fisher seems to have curiously one-sided ideas on the subject of a political scandal. It is obvious that such a system as seems to be prevailing under Lord Dundonald's task is an impossible one, and it was his right, indeed, his duty, to protest in the strongest possible way. The form he took, however, is to be regretted. We can only imagine he had convinced himself there was no other way by which the force he so ably commands could be saved from demoralizing interference of politicians.

How to Keep Well.

The best efforts of the great physician are now expanding in finding out how to keep people well and prevent serious disease. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was prepared with this object in view. It is not only a cure for diseases of the nerves but also a restorative to be used when vitality runs low and the weakened condition of the system invites attacks by fevers or contagious diseases.

IMMIGRATION CENTRES

FOUR LAND DISTRICTS TO WHICH TIDE OF EMIGRATION FLOWS.

No Good Homestead Land Left Within 30 Miles of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Calgary District—This Shows the Rapid Development of the Canadian Northwest—Alberta Raises the Finest Quality of No. 1 Hard Wheat.

There are four great central land districts toward which the tide of emigrants flows in Western Canada. They are Regina, Calgary, Red Deer and Edmonton. Lethbridge, on the south, and Battleford and Prince Albert on the north, are the other three points where general land offices are maintained. The first four are receiving the bulk of the new settlers this year. In the past Regina has led all other land offices in point of numbers of homestead entries made in the territories. Three thousand a year was the high water mark, and a month that did not witness 300 applications at Regina was considered dull. That has been the story for the past three or four years. The territory tributary to the Regina land office is equal to that of Lethbridge, Calgary, Red Deer and Edmonton. It extends from the fourth meridian on the west to the second on the east, and from the state line on the south to within fifty miles of the town of Battleford, on the north. This vast district consists almost wholly of surveyed lands, subject to homesteading.

The Calgary district is being flooded so rapidly by ranchers and farmers that the surveyed lands are down to a close margin. In other words, the homesteaders are keeping up with the Government surveyors. J. R. Sutherland, the Calgary land agent, said to me that the Government surveyors worked overtime last year, and will have to do even better this year if the land in demand is to be ready for the newcomers. Large numbers of squatters have overrun the big stretch of unsurveyed land north of the Calgary district, extending into Red River, Edmonton and Battleford. Squatter rights are not recognized, and only the man on the ground when the Government surveyors arrive can be recognized. This makes squatter sovereignty a very uncertain quantity.

Calgary Leads This Year.

This year the Calgary land office leads all others in the territories. The agents cast a balance as at June 1 for the previous year. At Calgary, for the year ending June 1, 1903, the record shows 1,916 entries. Regina was two thousand in advance, while the four other big districts, with Prince Albert added, were less than Calgary, but combined they exceeded the entries at Regina by two thousand.

Ten months of the fiscal year have passed. Calgary shows to-day, according to Mr. Sutherland's latest compilation, 2,416 homestead entries. He estimated that the next two months—very favorable months—would swell the total for the fiscal year to 3,000. At the same time Regina is falling behind these figures, though Red Deer and Edmonton are approaching closer.

While there is plenty of desirable farming and grazing land to be had on the homestead plan all over the territories, nothing worthy of the name may be secured closer than thirty miles from the railroad. Replying to an inquiry as to how much longer this rush of settlers could be handled, with a guarantee of free homes for all who come, Mr. Sutherland said that it was uncertain, but that Canada would have twenty to thirty millions of inhabitants before the supply would be exhausted.

From $10 to $50 Per Acre.

The casual observer is impressed, however, with the rapid settlement of the territories and the certainty that within a short time—as time goes in the life of a nation—the immense public domain that is so generously distributed among all who seek the west will be a thing of the past. Driving a mile from Calgary with President Talbot of the Pure Bred Cattle Breeders' Association of the Territories, I was entertained with interesting stories of rapid development. With a sweep of his hand over a considerable area, showing farm-houses on every quarter section and cattle grazing on every hill, Mr. Talbot alluded to the fact that but a few years ago the best could be pre-empted for a ten-dollar Government fee. Now it is held at from thirty to forty dollars an acre.

But from a former Ontario boy I received the clearest analysis of the conditions prevailing in the territories. John R. Sutherland, brother of Hugh Sutherland, is the land agent at Calgary. He came west from Ingersoll, Ont., in 1875. For many years he was located in Manitoba. With papers piled up to his ears around his desk, each representing the hopes and the wealth of some homesteader, Mr. Sutherland discussed the situation. The rush has carried the employes of the office to the point where they must work night and day to keep anywhere near the head of the line, with no hope of catching up until an increase of help is secured.

Alberta Grows Wheat.

"Alberta has become well known as a grazing country. The truth is that we raise as fine quality of number 1 hard north and south of Calgary as the farmers of Manitoba. This is the evolution of the farm. For years it was not supposed the territory was of value agriculturally. I recall in 1875 that when I first went to Manitoba the agent of the Hudson Bay Company was insisting that wheat could not be grown there. Apparently he was right. The first put in around Portage la Prairie was caught by the frost. It would not ripen. Before it could mature the frost ruined it for commercial purposes. But to-day the plains of Portage la Prairie produce the finest No. 1 hard that goes into the Liverpool elevators. Why? The farmers have learned to farm. The increased area of cultivated soil reduced the probabilities of frost. They learned that after all frost goes in streaks. While it might make its appearance in one field or section, it did no damage in adjacent farms. In other words, they learned that frost acts as erratically as hail.

"They talked for years of Alberta being a fine ranching country, but impossible for wheat raising, yet to-day they are raising in some sections of Alberta 52 bushels of No. 1 hard to the acre. I still advocate mixed farming as the most productive in this section, but the point is that farmers learn to overcome what appears to be insurmountable natural barriers to the cultivation of the soil of Alberta. To-day in Southern Alberta they are producing immense quantities of what we call fall wheat. In the States they call it winter wheat. It grades No. 1 hard, and is of superior quality. This variety is better adapted to Alberta than the spring article, because it matures several weeks earlier and the chances of its destruction by frost are materially less. Yet fall wheat was an unknown quantity with the pioneer farmers of Alberta. They could produce nothing but spring wheat.

Ontario and Alberta Compared.

"Farming in Ontario and here are entirely different propositions. Here wheat grows twice as high as in Ontario. I have seen wheat as high as a man's head and well developed grains, grading No. 1 hard. When I first came to Calgary I remember that farmers who had gone in around Regina abandoned their farms, asserting that the country was not adapted to wheat raising. They went into Manitoba and some came here, yet to-day that same section of Regina is included in the great wheat belt. This illustrates the idea. Men who cultivate the soil successfully in Ontario and the States will be successful in this region, but it is not reasonable to suppose they will farm as profitably the first year as the second. The practical chaps recognize this as a fact."—G. C. Porter in The Toronto World.

Sending Out Wind Breakers.

The forestry branch of the Department of the Interior is sending out seedling trees this spring to over one thousand farmers in Manitoba and the Territories, to be planted as wind-breakers for the sheltering of crops in the open prairies. This is about twice the number that were distributed last season. The varieties chosen are quick-growing and hardy, so that three years' growth gives foliage seven or eight feet in height. A new farm is being started at Indian Head especially for the cultivation of these trees, and a prize of $1,000 has been offered by J. M. Haslam, a well-to-do farmer of Manitoba, for the best results in tree-growing in Assiniboia.

The Forestry Department has taken special measures to safeguard the timber in Western Canada. Fire notices are now being scattered by the Hudson's Bay Company up almost to the Arctic Circle, and the railway companies have given their hearty co-operation in this work of preserving the forest wealth from destruction. Special officers are detailed to see that where new lines are in course of construction the workmen take all due care to put out their camp fire as they move from one location to another.

Wonderful Fireworks.

A manufacturer of pyrotechnics in Nagasaki, Japan, makes a rocket from which, when it explodes in the air, there flies away a large bird which resembles a homing bird in its movements. It is said that the secret of this wonderful production has been in the possession of the eldest child of the family for more than 400 years.

AN ODD POLITICAL PICNIC.

Grand Trunk Pacific Contract Debated By Two Men a Side.

Alexandria, June 13.—The men of Glengarry had the pleasure Saturday of participating in one of the most unique picnics in the history of Canada, when four members of Parliament, two on a side, debated the G. T.P. contract before six thousand people.

The speeches made were from party standpoints, but no little effort was made to reason with the people in the desire to win a few converts to this or that side.

The weather was warm and everything conduced to make the day exceptional. In spite of the big crowd not an accident occurred and the picnic was voted the most successful in the memory of man.

The Government side of the proposition was represented by Messrs. Fitzpatrick and Wade; and the Opposition by Messrs. Clarke and Monk.

KOREA'S DARK FUTURE.

Dominion of Any Nation Can Hardly Make Conditions Worse.

Unhappy Koren is having a hard time between the conflicting ambitions of powerful Russia and Japan. For the Koreans it is a case of "under which king, Bezonian?" Too weak to be independent and with subjugation to a foreign nation inevitable, the outlook is not cheering.

Still, the future under either Japanese or Russian domination can hardly be worse than the present. The government lacks the moral fiber needed at such a critical time, and official corruption is well nigh absolute. The people are taxed beyond all reason. Any man suspected of having property is in danger of being thrown into a filthy prison on some trumped up charge and held or perhaps tortured until he disgorges. Offices are sold to the highest bidder or given to dissipated favorites, who divide the proceeds. The courts give no redress, for the plunderer himself is usually both judge and jury. So rotten is the entire system that one marvels that the nation has not fallen to pieces before this. Only the stolid apathy of the Asiatic and the rival claims of foreign powers have held it together at all.

The financial problem is as bad as the political. Oppression and robbery destroy all incentive to accumulate property. A man has no motive to toil when he knows that an additional ox or a better house would probably simply result in a "squeeze" from some lynx eyed potentate. So he raises only a little rice and devotes the remainder of his time to resting.—From Rev. Arthur Judson Brown's "Unhappy Koren" in Century.

Two Hundred Years Ago.

Only by trying seriously to understand conditions of 200 years ago may we bring ourselves to realize the advance the country and the world have made in the two centuries a newspaper press has existed in America. In April, 1704, was founded the first American newspaper which succeeded in establishing itself, the Boston News Letter. Popular education, freedom of speech, religious toleration and government by the people were then unknown in the colonies; to worship according to the rites of the Catholic church was a capital offense in Massachusetts; none but members of established churches could hold office; it was a criminal act for any person to ride or children to play on Sunday; men and women were obliged to confess before congregations, and any one who did not attend church could be fined, according to law.—Boston Globe.

The Tramp Stenographer.

In her failure to get steady work the girl who comes to New York is apt to become a lonely, homeless thing of "no continuing city," known and disrespected by business men under the title of "a floater." A "floater" is a girl tramp stenographer who lives from hand to mouth and town to town, who gets started rolling round and does not want any moss, will not stay in any position long, simply making enough in each place to get on to the next. It is an ugly form of wanderlust. The floaters are held unreliable, and firms have become weary of engaging them. The number of floaters is sadly on the increase. Last month the agency of a New York company in Los Angeles reported sixty in that city, and throughout the south came word of continued increase in the number of these restless, nestless birds pathetically following the summer.—Era Magazine.

There was a break down in the boiler at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday, by which many were deprived of their regular bath. The break has been repaired and everything is in good running order again with the usual unlimited supply of hot and cold water.

The Boys Camp.

The Programme Committee for the Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp, held an interesting session on Saturday, preparing the camp programme, which will be a hummer. It will knock other years all in the shade right from the start and keep up the pace through the 14 days the boys will be under canvas. Applications are coming in well—better in fact than ever before. Mr. Hutchinson and the secretary make a trip to the camp on Thursday to spy out the land. The programme will be published in a few days, when the committee will complete its plans.

REV. J. BASTOW, M. A. TENDERED RESIGNATION

As Pastor of the Murray Street Baptist Church.

His Resignation was Accepted with Very Great Reluctance—Has Accepted a Call to Renfrew.

At the close of yesterday morning's service at the Murray street Baptist church there was an important meeting of the members of the congregation held, at which Rev. Mr. Bastow, M.A., tendered his resignation as pastor of the church.

Dr. Scott acted as chairman, and Mr. A. Martin, church clerk, read the following resignation, which intimated to the majority of the members of the congregation for the first time, that their pastor intended to leave them, and the intelligence was anything but pleasing:—

Peterborough, June 13th, 1904.

To the Murray Street Baptist Church:

My Dear Brethren,—Five years ago the first of last February, I began to work with you as your pastor. In many ways the Lord has richly blessed our united labours. I have constantly and earnestly sought to know the will of the Lord, as to how I could best serve you, and have honestly tried to do that will to the best of my ability. You must be the judges as to the value, wisdom and efficacy of that service.

The co-operation you have rendered me in this work I have highly prized. It has been a source of great good cheer to me.

You have, too, shown great kindness to Mrs. Bastow and myself in our personal relations to you, and a sweet friendship has sprung up between us, which will be warmly cherished as long as life lasts.

I feel now, however, that the strain of church work must be lightened and, therefore, a change to me is very desirable. A new field of almost any kind would give me a chance for the needful ease and recuperation.

A hearty and unanimous call has been extended to me to become the pastor of the Baptist church at Renfrew, Ont. It has been wholly unsought by me. I knew nothing whatever of them. None of them had ever seen me. So the call seems to me specially to come from God. I accepted the call last Friday.

I therefore now offer you my resignation. I would like to be released from duty here July 31st, if that will suit your convenience. That would make my time of service here just five and one half years.

I am very desirous that the break in the pastorate may not in the least interfere with the unity and prosperity of the church.

That the richest of heaven's blessings may rest upon you all, and that you be divinely guided in the selection of a spiritual leader, and that the Great Shepherd and Bishop of our souls may at last gather us all into the Heavenly fold, is the earnest prayer of

Your affectionate Brother in Christ,
JONATHAN BASTOW.

As Mr. Bastow had already accepted a call to the Baptist church at Renfrew it was felt by the congregation that they could not do otherwise than accept his resignation, and it was with very great reluctance that it was accepted. Feeling reference to the sincere regret felt by all over the severance as pastor, was made by a number of the members.

The service rendered by Rev. Mr. Bastow has been whole-hearted, and in all branches of the church great progress has been made.

Reference was also made regarding Mrs. Bastow, who has been an earnest, zealous and active worker, being assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, and her removal from town will leave a gap that will be hard to fill.

The church at Renfrew is a much smaller one than Murray street, and the salary will be considerably less. The call, however, is very hearty and unanimous, and the town is growing and very encouraging for Christian work.

Rev. Mr. Bastow is confidently expecting to lead the church forward in large and aggressive work. He will, undoubtedly, throw his whole heart into it, and he will have every reason to expect rich results. The church at Renfrew promises him their earnest co-operation.

The departure of Rev. Mr. Bastow from Peterborough will be regretted by none more keenly than by the ministers of the other churches in town, each of whom has entertained the kindliest feelings for him, and on every occasion when any of the town ministers occupied the pulpit of the Murray street church reference was made to the cordiality existing between them and Mr. Bastow. He will leave town with the heartiest wishes for success from the members of the Ministerial Association.

He has always been highly appreciated by all the other churches whenever he has appeared in their pulpits.

TWO WEEKS MISSION WAS CONCLUDED

Crowded Congregations at St. Peter's Cathedral.

Special Lecture for Non-Catholics this Evening to Which all are Invited.

For the past two weeks a very successful mission has been going on at St. Peter's Cathedral, beginning on May 29th. The first week was for women and last week for men. The services have been conducted by Rev. Hubert J. Zilles, Superior, assisted by Rev. Fathers Feeney and Connolly, all of Saratoga Springs, N. Y. During the first week, there was a special three days' mission for children over 10 years of age and about 500 children were in attendance. In the same week fully 1,500 women attended night and day, this number including about 750 young women over 15 years of age, about two-thirds of this number attended the early morning services at five o'clock, and the remainder were present at 8.30 o'clock, while all attended in the evening and all received the sacraments.

On Saturday evening of the first week there was a procession of about 90 little girls dressed in white; the baptismal vows were renewed and a special shrine erected in honour of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the shrine being handsomely decorated with gifts of the parishoners. The object of the procession and shrine was to impress upon the children the importance of the exemplary virtues of the Blessed Virgin. A solemn dedication of all present to the Blessed Virgin also took place at this service. On Sunday afternoon, the solemn closing of the Women's Mission took place at which the blessing of Pope Pius X was imparted.

At 7.30 o'clock on Sunday evening, the Men's Mission began. There was a large congregation present including about 1,200 men. The men's service like those of the previous week were in every way most successful and fraught with good results. About 900 attended the early morning service at 5 o'clock, while about 300 were present at 8 o'clock, and all in the evening. Persons came from a distance of 12 and even 18 miles to attend these services. On Saturday evening there was a dedicatory service for men in honour of the Blessed Virgin at which a special shrine was erected under the auspices of the men, and a procession by the little boys, the object being to impress upon boys the purity of the Blessed Virgin, and to induce them to emulate her exemplary life and especially her great purity of heart. Since she is the embodiment of all womanly virtues, when they have a love for the Mother of God and for those virtues which she possesses in such an eminent degree, it naturally follows that they will have a great respect and deference for women.

The men's mission closed last evening.

This morning a special service for all the deceased members of the parish was held when there was Requiem High Mass and a lecture on Purgatory.

THIS EVENING.

This evening there will be a special lecture for non-Catholics and denominations of all creeds are kindly invited. The service, like all the preceding ones, will be conducted in a kindly spirit without controversy and the attitude of the Catholic Church towards the world at large will be explained and an endeavour made to bring about cordial relationship and friendship among all classes. A question box will be placed at the rear of the church and any one in town is at liberty to place a question relating to Catholic teaching and doctrines which will be answered on the same evening. The lecture and all seats are free.

ITALIAN WAS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Charged With Taking part in a Stabbing Affray.

At the police court this morning, the four Italians charged with taking part in a stabbing affray on the evening of Victoria Day, appeared before Magistrate Dumble.

The evidence was taken in the case of Fidele Giacoma, who was committed for trial and the same evidence will be made use of against two others, Tamboline and Scatalena. There was practically no evidence against the fourth man, who appeared at four o'clock this afternoon to have his case investigated.

The first witness was Robert Fox, who stated that he was in Dunn's Hotel on the evening of Victoria Day, with W. Ball. There were three Italians there who became involved in a quarrel with Ball, and the witness interfered on the latter's behalf and was struck several blows before getting away. This was between 8 and 9 o'clock. A few minutes later he met six or seven Italians at the corner of Simcoe and George street, and one caught him by the arm, and hit him, as did some of the others. He managed to escape and saw no more of the party.

Mr. Dunn recognised Tamboline and Scatalene as two of the Italians in the hotel that night.

Jos. Grey, while standing at the corner of Simcoe and George street, saw a bunch of Italians walking quickly up George. He saw three or four boys coming down the street, and noticed a man lying on the sidewalk. The Italians chased the boys a short distance, and turning around walked past the man lying on the sidewalk, overtook another man and started to punch him. The witness went to his assistance and got a jab on the left arm, but could not see by whom he was stabbed. He did not know he was injured until a few minutes afterwards, when he noticed the blood on his hand. He understood from Baker that Sheridan was attacked, and he interfered thinking Sheridan would be killed.

Harry Baker was going south on George street with two companions, and met several excited Italians who were under the influence of liquor. He recognized Tamboline and Scataline. The former walked up to a young man named Delaney, who was standing in Sutcliffe's doorway and hit him a blow in the face, knocking him senseless. The witness was surrounded by the Italians and after he had been struck in the eye he knocked one of his assailants down. Scatalene caught him and bit his finger. Baker was hit several times in the scuffle but finally got free.

Fred Baylis was with Baker and gave evidence of a somewhat similar nature. He picked up Delaney who was unconscious. He recognised Tamboline and Scatalene and saw the latter waving a knife in a furious manner, but did not see him stab anyone with it.

Jas. Long was in company with the two preceeding witnesses. He was struck by the Italians and saw Scatalene with something in his hand which looked like a knife.

Chas. Mulligan, while on the corner of Simcoe and George street, saw several Italians make a dash for Richard Fox, but could not recognize any of those in Court as being in the party.

L. Patterson was coming down George street and saw two Italians whom he recognised as Tambolini and Scatalene chasing Fox. He afterwards saw the former strike young Delaney, and the witness and another one present picked him up and carried him around the corner of Simcoe street and saw no more of the trouble.

Robert Sheridan, the next witness, stated that he was crossing Simcoe street at George street when he noticed several Italians crossing George street a short distance ahead of him. They started to run after Fox, Tambolini and Scatalene being in advance. He did not see anyone strike Delaney whom he saw lying on the sidewalk, but was told by Fred Foy who was with him, that Tambolini had struck Delaney. Foy and another young man went to pick up Delaney and Giacoma, came up to the witness and struck him with his fist. The witness returned the compliment and several Italians attacked him at once. He recognized Scataline and Giacoma among his assailants. His coat had been pulled over his head so that he could not see and when he succeeded in getting his head free again he was clinched with Giacoma, who gave him a swing and he fell in front of Sutcliffe's door. When he got on his feet again he saw blood running down his leg, which began to feel numb. He did not know by whom or when he was stabbed. He was stabbed on the thigh, the cut being about four inches long.

The Magistrate concluded that there was sufficient evidence to commit Giacoma for trial. As the witnesses in the cases against Tambolini and Scatalene were the same as those in the case against Giacoma, their evidence was not taken again this afternoon.

EARL SCHWEIR STILL IN JAIL.

Children's Aid Society has not yet Obtained Possession of Him.

Society Negotiating with Attorney General and Mr. Kelso—Hope to Save the Child.

The officers of the Children's Aid Society have not been successful in obtaining possession of the boy Schweir, who is still in jail. This little chap of nine years of age was arrested and taken to the Police Court, charged with being a horse thief. His parents did not know that he was under arrest, or that he had returned to town. The Children's Aid Society received no notice that the child would be tried, and counsel were not present to protect his interests.

The Agent of the Society who was present, was informed that the case would be adjourned and not disposed of that night. The child was asked to elect whether he would be would be tried summarily or by jury, and having elected to be tried summarily, he put in a plea of "Guilty," to the charge of horse stealing, without having any opportunity of consulting any of his friends or relatives or the Counsel for the Children's Aid Society, whose duty it is to advise the children in all such cases.

Having pleaded guilty, he was sentenced to a term in the Industrial School not exceeding five years. He was then placed in the jail, and is still in jail. The Children's Aid Society have communicated with the Attorney General and Mr. Kelso the Provincial Officer, and are determined that this child must be saved if possible, according to the well known and successful methods adopted by the Society, through their foster homes.

The constable who arrested the youthful prisoner and secured his conviction, as a horse thief, is entitled to a reward of twenty dollars, under the county bylaw. The above facts are supplied by the Secretary of the Children's Aid Society.

FUNERAL OF LATE MRS. JOHN DELANEY

Took Place at St. Peters Cathedral and was Largely Attended.

Requiem High Mass was Chanted by Rev. Father McColl—Many Prominent Citizens Attended.

The bell tolled at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning in remembrance of the sad fatality which occurred on Friday last. The funeral of the late Mrs. John Delaney took place at St. Peter's Cathedral at 9.30 a.m., and was very largely attended, many hundreds of the friends of the deceased lady gathering to show their respect for the departed and sympathy with the bereaved members of the family.

The funeral cortege walked slowly to St. Peter's Cathedral, followed by a concourse of sorrowing friends, where requiem High Mass was chanted by Rev. Father McColl, while Rev. Father O'Brien acted as deacon, and Rev. Father Galvin as sub-deacon, after which the Rector delivered a very eloquent sermon. The remains were then conveyed to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

The chief mourners, who had travelled a long distance to pay their last respects, were Dr. Wm. Delaney, of Naugatuck, Conn.; John and William of Denver, Col.; Mrs. (Dr) Ward, of Montreal; and many other prominent citizens. Hundreds called at the residence of the family on Downie street to express their profound sympathy. In religion she was a staunch Roman Catholic, ever ready to lend a helping hand, and very many will regret her removal from our midst.

The distinguished and prominent gentlemen who acted as pall-bearers were Messrs. H. LeBrun, J. Moloney, D. O'Connell, B. Morrow, C. Young, and Thos. Kelly.

A large number of beautiful floral tributes were received:—From Mr. and Mrs. H. LeBrun, cross; Mrs. C. B. McAllister, sheaf carnations; members of Chorus Class of Mrs. W. J. Morrow, basket; pupils of Mrs. W. J. Morrow, wreath; family, pillow and cross; Miss Rickey, carnations; Mr. and Mrs. D. O'Connell, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. B. Morrow, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith, Montreal, a wreath; Mrs. Hudson, cut flowers; Miss McGill, roses; friends of Miss Alice Delaney, cross; little girls, cut flowers, and many others.

Mrs. John Delaney was born in Ballingaing, Ireland, in 1829, coming to this country with her husband, John Delaney, who predeceased her in February, 1902. The deceased lady was highly respected by all who knew her. She was of a kind disposition, and a good mother. Four daughters and three sons are left to mourn her loss.

Knights of Maccabee's Special Notice.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Peterborough Baseball Team Won from Bowmanville—Other Sporting News of Local Character.

PETERBOROUGH WON FROM BOWMANVILLE.

First Home Midland League Baseball Game on Saturday.

Score was 14-8—Game was Very Close Until 8th Innings—Some Fine Batting and Brilliant Fielding.

Peterborough 14, Bowmanville 8. This was the result of the first home game in the Midland Baseball League on Saturday afternoon. The contest, which was one full of excitement, was witnessed by about 1,000 fans, who had plenty of opportunity to give vent to their joyous feelings, and the rooting was vigorous from start to finish. The game was always in doubt until the 8th innings, when a batting streak, aided by a few costly errors, gave the winners five runs and clinched the game. And then the crowd did yell. More like this, Y-E-L-L.

The game was a most interesting one to witness, and although the errors on both sides were like wedding presents, both numerous and costly, there was all kinds of good batting, and snappy, and at times, sensational fielding. The style of play improved as the game progressed. Both pitchers were batted somewhat freely but each pitched steady ball. Hooper, Bowmanville's slab artist, is playing for the first time in the Midland League, and he gives promise of developing into a star. He had perfect control, good speed and curves, and though batted hard in spots, did good work. Taylor, the locals' new curve dispenser, created a favourable impression, and though somewhat wild, pitched nice ball, and the fans think he will do. He fielded his position in fine shape.

AN EXPLANATION OF IT.

Bowmanville went first to bat. E. Weekes fouled to Graham, who made a pretty catch. Wilcox grounded to Taylor, and Osborne fanned the air. The locals started right in and Sheridan beat out one in front of the plate. Graham laid down a neat bunt and beat it out, while Lamont sacrificed. Taylor missed three, but Weekes dropped the ball, and Sheridan crossed the plate. Whitecroft made a sacrifice and Graham scored. Simpson's fine swat for three sacks scored. Taylor and Waram struck out.

Bowmanville got busy in the second. Williams got four wide ones, and stole second, and scored on Hooper's two-base hit. Edick, with two strikes on him, banged out a two-bagger to left, and Hooper trotted home. Martyn fanned, and G. Weekes died to Fitzpatrick. And Edick scored on a passed ball. Lamont threw Lake' grounder wide to first and scored on G. Weeke's fly to centre, which Fitzpatrick misjudged. Wilcox grounded to Taylor. In the locals' half Fitzpatrick singled over second, and went to second on Pillings' drive, which Hooper could not handle. Sheridan's hit scored; Fitz and Pilling scored on Wilcox's error. Lamont hit to second and was thrown out, and by very dumb base running both Sheridan and Graham were caught between the bases, a triple play being made.

In the third Osborne led off with a hit, but was forced at second on Williams' grounder to Taylor. Williams stole second and third, while Hooper was striking out, and scored on a single by Edick. Martyn went out, by the Whitecroft to Pilling route. For the locals Taylor fanned. Whitecroft hit a grounder to Osborne, and Simpson's single to left was wasted, as Waram grounded to Hooper.

In the fourth G. Weekes reached first on Lamont's error, but was caught stealing second. Waram made a beautiful catch of Gates' long fly. E. Weekes got a charity, but Wilcox grounded to Taylor. For the Peterboroughs Fitzpatrick flew out to Edick, Pilling singled to left but was forced at second by Sheridan's hit to Hooper. Graham got to first on Martyn's error, but Lamont grounded to Williams.

In the fifth Osborne hit a grounder to Sheridan, and Williams hit a fly to the same player, and Hooper hit a grounder at him, but three in a row was too much for "Dooley," who fumbled the ball. Hooper scored on Edick's corking smash for a trio of sacks, but Martyn hit one to Sheridan and died at first. The locals were out in short order. Taylor hit one to Osborne, Whitecroft singled and stole second, but was doubled up on Simpson's fly to Edick.

In the next Simpson made a fine running catch of G. Weekes' skyscraper. Gate grounded to Lamont, and Weekes was thrown out at first by Graham.

The locals got two runs after Wareham had fouled to the catcher and Fitzpatrick had mistaken the atmosphere for the ball. Pilling singled over short; Sheridan smashed a two bagger to the right field fence and the former scored on Graham's grasser to Martyn, who made a wild throw and Sheridan scored also. Lamonte struck out.

In the seventh a single by Wilcox, a base on balls to Osborne, an error by Wareham who dropped William's fly, filled the bags. Hooper's hit to Lamonte scored Wilcox, but forced Williams at second. Edick went out on a grounder to Taylor, and Lamonte made a sensational one-handed catch of Martyn's line drive. For the homesters, Taylor flew to left, Whitecroft cracked out the longest hit of the day, a three-bagger to deep left centre. Williams dropped Simpson's fly and "Whitie" scored; the former went to third on a wild throw and scored on Wareham's out on a grounder to Martyn. Fitzpatrick was out on a hit to short.

In the eighth, G. Weeks flew to Lamonte, Gate fanned and Taylor made a great stop of E. Weeks' grounder. There were "doins" in the second half. Pilling started the fun by tracking out a single into right garden. Sheridan pushed the ball over second and Graham sacrificed them each up a peg. Both scored on Lamonte's drive to right field Osborne fumbled Taylor's hit and Whitecroft flew to centre. Simpson swatted out a hot single, scoring Lamonte and Taylor. Wareham hit to Martyn who threw the spheroid over Williams' cranium and Simpson crossed the plate. Fitzpatrick struck out and it was all over for the locals.

In the ninth, Wilcox hit to Lamonte who made a fine pick-up and throw. Whitecroft made a great catch of Osborne's fly, but a moment later fumbled Williams' nasty grounder. Hooper's single sent Williams home. Edick ended the game with a grounder to Taylor.

The teams were:—

Bowmanville—E. Weeks, c; Wilcox, 2b; Osborne, 3b; Williams, 1b; Hooper, p; Edick, lf; Martyn, ss; G. Weeks, rf; Gate, cf.

Peterborough—Sheridan, 3b; Graham, c; Lamonte, ss; Taylor, p; Whitecroft, 2b; Simpson, rf; Wareham, lf; Fitzpatrick, cf; Pilling, 1b.

Rosevear of Port Hope, gave good satisfaction as umpire.

Score by innings:—

Peterborough ... ...32000225x—14
Bowmanville ... ...04101010 1— 8

Struck out by Hooper 5; by Taylor 4. Bases on balls by Taylor 8.

HEARD ON THE STAND.

Edick batted well for the visitors.

"Dooley" Sheridan played good ball at third.

Each of the outfielders made pretty running catches.

Taylor fielded his position perfectly, handling several warm grounders.

A decided improvement on the form displayed on the previous Saturday.

The visitors should not have made that double play in the second. It was bad base running.

There was a marked improvement in the hitting of the homesters. May they keep on improving.

The management is deserving of credit for the manner in which the crowd was kept off the field.

The visitors were a gentlemanly lot of players and will always be welcomed back to Peterborough.

Manager Morris one of the Bowmanville old stand-bys, was not playing owing to an injured ankle.

Seldom has the crowd become as enthusiastic as on Saturday. Both sides were cheered for their good work.

Simpson batted like a veteran, cracking out a triple and two beautiful singles, driving four men over the pan.

The game was a little late in starting owing to the football game being delayed. In future there will be no preliminary game.

Wilcox of the visitors was dubbed "Grandpa." He has been in the game for many years and is still capable of doing good work.

Whitecroft's catch of Osborne's line drive in the 9th was a brilliant piece of work. "Whittie" did good service around second throughout the game.

The boys' next game is in Bowmanville on the 25th. Repeat the dose them, and do likewise to Lindsay here on Dominion Day.

Lamonte's one-handed catch in the seventh, shutting out a sure run, was a sensational piece of fielding. "Reddy" was cheered to the echo.

Y. M. C. A. TIED WITH LOCUST HILL.

Each Team Scored One Goal in Saturday's Match.

Semi-Final for Midland League Championship—Large Crowd Saw Interesting Contest.

After battling for one hour beneath the blazing sun on Saturday afternoon at the Murray street grounds the champion Y. M. C. A. Football team played a tie game with the Locust Hill bunch. The former won District No. 2 without playing a game and Locust Hill did likewise in District No. 6, so that it was the first league game for both teams. The match was not a brilliant exhibition of football, but, nevertheless, was well contested, and interesting at all stages. On the form displayed on Saturday, Locust Hill should win in the return game on their home grounds, but they will have to work. They had all the best of the initial half and had the ball about the "Y" goal constantly, but in the second period things were reversed somewhat, the "Y" showing up in much better form and having the best of the argument.

The game was of a gentlemanly nature and though the checking was hard, rough play was pleasantly absent.

The Y.M.C.A. team was considerably stronger than that which has represented the team in its exhibition games, the forward line being much strengthened by the addition of Hall and Campbell. The forwards kept their places well and combined in fair shape. The defence had difficulty in holding the speedy visiting forwards and could stand being strengthened in spots. McFadden in goal handled some difficult shots and cleared nicely. Morgan was the star of the eleven and his good work saved the team from defeat time and again. His checking and kicking were always effective. Shortell also played well and frequently relieved danger by a long punt. McDonald was the star of the half-back line, playing a splendid game, working like a Trojan from start to finish. Cameron and Roberts played a hard game and checked well. On the forward line Hall at centre put up an excellent game though he had not many opportunities to shine. Campbell at outside left was as fast and sure as ever, while Noble played a good game at inside left. Boyle and Sayles were quite effective on right wing. In the second half, the boys got real busy and made things decidedly interesting for the visitors.

The Locust Hill bunch was a husky one and one which knew a few things about football and how to play it. The defence kicked splendidly, while the forwards were fast, handled the ball cleanly and played a nice combination. In shooting the team was somewhat deficient.

The day was an exceedingly warm one for football but the players nevertheless stood the pace well and were going fast at the close. Several hundred spectators witnessed the event, including a large contingent of Locust Hill sympathisers who made themselves heard throughout the conflict.

The line up was:—

Locust Hill.		Peterborough.
	Goal.
McKay		McFadden
	Backs.
Leyman		Morgan
P. Stafford		Shortell
	Half-backs.
W. Reesor		Cameron
Robinson		Roberts
H. Stafford		McDonald
	Forwards.
Stiner		Boyle
N. Reesor		Sayles
E. Maxwell		Hall
Cowie		Noble
W. Maxwell		Campbell

Referee—R. Parse, of Norwood.

For the greater part of the first half the ball was in the vicinity of the "Y" goal. Morgan did some fine playing in front of the flags, frequently spoiling what looked like sure scores. After about 20 minutes' play, the visitors scored on a foul a short distance from the goal. The locals then played better and made several nice rushes, but could not pass the strong defence. At half time the score was 1—0.

The "Y" boys played much faster in the second period, making several determined attacks and scores were narrowly averted on many occasions. But when the visitors' forward line got started they made things interesting and on one occasion when the local defence were drawn out. The forward line was inside the fence and had no one but McFadden to pass, but Cowie in some way missed the shot with no one to check him. After twenty minutes' play McDonald started a fine rush which Leyman checked, but Hall saw an opening and booted the leather through, tying the score. Both teams worked desperately to win out but time was called with the tally 1—1.

GOAL KICKS.

Campbell was very effective on left wing.

The referee gave satisfaction to both teams.

The return game will be played on Saturday.

George Morgan is playing great ball this year.

The visiting forwards stuck to their places well.

The teams were about evenly matched in weight.

Both forward lines were strong on Saturday. The visitors' defence was better balanced.

THE NEVERMORE.

Look in my face, my name is Might Have Been.
I am also called Mrs. No More, Too Late, Farewell."
Into thine ear I hold the dead seashell
Cast up thy Life's foam-crested feet between;
Unto thine eyes the glass where it is seen
Which had Life's form and Love's, but by my spell
Is now a shaken shadow, intolerable,
Of Ultimate things unuttered the frail screen.

Mark me, how still I am! But should there dart
One moment thru my soul the soft surprise

Then shalt thou see me smile, and turn apart
Thy visage to mine ambush at thy heart

PUBLIC HOUSE TRUST.

Some Light on the Latest Unique Movement in England.

A recent number of The London Daily Chronicle devoted considerable space to a presentation of the progress of the Public House Trust movement. It points out that the chief aims of the movement, it may be recalled, are to promote temperance by the conversion of the public house from a mere drinking bar into a genuine house of refreshment, and, secondly, to enable licensing magistrates to secure that all new licenses, with their high monopoly values, shall be administered for the public good. With these ends in view the association has been forming a trust in every county throughout the country, and is open to acquire existing licensed houses or to manage them for their owners. The leading principle of them all is the elimination of personal profit from liquor-selling; the dividend is limited to five per cent. on the subscribed capital, and the balance is handed over to the central body for objects of public benefit.

It appears from the third annual report that at the end of 1903 the companies formed in the United Kingdom numbered forty-two, and although the financial statement showed a debit balance of £412, with a further contingent liability of £416, there is reason to believe that the indebtedness will soon be wiped off, for the membership has shown a regular increase from 406 in 1901 to 820 on March 1 of this year.

The registered companies have a subscribed capital of over £300,000, but in addition committees have been appointed in other centres to form new ones. In 1903 no fewer than forty-eight licensed houses—or nearly one a week—were secured, the total now being 130.

Further, the promises of landowners to hand over to the trust companies of their respective counties the licensed houses on their estates, on the expiration of current leases, warrant the anticipation that the number of licensed houses that will come under trust management from this source alone will in the near future more than double the number of those already secured.

In order to give additional assistance to the local companies the executive determined to send an expert from time to time on a tour of inspection. In the first instance they accepted an offer from Colonel Crauford, who went through a greater part of England to Scotland last September. Here are one of two extracts from his report:

Of a house beyond the border, in Fifeshire, the Colonel writes:

"The first thing I noticed on entering the village was the splendid bowling green, costing over £1,200, provided out of the profits of the public house. A crowd of players and lookers-on were collected there. It is a well-planned, well-kept house, frequented by a better class of pitmen. The local shareholders are keen on the point of the temperance conduct of the house; the Committee of Management consists of honest, right-minded men, and the Kelty experiment appears to me to be a very loyal attempt towards betterment. There are four other public houses in Kelty. They have all levelled up both as to quality and conduct since the trust house opened."

Again, of a trust house near Leeds, he remarks approvingly:

"The house was in former times very rowdy, and char-a-bancs full of Leeds people, drunk and uproarious, used to pull up there. When char-a-bancs come now the manager goes outside, and if he sees that they bring 'undesirables' he sends them away. A respectable class of regular customers, such as farmers, come in the evening. There is also a regular workingman clientele in the tap-room. Trouble with these occurred at first, and many left, but they are now accustomed to the new conditions, and like them. Amongst excursionists and the better class of villagers the house is getting more popular every day. Workingmen drop in constantly for a pint of tea or coffee instead of beer."

Working in unison with the trust is the People's Refreshment House Association, which has thirty-three houses under its management, including the Waterman's Arms, Southwark, which was opened in January last. As to the success of this venture the association's report states:

"About 120 meals were served on the day of opening, and 200 on the following day. No fewer than thirty breakfasts were served on the third day to workmen alone, but the chief demand will probably be for cheap dinners, which can be obtained for 6d., including cut from the joint, vegetable, bread and sweets. On January 15, the first complete day, the sale of food and non-intoxicants exceeded the sale of alcoholics by £1. This is a good beginning."

Irish Needlework in Great Demand.

Ireland is having its inning this year, for all the French dressmakers are using what is called "broderie anglaise," of Irish needlework, says The London Graphic. Whole gowns are made of it, sleeves and bodices trimmed with it, and it will appear in all the freshest and most spring-like dresses.

A CROWN OF HONOR.

How Senator Wark, the World's Oldest Legislator, Regards Old Age—Description of Senate's Presentation.

The great Shakespeare's word is not for a long life but for a full one. The mercurial Gratiano, into whose mouth he puts the sentiments of youth and hot blood, shudders in lively English at the prospect of viewing with hollow eye and wrinkled brow an age of poverty. It is just what we would expect of an irresponsible young person with Renaissance ideas. When the man loses his fire and pleasure its zest, what is the use of dragging out an existence?

This is the true pagan outlook; but Senator Wark knows that old age is a crown of honor, writes H. F. G. in The Toronto Star. When the Senate assembled on the 28th April to pay reverence to his hundred years it received him standing, as it would a King or a Governor-General. In fact, it did a little better than it would for His Excellency, for it remained standing all through the little ceremony, and Senator Wark remained sitting. The proceedings, together with the address and the speeches that were made, will be recorded in the journals of the Senate; the address will be engrossed and handed over to the venerable Senator; and his portrait in oils, which was the occasion of the function, will be hung in the corridors of the Red Chamber along with the Fathers of Confederation and the high personages of Parliamentary history.

The Senator's Career.

The address, which was read by Speaker Power, referred, of course, to historical vicissitudes in the long life journey—born when the great William Pitt was closing his career, a child of eleven years when the battle of Waterloo was fought, left Ireland before Catholic emancipation was accomplished or the Reform Bill passed, settled in New Brunswick when it was still a Crown colony, took an active part in the struggle for representative Government; entered the Upper Chamber of New Brunswick four years before the Crimean war; called to the Canadian Senate at a mature age; and now the only survivor of the Confederation Senators. After mentioning Mr. Wark's efforts in respect of interprovincial free trade—the forerunner of Confederation—and paying a compliment to his tolerance and public spirit, the address concluded with a sentence of true eloquence: "We all unite in the hope that the Almighty may be pleased to prolong for years a life which throughout has been lived with a continual consciousness of His divine oversight."

The Senator's Belief.

Senator Wark responded in a little speech, most happily phrased. His words were scarcely audible, but his friends protested that there was not a sign of weakness. He had spoken just that way twenty years ago. Toward the end of his remarks his eyes filled with tears and his voice faltered. There was a Bible on the table beside him, and the sight of the Good Book seemed to hearten him. His formal expression of thanks glided instinctively into a confession of faith and a prayer. What follows might almost be liturgical language. "I join with you most cordially in the belief that God exercises a wise providence over the affairs of this world, and especially over the affairs of this Empire, that He intends to make it a powerful, populous and prosperous Empire, united under our gracious Sovereign in a policy of peace, and that it will be greatly blessed under His guidance in bringing about the happy time when the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea."

There you have it. After one hundred years on this troublous and bewildered earth, Senator Wark believes in God, the British Empire, and universal peace. The longer we live the wiser we get.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden presented the congratulations of the Commons, and Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Mr. Scott those of the Senate. After which there was a handshaking and good wishes. Of course, there were some people who would not agree that one hundred years was a wonderful record.

Some Other Ones.

"Before I left home," said Dr. Kendall of Cape Breton, "I saw a man three years older than he is chasing a flock of geese. His name is Malcolm McMillan, and he had a son who died of old age."

"They tell me," said a Quebec member, "that the Senator has never taken a drink in his hundred years. I have no doubt the time seemed long."

"And he hasn't smoked either," this from a Westerner. "But tobacco doesn't count. I know an Indian one hundred and seven years of age, and he's just black with it. Kind of cured him, you know, so that he'll keep forever."

"Well," commented an Ontario man, "I'd hate to wait a hundred years just to get an oil painting that was taken away from me the next minute. Why, I knew a man that worked only five years in one place, and he got a solid silver dinner service when he left."

"Come to think of it," said another, "Methusalah has him skinned to death. You remember how that promising career was cut short by drowning at the age of nine hundred and sixty. He might have been living now if he had kept on good terms with Noah."

"Still, a hundred years is a good stunt," remarked a New Brunswicker. "Giving Divine Providence all the credit that is due, I wonder how Wark did it?"

"I'll tell you," said the man who knows everything. "An even temper, a clear conscience, and a good digestion."

But if Senator Wark's word is to be taken, Divine Providence had most to do with it.

Consoling.

"There ain't no fish in there, son."

"Thanks. I know it. But dis is better 'n goin' to school, ain't it?"—San Francisco Examiner.

Wanted the Mortgage Himself.

W. Y. Morgan of Kansas City tells of a Swede who came from Dakota to Kansas and wanted to buy a farm. The land agent took him around, and he finally found what he wanted and said, "Ay tak des one." Then he went back to town, and the agent was making out the papers.

"How do you want to pay for it?" he asked.

"Ay pay all. Ay hav da money."

"All right. I'll make out the deed," said the agent.

"No," said Ole Olsen. "Ay no want deed."

"Yes, you do," argued the agent. "You pay the money, and you get the deed."

"No, no," said the Swede earnestly. "Ay no want deed. Ay had deed oop in Dakoty. Ay pay man de money. Ha gif ma deed. Ay gif heem mortgage. Ay tak land. By en by he get land, he get deed, he haf da money. Dees time Ay no want deed. Ay want mortgage. Ay pay da money. You gif ma mortgage."—Louisville Herald.

SCOTLAND'S CROWN.

The Precious Relic Still Kept in the Castle of Edinburgh.

A once precious diadem, which is now only a historic relic of much interest, is the ancient crown of the Scotch kings kept in the castle of Edinburgh. It is supposed to have been made for Robert Bruce and is formed of two circles of gold, the upper and narrowest circle being surmounted by a row of crosses and gem incrusted imitation flowers. The lower ring, the headband proper, is adorned from end to end of the golden band with large precious stones of different kinds, mostly in their rough, unpolished state. Above rise two arches of gold, which unite and are surmounted with the historic "cross and ball." Even when the Stuarts became kings of England they went to the trouble of going to Scotland to seat themselves for a few moments upon the celebrated "stone of scone" and to have King Bruce's diadem pressed upon their royal heads.

Charles I. declared his intention of removing Scotland's famous relic to London so that such ceremonies could be carried out at home, but the sturdy Scots soon convinced him that such a proceeding would be an infringement upon their rights, so the king had to go to Edinburgh, as others had done before. The wife of a preacher of the name of Granger once stole the Scotch crown and the other royal insignia, this in 1652 or 1653. At the time of the restoration they were transferred to Charles II. They were returned to Edinburgh castle in 1707.

Rubber in Colorado.

As a rubber producing state Colorado is making a bid for the attention of the world. Within the last few months experiments with a certain species of sagebrush that grows wild over an immense mountainous area of the Rocky mountain commonwealth have proved that rubber of fine quality can be produced from the shrub. Several companies have been organized for the purpose of developing the new industry, and the hitherto despised weed will now be turned to practical use. Special machinery has been invented for the manufacture of the rubber, the construction of which will form still another industry for Colorado.

Chile and Her Nitrate.

It is a queer state of things that the national existence of a country should depend on one of that country's products, but this is the case in Chile, where nitrate of soda constitutes three-fourths of the export trade. An expert, in summing up the situation, says that at the present rate of consumption the supply of nitrate will be exhausted in twenty years and that then Chile's life as a nation must cease unless something that is now unexpected should occur.

CHILDREN HAD SKIN DISEASE

Itching so Bad They Would Tear Their Flesh—An Extraordinary Cure by

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Too many children are in agony from itching, burning skin disease.

Too many mothers are worn out by anxiety and loss of sleep in watching over their little ones who are tortured by such ailments.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is a prompt and positive cure for every form of itching, skin disease, and has proven its marvellous power in thousands of cases, similar to the one described below:—

Mrs. Louis McKay, Tiverton, Digby County, N.S., writes:—"My children were taken with an itching, burning skin disease and tore their flesh until it was sore, and their shirts would sometimes be wet with blood. The doctor didn't seem to know what ailed them, and could give no relief, so I began using Dr. Chase's Ointment. Wherever it was applied it did its work well and has entirely cured them of this horrible disease. They suffered so they could not sleep at night, and I think if it had lasted much longer I would have gone crazy from the anxiety and the loss of sleep. I cannot find words to praise Dr. Chase's Ointment enough for the good it has done my children, and hope others sufferers will try it."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 6

A LEGEND.

There comes to my mind a legend,
A thing I had half forgot,
And whether I read or dreamed it,
Ah! well it matters not.
It said, in heaven at twilight
A great bell softly swings,
And man may listen and hearken
To the wonderful music that rings,
If he puts from his heart's inner chamber
All passion, pain and strife;
Heartaches and weary longings
That throb in the pulses of life.
If he thrust from his soul all hatred;
All thoughts of wicked things,
He can hear in the holy twilight
How the bell of the angel rings,
I think there is in this legend,
If we open our eyes to see,
Somewhat of an inner meaning
My friend, for you and me.
So, then, let us ponder a little;
Let us look in our hearts and see
If the twilight bell of the angels
Can ring for you and me.

THE ANTICOSTI.

Successful Launching at Toronto—Designed for Gulf Light Service.

"Are you all ready?"

No reply.

Miss Grace Polson took a firmer grip upon the ribbon-decked bottle of wine and two sturdy workmen at bow and stern of the craft poised keen broad-axes above their heads.

"Let her go!"

The axes fell simultaneously, shearing three-inch manila cables, the key pieces were jerked out of the way, and the pudgy red hull commenced to move down the launching ways.

"I name thee Anticosti," said Miss Polson, as she heaved the bottle of champagne against the steel sides of the craft. There was a crash and a fizz, the boat gathered weigh, and with an awkward lurch plunged sideways over the edge of the dock and into the open slip. She went in with her bow a few feet ahead of her stern, heeled far over, came back with a run, then steadied, and rode ahead into the solid ice up the slip. A wall of water three feet high shot across the slip and rent the rotten ice for several hundred yards out into the bay.

Thus, "Anticosti," the second of the peculiarly modelled lightships the Polson Iron Works is building for the Dominion Government service in the Atlantic, was launched recently at the works at the foot of Frederick street. The launching, which was witnessed by several hundred workmen, a couple of score of visitors, and the usual corps of photographers, took place in a misty easterly gale.

Col. Anderson, chief engineer of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, represented the Government at the launching.

The Anticosti, which is an exact replica of "Lurcher 14," which was built here last year, and is now on her station in the Bay of Fundy, off the coast of Nova Scotia, is intended for service off the coast of the Island of Anticosti in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

These vessels present a somewhat strange and unique appearance to fresh water mariners. They have a large amount of freeboard and are sheered very high in the bows, so as to keep them dry when pitching into a head sea. They are fitted with two steel pole spars, and 50 feet above the spar deck are swung three powerful electric lamps on each spar. The lamps are for night marks, and the gallery surrounding the lamps for day marks. Each vessel is fitted with a large automatic swinging fog bell, and a fog siren, which is worked by compressed air. The vessel being moored in salt water far away from land, are fitted with fresh water tanks, having a capacity of 60,000 gallons. This amount of water is required for drinking purposes, and a reserve supply to make up the wastage of the machinery.

The general dimensions of the vessels are as follows:

Length over all	124 ft. 0 in.
Beam	28 ft. 0 in.
Depth from top of keel to spar deck	21 ft. 6 in.
Draft, fully loaded	11 ft. 6 in.

The vessels are of steel, and are provided with water-tight bulkheads, which will make them seaworthy in case of a collision.

Another strange feature in these vessels is the peculiar anchors used for mooring when out on their stations. These are known as "mushroom anchors," and in appearance exactly represent the vegetable from which they derive their name. There are three anchors to each boat, and each anchor weighs five thousand pounds.

The life-saving appliances are very complete, so as to allow the crew to go to the assistance of any vessel that may be in distress in the immediate vicinity.

These vessels have been constructed under the close inspection of Mr. Douglas Stevens, the well-known Government marine expert from Halifax.

Treatment of Wounds.

One sovereign remedy, where the wound is not too severe, is to simply tie it up in its own blood and not disturb it until it is healed. When a child I cut my cheek severely by falling upon an alder snag. Instead of closing the wound with disfiguring stitches, mother applied a plaster of egg salve made as follows: Beat the yolk of an egg with warm lard until well mixed. The wound healed rapidly and left but a slight scar. If a wound has been made by any poisonous, rusty iron or steel, inflammation may be allayed and

CHILL WINDS

Are the dread of those whose lungs are "weak." Some fortunate people can follow the summer as it goes southward, and escape the cold blasts of winter and the chill airs of spring. But for the majority of people this is impossible. Family cares and business obligations hold them fast.

"Weak" lungs are made strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the obstinate cough, heals the inflamed tissues, stops the hemorrhage, and restores the lost flesh to the emaciated body.

"I am a railroad agent," writes I. B. Hopkins, Esq., of Bentley, Osage Co., Kans., "and four years ago my work leaving me in a warm room and stepping out frequently into the cold air gave me bronchitis, which became chronic and deep seated. Doctors failed to reach my case and advised me to try a higher air, but, fortunately for me, a friend also advised me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and by the time I had taken the first bottle I was better, and after taking about four bottles my cough was entirely gone. I have found no necessity for seeking another climate."

Sometimes a dealer, tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines, will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery."

You get the People's Medical Adviser, the best medical work ever published, free by sending stamps, to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound volume, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

lockjaw, mortification, etc., often prevented by holding the wound over the smoke of burning wood previously saturated with sweet oil or lard. Flour bound upon a moderate cut will stop the bleeding.

Bound upon a scald or burn it excludes the air, and thus alleviates the pain.

When a large artery or vein has been severed, a bandage should immediately be tied between the wound and the heart in the former case, and on the other side from the heart in the latter.

Taking the Farmer Down.

A couple of individuals were recently gazing with admiration at a fine fat beast at a cattle show.

"I wonder what his weight might be?" observed one of them, who, as it happened, was a Cockney without any special knowledge.

"It's easy enough to guess well nigh it," said the other man, a stalwart farmer, looking with some contempt at his companion.

"Oh, well," said the Cockney, "I think I could guess as near as you can."

"Could ye, now?" roared the farmer. "Well, I'll bet ye a sovereign ye can't."

"Done!" returned the Cockney. "How much do you say?"

After a critical survey the farmer replied:

"A hundred and seventeen stone."

"Well," said the Cockney, "I'll say a hundred and seventeen stone, too. Now hand over the money."

"What d'ye mean."

"Well, I said I'd guess as near as you, and I've done so. I've guessed exactly the same."

And the bystanders taking his part, the bumptious farmer had to give him the money.—London Tit-Bits.

The Despised Left Hand.

The despised left hand makes good its claims in many cases to be the defter of the two. The fingers that touch and adjust with such nicety the strings of the violin are surely as cunning as those that move the bow. The hand that guides the reins and steers with exactness the horse through the crowded streets is quite as cunning as, one might say much more than, the hand that wields the whip. But great is fashion; unanswerable is theory.

It would appear that as life becomes more and more complex we are becoming more and more specialized, and the difference between our limits is encouraged rather than hindered by every screw made in Birmingham and every slap administered to the offending fingers that would dare to shake hands incorrectly.—Chambers' Journal.

Betrothals In Germany.

When a maiden is betrothed in Germany she is called "bride" by her sweetheart, who addresses her thus until it becomes time to call her "wife." Immediately upon betrothal the lovers exchange rings, which, if the course of true love runs smooth, are to be worn ever afterward until death parts them. The woman wears her betrothal ring on the third finger of her left hand until she is married, and then it is transferred to the third finger of her right hand. The husband continues to wear the ring just as the wife wore hers when she was a "bride," so that one can tell easily at a glance if a man be or be not mortgaged as to his affections.

The Snow Leopard.

In the highlands of central Asia lives the snow leopard, which never descends below the snow line of the mountains. Its color is a gray, inclining to buff. A few large dark spots show about the lower parts and a number of smaller ones congregate about the head and the neck. The back and the sides are marked with faded looking brown rings or rosettes. The comparatively enormous tail of the animal is fully as long as its body.

A Night Mare.

"Look here, you old fraud, that mare you sold me is blind as a bat."

"Well, well! Ain't it funny I never found that out? Ye see I allus used to drive her after dark, an' then she could see as good as any other hoss."

AT WINDSOR CASTLE.

Dining There With the King Contrasted With Dining With His Majesty at His Sandringham Home.

At Sandringham King Edward is a country gentleman, and his guests encounter nothing more elaborate in the way of ceremonial than is to be found in many a far less distinguished dwelling. But at Windsor His Majesty appears in the full-dress role of King and Emperor, surrounded by all the pomp and pageantry proper to such an exalted position. Consequently those who are summoned to Windsor in the course of a year see infinitely more of the splendour of Sovereign state than do the comparatively but highly-favored few who are honored with invitations to Sandringham.

If the person "commanded" to Windsor lives in London he will leave Paddington about 5.30 p.m., and find a royal carriage awaiting him at the other end of the journey. On arriving at the Castle he is received at the visitors' entrance by a page of the chamber, who conducts him to the apartments prepared for him. These are always spacious, well warmed, well lighted and eminently comfortably.

The dinner company begins to assemble in the grand corridor soon after eight o'clock. The public never see this gallery, which is a pity—for the public—because it is a noble piece of architecture, extending all round the quadrangle, and full of beautiful and interesting things Here is the Bible which General Gordon used all through the Chinese War. The hero's sister gave it to Queen Victoria after the tragedy of Khartoum, and to the day of her death the royal lady regarded it as one of her most precious treasures. Here, too, in another shrine of crystal and gold, is the Koran, found in the Madhi's tent after the avenging battle of Omdurman. It was in a very ragged and dilapidated condition when Kitchener presented it to Queen Victoria, but the wizards of the British Museum worked wonders upon it in the way of restoration. Dotted along the whole length of the gallery are cabinets of exquisite china, including a small collection of Rose du Barri that would set all the connoisseurs competing if ever it came into the market. Christie's would be likely to consider the auction poor indeed which failed to get a £25,000 bid for it. Portraits of Canning, Pitt, Beaconsfield, and many other eminent statesmen hang on the walls, and among the larger canvases is a fine painting of Queen Victoria's first council.

Punctually at 8.30 the King and Queen enter the corridor from their private apartments, say a few words of greeting, and lead the way to the state dining-room, where hangs the late Queen's portrait by Constant, for which King Edward gave £4,000. The dining-room is already peopled with a vast array of servants. There are as many footmen in state livery as there are diners, and quite a little army of pages, cellarmen and clerks of the kitchen. The latter carve at a side table, and fear themselves with quite imposing dignity while pursuing this very commonplace occupation. On ordinary occasions they wear plain black dress, with knee breeches, but when a state banquet is being given in honor of a foreign ruler, or to celebrate some special event, they appear in very rich uniforms.

One of the peculiar features of a Windsor Castle dinner is that every dish on the menu has the name of the man who cooked it attached, a fact that, no doubt, keeps up a healthy spirit of emulation in the Castle Kitchen.

Dinner lasts very little more than an hour at Windsor nowadays, for the King greatly dislikes a long sitting over the table. The Queen leaves the room with the other ladies. The King and gentlemen guests follow a few minutes later, and the whole company spend half an hour in the corridor, where coffee is served. During this half-hour Their Majesties make a point of conversing for a few minutes with each visitor. The rest of the evening is spent in the drawing-rooms, where there is plenty of good music and card-playing—notably bridge, of which both the King and Queen are very fond.

In Queen Victoria's time the "dine and sleep" guest saw nothing more of his Sovereign after, but other monarchs other manners, and the least distinguished visitor to Windsor can now count upon a few minutes with the King or Queen before leaving the Castle next morning. As a rule he is taken to the King's private sitting-room for this little valedictory interview, and if he has a drop of Irish blood in his veins he can scarcely fail to thrill with patriotic pride while there, for the furniture and decorations of the apartments are carried out in the true emerald green of the Emerald Isle.

Broke Up the Show.

Dramatic enterprise in Poland has received a grave shock. At a recent performance there scarcely had the two comic servitors started their excruciating business than a roar went up from the audience. Every one sneezed. The din was deafening. The curtain was rung down. The explanation is said to be that a lady, excluded from the society, had revenged herself by sprinkling the theater with a pungent powder.

Baking by Electricity.

A baker's oven heated by electricity is a novelty at Montauban, France. The heating elements, numbering twenty, are placed at the side or the interior, and heat is quickly applied and cut off at once, with a considerable saving of time. No heat is lost up the chimney, as the only opening is the door through which the bread is passed.

WILD DOGS OF ASIA.

Fierce Animals That Pursue and Kill Bears and Tigers.

The quality of courage possessed by hunting dogs of Asia appears in a marked difference of habit from that noticeable in all other carnivorous beasts. As a rule, each ferocious animal has its natural and favorite prey, which may vary in different localities, but is in each case the easiest and most profitable victim. Tigers, for instance, are cattle slayers or deer killers just as cattle or deer happen to be most abundant in their district.

Leopards prey on goats, sheep and, when they can get them, on tame dogs; wolves on sheep and cattle, stoats or rabbits and hares, and weasels on rats and mice. But, though the jungles which they visit abound in defenseless animals, the wild dog does not limit his attacks to these. The packs deliberately pursue and destroy both the black and Himalayan bears and the tigers, affording perhaps the only instance in which one carnivorous species deliberately sets itself to hunt down and destroy another. From their rarity, the uninhabited nature of the jungles which they haunt and their habit of hunting at night—which a probable suggestion makes the basis of the early legends of the demon hunter and "hellequin" at a time when the "red dogs" still remained in Europe—observations of their habits are rare.—London Spectator.

must win upon their merits. The International Dictionary has won a greater distinction upon its merits and is in more general use than any other work of its kind in the English language.

A. H. Sayce, LL.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: It is indeed a marvelous work; it is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we might expect to find in such a work, but also what few of us would ever have thought of looking for.

A supplement to the new edition has brought it fully up to date. I have been looking through the latter with a feeling of astonishment at its completeness, and the amount of labor that has been put into it.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR FARMER'S INSTITUTE

At Annual Meeting Held Saturday Afternoon.

Mr. R. Q. Dench Elected President—Members Appreciates Work of the Secretary-Treasurer.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, was held Saturday afternoon in the town council chamber.

In the absence of the President, R. M. Elliott, Vice-President, R. Q. Dench, occupied the chair.

The audience was very small considering the number of members and the importance of the occasion.

The chairman, after making a brief address, called on the secretary for the report of the Executive Committee, the Financial Statement and Auditors' Report, which on motion of G. W. Fitzgerald and H. C. Garbutt, were received and adopted.

Suggestions were then made as to the places where regular and supplementary meetings would be held next winter. Peterborough, afternoon, N. Monaghan evening of same day; Lakefield, two meetings, afternoon and evening; Supplementary meetings at 4th line Smith, Ennismore and Stewarts (Otonabee) two meetings each.

The election of officers was then taken up when some kindly references to the work of the retiring President, R. M. Elliott, were made by several of those present, all expressing for him good wishes and prosperity in his new office.

The following officers were then elected:—R. Q. Dench, President; H. C. Garbutt, Vice-President; Wm. Collins, Secretary-Treasurer; Directors,—Thos. Brown, G. W. Bennett, Jonathan Smith and T. M. Hunter, for N. Monaghan; Jas. Davidson, John Stothart, G. W. Mann, T. D. Young, Alex. McGregor, C. D. Moore, John McConkey, and Thos. T. Milburn for Smith; G. J. Galvin, F. E. Kline, for Lakefield; R. M. Elliott, G. W. Fitzgerald, R. H. Leary, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, for Peterborough, town; Paul Costillo, Wm. Bolster, Richard Nurse and J. N. Telford, for Ennismore; H. Hanbidge, John Deyell, Sandy Deyell, Sandy Matchett and H. R. Stewart, for Otonabee, (Stewart's settlement), Auditors,—Jos. Barnard and Jonathan Smith.

The thanks of the meeting was on motion tendered to the Secretary-Treasurer for the efficient manner in which the duties of his office had been discharged, and an advance of $5.00 made to the salary. This was acknowledged in a few remarks by the Secretary, after which the meeting adjourned.

A meeting of the enewly elected board was then held with President Dench in the chair.

On motion Mr. Collins was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer; also on motion the regular and supplementary meetings were to be held at the points suggested at former meeting.

Adjourned to call of President.

THE CHURCHES.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The services in St. Andrew's Church yesterday, conducted by Mr. Thos. Yellowlees, Toronto, were of a very helpful nature. Mr. Yellowlees is an eloquent and forceful speaker and his addresses were both thoroughly instructive. In the Morning he spoke on Sunday School work, in which the speaker is especially interested. The music during the day was exceptionally well rendered. In the evening the choir was assisted by Miss Mabel McCormack, soprano soloist of Broadway Tabernacle, Toronto, who possesses a powerful and well cultured voice. She sang "The Heavenly Dream" in an effective manner. The anthem "Seek Ye the Lord" was rendered with much expression, the tenor solo being taken by Sydney Glass in his usual very acceptable manner. The quartette sang "Even Me."

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

LATEST SPORT

BOWMANVILLE WON AT BRIDGENORTH

In a Midland League Football Game Saturday Afternoon.

Score was 2-1—A Brilliant Exhibition—Teams Very Evenly Matched—All Scoring in First Half.

In what was undoubtedly the best played game of football in the Midland League this season, the Bowmanville team, winners of their group, defeated the Bridgenorth team, winners of Group No. 3, at Bridgenorth, on Saturday afternoon. The match was a brilliant exhibition of clean, fast and scientific football between two teams which were very evenly matched. It was anybody's game from start to finish, and the large crowd of spectators saw the best exhibition of football in this section of the country for many a day.

The Bowmanville team won chiefly from the fact that they were better versed in the fine points of the game, being older and more experienced in the sport. The team has played together with but few changes for a number of years, and what they do not know about the game is hardly worth knowing. The Bridgenorth team were slightly faster, played nearly as well together, and were fully as good in kicking and checking, but the winners had more experience and took advantage of every opportunity, small as it may have been. In weight there was but little to choose.

From start to finish the game was brilliant. Each goal would be attacked in turn, and what looked like sure scores would be averted only by great work on the part of the backs, or clever work by the goalkeepers, each of whom played splendidly. The Bridgenorth man had more shots to stop, as the winners were more accurate in their shooting. On several occasions the losers would shoot a little wide and spoil good chances for scores. The game was of a most gentlemanly nature, and the referee's task was an easy one. Every man on the field played a star game, and it would be difficult to individualize. But special mention should be made of the work of Coones, Bridgenorth's centre half, who was in great form and his work was of the highest order. Inch was probably the most effective of the winners, playing a beautiful game at centre and scoring both goals.

It is only justice to the Bowmanville boys to state that their two regular backs, Kerslake and Beatlie, both brilliant players, were unable to play, thus weakening the defence materially, but these players will be on the line up in future games and with these players the Bowmanville boys should pretty nearly win out.

The teams were:—

Bowmanville.	Bridgenorth.
Goal.
James	Freeburn
Backs.
Baker	Forsythe
Moore	T. Cullen
Half Backs.
Wright	Scott
McCready	Coones
Morris	Brumwell
Forwards.
Slemon	N. Kelly
Devitt	B. Kelly
Inch	Mann
Freeland	Mann
Hunter	Jopling

Mr. P. Fitzgerald gave perfect satisfaction as referee.

Bridgenorth had the kick-off, but the Bowmanville forwards secured the ball and started a rush, but the home team worked the ball to the visitors' end, and the shot hit the goal post. The play was of the end-to-end variety, but fine defence work prevented scores. Finally a rush was made on the Bowmanville goal where a goal-kick gave the Bridgenorth forwards a chance to score and J. Cullen did the trick in fifteen minutes. Bowmanville then did some excellent work, and in seven minutes Inch tied the score by a fine shot. Five minutes later the visitors scored again, after a pretty rush, Inch doing the trick. Coones did some brilliant work in this half. The half time score was 2—1.

In the second half the play was even faster and both goal keepers had plenty to do. Bridgenorth scored in ten minutes, but it was from an offside pass. Towards the close the excitement was intense. The Bowmanville forwards made a beautiful rush and Freeburn had two hard shots to stop. The ball went to the other end where James had a goal kick. Back went the ball again, and two hot ones were sent at Freeburn, who was again equal to the occasion. The play was soon at Bowmanville's end again, where Bridgenorth got two corner kicks, but could not score, and a great game ended.

Bowmanville, 2.
Bridgenorth, 1.

The return game will be played in Bowmanville next Saturday.

LACROSSE.

On Thursday afternoon for the first time in a number of years Orillia and Peterborough will meet in a O.L.A. championship game here. In the early days the lacrosse teams representing these two towns played some pretty strenuous games, and those who saw the contests speak of them as being exciting periods in the history of the game in Peterborough.

This year Orillia is in the district with Peterborough and on Thursday the first game in the series will be played. Orillia will come here supported by 700 of the team's followers, and the game will without doubt be the fastest of the season. "Dinny" Dobbin, who in the early days played in goal for Peterborough, will again be in the flags for Peterborough. The Orillia dozen play a fast game, as is evidenced by the fact that they defeated the Brantford team last week, and their work here on Thursday will demonstrate their ability.

BASEBALL.

A game of baseball was played on the Division street diamond on Saturday between the Young Reliables and the King's Own. The King kept his own by winning over the Reliables by the close score of 7—6. The lineup was:—

King's Own — G. Ross p, P. Wilkinson c, C. Halpin 1b, Cassidy, 2b, F. Saxby 3b, B. Saxby ss and c, C. Wolfe lf, M. White rf, M. McIntee.

Young Reliables — J. O'Brien p, H. Calahane c, P. Lynch 1b, L. Holland 2b, C. Calahan, 3b, Robinson cf, P. Lewis rf, R. Clancy lf.

The Reliables hereby challenge the King's Own to another game.

* * * *

The team to represent St. Paul's to-night in their game with All Saint's in the former's grounds, will be as follows:—Rosenburg, c; Watt, p, and lf; Stacey, 1b; Wightman, 2b; Henderson, 3b; Boyd, ss; Walker, rf; Ferguson, cf; Sturgeon, lf and p.

LADIES GOLF.

The annual weekly tea at the club house will be held on Wednesday afternoon of this week, instead of on Thursday. A match will be played, and members are requested to be there at four o'clock.

CRICKET

The T.C.S. cricket club of Port Hope went up to Lakefield this morning to play the team of that town.

FOOTBALL.

The Quakers' line up for the practice game with the Wanderers to-night at 7.15 on the oval will be:

Goal, J. Guerin.
Backs, Doris and Simpson.
Halfs, McEwen, Fitzgerald, N. Guerin.
Forwards, Brooks, Caudle, Crowley, Renton, Fitzgerald.

MISCELLANEOUS.

To-morrow evening there will be a big time at Bradburn's Opera House, when the T.A.S. smoking and athletic concert will come off. All the boys are in fit and trim shape for their bouts. You'll be delighted with all the bouts. Mr. Geo. Lynch has a side-splitting programme arranged. Programme opens at 8.30 o'clock.

A Fifty Million Dollar Problem

The above title is the caption of an interesting pamphlet issued by the passenger department of the Grand Trunk Railway System, in connection with the World's Fair at St. Louis, April 30th, to December 1st, 1904. The publication contains a very comprehensive and interesting description of the Fair, given in the speech delivered by the Hon. Richard Bartholdt, in the House of Representatives, Washington. The information contained in the brochure will tell you how to solve the "$50,000,000 problem," and help you to decide upon the best way to reach St. Louis, the cost, many suggestions, and a number of sidetrips that may be taken en route, with the price of tickets, etc. The pamphlet is for free distribution and may be obtained from any of the agents of the Grand Trunk Railway System.

The good, old fashioned fishing tackle, the kind that catches fish, is the kind you get at Sallsbury's, and the prices are the very lowest.

Canada Rejects Immigrants.

New York, June 13.—The French steamer Malou arrived yesterday from Bordeaux, via Montreal and Quebec, where she landed thirty cabin and 417 steerage passengers. Twenty-three steerage passengers, who had been rejected by the Canadian authorities as unfit to land, owing to trachoma, were brought here. These immigrants will probably be returned to Bordeaux by the Ellis Island authorities.

Died Aged 110 Years.

Washington, Pa., June 13.—Mrs. Maria Cooper, colored, born a slave at Winchester, Va., died here yesterday, aged 110 years.

Tickets for St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild Annual Stony Lake Trip which will be held on Thursday, June 23rd, may be had at J. D. Tully's Drug Store, H. H. Edmison's Drug Store, and the Examiner Office. Tickets 75c. Malorana Harp Band Orchestra on board.

FAST SERVICE ON THE GRAND TRUNK

Summer Time Table Goes Into Effect To-day.

Gives Peterborough Better Connection with Toronto—Other Changes in Time of Trains.

The summer time table of the Grand Trunk Railway system went into effect this morning at 12.01 o'clock, and the new schedule provides additional train accommodation for Peterborough. The fast train between this town and Toronto, which has been talked of for some time made its first trip this morning. This train which leaves Peterborough at 7.20 a.m., arrives in Toronto at 10.10, and returning leaves Toronto at 7.30 p.m., arriving here at 10.25. Trainmaster Irwin, of Lindsay, says that he intends to make a feature of this through train, and that it will be run on time to the minute. The train will be more convenient than any other running between Peterborough and Toronto, as it will give passengers plenty of time to transact their business and also to get their supper before leaving. The train will consist of a baggage car, vestibule coach, with smoking department, and a parlour car.

The only stops will be at Omemee, Lindsay, Manilla, Uxbridge, Stouffville, Markham, Scarboro Junction and Queen street Toronto.

Conductor Dan McMillan will be in charge. Conductor Haskill, of the Lindsay-Belleville mixed, takes McMillan's place on the accommodation train between Peterborough and Belleville; Conductor Kelley, of the Lindsay-Whitby mixed, takes Conductor Haskill's place, and Conductor Jobbit of the Belleville way-freight, will take Conductor Kelley's place.

The former mixed train running between Lindsay and Belleville, which left the former town at 6.25, arriving at Belleville at 11.20, will now be run as a straight passenger train and will leave Lindsay at 7.20 a.m., arriving at Peterborough at 8.15, at Belleville at 11 a.m. The returning train leaves Belleville at 4 p.m., instead of 5.55 p.m., as formerly, and arrives in Peterborough at 8.40 p.m., departing at 9.00 p.m., and arriving at Lindsay at 9.45 p.m., instead of 10.20 as formerly.

A new train has been put on to run between Peterborough and Lakefield, leaving Peterborough at 5.40, and arriving in Lakefield at 6.10; returning leaves Lakefield at 6.20, arriving at Peterborough at 6.50. The train that formerly left Peterborough at 1.30 will now leave at 12.15.

Peterborough has never been so well served with transportation facilities as at present, and the introduction of this new fast train will doubtless prove of great convenience to the travelling public.

Mr. W. Bunton received a telegram this forenoon from Mr. J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, stating that the fast train arrived at the Union Station three minutes ahead of time. This is an exceedingly good record for the first trip.

ENNISMORE PICNIC.

The annual picnic will be held under the auspices of St. Martin's T.A.S., at Tara Grove, on Tuesday, June 14th. Don't forget the day, come along and have a good time.

An excellent programme of sports will be run off in the afternoon beginning at two o'clock. Speeches by several distinguished public men will be given. Dancing free and excellent music provided. Best outing of the season. Visit Tara Grove on June 14th and enjoy yourselves. Admission to grounds and dinner, 50 cents, children 25 cents.

Special Course in Music.

During the months of July and August, Allen H. Roger will hold a Special Course in Music. This course will be particularly suited to school teachers and others unable to pursue their musical studies during the busier seasons of the year, and will embrace: Lessons in pianoforte playing, Harmony, etc., and a series of lectures on Musical Form and Analysis, Acoustics, and the Story of music. Applications must be made before June 20th. mws

THE EVACUATION OF YINKOW

Jap Fleet Compels the Russian Forces to Leave.

RUSS DEFEAT AT PULANTIEN

Eight Hundred Men Lost to the Russians by Sudden Flanking Movement by the Japanese after Apparent Defeat—Gallant Cossack Fighters Win their Way Through Odds and Difficulties.

Tokio, June 14.—A long report has been received here from Admiral Togo, in which he covers the operations of the fleet since June 6, and repeats his former account of the bombardment of the west coast on the Liaotung peninsula. Continuing, the admiral says that the captain of a foreign vessel that left Yinkow on Wednesday, June 8, reports that the recent Japanese bombardment in the vicinity of Kaiping, south of Newchwang, caused the Russian forces, to the number of 3,000, with twenty guns, to evacuate Yinkow.

Outpost Hostilities Only.

Gen. Kuroki's Headquarters in the Field, June 12, via Fusan, Corea, June 14.—According to information here the only hostilities now occurring at the front are daily encounters between outposts, resulting in the loss of a man or two every day. A few Russian prisoners are being brought into Japanese headquarters, but no Japanese are being captured. This is being taken to show that the Japanese are getting the best of the encounters. Chinese are giving trouble by cutting the telegraph wires nightly. They probably are in the pay of the Russians. The work of keeping Gen. Kuroki's army in supplies of all kinds continues to be performed with excellent results, and is beyond criticism. The conduct of the Japanese soldiers is irreproachable, and their spirits are high.

800 Russians Lost.

Newchwang, June 14.—Information was received at 10 o'clock last night through heretofore reliable channels that part of the Japanese force left at Pulantien to checkmate the Russians southward movement to relieve Port Arthur, was attacked southeast of Shungnmao Sunday. After slight fighting the Japanese made a false retreat, the Russians hotly following them, when the Japanese made a flank movement, catching the Russians in a trap. The Russian losses are placed at 800 men. They then fell back on Kaichou and began to retreat along the Baimatgu Tsaichou road.

About two thousand Russian infantry from Kaichou passed through Newchwang yesterday morning, accompanied by a large supply and hospital train. Several carts contained bandaged men. The troops appeared to be fagged out and showed every indication of a long forced march. The officers refused to furnish any information, but a non-commissioned officer said that all the troops were retreating from Tsaichou. Before he could say anything further he was reprimanded by a captain. Stragglers are closely watched by non-commissioned officers to prevent them from talking.

The Russians have abandoned the ground mines eight miles south of here. A native messenger just in from the Russian camp east of here reports that there are many wounded men there.

Gallant Fighters.

Liaoyang, June 14.—Two wounded Cossacks, each wearing the cross of St. George, have arrived here. They tell a thrilling story of the fight near Takushan. Thirty-nine Cossacks were sent to reconoitre the enemy's position, and when about five miles from Takushan they were suddenly surrounded by Japanese. The Cossacks charged with lance and were met with a volley from the Japanese, which resulted in the dropping of twenty horses, the killing of two Cossacks and the wounding of six. Dismounted Cossacks scrambled behind their comrades' saddles. With nearly every horse in the command carrying two men, the Cossacks charged three times, and though covered with wounds, they cut their way out and rejoined the sotnia.

Total Russian Losses.

St. Petersburg, June 14.—The following official statement of Russian losses in the war has been issued:

Navy—44 officers and 920 men killed, 13 officers and 220 men wounded.

Army—86 officers and 980 men killed, 103 officers and 2,080 men wounded.

Total Prisoners—20 officers and 600 men.

In Constant Skirmishes.

Liaoyang, June 14.—The Japanese are reported to be fortifying Laodun (which cannot be located on available maps) and along the railway from Pulantien to Tandzafan. Japanese scouts are constantly skirmishing with Russian cavalry south of Vafangdian. Demonstrations by cruisers off Kaiping and Senuchen have ceased. A strong advance guard is occupying Siuyen, which is being fortified. Japanese scouts have been seen at Haicheng and on the Kaiping road. General Kuroki remains at Fengwangcheng, where fortifications have been strengthened.

15 PEOPLE DROWNED

Four Prominent Young Collingwood Men Among Them.

3 RIVERMEN IN UPPER OTTAWA

Barrie Man in Rainy River—Ernest Zeller at Berlin Near Bridgeport—Two Year Old Child in Tub at Collingwood—Family of Five Antlers, I. T.—Body Recovered.

Collingwood, June 14.—Four young men of this place are supposed to have been drowned on Saturday afternoon. The dingy Hag, on which they started to spend Sunday on the Nottawasaga River, was found on Sunday dismantled and full of water. A squall, which struck the bay about nine on Saturday evening, is supposed to have struck the boat and overturned it.

The young men were: Harry Stephens, son of C. E. Stephens, of the Northern Navigation Company; Harry Andrews, son of S. D. Andrews, of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company; Gerald Mussen, son of Rev. E. H. Mussen, rector of All Saints' Church; and Egmont Carroll, teller of the Bank of Toronto, and son of Rev. W. E. Carroll, of Bowmanville.

The tug Saucy Jim went in search of the young men, but nothing but two caps and sweaters were found. No one doubts that they were drowned, and the fishermen who know the bay claim that the bodies will be cast ashore between the second line of Nottawasaga and the river.

Three Men Drowned.

Ottawa, June 14.—Word was received of the drowning on Saturday in Poplar Rapids, in the Upper Ottawa River, thirty miles above Colounge, of three rivermen, two of whom belonged to Ottawa and the other to Gatineau district. The fifteen rivermen were coming down with a drive and were all in one boat, and while running the rapids the boat swamped and Gordon McDonald, aged 19, of Janesville, a suburb of Ottawa, and Joseph Morin, aged 23, Lett street, Ottawa, and a young man named Fournier, from up the Gatineau, were drowned. The remaining twelve men managed to save themselves. The bodies are not yet recovered. The men were working for the E. B. Eddy Company.

Barrie Man Drowned.

Winnipeg, June 14.—While working on a boom of the Rainy River and Lake Boom Company, four miles up the river from Rainy River, Ont., Charles McArthur stepped off a log, and, being unable to swim, was drowned Sunday afternoon. His body was recovered two hours later. Deceased came from near Barrie, Ont., and was about 25 years of age and unmarried.

Ernest Zeeller Drowns.

Berlin, June 14.—Fifteen-year-old Ernest Zeeller, son of Noah Zeeller, bandmaster of the 29th Regiment Band of Berlin, now at the London camp, was drowned in the river near Bridgeport about 7.30 o'clock last evening. His comrade, Norman Pape, made a heroic effort to save Zeeller, but his strength gave out, and it was all he could do then to save himself. They had been trying to swim across the river.

Drowned in a Tub.

Collingwood, June 14.—Yesterday at noon a sad affair happened in town. A little two-year-old child of Mr. George Foster was playing around where a tub of water was standing, and falling backwards into the tub, the little one was drowned before the mother had noticed the accident.

Whole Family Drowned.

Antlers, I.T., June 14.—Five members of a family named Smith have been drowned near here. The father, mother and three children were the victims of the unprecedented flood from which the district is now suffering.

Recovered the Body.

Toronto, June 14.—Ex-Constable Williams yesterday afternoon recovered the body of Harold Douglass in the bay very near the spot where the young man was drowned.

Arrested in Havana.

Montreal, June 14.—D. A. Hamel, formerly city paymaster, who forged a cheque for $9,985.30 on the Bank of Montreal and absconded with the money, has been arrested in Havana. It is understood that the arrest was made by Chief Carpenter, at the instance of the Bank of Montreal, and Hamel will be detained, awaiting extradition proceedings, if such a course is possible.

CLOSING SERVICES OF CATHOLIC MISSION

Eloquent Lecture by Rev. Father Zilles of Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Many Protestants in Attendance—"The Destiny of Man" the Subject.

The last service in connection with the Mission that has been conducted in St. Peter's Cathedral during the past two weeks, by Redemporists fathers, was held last night, when Rev. Father Hubert J. Zilles, of Saratoga, N.Y., gave an address on "The Destiny of Man." To this service non-Catholics were invited especially, and the object was to explain the doctrines of the Catholic Church.

The meeting last night was very largely attended, the church being packed, and scores were turned away from the doors. The audience was probably the largest that has ever gathered in the Cathedral, and fully one-third of those present, or nearly 500 were Protestants, whose attendance evidenced the fact that they were willing to learn more of the doctrine of the Catholic Church, and the lecture by the reverend father was closely listened to by the audience. The speaker prefaced his lecture by a few explanatory remarks, in which he said that the subject of the meeting was two-fold. The first was social and the second religious. They wished to promote a cordial feeling between Catholics and non-Catholics, and take away from the latter many false ideas that they have with respct to the Catholic Church, and its teaching, and to promote a more kindly feeling and a Christianlike spirit between the members of the Catholic Church, and those of other denominations.

The religious object was to promulgate the eternal truths of the Church of Christ. The speaker complimented the congregation, both Catholics and non-Catholics upon their attendance at the meetings of the Mission, which fact he said gave evidence of the fact that the religious question interested them.

The reverend father then entered into his subject, "The Destiny of Man." Man, he said, was the greatest object of the Creator, and he may naturally ask himself, "Whence did this great creation come from?" The purpose God had in creating man was that he might have possession and union with the Creator. In what manner can this purpose be achieved? The young man in the Gospel came to Christ asking Him how he might have eternal life, and the same question is being asked to-day. No one can give salvation except the Lord Himself; no man has a right to make a religion. The answer that Christ gave to the young man was that he should keep the commandments, the first of which is to love the Lord thy God. It is not sufficient, said the speaker, to sing hymns and offer prayers, and give external signs of worship, but by submitting the intellect to His teachings. This is the highest act of reason. Faith is necessary to salvation; not a knowledge of truths but a belief in and submission to what God has revealed, because He said it.

Christ's commission to the apostles was: "All power is given unto you, both in heaven and in earth; go ye to all the world and preach the Gospel," not to write tracts or Bibles, but to teach, and He organized the church a teaching body, which continued until the 16th century, when a great revolt took place against this method, and the Reformation began. Addressing the non-Catholics present he said that they did not belong to this revolt formally, but they belonged to the different Protestant churches, because their parents had belonged to them.

The reverend Father then explained the doctrines and teachings of the Catholic church in a very lucid address, which lasted ninety minutes, and in which everyone present evidenced an interest.

This service closed the mission as conducted by the Redemptorist Fathers, and that it has been successful is evident from the large attendance and interest in the mission.

Another club woman, Mrs. Haule, of Edgerton, Wis., tells how she was cured of irregularities and uterine trouble, terrible pains and backache, by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—A while ago my health began to fall because of female troubles. The doctor did not help me. I remembered that my mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on many occasions for irregularities and uterine troubles, and I felt sure that it could not harm me at any rate to give it a trial.

"I was certainly glad to find that within a week I felt much better, the terrible pains in the back and side were beginning to cease, and at the time of menstruation I did not have nearly as serious a time as heretofore, so I continued its use for two months, and at the end of that time I was like a new woman. I really have never felt better in my life, have not had a sick headache since, and weigh 20 pounds more than I ever did, so I unhesitatingly recommend your medicine."—MRS. SUSPICIOUS.

On Sunday a visiting clergyman preached an able sermon upon the use of the tongue, laying particular emphasis upon the sin of imputing unworthy motives. If the editorial writer of the Montreal Witness had heard or heeded the sermon it would have done him good. The Witness of Saturday contains the following in reference to a letter written by Mr. F. D. Kerr, of Peterborough, in regard to the Trent Valley Waterway, why, by the way, is doing yeoman service in an enterprising and intelligent way by bringing the merits of this national transportation route before the public in metropolitan journals, which, in spite of their superior airs, not seldom need a little instruction and broadening treatment. The Witness in comment on the letter, says:—

It is as natural that the people of the Midlands should advocate the Trent Valley Canal as that the people of Montreal should commend the French River navigation scheme. We have a letter from Peterborough to-day ably presenting the claims of the former as against those of the latter. We presume that, when all is said and done, the most effective argument in favour of the Trent Valley as compared with the other, will be that it has a good number of counties and a great many voters along its line. It is a question however, whether the local traffic would contribute any appreciable amount to the expenses of such a canal, or even whether, apart from the local expenditure afterwards for upkeep and management, the localities through which it would pass would derive any substantial benefit from it. A study of the statistics of the Rideau canal, which runs through similar country, would be interesting in this connection. The question is really a national one, to be judged almost exclusively by its presumable effects on through traffic. It is rightly on this line that Mr. Kerr argues. We have not sufficient data to weigh his arguments, but shall be glad to learn the views of others on the subject.

The Witness commits the sin of imputing motives, and suspecting the bona fides of those who are advocating the completion of the Trent Waterway. It seems that the orthodox way of preaching independence in journalism is by the use of the text, "Every politician and citizen attached to a party is a rogue." The Witness says that "When all is said and done the most effective argument in favour of the Trent Valley as compared with the other will be that it has a great number of voters along its line." Isn't this rather narrow-guage? The Witness has from time to time clamoured for improvements to the harbour of Montreal at the expense of the voters of the country, including those along the route of the Trent Valley Canal. No one has ever, to our knowledge, been narrow enough to say that "when all is said and done the chief argument in favour of Montreal Habour improvement was that there were a good number of constituences, and there were a good many voters in the city." The fact sta is out that Montreal, as the commercial metropolis of the Dominion, has a right in the public interests, to improvements that will fit her as adequately as possible to perform the functions incident to the position the city holds. It is distinctly to Montreal's interest, as to that of the country at large, that every avenue of transportation leading to the chief seaport of the Dominion should be provided and made use of. Montreal will benefit therefrom and the country also. It is gratuitous irrelevance to impute political motives of the parish variety to a very important element in the great transportation scheme of Canada. This is the chief argument in favour of the completion of the Trent Valley Waterway. Of course, incidentally, it will benefit the district through which it passes, but it does not seem a high crime and misdemeanour that those who will thus benefit should be willing to enjoy such benefit. The Witness is standing in its own light in its suspicious attitude towards the Trent Waterway, whose opening and operation, to take a localized view, will benefit no one place more largely than the city of Montreal. The Witness is old enough and big enough to take a bigger view of national problems than it has done in this instance. We should be glad to see its large influence enlisted in support of the Trent Waterway.

MILK AERATION AND COOLING.

Experience Shows That is not of Special Benefit—Canadian Live Stock at St. Louis.

By aeration of milk we understand the exposing of milk to the air, or the forcing of air into milk, said Prof. Dean of the Ontario Agricultural College, at the conference of dairy experts held at the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, last fall. The theory of the practice is that the oxygen of the air purifies or improves the milk, and at the same time gases or volatile oils which are in the milk are enabled to pass away. If the air to which the milk is exposed or which is forced into the milk be perfectly pure, the result will undoubtedly be an improvement in the flavour and physical quality of the milk. The experiments at the college have not shown any advantages from aerating milk. Probably the conditions there, so far as feeding the cows and caring for the milk are concerned, are better than those on the average farm. The farmer may be compelled to feed his cows in such a way, or the cows themselves may get such feed, that aeration of the milk would be an advantage.

Aeration in the Barnyard.

In many cases, however, the air is not pure, and often as much harm as good is done. Instructor Publow has mentioned that fifty per cent. of the cans tested this year are left in the barnyard in eastern Ontario are left in the barnyard to aerate. Aerating milk in the barnyard is one of the worst things a man could possibly do. We have milked our cows in the yard, which is kept a good deal cleaner than the average barnyard. We have put the aerator outside the house, milked the cows and have let the milk run down over the aerator. The result was that we got some of the worst milk we could possibly have. Unless the air be pure, it would be better to cool the milk with as little aeration as possible.

Cooling Milk for the Cheese Factory.

Cooling of milk is a most important point. The advantage of cooling is that it prevents the growth of bacteria or organisms, which are apt to develop bad flavours in the milk. There are two ways of cooling milk. One is by the maximum of exposure to the air, and the other by the maximum of exposure to the air. The first method, the use of such a cooler as the Star or Champion, will cool milk rapidly, which is a decided advantage. A disadvantage is that one must have water elevated or under pressure in order to use th ordinary cooler, and a great many farmers have not such a water supply. A second disadvantage is the labour of lifting the milk up to the cooler, and of washing the cooler afterwards. The majority of farmers will not undergo the labour necessary to do this work properly. To lift the milk up, to let it run over the cooler, and afterwards wash the cooler, is more than the average man will do. Then there is the difficulty that by using such a cooler, the milk is largely exposed to the air and the same risk is run as in the use of the aerator.

Any form of cooler, which cools the milk rapidly exposes it largely to the air. And while this gives an opportunity for the gases and volatile oils to pass away, impurities are apt to be absorbed. To overcome this difficulty various devices have been suggested to cool milk under cover. Probably the best plan is to set the cans of milk in tanks of cold water. Running cold water, at a temperature of 40 to 50 degrees, gives the ideal conditions. Where that is not obtainable he will be necessary to get the milk properly cooled. In that case the milk should be sufficiently stirred while cooling to bring the cool milk from the outside of the can to the centre and so facilitate the rapid cooling of the milk, with a minimum of exposure to the air. Milk for factory work should be cooled to a temperature at least below 70 degrees, to 60 degrees if possible, where the milk is paid for by the fat content, the owner is assured of better and more uniform tests if he will stir the milk and keep the cream from rising.

CANADIAN LIVE STOCK AT ST. LOUIS

Department of Agriculture will Duplicate Prizes.

The Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, has authorized the live stock commissioner to announce that any Canadian who exhibits horses, cattle, sheep, swine, or poultry at the St. Louis Exposition, will receive such services as are granted to exhibitors in other classes, and in addition the Department of Agriculture will pay to each such exhibitor a sum equal to the prize money which he secures in the competitions for which he enters. The Exposition authorities have asked that the Commissioner of Exhibitions shall countersign or endorse the certificates of registration of pure bred stock. All entries or applications for space for live stock should be addressed to Mr. Wm. Hutchinson, Commissioner, at the Canadian Building, Exposition Grounds, St. Louis. All such matters will be properly and promptly attended to, and the intending exhibitors duly notified as to the conditions of the Exposition in regard to their particular classes.

THE S. A. PENSIONS

Government to Supplement Those to Disabled Canadians.

A POLICY TO BE ANNOUNCED

Second Reading of Anti-Cigarette Bill—Registration of Union Labels—Mr. German Denies the Charge of Col. Hughes—Temperance Bill Passed—Several Important Bills Dealt With.

Ottawa, June 14.—The Minister of Militia yesterday afternoon expressed the opinion that the Canadian people would support the Government in supplementing the Imperial pensions to Canadians disabled in South Africa, wherever the Imperial is less than the Canadian pension scale. He intimated that the preparation of the pension list was in progress, and hoped to be able before the end of the session to make a definite pronouncement of Government policy.

The Cigarette Bill.

Mr. Maclaren's bill prohibiting the manufacture, importation or sale of cigarettes was given the second reading without debate upon a non-political vote. The measure still has to pass through the committee and third reading stages respectively before it goes to the Senate.

Union Label Bill.

The resolution providing for the registration of union labels was reported, and, having conformed to the rules of Parliamentary procedure in this respect, Mr. Ralph Smith reintroduced the measure, which was recently ruled out of order, giving effect to the resolution.

A number of resolutions and private bills and bills of a public nature introduced by private members were advanced a stage.

Mr. Charles Marcil introduced a bill to amend the act concerning the jurisdiction of the Exchequer Court in railway debts.

Mr. German's Denial.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. German replied to the charge by Colonel Sam Hughes on Friday that he had interfered and objected for political reasons to the extension of the term of Colonel Gregory as commander of the 2nd Dragoons at St. Catharines. Mr. German gave the charge an absolute denial, and defied Colonel Hughes to bring any person forward who would say he had done so.

Dandonald Correspondence.

Mr. R. L. Borden asked for the presentation of any further correspondence relating to the striking out of the name of Dr. Pickell from the list of officers for the 13th Light Dragoons.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in the absence of the Minister of Militia, said he had reason to believe if there was any further correspondence it would be brought down.

Government to Control.

Replying to Mr. Smith of Vancouver, Sir Richard Cartwright stated that a clause will be inserted in the contract establishing steamboat services between Canada and Mexico giving the Government control of rates.

Bills Dealt With.

The bill respecting the Sprague Falls Manufacturing Company, Limited, was given its third reading.

Mr. Geoffrion's bill respecting the Cedar Rapids Manufacturing & Power Company was referred back for further consideration. The bill was allowed to stand over until the Solicitor-General could consider the amendments made in committee.

Mr. Morrison's bill to incorporate the Thompson River Improvement Company was given a third reading and the amendments by the Senate to the bill respecting the James Bay Railway Company were concurred in.

Railway Liabilities.

The House again took up Mr. Lennox's bill to amend the railway act providing that no railway company shall be relieved from liability for personal injury by reason of any agreement.

Mr. Fitzpatrick argued, quoting several decisions, that the bill was beyond the jurisdiction of the House. After further discussion the Minister of Justice advised referring the bill to the Railway Committee, for full consideration, where he would submit an amendment which he thought would meet the aim of the bill, and then the question of jurisdiction could be determined by a reference to the Supreme Court. Mr. Fitzpatrick's suggestion was adopted.

Mr. Lancaster's bill to amend the railway act, 1903, was allowed to stand over in the absence of the author.

Mr. Law's bill amending the Canada temperance act was given third reading. The bill provides for imprisonment with or without hard labor in default of payment of the fine.

The House adjourned at 10.05 p.m.

THOS. BIGFORD'S DEATH.

Farmer Killed at Iroquois By a G.T.R. Fast Express.

Iroquois, June 14.—Thomas Bigford, a farmer from near Brinstone's Corners, delivered a load of cheese yesterday, and as he was crossing the G.T.R. railway on his return was struck by the fast express going east and instantly killed. His body and parts of his wagon were carried on the cowcatcher to the station about 1,200 yards. He was nearly across the road as the wagon was struck directly, one horse killed and the other escaped. The train was running very fast. Mr. Bigford was nearly 80 years old, and either miscalculated the distance or did not hear the train. The coroner has been summoned, but it is understood he does not consider an inquest necessary.

Kicked By a Horse.

Glencoe, June 14.—While attempting to hitch a team of horses to a post on the street here yesterday morning Mrs. R. C. Twiss met with a very painful accident. The horses, frightened by a passing train, broke away from Mrs. Twiss, who, in attempting to regain the lost bridle rein, was kicked in the back of the head by one of the frightened animals, and in a moment lay unconscious on the road. It is now thought she will recover.

Drank Milk and Lye.

Fort William, June 14.—Thomas the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain, died from the effects of drinking milk which had lye accidentally mixed with it.

Insured For $100,000.

London, June 14.—The Canada sunk in the St. Lawrence was only insured in London on a fire risk for $100,000.

THOUSANDS OF WEALTHY MEN

Would Give Half Their Wealth to be Able to Say with Mr. R. A. Barton "I Can Eat Whatever is set Before Me"—He Used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

There are thousands of wealthy men in this country who would give half what they possess to be able to say "I can eat whatever is set before me asking no questions."

Yet any man, no matter how long he has been in Dyspepsia's grasp, can truthfully use those words if he will first use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Mr. R. A. Barton, 23 Tyndall avenue, Toronto, is in a position to speak on this matter. He says:—

"I had Indigestion in its worst form. I consulted several doctors but their treatment did not do me any good. As a last resort I tried Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I took several boxes before I got much relief, but I persevered and I am thankful to say they had the desired effect. Now I can eat whatever is set before me, asking no questions."

If you take your indigestion early, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure it quickly. But if it takes years getting rooted, it takes time to root it out.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it though.

7 Sutherland Sisters' HAIR GROWER

MISS IDA ROADHOUSE, Peterboro' Ontario

Seven Sutherland Sisters' Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner shows results from the very first. Here is more proof that we have the greatest hair grower science ever produced.

Seven Sutherland Sisters

Dear Ladies.—Having been benefited by the use of your Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner, I take much pleasure in recommending same. At the time of your visit to Peterboro' last October, I showed you my head, which I thought was a hopeless case, and after looking at the bald spot on my head which was then about the size of a fifty cent piece, and enlarging more every day, you advised me to try your wonderful remedy, which is worthy of being termed so. I did, and to my surprise, before I had used one of your large sized bottles of Hair Grower and only half a package of Scalp Cleaner I could see a covering of a sort of soiles and upon continuing to use it the soiles fell off without leaving a mark of any kind. My hair now on the bald spot is about three inches long and growing more and more every day to my delight. I cannot really recommend it enough and am thankful that such a remedy came to my rescue.

Yours truly, IDA ROADHOUSE,

ANTI-SEMITISM.

Jew-Baiters in Bessarabia Use the Knout Upon Victims.

Berlin, June 14.—Prominent Jews here have received news of a violent outbreak of anti-Semitism at Chotin, Bessarabia.

The trouble began on Wednesday, when a mob of 3,000 persons suddenly gathered and attacked the local ghetto. The assailing mob was composed of Russians, Armenians, Greeks, Roumanians, priests, prosperous citizens, workmen, students, women and even children.

Evidently acting on a plan carefully prepared beforehand, the mob began by demolishing the interior of the principal synagogue. Then they proceeded to desecrate 15 smaller Jewish prayer-houses. When this was accomplished the vandals turned their attention to shops belonging to the Jews, which they entered and plundered, enriching themselves with the spoils.

Finally, the mob broke into the private houses of the Jews, smashing the doors and windows to effect an entrance.

The tenants were maltreated in a variety of ways. Some were beaten with stocks, and others were forced to strip, so that their persecutors could knout their bare backs. A number of Jews were ducked in the River Dniester, while the crowd mocked them. Jewish women and girls suffered brutal indignities. The women in the mob spat in the faces of the rabbis, who had a narrow escape of being murdered.

So far as has been ascertained no lives were lost, but over 100 Jews were injured in the course of the riot. Many Jews have been ruined and reduced to utter destitution, the mob having plundered everything they possessed.

The Russian authorities duly intervened. They sent mounted gendarmerie, but the mob resisted them, and there was stubborn street fighting, before the ghetto could be cleared of the invaders.

When finally repulsed, the Jew-baiters shouted they would return at the earliest opportunity and shed blood next time. The Jewish inhabitants of Chotin are panic-stricken. Many possessing sufficient means have fled across the frontier into Austria.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Meaford Breakwater", will be received at this office until Monday, June 27th, 1904, inclusively, for the construction of a Breakwater at Meaford, County of Grey, Ont., according to a plan and specification to be seen at the office of H. A. Gray, Esq., Engineer in charge of harbour works, Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, on application to the Postmaster at Meaford, Ont., and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for six thousand dollars ($6,000.00) must accompany each tender. The cheque will be forfeited if the party tendering decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

IRISH POLICE AND TENANTS.

Evictions in the Emerald Isle Lead to Fierce Demonstrations.

London, June 14.—When the subsheriff of County Cork and a force of police went to Rosnfacowen to carry out a series of evictions on the Clinton estate, they were met on the road by a huge crowd with a fusillade of bricks, sods of earth, rotten eggs and flour.

The police chased their assailants down by-roads, and there the inhabitants had inexhaustible supplies of slaked lime, boiled tar, hot water and boulders ready for their reception. Had it not been for the influence of the parish priest the police would have been roughly handled.

In the case of one tenant evicted, the police had to make a breach through the wall. One of the defenders escaped through the chimney, and defied the police to arrest him.

Thirty-three tenants are to be evicted.

U.S. Is Inconsistent.

London, June 14.—Replying to Lord Muskery, who asked a question concerning the proposed extension of the U. S. coasting trade restriction to the Philippine Islands, Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, said it seemed inconsistent with the declaration of the United States Government, and that a discussion was proceeding at Washington. As the new law did not come into force till 1906 there was ample time to consider the matter. Colonial Governments, added Lord Lansdowne, differ in their attitude on this question. It was intimately connected with the fiscal problem which could not be dealt with fragmentarily.

Ottawa News Notes.

Ottawa, June 14.—The dwelling and stables of Mrs. Williams, cab proprietress, Somerset street, near Metcalfe, were destroyed by fire yesterday morning. One horse and several carriages were burned. Loss, $2,600.

Mr. Black, the new Senator from Amherst, N. S., is in the city.

An old veteran named Patrick Bartlett is dead here. He was 100 years old on the 17th of March last.

Baker's laundry was partially damaged by fire yesterday morning. The loss will not exceed $1,500.

Toronto Man Waits.

Ottawa, June 14.—The two vacancies on the Canadian Bisley team caused by members finding it impossible to attend have been filled. The new men are Pte. J. G. Goudie, 8th Royal Rifles, Quebec, and Pte. S. J. Perry, 5th Regiment, D.C.O.R., Vancouver. The waiting man is Sergt. J. H. Simpson, 10th Royal Grenadiers, Toronto.

"Nan" Patterson Indicted.

New York, June 14.—Mrs. Nan Patterson, the actress, who was with Caesar Young, the bookmaker, in a cab, on June 4, when he was shot and killed, was yesterday indicted for murder in the first degree. One eye witness has presented himself, and his testimony was to the effect that Young had shot himself.

Inquiry in 3 Days.

Montreal, June 14.—Mr. Forget, president of the R. & O. Co., denied yesterday that there was more than the five lives lost with the Canada than those reported. The investigation will take place in eight days, when the Cape Breton returns.

Premier Soe Resigns.

Sydney, N.S.W., June 14.—The Premier of New South Wales, Sir John See, has resigned. He is retiring from public life. Thomas Waddell, the Colonial Treasurer and Minister of Railroads, will form a new cabinet.

Bad Men Sentenced.

Windsor, June 14.—Arthur Johnson, an Indianapolis negro, was sentenced to five years at Kingston here yesterday for holding up Joe Carso, a St. Louis Italian, in this city a week ago and threatening to kill him with a knife after taking his money. Wm. Jackson was sentenced to one year in the Central for attempting to rob a young lady on the street.

Stolen Powder Recovered.

Kingston, June 14.—A great pile of ammunition, with household goods, and a bicycle, was uncovered by Sunday strollers in the ditch tower on the east side of Fort Henry. The police were informed and secured the goods, comprising 200 pounds of gun cotton, 200 pounds of powder, fuse, cartridges and a case of lyddite.

Charged With Murder.

Port Arthur, June 14.—The Court of Assizes was in session yesterday afternoon, Justice Idington presiding. The grand jury took up the cases against Charles Donati, charged with murder of John Mein and Salvador Peccolo, charged with the murder of Servino Mezzo. They returned true bills against each of the prisoners.

Lost $1,000 By Express.

Fort William, June 14.—Somewhere between Winnipeg and Antikokan the Canadian Northern Express Company was last week robbed of about one thousand dollars. Detectives are on the scent and present indications are that at least one arrest will be made this week.

Nine Tons of Bibles.

London, June 14.—The Bible Society during last week received a record demand for copies of the Scriptures from all parts of the world. As a result of these orders, on Tuesday this week alone, over nine tons of Bibles in 28 different languages were despatched.

Thinks It Is Over.

Denver, Colo., June 14.—"I think the war is over," said Governor Peabody yesterday. "I have news from General Bell that the Cripple Creek mines are open and running, and there is comparatively little dissatisfaction among the men."

To the Soo.

New York, June 14.—The Philadelphia executive committee of the reorganized Lake Superior Company left here last night for the Soo, where they will have a conference with the other members of the directorate.

GROUARD MUST GO.

Uncompromising Words Used By Sir G. H. Farrar at Pretoria.

London, June 14.—(C.A.P.)—In the debate on the Intercolonial Railway's Council at the Legislature at Pretoria, the official members supported the existing system, but the unofficial councillors argued that Sir Percy Girouard had shown technical and financial inefficiency, demanding his removal.

Sir George Herbert Farrar personally addressing Sir Percy Girouard, remarked, "You are a great military expert, with a great reputation behind you, but your work here is done. We require a man of administrative and financial knowledge. That you do not possess. Now, you must go."

Sir Arthur Lawley, Lieutenant-Governor of the Transvaal, urged maturer consideration and spoke warmly in vindication of the character of Sir Percy Girouard.

Sir Percy in a manly speech, assured the Council that he had no desire to cling to office.

It is rumored in London that Commissioner Girouard has already resigned.

History of Canada's Mail.

Although the first land mail in Canada had been established as early as 1721, until the transference of the Postoffice Department on the 6th April, 1851, the postal arrangements had made but slow progress. On the very day the transference took place the Canadian Parliament made a uniform charge for letters throughout Canada of 3d. This was afterwards, in April, 1868, still further reduced to three cents. The first stamps were issued in 1851; money orders were introduced in 1855, and postcards were first used in 1871. Canada joined the postal union in 1878, though the first bag by parcel post was not sent to England until 1886. The later improvements to the system were the two-cent letter rate between Canada and Great Britain and several of the British possessions—since extended to almost all the colonies—which went into operation on Christmas Day, 1898; the rate of two cents per ounce for domestic letters (Jan 1, 1899), and the new rate on newspapers and periodicals posted in Canada for transmission to the United Kingdom, which went into force on the 7th March, 1903.

Released on Wednesday.

Washington, June 14.—If all goes well, Perdicaris will be released next Wednesday. It is estimated that it will require this length of time for the mission, which has gone to his relief with the ransom demanded, to reach the brigands' camp.

Photographs Nerve Action.

Dr. Charpentier in a communication before the Paris Academy of Sciences described an interesting discovery as to the possibility of photographing muscular and nervous activity on a plate covered with a layer of platin cyanure of barium.

Nervous sensations and impressions and muscular efforts are flashed on the plate and produce a special fluorescence, showing, for instance, the action of the heart and muscles of the interior of the body.

We Close at 6.30.

From June 13th to September 1st we will close our store at 6.30 o'clock every evening, Friday and Saturday nights excepted. W. H. Hamilton, grocer, Simcoe street.

Decoration Day

The Odd Fellows will this year as usual canvass the merchants, to close their places of business on Decoration Day, Thursday June 16th. The merchants who comply with this request in order that the day may be observed as in the past, will confer on the local lodges a favour. 2d

The newest flavour in Cream Soda is 'Buffalo Punch"—tart and tasty. Try some at HOOPER'S.

A Commendable Act.

A noticeable feature in the grocery business is the early closing of E. F. Mason & Co., who have a large card displayed announcing that they will close their different places of business at 6.30 o'clock every evening, Friday and Saturday and evenings before holidays excepted. This is a move in the right direction, as it gives the employees reasonable hours to work and will be much appreciated by them.

An Omission.

In the report in yesterday's issue of the relatives present at the funeral of the late Mrs. Delaney, the name of Mrs. R. W. Muncaster, of Charleston, S.C., a daughter of the deceased, was inadvertantly omitted. Mrs. Muncaster arrived on Sunday evening, in time to be present to pay respects at the last sad rites. Dr. Warde, of Montreal, a son-in-law, was also present at the funeral.

Woodmen of the World.

The members of Sherwood Forest Camp. No. 50, are urgently requested to be present at the unveiling of the monument to our late Sovereign John Fanning, on Thursday afternoon, 16th June, (Decoration Day), in the Little Lake cemetery. Members are requested to meet at their hall at 1.30 o'clock p.m., after which they will join in the Oddfellows' procession, as requested. The members are requested to wear white ties and gloves. By order, H. A. Haskill, clerk. 3d132

EYE-WITNESSES GAVE EVIDENCE

Inquest on Death of Late Mrs. Delaney Held Last Night.

Adjourned to June 24th—No Verdict Rendered—The Evidence Brought Out.

The Coroner's inquest on the death of the late Mrs. John Delaney was continued last night in the Council Chamber, before Dr. Gray, County Coroner. A number of witnesses gave evidence, and the inquest was adjourned to Friday, June 24th, to allow other witnesses to give evidence. Mr. D. O'Connell was present in the interests of the family of the deceased; Mr. W. W. Pope of Belleville, for the G.T.R. and Mr. R. E. Wood, for the Crown.

Dr. W. McGrath, was the first witness called, and after being sworn said:—I was called to the residence of the late Mrs. Delaney, of Friday, the 10th day of June; I found a fracture of the right leg above the ankle; the bones broken in several places; was caused by a crushing injury; also found right side of chest crushed; and loss of natural shape and several ribs broken close to the spine; believe those injuries sufficient to produce the shock, and that death was the result.

In answer to a question by a Juryman, Dr. McGrath said—I think shock would produce death in all the organs had been healthy.

John Conlin, sworn, said: — Train stopped opposite Green's foundry; first thought something had happened; went to the door and asked one of the shop hands; went to where she was lying; someone suggested to take woman home; several men were then there; Duncan was one of them; Bob. Baker works there; I saw train before it stopped; could not say where engine struck deceased; body found on Park street east side; train was moving east; distance from east side 377 feet from sidewalk where body was found; took measurement same evening; was one of the first who saw deceased after the accident; she was not then dead; she breathed; she was carried home; was still alive when she left; don't know what distance train should take to stop in; there was only one sidewalk; measured from middle of sidewalk, she would have been thrown 59 feet; was 6 feet from south rail; ordinary engine; was on the Missing Link road; don't know what officials were there; it was manager's train; think man's name was Irving; Duncan was one of the men who carried her home; no physician arrived before she was taken away; think accident happened about quarter to 12; it was Friday, the 10th day of June; had no more measurements; train was slowing down when he saw it; body was lying on back; regular train went down a few minutes before the special spoken of; whistle may have been blown and bell rung would not hear it in shop; when stopped it was about 1 1-2 cars west of Green's shop.

Mrs. Dunnett next gave evidence; The train was stopped about 1 1-2 cars west of Green's shop; accident happened west of Green's shop; her house is on corner just across road; was in the back yard, outside; heard whistle; it was blowing all the time; didn't notice bell ringing; whistle blowing and someone calling drew her attention; engine almost upon the person when whistle was blown; think three or four of the train hands were there; think one was engineer; noticed once or so on former occasions when bell was not ringing; train going pretty fast at noon; could see train coming round curve about 100 yards or so; train would be almost on one when seen; heard train whistle before accident happened.

Mr. Conroy, sworn, said:—Was on Park street on June 10th; was coming south on Park; east of Macdonald; saw deceased before she was struck; she was walking south; he was driving; heard train whistle the first time when about 255 feet from deceased; party caused him to notice particularly by saying the lady would be killed; whistle blew before that; she was struck immediately; I am 17 years of age; saw where train stopped; train was going at good speed; might be going about 20 miles an hour; would not say it was going more than 10; had to look around with back to train; train was near the crossing; heard it whistle several times; Mrs. Delaney was between us and track.

Orville King, sworn: Am 13, going on 14 years old; was on corner of McDonel and Downie streets. Did not see the accident.

Borland Pierson, sworn, said: Am 11 years old; was on Donegal street bridge; could see place distinctly; was looking at train; it was going pretty fast; saw Mrs. Delaney on walk; was about a yard and a half from the track and north of it; heard the whistle; saw the woman hit by the engine; she was about the centre of track when struck; she was thrown; saw five men carrying her home; didn't hear whistle blow until he saw Mrs. Delaney about a yard and a half from the train; saw first train go down about five or ten minutes before.

John Watson, sworn, said: Work for the William Hamilton Company; special was probably about three or four minutes after the regular train; trains coming around curve would be 200 or 300 feet apart; was going at a pretty good rate of speed; never slackens until they come near the moulding shop; would be going at 30 miles an hour. Took her about a minute to reach the spot from the curve; didn't see the accident; sometimes the trains whistle and sometimes do not; couldn' say what speed train was coming.

John Jenkins was the next witness. Was not there when accident happened; saw men carrying her off; did not see regular train; can't say how special was running; did not hear whistle nor bell; boy came and said there was an accident; Baker was there; when he got there there was a big crowd; wouldn't be paying attention, and wouldn't be likely to hear the whistles or bells; have been living on Donegal street for about nine years; trains go by at a good rate of speed; they don't slacken until they reach Hamilton's foundry.

This concluded the evidence at this sitting, and the inquest was adjourned until the 24th inst.

PETERBORO' LOCK CO. TO BUILD.

At Meeting of Shareholders This Action was Decided Upon.

Buildings will be Erected with Time Specified—An Enlarged Plant—Special Meeting of Shareholders.

A special meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company was held yesterday afternoon in the offices of the company. There was a good representation of shareholders present.

The president of the company, Hon. Mr. Stratton, addressed the shareholders, referring to the recommendation of the Board of Directors to erect more suitable buildings in the south end of the town, in which to carry on the business of the company. After a full discussion of the proposal the shareholders instructed the directors to have plans prepared, and to erect buildings upon terms of bylaw recently passed by the town council, and the necessary authority was given the directors to proceed with the work.

The manufacturing operations of the company will, therefore, be conducted as the new buildings as soon as they have been completed. The directors were also authorized to dispose off or lease the premises at present occupied on Simcoe street. It is the intention of the company to dispose of that valuable acre of ground in the centre of the town.

The president of the company states that the new buildings will be completed within the time specified in the agreement between the town and the town and the company, and Mr. J. E. Belcher has been commissioned to prepare plans and specifications for the new buildings.

SENTENCE POSTPONED.

William Armstrong's Counsel will Apply to Court of Appeal.

Yesterday afternoon, William Armstrong appeared before Judge Weller to receive his sentence after being found guilty last week of obtaining money under false pretences. The Judge postponed the sittings of the Court until Tuesday, June 28th. The prisoner's counsel, Mr. D. O'Connel, asked the Court to reserve the question of law for the opinion of the Court of Appeal upon several matters as to the insufficiency of the indictment, the improper admission of evidence, and made further application to appeal on the ground that the verdict was against the weight of evidence and arguing that the evidence was defective insomuch as it did not state whose property the money was that was alleged to be falsely obtained, and did not state that the false pretence was made with intent to cause the complainant to act upon it and did not state that it was known to be false by the accused. The counsel made specific objection to the admission of certain parts of the evidence and therefore proposed to argue the case before the Court of Appeal.

The Judge postponed the sittings of the Court to afford the prisoner's counsel an opportunity to make application to the Court of Appeal.

Turner's Tents Give Good Satisfaction Read this Letter

Cannington, June 13, 1904.

J. J. Turner & Sons, Peterborough, Ontario;

Dear Sirs,—The tent I ordered from you has arrived and we are much pleased with it in every respect.

The workmanship appears to be excellent and it is very gratifying to know that such articles are now "Made in Canada," and that you are enabled to compete with any manufacturer in quality and prices.

Wishing you continued prosperity, I remain,

Yours, truly,
W. H. HOYLE.

AN ADDITION MADE TO TOWN

Portion of Smith Township to be Annexed on July 1st.

Order in Council Passed—Town's Population Increased by 105—The Annexed Area.

The current issue of the Ontario Gazette contains a notice of an order-in-Council passed annexing a part of Smith Township to the town of Peterborough. The resolution passed by the Council, asking that this addition be made to the town, was passed in response to a petition signed by the persons living in the area affected by this annexation.

The portions annexed are as follows:

Blocks "D" and "E," as shown and laid out on registered plan No. seventeen for the said township of Smith, afterwards subdivided by registered plans numbers twenty-seven and twenty-nine for the said township of Smith, and being that parcel of land lying south of Block "C" on said plan number seventeen north of Smith street, east of Dixon street, and west of Reid street as shown on said plans numbers twenty-seven and twenty-nine, together with that part of Smith street lying south of Smith street, lying south of said parcel of land, and that part of Reid street lying east thereof now vested in the township of Smith.

The order takes effect on July 1st, when the population of Ward Four, to which the addition will be made, will be increased by 105.

The great advantage to those living in this area in being connected with the town lies in the fact that those having children attending the schools in town will not have to pay school fees, or, failing to do this, send their children to the township school.

MURDERED MAN WAS WELL KNOWN.

Late J. B. Wilson, who met Death in Chicago, Formerly Lived Here.

The British American, of Chicago, of a recent date has a short personal sketch of the late J. B. Wilson, who is believed to have been murdered in Chicago. The victim was formerly a resident of Peterborough, and was well known to a number of present residents of the town. This paper says:—

"J. B. Wilson who is reported to have been cruelly murdered in his photographic gallery, 163 State street, Wednesday morning, was a native of Glasgow, Scotland, and a lineal descendant of Sir Walter Scott, and the famous blind poet of Scotland, John Young. At fourteen years of age he came out to Canada, settling at Peterborough, Ontario, where he became employed in the photograph gallery of James Little and ever afterwards devoted himself to the photographic business. In 1890, he came to Chicago, and entered the employment of Hartley, then a photographer on West Madison street. In 1886, he established himself in business, at 389 State street, and was successful until domestic trouble overtook him about two years ago. Since that time he has been embarrassed financially, and the struggle of mind and heart of Mr. Wilson has been a battle few men could withstand, and friends who know the inside history of his case feel deeply his sudden taking off. He was a member in good standing in the Illinois St. Andrew Society, Royal Arcanum, and of the Masonic fraternity."

SOCIAL EVENT IN ARNPRIOR.

Miss Agnes D. Barnett Married to Dr. J. E. Lundy.

An interesting wedding ceremony was that celebrated at Arnprior, Ont., on Wednesday, June 8th, when Dr. J. E. Lundy, of Portage la Prairie, and Miss Agnes D. Barnett, of Arnprior, daughter of Mr. W. E. Barnett, sister of Mrs. W. E. Loch, of town, was married. The bride's dress was of white silk chiffon over white silk, and she carried a bouquet of cream roses.

The bridesmaid was Miss Mae Barnett, whose costume was white silk organdie, over pink silk, and carried pink roses.

The groomsmen was Dr. Julian Klotz, of Ottawa.

The bride was given away by her father, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Rural Dean Stiles, Arnprior. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Stiles.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers. The bride's travelling costume was of navy blue broad cloth.

The presents received were numerous and costly. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch, set with diamonds, and to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent. The bride wore a veil and lilies of the valley.

After luncheon Dr. and Mrs. Lundy took the eastbound Winnipeg express entraining amidst a shower of rice. They go upon an extended tour, which will include the St. Louis World's Fair.

Here's some interesting news for men from the City Clothing Store, worth reading. We have just purchased one of the best and cheapest lots of men's trousers, made of fine tweed and worsted, consisting of 275 pairs. These trousers have been extra well made, well trimmed and cut in the newest fashion, and the patterns are new and dressy. The lowest they should be sold is $3.00 and $3.50, but we bought them at such a close price that we can afford to sell them at $2 and $2.25 a pair. Come and get a couple of pairs while they last. If you want working pants, we have them at 75c, $1.00 and $1.25. H. LeBrun & Co.

VISITING PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

Provincial Secretary Attends Closing Exercises of Two Educational Institutions.

The Institutes for the Blind and for the Deaf and Dumb.

At the conclusion of every season the Provincial Secretary pays an official visit to the several institutions under his charge. He so timed his visits to two of these that they were co-incident with the closing exercises, the two institutions being chiefly educational, for certain classes.

WITH THE BLIND AT BRANTFORD.

The Brantford Expositor says that Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, and Mrs. Stratton attended the closing exercises of the Ontario Institution for the Blind at Brantford on Thursday evening. During their stay in the city, they were the guests of Mr. T. H. Preston, M.P.P. and Mrs. Preston. The audience at the closing exercises was a very large one, many persons being unable to even gain admission. During the evening Mr. Stratton presented Miss Hart with a beautiful bouquet on behalf of her friends from St. Thomas. Miss Hart, who graduates this season, is a fine musician, and was highly complimented upon her proficiency by Dr. Torrington, of the Toronto College of Music. The Expositor says that Mr. Stratton paid a high tribute to the staff of the Institution and sympathetically referred to its work and the interest taken in it generally by the people of the province. He complimented Brantford in its growth and prosperity. On Friday Mr. Stratton paid the Institution an official visit and made arrangements for the many improvements to be made this year.

INSTITUTION FOR DEAF AND DUMB.

On Wednesday Mr. Stratton paid an official visit to the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville. After referring to the preparations for the closing exercises the Ontario says:—

The climax of the closing proceedings was reached yesterday in the visit to the institution of Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. S. Russell, M.P.P. The distinguished visitors were shown through every part of the institution, manifesting a warm interest in all that they saw. They were then invited to the chapel where they were met with a most enthusiastic reception, and found out that, though supposed to be dumb the pupils, vocal organs were in good working order and their lung capacity all that could be desired. Mr. Stration's remarks were of the most interesting and gratifying character. After expressing his great pleasure in seeing so many happy smiling faces before him and and his gratification over the excellent work being done in the Institution, he referred to his own relation to them as head of the department which had charge of this and other public institutions. While it was his duty to see that none were neglected, yet he felt that his first duty was to this and to the Institution for the the Blind at Brantford. It had been a pleasure to him to meet the wishes of the superintendent whenever he could for he felt as warm an interest in their welfare and success and anyone else connected with the Institution. He never had any difficulty in getting the estimates for this Institution passed in the Legislature, as its management was such as to disarm all criticism. He wanted to give credit where credit was due, and he had to say that the Opposition never opposed or found fault with the estimates for this Institution. He was glad Mr. Russell was there with him and he wished every member of the Legislature would spend a day there occasionally, and then he would have no difficulty in getting money for the new building that was so much needed, and which he hoped would soon be erected, and which in his judgment, should have been built before this. He would gladly facilitate their work in every way, and would also be glad to aid the deaf in any way in his power in getting good positions after they leave school. He congratulated them on their success in the past and extended to them his best wishes for the future.

this was his first visit, it certainly would not be his last. He also praised the able administration of the Institution and expressed his gratification at the testimonies to its efficiency given by both the friends and the enemies of Mr. Russell also spoke briefly. Though the Government; and he was glad that Mr. Stratton had promised them a new school building in the near future.

Superintendent Mathison thanked both speakers for their remarks. He bore testimony to the liberality and willingness of, Mr. Stratton to grant all the money needed for their comfort and efficiency. Not that he gave blindly. He always most carefully enquired into every detail of expenditure, but when convinced of their needs he always gave cheerfully and ungrudgingly.

The Institution will close on Tuesday next, and on Wednesday morning all the pupils leave for their homes. We wish for one and all a safe journey, and pleasant holidays and a safe return again in the fall.

At St. Paul's grounds last evening All Saint's Guild won from St. Paul's in the first half of a league game by a score of 15-4. The losers' fielding was rather loose in spots, resulting in several of the winners runs. All Saints' batted and fielded in splendid fashion. The game will be concluded on Thursday evening.

The first game in the Public School Baseball League was played on Friday, when Centre played Fifth Ward, winning by 17-2, consequently the senior championship this year goes to the Central team. The game was witnessed by a large number of supporters of each team and great enthusiasm prevailed.

The School Board has presented no trophy as yet.

In a well contested game of baseball on the St. Andrew's Guild grounds last evening, the Charlotte St. Guild won the first half of their game from the St. Andrew's boys, shutting them out by a score of 5-0. The game was a most interesting contest, marked by sharp fielding and fine slab work. The winners were slightly superior at the bat last evening and gave their pitcher fine support. Roddy pitched a beautiful game, being practically invincible with men on bases. He had great speed, fine curves and excellent control. Foster and Patterson both did creditable work on the rubber and except in the third innings kept the hits well scattered. The fielding on both sides was clean. Thornton and McDonald each caught splendidly. The latter's throwing to bases being especially good. The game will be concluded on Thursday evening. The teams were:—Charlotte Street,—Thornton, c.; H. Roddy, p.; Jolliffe, 1 b.; Squires, 2 bs; E. Roddy, 3 b.; McWilliams, s.s.; Sanderson, l.f.; Carr, c.f.; Ryan, r.f.; St. Andrew's.—McDonald, c.; Patterson, p.; Elliott, 1 b.; McNight, 2 b.; Reid, 3 b., Foster, s.s.; P. Kerr r.f.; Miller, c.f.; F. Kerr, l.f. H. R. H. Kenner umpired and gave good satisfaction.

LACROSSE.

The local team will be in good trim for Thursday's game with Orillia. The game should be the best seen in Peterborough for years, as both teams will be very strong. Some new faces will be seen on the Peterborough team and with the old material in town to choose from a pretty husky dozen will be placed on the field. A large excursion is coming from Orillia to cheer on the northern boys. The game will be played on the Murray street grounds.

VISITING FARMERS WERE INTERESTED

In Peterborough and its Many Attractions.

Canadian Cordage Works of Special Interest to West York Farmers—Their Excursion to this Town.

The Weston Times and Guide reporting the excursion of the West York farmers to Peterborough on Saturday, June 4th says:—

Saturday was West York's Civic Holiday and the Farmers' Institute held their annual excursion on that date. This year they went to Peterborough, between four and five hundred accompanying the excursion. The Canadian Pacific took down the party, and provided excellent accommodation and a quick run.

On arrival at Peterborough most of the party visited the works of the Canadian Cordage Company. Here the party were met by Mr. Potter, and escorted through the different branches of the works, explanatory remarks on the multifarious machines being given at every turn. The Canadian Cordage Company starts the manufacturing process in the Philippines, where the large leaf is beaten into hemp, oiled and put through breakers. It arrives in Canada in the form of sisal, 1,200 bales of which had just arrived, and were inspected by the party. The first process to be viewed was that of putting the hemp through spreaders, where it is drawn out into various sizes of fibre. After passing through various machines of this description, the fibre winds into large cans at the end of each machine. It is taken out of the cans and passes through a nipper on to the spindles, the size of the twine depending on the number of revolutions made to the foot. The coarsest binder twine made is about 500 feet. The pure Manilla runs about 650 feet. The essential quality seems to be smoothness in the twine as well as evenness and strength. Unless the twine is smooth it is difficult to thread in the needle of the binder, and frequent breaks annoy the farmer. After the twine is run on the spindles it is taken to the baling machines and wound into the balls of commerce. The baling machine is a good test of the strength of the twine. If it is uneven in places, it breaks, but this does not often happen. A man watches each ball wound and looks out for unevenness. As a further test each ball is examined, and if not up to the standard, is thrown aside and used in making heavy ropes. Each ball weighs five pounds, and each bag contains ten balls. All are weighed before leaving the factory.

The cordage works were also of interest. The manufacture and winding of rope interested everybody as much as the manufacture of twine. Lath yarn and shingle yarn are made as well as the large British Manilla rope. Compressed air is used in blowing the dust off the machines, and the works do not closing up. The machines are kept clean while in motion, with no danger to the employees. The longest vat in America is to be seen in this factory. It is 90 feet long and the twine is drawn through this vat filled with tar, and is dried before passing on to the smaller spindles. The company has its own blacksmith shop and a repairing machine is in each room constantly. The peculiar smell which is noticeable on all twine is due to codfish oil used when the hemp is first being put through the breakers, and assists in giving the twine flexibility and smoothness. The tar smell on ropes is due to the yarn passing through the tar vat. This and the codfish oil gives a rope warehouse that fishy smell so common on piers at a seaport town.

The next place of interest was the lift lock, the only one of its kind in America.

Peterborough has many fine residences, churches, public buildings, parks and places of interest, which were viewed by the excursionists. St. John's English Church is a fine edifice, covered with ampelipsis, after the fashion of churches in England. It is very striking, situated on an eminence overlooking the town. Another feature of interest is the large concrete dam built by the power company on the Otonabee, and over which flows quite a large falls. Electric power is supplied in Peterborough at $18 per horse power per year, and electric lights are a mere trifle, so low in fact that some places don't bother turning out their lights in the daytime. The town is well supplied with hotels, the number being 22. There is also the overhead wires for an electric railway but the tracks are underground.

PRACTICAL SERMON TO THE WOODMEN

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt Preached to Members of Sherwood Forest Camp

On Sunday Evening at St. Luke's Church—The Text was "Almost Thou Persuadest me to be a Christian."

On Sunday evening the members of Sherwood Forest Camp, of the Canadian Order of Woodmen of the World attended divine service at St. Luke's church. There was a large turnout of the members of the Society who listened to an inspiring sermon by the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, who chose for his text the words of King Agrippa,—"Almost Thou Persuadest Me to be a Christian," Acts 27, 28.

The rector extended a hearty welcome to the members of the Order present. The Order was one of the younger ones among the fraternal societies, but had nevertheless, made its way and stood firmly established in the confidence of the people. He wished them God's richest blessing in their good work of charity and good will among their members, and hoped that their sound business methods in life insurance and by disbursing of their funds would commend themselves to the public to give support. It was an inspiring sight to see so many men and to realize the opportunity which was his to witness for the Saviour. We ought to make the best of all our opportunities and he would endeavour to preach Christ to them and help them along in the warfare against the world, the flesh and the devil.

In dealing with the text, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, said that among the many thousands of those who had made a name in the world, he was quite sure that it was impossible to single out a single one who was only "Almost persuaded" of the importance of some work, which had to be done, of the gravity of some danger to be faced, of the evil of some abuse that needed correction, of the necessity of a sacrifice that had to be made. The secret of success was in the utter absence of all wavering and indecision of character, and in the total absence of the word "almost" which when used in reference to a man, stamps him as a failure.

There have been differences of opinion as to the meaning of the word "almost," as used by King Agrippa. Some think that Agrippa simply meant what he said; others maintain that he spoke sarcastically — "You think with very little trouble to make me a Christian." But in whatever sense the words are spoken they are equally disappointing, and no matter in what sense Agrippa used them it is certain that thousands are using them daily in their more obvious sense without stopping a moment to consider that in so doing they pronounce their own condemnation.

The world may recognize and be quite satisfied with the "almost Christians," but God is not. Christ's servants needed every manly manly quality in a very special degree. They must fight daily against sin, against ridicule, against opposition, misrepresentation, against their own lower nature. What use would an "almost" one be? This word "almost" seems to carry its own condemnation, for it implies failure to become "altogether." It would be no satisfaction to one to "almost" inherit a fortune. There is only one case in which the word "almost" brings any satisfaction and then it is only by a revulsion of feeling. It is the case of one who was "almost" lost being saved.

The speaker urged upon all present who were "almost" Christians to become Christians "altogether," and experience the joys which will surely follow such a step. There were many excuses offered from time to time, but these were of no account, for all that would have to be given up by following Christ was what was not good for anyone.

In concluding the speaker said that only in this life could we be "almost." Hesitation and uncertainty will at last pass away forever in the great procession of those things which come to an end.

The choir sang "Break forth into Joy," by Semper, and Mammote's "Deus Miserearur." Mr. A. L. Davis sang, "There's a Beautiful Home on High."

Upon assembling at the Lodge room the Society passed a vote of thanks to the Rector and choir, to whom they were indebted for a most profitable evening.

A Former British Columbian.

Wherever things "are doing" there you find a man from British Columbia. A Tokio correspondent of The Victoria Colonist points out that the man in charge of the repairs to Russia's "lame ducks" at Port Arthur is a former British Columbian. He is Mr. John Gilchrist, formerly engineer on one of the Empress liners running between Hong Kong and Vancouver and Victoria. Mr. Gilchrist left the service a few years ago and went to work for the Hong Kong & Whampoa Dock Company. Then he returned to Clydesdale, but he heard "the east a-calling" again and went out to work as engineer at the Whampoa docks. Thence he went to Dalny, where he was when the war commenced. By orders of Viceroy Alexieff he proceeded to the dock at Port Arthur, when the doings of the ships of Admiral Togo filled that port with vessels for the dock. He was given a large salary, and placed in charge of the repair work. He got together all the engineers he could find in the vicinity and with a large force of Chinese coolies has been working night and day.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION MET

And Elected Officers at Last Evenings Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Sabbath School Association of the town was held in the Y.M.C.A. Assembly Hall last evening, and was attended by a large number of workers and those interested. The programme was one of a very enjoyable and helpful nature. Rev. J. A. Wilson, the local president, was in the chair.

The secretary's report, showing the state of the work was read and adopted.

The election of officers resulted in Rev. Mr. Wilson being re-elected as President. The following are the officers for the ensuing year:

President—Rev. J. A. Wilson.
Vice-President—J. R. Kidd.
2nd Vice-President—W. Stevens.
Secretary—G. G. Pratley.
Treasurer—A. J. Johnston.

The executive will consist of the above officers, the superintendents of the various schools, and the clergymen of the town.

Rev. D. D. McDonald, of Keene, county representative, delivered an interesting address upon "The Teacher's Need." The work of the teacher was very important, and the responsibilities were very great. The one object of the teacher should be to impart such knowledge as would lead the scholar to Christ, and build up character. It was well enough to win a scholar so that he would become attached to the teacher—this was essential to success but must not be an end in itself. There was often too much of story telling to fill in the time. This would not bring the desired results. Personal contact with Christ and with the scholars was essential to successful teaching. The teacher often became discouraged and disappointed in his desire to know the secret of how to unlock the scholar's heart. The words of the Saviour, "Come unto Me all ye that are weary and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest," should be always borne in mind as words of sympathy to the downcast. A teacher to be successful must be in contact with Christ, and next in importance to this is personal contact with the scholars. The teacher should know something about each child and show an interest in the welfare of each.

A round table talk was conducted by Mr. Thos. Yellowlees of Toronto, assistant secretary of the Provincial Association. Several questions of general interest were discussed, and many valuable suggestions made in reference to Sunday school work.

A duet, "My Ain Countree," by Rev Mr. MacLennan and Mr. Yellowlees, was much appreciated.

Rev. G. A. MacLennan, B.A., of Norwood, Field Secretary, gave a splendid address upon the subject "The Land of the Gospel." This land was small in size, being about one-sixth the size of England, but it was the cradle of our faith, a faith which it was believed, would eventually encircle the whole world. The preacher described the people, climate, soil of the country, and referred to the remarkable difference between the present condition of affairs and those which existed at the time of our Lord. The forests and fertile fields were now practically barren wastes. The great cities were as a rule, a mass of ruins, and the harbours were altogether changed. It was a land endowed with great natural possibilities, but owing to the fact that its people strayed from God, the land did not prosper. Our own Canada was a land with much the same prospects; if we remained true to God prosperity would continue to be ours.

At the conclusion of the address a vote of thanks was tendered the visiting speakers, and to Rev. J. A. Wilson, president, and Mr. Johnson, secretary, for their services during the past year.

Amusing and Heated Discussion in the "Finest Club in the World"—Language of the Telephone, the Ladies' Grill and Tea on the Terrace—Ventilation in a Common Sense Way.

For two hours the other day, the British House of Commons discussed itself in amused and sometimes heated fashion.

In committee of supply on the vote for £32,000 to complete the charge for the House of Commons, members debated its ventilation, the state of its dining-rooms, its kitchen, its smoking-rooms, and its habits generally.

Mr. Wylie, the author of the suggestion that tea should be taxed out of consumption, attacked the system of ventilating the House. The strangers' gallery needed attention, he said, and, the air of the ladies' gallery was distinctly impure

He noticed, however, that members who were very careless about the bacteria in the air took exceptional pains to kill it in the water by adding a killer of Scottish origin.

Major Evans Gordon moved a reduction of the vote by £100, and discussing the telephone system in the House, said he was sometimes shocked by the language to which the deficiencies of the telephone frequently led.

Hard Words.

He had heard venerable, white-haired members at the telephones—(cries of "Name?")—using language which was not even heard during a Parliamentary golf handicap — language which teachers of morality ought not to use in the presence of a drayman, let alone young girls and boys.

John Campbell inveighed against the ladies' grill, as the fretwork screen in front of the ladies' gallery is called. What did the ladies say of this monstrosity? It was not easy to obtain their opinion.

About half a century ago a valiant member undertook a plebiscite, and catechised about 400, but it was not certain that he survived to tell the tale.

Mr. Campbell asked whether Lord Balcarres (who officiates for the First Commissioner of Works) would go upstairs and repeat the experiment. But Lord Balcarres shook his head, and the committee laughed.

"At any rate," said Mr. Campbell, "we might instal the annunciator. I have heard of poor ladies sitting for several hours in the gallery, and going away without knowing the names of the members they had been listening to." At this there were cries of "Shocking!" and "A good thing for the members!"

Common Sense.

H. C. Richards discussed the question of ventilation in what he called a commonsense way.

"Here we are," said Mr. Richards, "from 3 o'clock to 5 o'clock in a half-swoon from the oppressive state of the atmosphere. But when we come down after our dinners at 9 o'clock the air is nimble and sweet. Why is that? It is quite an affair of commonsense."

"Open a window, sir, and out goes our depression and in comes commonsense. That is why the House is so refreshing after 9 o'clock, and why it is not refreshing from 3 to 5.

"I am not a scientist," added Mr. Richards, amid peals of laughter, "but I am a man of commonsense."

Mr. Richards denied that the House was the finest club in the world, as William Redmond had said it was.

"I never said so, Mr. Sp—Lowther," declared W. Redmond.

"All I can say about it," continued Mr. Richards, "is that it is a bad club, and very expensive."

Tea Parties Condemned.

The committee seemed slightly shocked when Mr. Richards was discovered saying, "As for the ladies—let the ladies shift for themselves," and he followed this by pointing out that "this House does not exist for dining or giving tea-parties on the terrace."

Next the committee gave expectant ear to the smooth voice of Dr. Farquharson, who asked for the appointment of "a small committee, with powers to add to its number," to take the views of the ladies in the gallery as to their personal comfort.

"Most of us, Mr. Lowther," continued Dr. Farquharson, "are usually sitting doing nothing. Personally I am glad there is a little social entertainment to relieve our inertia," and the hon. gentleman promised Mr. Richards that if he were invited to dine with him he should certainly accept the invitation.

Mr. Weir believed that most of the microbes found in the atmosphere of the House were brought in on the boots of members. He suggested, amid laughter, that two Japanese girls should be brought over to remove outdoor footgear as members entered the precincts and replace their boots by slippers in accordance with the Japanese custom.

The Grill.

Lord Balcarres said even in regard to the ventilation of the House he felt like the old man and his donkey. It was impossible to satisfy everyone. He did not think the removal of the ladies' grill would be popular; but the supply of annunciators was under consideration.

A sharp passage of arms occurred between Sir H. Seton-Karr and W. Redmond. Sir Henry had said, referring to a suggestion for the utilization of the Irish dining-room for smoking purposes after dinner, that he disliked the Irish flavor which lingered about the room.

To this W. Redmond took the strongest possible objection. Sir Henry disclaimed intention of giving offence, but Mr. Redmond said the expression showed the estimation in which Irish members were held by certain Unionists.

The committee divided on the amendment, which was rejected by 243 to 158. The vote was then agreed to.

MY AIN FIRESIDE.

O, I hae seen great anes and sat in great ha's,
'Mang lords and 'mang ladies a' cover'd wi' braws;
But a sight sae delightful I trow I ne'er spied
As the bonnie blythe blink o' my ain fireside,
My ain fireside, my ain fireside,
O, sweet is the blink o' my ain fireside.

Ance mair, heaven be praised! round my ain heartsome ingle,
Wi' the frien's o' my youth I cordially mingle;
Nae forms to compel me to seem wae or glad,
I may laugh when I'm merry and sigh when I'm sad.
My ain fireside, my ain fireside,
O' sweet is the blink o' my ain fireside.

Nae falsehood to dread, nae malice to fear,
But truth to delight me, and friendship to cheer;
O' a' roads to happiness ever were tried,
There's nane half so sure as an'e ain fireside.
My ain fireside, my ain fireside,
O' sweet is the blink o' my ain fireside.

"THE VILLAGE BURGLAR."

Verses Found on a Prisoner Arrested in London, England.

William Foster, a well-dressed youth, who declined to give any account of himself, was charged at Bow street police court with burglary, says Lloyd's Weekly News. A Commissionaire found him underneath a table in the dining-room of a flat at 14 Buckingham street, Strand. He said he had seen one of the windows open, and had entered it from the garden at the back of the flat. He was out of work, and thought he would see what he could get. The Commissionaire aroused Professor Huntingdon, of King's College, who occupied the flat, and the prisoner was given into custody. A remand for inquiries was ordered.

When searched the prisoner was found to be in possession of a glazier's diamond and the following lines, entitled "The Village Burglar," written on a scrap of paper in pencil:

Under the spreading goosebury bush
The village burglar lies;
The burglar is a crafty man,
With whiskers on his eyes;
And the muscles of his brawny arms
Keep off the little flies.

He goes on Sunday to the church
To hear the parson shout;
He puts a shilling in the bag
And takes a sovereign out;
And when he reaches home again
He smiles without a doubt.

And going home one winter's night
He sees an open door—
An overcoat hangs in the hall,
And he creeps along the floor.
A moment later out he comes,
And then the deed is o'er.

He proudly gazes on his prize,
And holds it out a stretch;
He hurries down the lighted street,
And ah! the crafty wretch—
He takes it to the pawnshop
To see what it will fetch.

Howe'er, a policeman passing 'long,
With measured beat and slow,
Has seen the burglar's little game,
And quietly lets him know;
And he takes him to the prison cell
When the evening sun is low.

Boozing, borrowing, burglaring
Have told an awful tale,
And now at leisure he repents,
With many a mournful wail,
Something attempted, something done,
Has earned six months in jail.

FRIEND OF DICKENS.

Acted as His Amanuensis—Speaks of the Methods and the Manners of the Great Novelist.

There lies beyond the old Bushwick meadows, says The Brooklyn Daily Eagle, on the brow of a hill, the little straggling hamlet of Fort Mar. In this out-of-the-way spot lives a woman of advanced years. Her name is Amelia Thurston. A single glance at her denotes her a lady, born and bred. The home in which she lives is an humble one, but, for all that, more than one author of world-wide fame has paid his respects to that lowly cot.

The singular interest that attaches to this estimable woman is due to the fact that she was for many years intimately associated with Charles Dickens, and at one time his amanuensis.

The following interview with this accomplished woman is given to the public just as the words fell from her own lips, and is a true statement:

"I was born in Massachusetts, in the suburbs of Boston.

"Very early in life I got hold of the works of Dickens and fell in love with them, particularly "Sketches by Boz," "David Copperfield," and "Nicholas Nickelby." They made such an impression upon my young mind that, though still a girl in my teens, I resolved to cross the water and know for myself personally the man whose works had so delighted me. Supplied by an indulgent father with plenty of money, I went with my maid to London, and there procured for myself comfortable apartments not far from old Bow Square Church.

"It was autumn. The people were as yet largely out of town. Mr. Dickens was on the continent.

"I turned my back on myself and worked out this homesickness into a story of New England life, which I sent to Mr. Dickens as soon as he returned.

"About this time unhappy rumors of domestic infelicity in Tavistock House crept out into the air, started by literary men who snarled enviously at the heels of the great writer. Added to such sorrows, which told upon him very perceptibly, were multiplied the incessant toil and social stress which greatly increased his daily cares. In spite of all these things, however, possibly the more because I was a girl, alone and unfriended in London, he took time to read my manuscript. To my great gratification and surprise he accepted it, paid me liberally for it, and asked me to go on contributing to his magazine.

"Not long after this incident in my life, Mr. Dickens sent me a note, inviting me to call upon him at his house, on such a day and hour. Punctuality was one of the gods he worshiped. Not being much acquainted with the map of London, I went a roundabout way, arriving at his residence half an hour late. The butler informed me, much to my chagrin, that Mr. Dickens had waited for me half an hour, but had been obliged to go to his office and that he would expect me on the same day and hour the following week. Once more a monstrous fog prevented him from reaching home in time to meet me, which brought a note of explanation and a renewed appointment.

"The third attempt was successful, and I found myself face to face with the man who of all others I most desired to meet, Charles Dickens, at last.

"Not long after I was surprised to receive a note from him informing me that he was coming to see me. I was living at that time near the West End, in a rather antiquated stone cottage. The day came and with it Mr. Dickens, on time to the minute.

"We sat and talked, as he outlined a series of researches into the different phases of London life. This was to be my study of human nature. I accepted his suggestions and spent years in following them out, reporting to him as I progressed each new find.

"In this way I came to know Mr. Dickens very well, often acting at last as his amanuensis and assistant. He wrote carefully, slaughtered mercilessly and made many changes."

The World of the Solid.

We live amid matter in three characteristic states—solid, liquid and gaseous. But since hydrogen has been both liquefied and solidified, the investigator, says Professor James Dewar, is introduced into a world of solid bodies. With the aid of the cold furnished by liquid hydrogen, every gaseous substance at present definitely known to the chemist, with the single exception of helium, can be solidified. Even helium, Professor Dewar hopes, may yield to the processes now being employed at the Royal Institute in London. Liquid hydrogen is so light that the only solid substance that will float upon it is pith. Solid hydrogen has a temperature 436 deg. Fahrenheit below zero. When exposed to the cold vapor arising from liquid hydrogen, air is instantly turned solid, falls like a miniature snowstorm into the vessel containing the hydrogen, and sinks to the bottom.

Solid Scholarship.

At a political meeting an excited Irishman had risen to yell his satisfaction. "Sit down!" called the man behind him, twitching his coat tails. "Don't you know you're opaque?" "And that I'm not!" cried the other. "I'm O'Brien."

A London paper tells a story of Professor Huxley, which suggests that he may have heard of the Irishman. The professor had made a demonstration and asked a student:

"Did you follow me?"

"Yes, sir," he replied, "except at one point, when you were between me and the blackboard."

"Well," said the professor, "I always try to be clear, but I can't make myself transparent."

Why He Became a Cook.

Sir Horace Plunkett tells a story of his ranching days in the West. Riding into camp one evening, he turned his horse loose and got some supper, which was a vilely cooked meal, even for a cow camp. Recognizing in the cook a cowboy he had formerly employed, Sir Horace said to him: "You were a way-up cow hand, but as cook you are no account. Why did you give up riding and take to cooking? What are you qualifications, anyway?" Qualifications!" he replied, "why, don't you know I've got varicose veins?"

The Cattle Fair.

Once a year the inhabitants of the little Devonshire town retire within doors and fortify their respective dwellings with barricades of various and ingenious modes of construction; while the one long street is entirely given over to the red Devons, their buyers and sellers.

Before daybreak they begin to arrive, drove upon drove of sleek, leisurely, red-hided beasts, with luminous, inquiring eyes and curly, wrinkled necks. Behind their slow dignity of movement presses in a thronging multitude; dusty, clarion-voiced drovers yelling lustily, prodding continual and ineffective sticks, and a following of small boys, stick-armed, leather-lunged and insurgent. By early morning the street is a dense mass of seething life, animal and human mingling inextricably. An army of dealers push their way insistently among the crowd, dodging sharp horns and inspecting with professional keenness each likely animal. The air is a babel of sound, of raucous human voices contending in a deal, of the thud of continual sticks against reverberating horns, and below all this high-pitched clatter the deep organ note of the protesting beast booms unceasingly.

The roar increases, gathers itself into deafening volume, the packed mass eddies to and fro, separates, closes in, as a deal is concluded and a lot is driven away, accompanied by farewell shrieks, whacks, escort of prodding youth, drover and newly-acquired owner; so the herd departs, leaving in its rear a thick cloud of dust and sending forward a like herald of the approaching hoofs.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Took the Doctor's Advice.

There was once a learned judge of eighty who never took any exercise. Not feeling very well, he consulted a physician.

"You have no business to live without taking exercise," said the physician. "You must give up your sedentary habits and walk for an hour every day."

"But it bores me so," pleaded the judge. "If I follow your advice I shall walk myself into a premature grave."

"Better die correctly than live incorrectly," snapped the physician. "I can't understand how you can have the presumption to be alive now."

"Very well, then. If you insist upon it I'll take exercise under protest," said the judge and died a couple of months later, still protesting.—London Academy.

A Great Editor.

An interesting picture of Delane, the famous editor of The Times, is drawn by Mr. James Shand, in the course of an article upon that journal in The Cornhill. The editorship was offered him at the age of 24, and I remember one day asking if it did not shake his courage. "Not a bit of it," he answered. "What I dislike about you young fellows is that you all shrink from responsibility." Nor was there any boastful self-assertion in that, for I have heard the story from his life-long friend, John Blackwood. The youths were then living together in St. James' square. One afternoon Delane burst in upon Blackwood, exclaiming, "By G—, John, what do you think has happened? I am editor of The Times."

Stanley "a Splendid Liar."

One of the funniest stories told by Stanley, which comes in quite apropos just now, is that one day, while conversing with a friendly tribe during his recent travels, one of the chiefs present inquired how many wives he possessed, says the Sheffield (England) Telegraph. Upon Stanley innocently replying that he had none all those present stood up like one man and unanimously exclaimed, "What a splendid liar!" They intensely admired the apparent calmness with which he had, as they thought, tried to pass off on them a wondrous traveler's tale.

GRAET SEA POWERS.

How Great Britain and Japan and Russia and France Compare.

A return of the numerical strength of the fleets of the chief naval powers issued recently as a Parliamentary paper enables the following interesting comparison to be made of the fighting power of the Anglo-Japanese and Franco-Russian alliance:

	Great Britain and Japan.	France and Russia.
Battleships, 1st class	55	26
Battleships, 2nd class	5	13
Battleships, 3rd class	2	2
Coast defence vessels, armored.	8	23
Cruisers, armored	26	23
Cruisers, protected, 1st class...	21	12
Cruisers, protected, 2nd class..	61	19
Cruisers, protected, 3rd class..	40	19
Cruisers, unprotected	17	4
Torpedo vessels	83	26
Torpedo boat destroyers	143	71
Torpedo boats	109	409
Submarines	8	27

The figures for France and Russia do not allow for Russian losses in the Far East, which are at present four battleships, four cruisers and four destroyers.

Arranged by types of warships the following are the comparative figures for the greater nations:

	Battleships	Armored cruisers.	Protected cruisers.	Destroyers.	Torpedo boats.
Britain	55	28	102	124	87
France	30	15	40	24	233
Russia	21	8	10	47	167
Germany	30	4	22	87	96
Italy	16	5	18	11	138
United States ..	12	2	20	20	81
Japan	7	8	20	10	62

The figures given for submarines—namely, Britain 8, France 26, Russia, Germany and Italy 1 each, United States 8, and Japan none—do not tally with later information, and therefore are not given in the above abstract.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain is popularly supposed to be in appearance almost the duplicate of his father. As a matter of fact, there is very little facial resemblance between them, and in physique they are quite unlike. The Chancellor of the Exchequer's most prominent feature is not the nose, as in the case of Chamberlain pere, but the eyes, which are blue and with the prominence which sometimes, but not always, denotes eloquence of speech. Almost the only characteristic, physical or acquired, which father and son have in common, is an eyeglass, worn constantly in the right eye, and a slight delve in the walk. Their manner of speaking has many points of difference.

THE RICH AND THE POOR.

Striking Contrast at Early Morn in University Park, Toronto—Society on Horseback—The Scrub Woman.

Hush! The birds are at matins in the trees, and the beauties and richness of cathedral service are as nought compared with the sound and scene so hallowed. The park, resounding with awakening life, is their church; the branches, as yet unleaved, but rich in bursting buds, their altar; and the sky, in which the greys of early morning are giving place to blue and white, their canopy.

Listen! They sing and chirp of life and hope, and their song needs no interpretation. Gladder hearts ne'er sent up to heaven so honest a venite. It is their morning sacrifice, ascending to the sky in tremulous melody. Was ever religious edifice so sacred as the trees? Were chanted matins ever so free from discord?

Alas! How rudely is fancy sometimes shaken! Matins must have ceased, for there are two of the feathered saints (!) fighting over the proverbial early worm! Poor worm! He might have known he was in the vicinity of the Parliament Buildings, "where every prospect pleases, and only man is vile." And, despite the beauty and glory of surrounding nature, those hungry songsters wrangled and fought—just as the political gods within the solemn pile of handsome architecture across the way had recently wrangled and fought—to the ultimate sorrow of other worms. But to-day that temple has become a temple of peace. The wicked have ceased from troubling, and the province is at rest.

A Morning Gallop.

Look! A lady on horseback and the hour not yet six. Ye gods! How she sits the saddle, cool, erect and beautiful; her fair form radiant with the glow of abundant health; her body exquisitely shaped and clad in riding habit. How her eyes sparkle with the delight of living, and her cheeks and lips glow in tints of red, laughing defiance to the painter's brush.

Now she is off, and the splendid animal, with champing of bit and prancings, dilates his eager nostrils, takes in the invigorating air, and in a moment he dashes round the curve. What a splendid scene, and how the birds on the branches nearby fluttered with excitement as horse and rider passed, as though in fear of coming danger. Now come others, each equiped for the morning canter or gallop; each bearing signs of heartfelt pleasure in the resplendent scene around, toned by the softening gleam of early morning light. It was, after all, a scene for the rich. The glow of coming summer, the young leaves, the gentle breeze, the song of the birds, all, all essentially for the rich. The valet and dainty chambermaid had knocked at the bedroom door. The riding habit and breeches had been placed in readiness by menial hands, and the horses were groomed and waiting in the stable yard, their bridles held by the dirty hand of a tired and sleepy groom. But the park was simply delightful, don't-you-know.

Birds Sang to Her.

Who was she? Well, it is really hard to tell. "Big Ben" had just boomed out seven and she was walking quickly across the park, looking neither to the right nor left. Her dress was plain, exceedingly plain, and her hat in most perfect harmony with her dress. Her hair was turning grey and her brow, perhaps once of snowy whiteness, was wrinkled and creased. Her cheeks appeared sunken and her mouth drooped at the corners. A strange, sad face to look upon but brave withal and her eyes seemed fearless. But eyes oftentimes reveal the secrets of the soul.

Then why this detail? She's only a scrub-woman. Yes, only a scrub-woman. Only a poor, hard-working little woman who rises every morning at half-past five, tired, from a bed to which she had gone tired the previous night; who moves quietly about the kitchen lest she might awaken her three little children while she tidies up and makes herself a cup of watery tea to wash down a little bread and butter. The beauties of Queen's Park in the early morning to her poor distorted vision have little charm. She sees only the office, the floors, the stairs, the landings and her pail and brushes, and wonders, with a great intellectual effort, if there'll be more than the ordinary amount of dirt to clean up.

Poor woman! She doesn't ride a horse in Queen's Park in the early morning; but she loves her children, works hard for them and bears silently many unpleasant hints, winks and innuendoes thrown gratuitously at her during the day from gentlemen in the office, many of them possessed of morals as questionable as the ascent or descent of man.

But, after all, she is only a scrub-woman, without horse, groom or lady's maid. Yet it was to her that all nature spoke this morning, though maybe she did not hear the many voices which eloquently tell of life, death and resurrection.—Toronto Telegram.

The Clerk and the Verger.

The late George Clarke was for many years the verger of St. James' Cathedral, and was reputed to have an acrid wit that sometimes stood him in good stead. His ability at repartee, however, was not more marked than that of Mr. Taylor, who, in the early forties, was the clerk of the cathedral. Mr. Taylor, in the old fashion, sat under the pulpit, and returned the responses to the rector during the service. His it was to receive the customary pew-opener's fees at weddings, while the verger took those at funerals. It is a well known story amongst Toronto's older families how Mr. George Kingsmill, then Chief of Police of the city, told the verger of that day, after a wedding, in which Mr. Kingsmill participated as "acting father," that the clerk of the cathedral obtained his money from the quick, while the verger got his from the dead. The late Dean Grassett was fond of telling this story.—Toronto News.

Peace at Last.

Mr. Hoon—Scrappington and his wife have parted.

Mrs. Hoon—Good gracious! What is the trouble?

Mr. Hoon—There isn't any trouble now. They have parted.—Smart Set.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

THE GROUSE.

Clever Bird Which Has a Hundred Tricks of Defence With Which to Fool Its Foes.

The grouse has a hundred tricks of defense. It will sometimes lie still until the hunter is within a yard of it, then soar straight upward in his front, towering like a woodcock. Again it will rise forty yards away, and the sound of its wings is his only notice of its presence. It will cower upon a branch under which he passes, and his cap will not be more than a foot below it as he goes, and, though it has seen him approaching, it will remain quiescent in frightful fear until his back is turned. It will flush then, and when he has slewed himself hurriedly around he will catch only a glimpse of a broad brown wing far away. Wounded and falling in the open, it will be found—if it is found at all—with the telltale speckles of its breast against the trunk of some brown tree, against which its feathers are indistinguishable, and the black ruff about the neck of the male will be laid against the darkest part of the bark. Often it will double like a fox. Often as man draws near it will spring noiselessly into some spruce and hide until he passes, dropping then to the ground and continuing its feeding. Often, too, it will decline to take wing, though unhurt, and will run fast for a half mile—so fast that the most expert woodsman will be unable to keep pace with it. This it will do only on leafy ground and never when snow would betray its tracks.—Outing.

A New Ontario Paper.

New Ontario is to have a new newspaper, The Temiskaming Herald, of New Liskeard. The proprietor is Mr. John Sharp, M.A., formerly a lecturer in Morrin College, Quebec, and Queen's University. Mr. Sharp has been associated with the Temiskaming district from the very early pioneer days, and is highly respected in the country, for his practical sagacity as well as for his scholarship and culture. The Herald he announces, will be an independent paper, refusing to "be governed or controlled in any way by any political party or faction," its special politics being "New Ontario, first, last and always." A journal which rigidly adheres to this program should prove interesting and useful.

CHILL WINDS

Are the dread of those whose lungs are "weak." Some fortunate people can follow the summer as it goes southward, and escape the cold blasts of winter and the chill airs of spring. But for the majority of people this is impossible. Family cares and business obligations hold them fast.

"Weak" lungs are made strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the obstinate cough, heals the inflamed tissues, stops the hemorrhage, and restores the lost flesh to the emaciated body.

"I am a railroad agent," writes I. B. Staples, Esq., of Barclay, Osage Co., Kans., "and four years ago my work keeping me in a warm room and stepping out frequently into the cold air gave me bronchitis, which became chronic and deep seated. Doctors failed to reach my case and advised me to try a higher air, but, fortunately for me, a friend also advised me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and by the time I had taken the first bottle I was better, and after taking about four bottles my cough was entirely gone. I have found no necessity for seeking another climate."

Sometimes a dealer, tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines, will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery."

You get the People's Medical Adviser, the best medical work ever published, free by sending stamps, to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound volume, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

GILBERT'S FUN AGAIN.

Tells an Interesting Story of a Song in the Mikado—Recovered From Blowing Out His Brains.

The creator of the Mikado, W. S. Gilbert, has come out of retirement and his name is attached to a new domestic comedy entitled "The Fairy's Dilemma." He favored the First Nighters' Club of London recently with his latest jokes.

Responding to the toast of "The Drama," he remarked that it was on record that a certain occasional reporter, having to describe the incidents of a case of suicide, concluded his article with these pregnant words—"No reason could be assigned for the rash act, seven and sixpence having been found on the body of the deceased." He (Mr. Gilbert) was, to a certain extent, in the position of the unfortunate gentleman who formed the subject of the reporter's article.

He had committed dramatic suicide seven years ago, that is to say, he had voluntarily withdrawn from the profession with which he had for many years been identified. His friends had been good enough to see that there was seven-and-sixpenny worth of dramatic invention still left in the cranium of the deceased. But a certain modicum of dramatic ability could not save him from the anxieties, worries, jealousies and annoyances inseparable from his profession. So he had retired to an obscure corner of Harrow Weald, and there, so to speak, blown out his brains.

The chairman had described his plays as clean. He did not altogether deserve it. When the "Mikado" was in rehearsal it occurred to Sir Arthur Sullivan and himself that the entrance of the Mikado might be effectively made to a Japanese song.

They asked a friend who was an authority on Japanese for a suggestion, and he said they could not do better than the Japanese National Anthem. The friend hummed the air; Sullivan took down the notes, and he himself the words; the air was incorporated in the play. A few years ago a performance of the "Mikado" was given at Hamburg. A Japanese gentleman who was present remarked that he was very much interested to find so much of the detail was accurate as could be, and so much as wrong as possible. But what astonished, shocked and horrified him was the fact that the entrance of the Mikado was made to the very foulest song that was ever sung in the lowest teahouse in Japan. This was the song that their accomplished friend had palmed off as the Japanese National Anthem.

Resourcefulness of Stanley.

Herbert Ward sold his story illustrating the late Sir Henry M. Stanley's readiness of resource in dealing with a crafty savage trying to overreach him: When the explorer reached Stanley Pool on his last expedition to Africa the big Bateke chief Ngalyema, who figured conspicuously in Stanley's book on the Congo State, came to him demanding a big present on the ground that some of his carriers had taken bananas from his plantation. Stanley had good reason to believe the wily ivory trader was lying, and he did not propose to fall into his trap. Almost any one else would have told the chief he was a prevaricator, and there would have been an angry discussion and bad feeling on all sides, but that was not Stanley's way. He at once summoned all his men into line and walked up and down in front of it with the chief, asking him to pick out the culprits. Ngalyema said he could not do it.

"Now, look here, Ngalyema," said Stanley, "how can I pay you for stolen bananas unless you give me proof that my men have stolen them, and how can I punish thieves unless I know who they are? Wait a minute."

Stanley withdrew into his tent and presently emerged with a piece of chalk. "See here, Ngalyema," he said, "this little thing in my hand makes a white mark on the black skin. Take it. The next time you catch my men stealing your bananas you mark the thieves on the back with this piece of chalk. Then I will know who the thieves are and can punish them, and I will pay you for the bananas they have stolen."

The chief was not quite empty handed when he went away, for he had the chalk.

The Republic of Canada.

Twenty years ago 20 per cent. of the people of Canada would have welcomed the annexation of the Dominion to the United States. Ten years ago only 10 per cent. of the men who think thought seriously of such a move, and to-day no one ever mentions the matter at all. Twenty years ago only a few dreamers dreamed of the republic of Canada. Ten years later 10 per cent. of the people were in favor of it, and to-day twenty out of every hundred Canadians would welcome the news that Canada had cast off the cable that moors her to the Motherland and had blossomed out as a nation.

The relations between the people of the United States and of Canada will grow more friendly and pleasanter as the years go by because of the wholesale swapping of citizens now going on. Millions of Canadians have gone to the United States, and in the next decade millions of Americans will have crossed into Canada. We shall like each other better as we see each other more, for we North Americans are the people—all of us.—Leslie's Monthly.

Interesting War Relics.

Some interesting war relics were on exhibition at the recent meeting in Toronto of the Army and Navy Veterans on May 10th. Mr. John Munn, chaplain of the order, obtained on loan from Lieut. Turner, formerly of the 20th Devonshire Regiment, whose father, Col. Turner, served with the 11th North Devonshire Regiment through the Peninsula campaign, a number of interesting mementoes.

One relic was a tattered silk flag, which was carried by Colonel (then Ensign) Turner at the Battle of Waterloo, and which was presented to him by the officers of the regiment after the campaign. Several medals, presented to Col. Turner, also form part of the collection. Another honorary member of the Veterans lent a Court suit, worn by Chas. Paing Destoe, one of the secretaries to Charles I., whom he followed all through the Civil War. Various other relics were also on exhibition.

Death Is But a Natural Graduation to Better Things.

There is a little scar on the door where the pall was hung, there is a wound in the heart and a vacant chair before the grate in the library, there is a Bible that's worn, there is a fresh-made grave and a new voice in the choir.

He used to have a favorite hymn at family devotions, and we have often heard "Sweet hour of prayer, sweet hour of prayer, that calls me from a world of care."

And when he was called, he did not hesitate.

"Is he sleeping?"

They asked the nurses, and when the doctor called him, there was no answer. He had slept away, turned over, and, with a smile, as one in pleasant dreams, he left the winter's night for a summer's morning.

And here we are tossing on this sea, this sea of life, and there he is safe in the harbor. Here we are subject to the pangs of humanity, and there he is clothed in divinity. Here we are troubled, there he is peaceful. Here we are anxious of the morrow, he has no morrow, there is no night there, it is all to-day.

So the tears are not for him, for he is far better. They are selfish tears, they are the tears of earth's children, who grieve over this loss, forgetting what it means for him.

We know that he would ask why the tears if he saw them; he would question the drawn curtain, the tip-toed step and hushed voice. He would have none of this. But we are human, and so we mourn to-day for the "touch of the vanished hand, the sound of the voice that is still."

Yet we know we should not mourn. To him life alone was serious and worth while.

And death but a natural graduation to better things.

So we stand by the vacant chair, and hold to life's things loosely, for we saw him slip away even as a child kissing its mother closed its eyes, and fell asleep.

Life to-day has a new meaning, for we are bound by ties that reach from earth to the city that knows no sorrow and needs no sun.—Charles F. Raymond, in Toronto Star.

Three Months on the Way.

Hutchinson Bros., grocers, of Bracebridge, bought a carload of hay at Mariposa that was shipped on January 16 last. Mariposa is a station on the Midland division of the Grand Trunk, probably 60 miles from Bracebridge. Paul Jones, the same day left New York City for a trip around the world. He visited the British Isles, took in the chief points of interest, went to France, to Germany, The Hague, St. Petersburg, over the world-known Trans-Siberian Railroad to Japan, the wonderful little isle of the east, took a flying trip through China, saw the sister colony of Canada in the east called India, went down to sunny Ceylon, across the Indian Ocean to the newly acquired district of South Africa, from thence to Australian, to Honolulu, to San Francisco, and then on the overland limited to New York, landing at that city on March 27, after an absence of two months and nine days, the same day as the car of hay landed at Bracebridge.—Burk's Falls Arrow.

An Error About Irving's Understudy.

It appears from British mail advices that the cable misled Canadians as to Sir Henry Irving's remarks about people mistaking his understudy for himself. The Daily Chronicle puts it in this way: "Sir Henry's understudy, who had not a single chance in his six months of waiting, might legitimately have nursed a grievance. However, he got his chance in an unexpected way when the company was in Canada. They were there when 'Our Lady of the Snows' was at her best, and many of the members of the company distinguished themselves on the ice. Particularly was this the case with the gentleman who takes Sir Henry's place on the stage in an emergency. And as he bears some facial resemblance to the great actor, the local papers came out with lengthy accounts of Sir Henry Irving's feats on the ice. As a matter of fact, he has never got beyond sliding."

ALL GOOD THINGS

must win upon their merits. The International Dictionary has won a greater distinction upon its merits and is in more general use than any other work of its kind in the English language.

A. H. Sayce, LL.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: It is indeed a marvelous work; it is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we might expect to find in such a work, but also what few of us would ever have thought of looking for.

A supplement to the new edition has brought it fully up to date. I have been looking through the latter with a feeling of astonishment at its completeness, and the amount of labor that has been put into it.

A Fifty Million Dollar Problem

The above title is the caption of an interesting pamphlet issued by the passenger department of the Grand Trunk Railway System, in connection with the World's Fair at St. Louis, April 30th, to December 1st, 1904. The publication contains a very comprehensive and interesting description of the Fair, given in the speech delivered by the Hon. Richard Bartholdt, in the House of Representatives, Washington. The information contained in the brochure will tell you how to solve the "$50,000,000 problem," and help you to decide upon the best way to reach St. Louis, the cost, many suggestions, and a number of sidetrips that may be taken en route, with the price of tickets, etc. The pamphlet is for free distribution and may be obtained from any of the agents of the Grand Trunk Railway System.

WILL ENGLAND BUY EGYPT.

Not Likely Then War With Turkey Is Bound to Come.

A correspondent traveling in Egypt writes a member of the staff of The Toronto World as follows:

When last I wrote we were on our lovely Nile voyage. I think the next real mile-stone was the Temple of Hathor at Dendorah. We had a long donkey ride to reach there, and it was our first temple and will always seem very impressive. I have seen many since, but the peculiar arrangement of some of the symbols, and of the temple itself, and its location, lead me to think it was the scene of greater mysteries than any place we have seen since. It took us four weeks and three days to reach Luxor, so after long and prayerful consideration we decided to abandon the Dahabeyah. We went to the hotel at Luxor and spent a week seeing Karnak and Thebes, and those days at Thebes were simply overwhelming. Then we went on by rail to Assouan and stayed there four weeks and a day. We went to Philae and rode donkeys every day out on the desert, and had a perfectly delightful time. The heat became quite intolerable, 101 in a cool place, and 130 in a warm one, before we left. We returned to Cairo by a Cook steamer, four days making the journey. Cairo was so much colder that in spite of every precaution we took heavy colds. Yesterday we went to the El Azur, the oldest university in the world. There are over 7,000 students there, ranging in age from 9 to 10 years to elderly men. They all, of course, sat or squatted on the floor and studied aloud. They kept rocking back and forth, and whenever one felt sleepy he simply tumbled over and went to sleep. It was the most remarkable sight, in a way, that I have ever witnessed. We did not receive many pleasant looks, and I think I was especially scowled upon. These are such singular people, judged by our standards, and the hold that their religion has upon them is wonderful. The best and wisest European is to the Bisharin beggar merely a dog of a Christian, whom he would not hesitate to kill if he could thereby serve the Prophet, and if he were not such a coward. They are so importunate with their wares and their begging that one needs a stick at all times, but they will whine and cower when it is raised. I have not yet determined at what stage the Ego needs Egyptian experience. There is the finest possible physical development, especially as one nears Nubia. The Nubians are magnificent, and there must be more or less of spiritual consciousness, but there seems to be an almost total lack of the intellectual. The contemplative bearing of the whole people is very interesting. The little children sit down, and just sit still and do nothing. A mother will hoist her little child astride her left shoulder, down goes his little head on her head, and he is asleep instantly. The man in front of you may be walking along like anyone else. All at once, down he goes in the gutter, on the sidewalk, in a doorway, and he is sound asleep in the broiling sun by the time you come up to him. I have "snapped" men asleep in all sorts of places.

We have become greatly interested in modern Egypt, and I have adroitly questioned every English person I could concerning the English "occupation." I cannot see how it is possible for the present English policy to be prolonged without eventually bringing on war with Turkey. No one seems to think there is the least possibility of England buying Egypt, and certainly the Sultan will not relinquish it without a struggle. When that time comes, the bond of Islam will hold the Egyptian, and he will be loyal to Turkey.

Passing of the English Sailorman.

The skipper of the tramp steamer Bumping Billy was engaging a new crew. "What's your name?" he said to the foremost applicant. "Giuseppe Grinolieri," replied the man. "Eyetalian?" "Yees, sair." "Very good. Step on one side. And yours?" he went on to the next A. B. "Ivan Ikanoff." "Russian?" "Bolish, sare." "Right. Step alongside o' Yewseppy. Next man?" "Wilhelm Zwillanguzi." "German?" "Ja." "Very good. Over you go. Next?" "Manoel Oliveria. I Portuguese seaman, senhor." "Step over, then, Mannivol. Next?" "John Thompson, sir." "What?" "John Thompson, sir." "What in th-thunder—what the — what nationality?" screamed the horrified shipmaster. "English, sir," replied the man. For a full half minute the unhappy skipper stood speechless, his countenance turning from purple to orange and from orange to gray, and then, with a gurgling gasp of "English, by gum!" he tottered, staggered and fell prone upon the ground.—Liverpool Daily Post.

London's Budget.

Lord Welby the other day laid before the London County Council his financial statement for the year 1904-5. The following tables gives the estimates of revenue and expenditure—both this year nearly doubled on account of the council becoming the educational authority:

Revenue	£8,575,451
Ordinary	4,510,834
Education	4,064,617
Expenditure	8,640,226
Expenditure	8,540,226
Education	8,540,969

The estimated and actual revenue and expenditure for the past year were as follows:

	Estimated.	Actual.
Revenue	£4,687,798	£4,725,593
Expenditure	4,703,270	4,601,813

Women on the Farm.

A circular containing a series of questions regarding farm life was recently distributed throughout the province at the suggestion of the National Council of Women, and answers are now being received. In the majority of cases the question, "Is farm life a desirable one for women," is answered in the affirmative, and from the replies it would seem as if very little milking was now done by women except at busy times. Teaching school and dressmaking is the answer generally given to the question as to the occupation of farmers' daughters who have left home. The average acreage of the farm is given at from 100 to 150. The difficulty of securing help is marked, and catarrh and rheumatism are given as the chief complaints from which women suffer.

OTTAWA AND ART.

H. F. G. Sizes Up the Capital's Yearnings in This Direction.

Ottawa is full of aesthetic yearnings, writes H. F. G. in Toronto Star, and one of her chief desires is an art school with Government encouragement. The Government encouragement is, of course, a necessity because Ottawa has the habit. Besides anyone can see that the finer impulses must not be starved for lack of money.

The artistic palingenesis began with the establishment of the Ottawa Improvement Commission, a body of inspired landscape gardeners, who, in twenty years, are to convert the capital city into a thing of beauty and a joy forever, a spot of such scenic magnificence and architectural splendor that Washington will be proud to be called the Ottawa of the South. In her mind's eye Ottawa views the happy day when the river shall be cleansed of sawdust and yellow flotsam, the mills be banished beyond the Deschenes Rapids, the lumber yards be hidden somewhere behind the Laurentian Hills, the pine-clad cliffs be clipped and shaven to some symmetrical design, and the whole terraqueous prospect from the Chaudiere to Rockliffe shall glitter like the Mediterranean littoral. On the noble bluffs which overlook the river shall rise, as they are required, new Government buildings of classic outline, the white marble or native limestone glinting through the trees with magical effect. The picturesque canyon where the Rideau Canal debouches after its mad career up country is to be spanned by bridges as buoyant and graceful as the swallow's wing. In a word, Ottawa is to be the brightest jewel in the British crown.

But the Ottawa Improvement Commission moves with the deliberateness of a Government institution. It promises to do as much as L'Enfant did for Washington, or Napoleon for Paris, but it asks for time. It cannot keep pace with the fervid, proleptic aestheticism of the best people at the capital. It has cleaned up Major Hill Park and given Ottawa the driveway, but Ottawa grasps precipitately at the vision of things hoped for, the substance of things not seen. She would become a dream city in a night, and, to tell the truth, Government commissions do not work that way. Under these circumstances Ottawa clamors for an art school, something which will not only teach people to paint, but which will also fix a standard of criticism, and provide a spur to the Ottawa Improvement Commission. The wealthier classes at the capital do not know much about art. Their religion has been white pine so long that art is like a new creed. Still, they believe that art is a good thing, very respectable you know, and a proper object of munificence. They look up the authorities, but Ruskin, being mystical, tells them nothing, and Tolstoi, being revolutionary, does not find favor. One thing they do realize—that the modified circus posters which cover the walls of the National Gallery are, in no sense, immortal efforts. Beyond that, all is vague and hesitant. It is obvious that an art school is needed to define and illuminate the brumous conceptions that prevail in the circles of culture.

Also there are business reasons. Ottawa is a place where people are always having their pictures taken. In ordinary circumstances every public man or State dignitary goes under the camera twice a year. 'Tis a photographer's paradise. The trade has reached such proportions that the photographers keep agents in No. 16 and the lobbies of the House. No member of Parliament feels quite safe or patriotic until his counterfeit presentment in the frock coat and etceteras of a statesman—his hand on the Revised Statutes, and a few Doric columns in the background—appears in the photographer's window. This edifying spirit pervades all classes. There is no doubt that Ottawa is an art centre, and justly claims an art school for those who cannot spend enough money at the photographer's. An opportunity to get rid of five hundred dollars at a crack for one portrait in oils is what Ottawa needs to make her truly great.

Fighting Garden Pests.

Dr. Fletcher, entomologist at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, lectured at the Normal School Mission recently on "Spring Work and How to go About It."

Dr. Fletcher explained the difference between the study of nature and of natural history and the appearance and disappearance of pests that destroyed grains and fruit orchards, pointing out that everything had its use. It was folly to attempt to drive out every group of insects as they were usually followed by other pests that drove them out.

He dwelt on the necessity for close observation, enquiring the reasons why certain parasites appeared in some localities and then jumped to other places hundreds of miles away.

He also spoke of common weeds, and said some farmers vainly endeavored to exterminate every pest that came along when nature itself would supply the remedy.

A Lord Bacon Story.

There was a minister deprived of his pulpit who said to some of his friends that the action should cost a hundred men's lives. They understood it as if, being a turbulent fellow, he would have moved sedition; so they complained of him. Then he explained that his meaning was that if he lost his benefice he would practice physic and then he thought he should kill a hundred men in time.

Special Course in Music.

HEAVIEST MAN IN ENGLAND.

William Ecclestone Weighs 500 Pounds and Is Still Growing.

Possibly the heaviest man in the world is Mr. William Thomas Ecclestone, the landlord of the Coach and Horses, an old coaching house to the north of London, on the main road to Harrow and Watford.

He weighs over forty stone, and his measurements are as follows:

Chest	6 feet 6½ inches
Thigh	2 feet 11½ inches
Calf	1 foot 9½ inches
Arm	2 feet 2 inches

It is a pedestrian tour to walk round Mr. Ecclestone. He is several inches bulkier than Jesse Ames Baker, the American heavyweight, who was buried at Preston the other day, and who in life claimed to be the heaviest man on earth. Mr. Baker weighed forty-two stone, two stone more than Mr. Ecclestone, but his chest and waist measurements respectively were only 5 feet 9 inches and 6 feet 1 inch.

The chances are that Mr. Ecclestone will be heavier than Baker was in a year or so, for he enjoys splendid health and a capital appetite.

Mr. Ecclestone was not born to greatness, he had it thrust upon him, and anti-fat preparations were in vain. As a young man, the future giant was of normal size. To-day, at the early age of 42, he is among the great ones of the earth.

He was born in Shoreditch, London, he said, and was intended for a carpenter, but, strolling down to Billingsgate, he shipped on a fish trawler as a handy boy. He was at sea for two years, and finally a Boniface. Going to Coventry once, he could not get into the carriages, and as the guard would not allow him in the guard's van he had to travel as luggage in the luggage van. When sleeping away from home he always reconnoitres his bedstead carefully. He has fallen through several beds. Once he was staying with a friend and distrusting the bedstead, suggested that it should be shored up with empty boxes or any other handy supports. His friend derided the idea, and declared that the bed was strong enough to support any forty-stone featherweight.

"I got into bed," said Mr. Ecclestone, "and presently one wire cracked, and then another, and down I went on the floor. Ha, ha, ha!"

"Only the other week I was coming down to the law courts, and I called a hansom, but the step bent directly I got on it. Ha, ha, ha! Up in Camden Town once I was very tired, and the only cabman in sight refused to take me, and I don't know what would have happened if a pantechnicon hadn't come along, and the driver let me ride on the tailboard."

A Canadian D.D.'s Bull.

A well-known Toronto D.D. (Rev. Dr. Potts), who is attending the World's Sunday School Convention in Jerusalem, writes the very deliberate statement: "We saw, on the trees, oranges, lemons, dates, and Irish potatoes being dug." No doubt there are strange things in the shadowy and mysterious East, but if western minds are really to be convinced that "Irish Potatoes" can grow on trees, the trees, as well as the potatoes, will need to be brought home.

CIVIC HOLIDAY ON THIRD THURSDAY.

August 18th Will be Citizen's Holiday in 1904—Council Makes This Decision.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE COUNCIL.

Deputations From Societies Protested Against Change—Other Matters Discussed at Council Meeting—An Assessment Commissioner.

At the special meeting of the town council last night, a deputation representing the Oddfellows and Foresters lodges waited on the council, asking that no change be made at least for this year, in the date of Civic Holiday from the third Thursday in August. The deputation represented that the societies had arranged for excursions, and in some cases printing had been gotten out, and they thought that injustice would be done to change the date at this hour. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared advocating the change, but the council thought it better to leave the date as it was last year, consequently the third Thursday in August, the 18th of the month, will be Peterborough's Civic holiday this year.

Ald. Rush brought up the question of appointing a permanent assessment commission for the town, and it is probable that something may be done in this direction in the near future. The public works in the fifth ward were discussed, and the Aldermen expressed their opinion that to keep faith with the citizens there, the work promised at the time of the union should be proceeded with at once.

A by-law appointing a tax collector at a salary of $550 a year was passed.

Those attending last night's Council meeting were: Mayor Roger, and Aldermen Johnston, Edgcumbe, Morrison, Rush, Hicks, Scott, Adams, Olinkscale, Batten, McWilliams.

The minutes of the last meetings were adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS

Communication were read and dealt with as follows:—

From W. J. Green, tax collector, asking for an increase of salary for the year 1904, on account of the extra work entailed by the enlargement of the town, etc.

From Joseph Picard and other property owners, calling attention to the necessity of having something done to get rid of the water that accumulates on Lock street, near Romaine street, and which floods the adjacent property. — Referred to the Board of Works.

From Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, pointing out that the Railway Commission have appointed Thursday, June 16th, at 11 o'clock, a. m., the time and place for the consideration of the Street Railway Company's application for crossing the C.P.R. and G.T.R. tracks in town, and requesting the assistance and cooperation of the municipal authorities in support of the application. The communication also drew attention to the fact that since the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway had become defunct gates had been established on both Simcoe and George streets, and the steam railways are now seeking to impose the cost of maintaining these gates upon the Street Railway Company. This legal firm submitted that as these gates became necessary by reason of the ordinary travel upon these highways, at a time that no street railway was in operation, it would be unfair to now impose the cost of maintaining the gates upon the Street Railway Company. The Street Railway Company should of course, assume the extra cost of maintaining the crossing caused by the operation of this road, and will not object to this. They think it is in the interests of the town that the steam roads should control the gates and pay the watchman, and asked the Council to instruct their Solicitor to support Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson's application, on behalf of the Street Railway Company, at Ottawa, with a deputation from the Council.—Received.

From the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society, saying that they understand the Orangemen are arranging for a booth on July 12th, and asking that the erection of such booths be restricted to the west half of the Park. The Horticultural Society have spent considerable money in improving the park; hence their request.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From T. Q. Quartermaine, Secretary Board of Trade, inclosing a resolution passed by the Council of the Board, recommending that the date hereafter of Civic Holiday be changed to the first Monday in August, the same day as Toronto's Civic Holiday. —Received.

From Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson, stating that their clients, Duncan Cameron, Elias Lowes, Mrs. Curtain and Mrs. Michael O'Brien of 793, 781, 784 and 777 George street, respectively, claim that the sidewalk now being constructed opposite their respective premises will injuriously affect their several properties, and that it is their intention in case the same is not constructed in such a way as not to injure their property, to claim compensation for damages sustained, as provided by the Municipal Act. The grade of the sidewalk as being constructed will be so high as to seriously affect and damage the above property.—Received.

From Town Solicitor, K. H. D. Hall, saying that Mr. Robert Stuart's letter regarding the extension of time for the completion of the Street Railway is sufficient to maintain the Town's position as to the $5,000 security deposited.—Received.

From W. H. Moore, applying for town debentures to the amount of $3,200, or as near thereto as they may be issued, at twenty years, bearing four per cent. interest, half-yearly, for which he is prepared to pay par.—Received.

From J. C. Shook, general manager of the Dickson Company, pointing out that some time ago they applied to have their offices at 163 Hunter street connected with the sewer, and deposited with the Town Treasurer $27 as required. They found on opening the street that their connection was already in, but no record was shown on the plan on file in the Engineer's office. A charge of $7 was made for labour in opening up the street, and that amount was deducted from the Dickson Company on return of their deposit. The Company think this needless expense was incurred by the neglect of some one on behalf of the town, and should not be charged to them. They therefore asked that the amount be refunded them.—Board of Works.

From R. Fitzgerald and Sarah Parnell, objecting to the construction of a sewer on Antrim street, from George street west of No. 165, they already being assessed for the intervening property. They have no use for the sewer in question, being assessed for the one on George street.—Board of Works.

From Thos. B. McGrath and John Kincaid, applying for the position of assessors.—Received.

From W. A. Littlejohn, clerk, City of Toronto, forwarding engrossed copy of a resolution passed by the City Council on the occasion of the disastrous conflagration in Toronto. —Received.

From J. J. B. Myers, asking a small donation to a shooting tournament to be held in Stratford. A compliance with this request, Mr. Myers claims, would advertise the town.—Received.

L. L. Cross, on behalf of the Baptist Bible Class, applied for a permit to have a lemonade stand in Central Park on July 12th.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From a number of ratepayers, petitioning that the Council have Barnardo avenue opened through from George street to Water street.—Referred to the Board of Works to report.

From W. H. Moldrum, stating that he intends building a mill and elevator on the Mills property near the Otonabee Power Company's substation, and asks that the Council grant a right of way for a railway siding to accommodate the new establishment. The length of the siding will be 360 feet west from the track now running to the Coral Company's Works. He asks that immediate action be taken.—Committee of the Whole.

A deputation representing Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges, I. O. O. F., and other societies, waited upon the Council to protest against the date of the Civic Holiday being changed.

Mr. W. S. Robinson, of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F., spoke to the Council first, and said that the Lodge represented by him, was surprised that the Council had hastily changed the date of the holiday to the first Monday in August, and the members felt that an injustice had been done. The Lodge had been in the habit of running an excursion every year on the Civic Holiday, and that negotiations for this excursion were begun in March, and are now practically completed. The Lodge was not opposed to the change being made in any future years, but for this year the thought no change should be made, as it would entail a loss of at least $100 on his Lodge. The arrangements now made cannot very well be changed. The Oddfellows constitute a very considerable portion of the community, about 300 or 400 men being in the Oddfellows' Lodges.

Mr. W. Hill, representing Peterborough Lodge, followed along the same line. His Lodge has also made arrangements for an excursion, the stage of these negotiations was not definitely known to him, however. He would advise the Council not to fix the holiday on the same day as Toronto and other cities, as it would be difficult to have sufficient railway accommodation.

Mr. Thos. Laing, representing Court Littlejohn, C. O. F., also protested against the change for the same reasons as those adduced by the previous speakers.

Mr. F. D. Kerr addressed the council supporting the change, pointing out that at the time when the third Thursday in August was set apart as Civic Holiday, Labour Day was not then observed, and as it is at present the two holidays come very close together. He thought it advisable to change the date, making the holidays more evenly divided. Mr. Kerr quoted from the Examiner of May 21st, to show that the change had been suggested, and public opinion was invited, and as far as he could learn, no protest had been entered. The Peterborough Turf Club had arranged for its summer meet for the first week in August, on the strength of the proposed action of the council changing the date to the first Monday in August, and the province had been billed for this event. The strongest reason for the change was that it would make the holiday here fall on the same date as Toronto. The Governor-General's Foot-Guards will visit the town on the first Monday in August, and he thought that the holiday should be observed on that day. He suggested that the Mayor might as a special case proclaim also the 3rd Thursday as a holiday in view of the large number represented by the societies.

Mr. Robinson again addressed the council in support of the protest against the change.

Mr. M. Mowry of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F., characterized the arguments in support of the earlier date as being selfish ones, and the benefit would be to the merchants only. He did not see where the town would

NERVOUS PROSTRATION
CURED BY PE-RU-NA.

HAL. P. DENTON.

Mr. Hal. P. Denton, Chief Department Publicity and Promotion of National Export Exposition, writes:

Philadelphia, Dec. 29, 1903.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

Gentlemen:—"Toward the latter part of August I found myself in a very much run-down condition. I suffered particularly from catarrh of the stomach, aggravated no doubt by the responsibilities and worriment incident to the exploitation of a great international exposition. What I ate distressed me and I would lie awake at night 'threshing over,' if I may use that expression, the affairs of the previous day.

"My family physician said I had nervous prostration and recommended a sea voyage. I gradually grew worse. A kind friend whom I had known in Ohio recommended Peruna. Though skeptical, I finally yielded to his advice. After using one bottle I was much improved and with the fifth bottle came complete recovery. I am in perfect health to-day and owe everything to Peruna."

Very truly yours,
HAL. P. DENTON.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice free.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

HAVELOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A pleasant time was enjoyed at a small party given by Mrs. Jas. Martin, of town, in honour of her guest, Miss Effie Percy.

The school children are all studying hard for their midsummer examinations, and are eagerly looking forward to the holidays.

Mr. Fred Childs is visiting his home for a short time.

A new public institute is being talked of by a number of the leading people of the town. It will be situated just back of the English church, and will have a reading room, billiard room, and smoking room, besides other rooms for different amusements. This is to give the young men a chance to have a good time together without meeting on street corners, saloons, etc. The funds are to be raised chiefly by concerts, which will be no doubt well patronized when the object is known.

John Dell of Toronto, spent a couple of days in town this week.

The baseball boys have had a particularly hard time of it during the past few weeks, by the rain interfering with them every practice night. The last couple of nights, however, they have had good practices and are confident of trimming the Campbellford mine, when they meet in the first match of the Trent Valley Baseball League on the home grounds.

Mr. John Carey, Dr. Holdcroft, G. Warren, P. Haig, and Joe Campbell, who have been up north near Coe Hill on a trout fishing excursion, have returned with a good catch, some of which are beauties. The largest was 16 1-2 inches long and weighed one pound and thirteen ounces.

Mr. Sam Cross, while cutting a piece off the sole of his boot, let the knife slip, cutting a deep gash in the fore part of his leg above the knee.

Mr. J. O'Brien, who has been laid up in bed for the past week on account of illness, made his first appearance out to-day

Mrs. Jas. Bryans has been very ill for the past few days.

Mr. William Frost of Hastings, spent Sunday in town renewing old acquaintances.

Miss Cameron of Bathurst, is the guest of Mrs. Ed. Chapman, of town.

Mr. Chas. Roberts, formerly of town, has secured a situation with W. A. McMaster, merchant.

A bunch of violets and a pearl lost between Havelock and Blairton. The finder will please leave the same with either Mr. N. Stubbs or Mr. J. O'Sullivan.

Mr. E. White will soon be starting his business in his new stand, just west of Joyce's harness shop.

Craig and Barrett have improved their store by installing the electric light. Mr. H. Joyce has also had his store wired for electricity.

LACROSSE.

The local lacrosse team journeyed to Madoc on Friday last and crossed sticks with the twelve of that town. The game was billed for 4 p.m., but did not start until 5.30, on account of a difference of opinion between the players as to who would and who would not play. Madoc refused to play at all unless the Havelock bunch let them play the well known star in lacrosse circles, "Tim Kirk." The Havelock team objected to this on account of Mr. Kirk not being eligible to play under the rules of the T. V.L. After an hour and a half argument the game commenced, being played under protest. On account of the wishes of the spectators Havelock decided to play the game, so as not to put a damper on lacrosse in that town.

The ball was faced by Mr. Haycke, of Tweed, who acted as referee. The play at first was of the end-to-end variety, when Madoc finally scored in nine minutes from a brilliant shot of Kirke's. The next goal also went to Madoc, Kirke again doing the trick in two minutes. By this time the Havelock boys began to realize that the game was going on, and commenced to show what they could do with the rubber, when Ferguson, with one of his "ever ready" shots dropped one in the nets, making the first score for Havelock. The next quarter also found them not playing the game that they are capable of and before they were aware of it Madoc scored two more goals. This quarter ended with the score 4—1 in favour of Madoc.

The next quarter ended with Madoc playing a defence game, and Havelock by this time wide awake, making things decidedly interesting for the Madoc bunch, when O'Sullivan on a nice pass from Easterbrooke, again dropped it in the nets for Havelock. In four minutes more, Derricott, who secured the ball, made a pretty run and passed to O'Sullivan, who passed to Powers, who again scored for Havelock. This ended the scoring. The next quarter had just commenced, when Lancaster, the fast defence man of the Havelock bunch, had the misfortune to get a severe cut on the leg, which required five stitches. This greatly weakened the Havelock team, but Maguire, the speedy centre of Havelock, showed what he could do in this quarter by holding Kirke to a standstill, and scored a goal on a pretty side shot, which was not counted, as the referee claimed the whistle was blown. The Madoc team seeing that Havelock was making it decidedly warm for them, began to crowd their own goal, thus forcing the Havelock boys to shoot from a distance, thus preventing any score, and the game ended 4—3 in favour of Madoc. The line up was as follows:

Havelock.	Madoc.
Goal.
Dineen	F. Harper
Point.
Mein	H. P. Joyce
c. point.
Forde	Thompson
1st defence.
Andrews	Thompson

O'Sullivan	D. W. Thompson

Umpires.

E. Bennett.....C. P. Wallbridge

Time keepers, E. White, Havelock; Geo. Wright, Tweed.

NOTES.

Dineen's work in goal was fine.

Forde, Mein, Andrews, Dorricott and Lancaster are a husky bunch, and it certainly takes a husky bunch to pass them.

Maguire at centre plays a fast and clever game.

Muldoon, Easterbrook, Powers, Ferguson and O'Sullivan on the home play a fast game and with more practice it will take a fast defence to look after them.

Joe Muldoon had the pleasure of hanging on a barbed wire fence, having been body checked in the air, and lit on it.

Madoc's grounds would stand comparison with Rip Van Winkle's sleeping quarters, the Catskill Mountains.

The protest will be decided in the near future.

There is no kick coming from the way the Madoc people used our boys. There were a few people from Tweed and Marmora who roasted the boys some.

"Tiny" from Marmora, can make a lot of noise for a little fellow.

The return game will be played in Havelock on June 24th, when the Havelock boys expect to make up for their defeat.

Huyoke as a referee was a complete success.

BANISH THE WRINKLES.

In Many Cases They are Merely Signs of the Ailments of Women.

A woman's face plainly indicates the state of her health. Wrinkles, which every woman dreads, are not necessarily a sign of age. Pafor of face, wrinkles and a prematurely aged appearance are the outward indication of those ailments that afflict womankind alone, and from which she too often suffers in uncomplaining silence, rather than consult a doctor. In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are women's best friend. They actually make new, rich, red blood, and this blood acting upon the nerves and all the organs of the body, brings new health and happiness to weak, weary and despondent women. Mrs. John McKerr, Chicksaw, N.W.T., tells for the benefit of other suffering women how she found new health through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "For some years," says Mrs. McKerr, "I was greatly afflicted with the ailments that make the lives of so many of my sex miserable. The suffering I endured can only be understood by those who are similarly afflicted. I tried many medicines but found none that helped me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These have actually made me feel like a new person, and the suffering I had endured almost continuously has passed away, and life is no longer the burden it once seemed. I think these pills worth their weight in gold to all who suffer from female complaints or general prostration."

We ask every suffering woman to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. They will not disappoint you, and the benefit they will give is not for an hour or a day—it is permanent. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. See that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is on the wrapper around every box.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM NORWOOD.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest from the Eastern Town.

Norwood, June 13.

On Thursday, June 9th, at 2 o'clock p.m., Lieut.-Col. Hemming, of Kingston, began his inspection of the Norwood High School Cadets. The Company numbered 30, of whom 21 were inspected. James O'Reilly, one of the senior students, acted as drill instructor this year, there being no qualified member of the staff to take charge. The officers of the company were as follows:—Captain, F. Lamey; Subalterns, B. McKee, Jos. Powers; Lieutenants, O. Weir, J. Downs, F. Doherty and R. Richardson. The officers all did their work well and although the rainy weather prevented some of the movements the company as a whole was highly commended by Col. Hemming, special mention being made of their company marching, and the skill with which they performed the manual of firing exercises.

Miss Una Duffield is staying with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Thos. Elliott, sr., and Chas. McKelvie left last week for St. Louis to attend the World's Fair.

Mr. King, formerly proprietor of the McGregor House, has purchased the hotel property belonging to Mr. J. B. Pearce.

Mr. and Mrs. Keel and child, of Syracuse, N.Y., are the guests of Mrs. Mrs. Keel's father, Mr. Wm. Spencer.

Miss Edna Waters is visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Beatrice Foster, of Peterborough, spent Sunday at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Buck, of Hastings, spent Sunday here.

The East Peterborough Agricultural Society have given the contract to Mr. Roland Scriver to build two cattle sheds and 25 poultry coops on the Agricultural Grounds, in preparation for the Fall Exhibition.

Mrs. Daniel Wood, of Peterborough, formerly of here, is visiting her brother, Mr. W. J. Wildman, King street.

Misses A. Peters and G. McLaughlin spent Sunday in Campbellford.

Mr. Packenham was in Peterborough on business on Monday.

Rev. C. Pickford conducted the services in the English church here on Sunday.

Alice, the one-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. John White, died on Saturday, June 11th, and was buried on Sunday afternoon in the Norwood Cemetery. Rev. Mr. G. McLennan, Presbyterian minister, conducted the funeral service.

The death of Mary Ellenore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leaper, of lot 19, in the 10th concession, Asphodel, occurred on Saturday, June 11th. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon to the Norwood Cemetery. Rev. Geo. McLennan, Presbyterian minister, conducted the funeral service.

The annual convention of the Asphodel township Sunday School Association was held in the Norwood Presbyterian church on Thursday, June 9th, and was instructive and helpful. Mr. Thos. Yellowlees, of Toronto, Assistant Secretary of the Provincial Association, addressed the Convention at both sessions. In the afternoon he spoke to the children, taking for his subject, "Ship Signals." The address in the evening was on the "Work of the Association." Among the others who addressed the Convention were, Rev. T. P. Steele, of Hastings, who spoke on "The True Aim of Sunday School Work." Mr. R. H. Leighton, principal of Public School, on "Before the Class," when he gave some very helpful suggestions to the teachers. Rev. W. L. Atkinson, of Warsaw, and Rev. D. A. Thomson, Hastings, addresses were along the same line of thought, Rev. Atkinson speaking of "The Teacher and the Book," and Rev. Thompson on "The Book we Teach." The Convention was fairly well attended nearly all the schools reporting.

The marriage of Miss Julia English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward English, to Mr. James Sweeny, of Ennismore, took place at the Roman Catholic church on Tuesday, June 7th. The bridesmaid was Miss Jewell Sweeney, the groom being supported by Mr. Michael English, brother of the bride. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's mother, where a dainty dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Sweeny will take up their residence in Ennismore.

The wedding of Mr. H. E. Ford, M. A., Professor of Languages in Washington and Jefferson College, Washing, Pa., and son of Dr. S. P. Ford, of this place, to Miss Ella P. Baker, daughter of Mr. N. R. Baker, cashier of the Citizens' National Bank, Washington, Pa., is announced to take place on Tuesday, June 21st, at 6.30 o'clock in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Washington, Pa. They intend spending their holidays at "Killarney Cottage," Dr. Ford's summer residence at Stony Lake.

A very sudden death occurred on Monday morning, when Louise Robb, the wife of Mr. John Robb, Clarena, passed away. Mrs. Robb was apparently quite well on Saturday, performing her usual household duties, but took ill on Sunday and died at 2o'clock, a.m. The funeral will take place on Wednesday; the place of interment, the Warsaw Cemetery.

Mr. T. J. Finlay, of the firm of Messrs. Finlay & Son, left on Monday for the Eastern Provinces on his usual business trip.

Mr. Conrod Boogard, of Toronto, is visiting his brother, Mr. E. Boogard.

Mr. John Finlay is in Tweed superintending the constructing of his new factory there.

WARSAW.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Warsaw, June 14.

The beautiful rain has fallen in profusion and the landscape is lovely to behold in all directions.

Mr. Joseph Payne had the misfortune to lose a valuable work horse a few days ago, also Mr. R. Crowe lost one of his stage horses.

For this locality, usually so healthy, there has been a considerable amount of sickness this spring.

Mrs. Thompson, who together with her family has been visiting her father, Mr. Washington Reid, for some weeks has returned to the West again.

Rev. H. McQuade, together with Mr. J. B. Forster, as lay delegate, have returned from Conference, after a week's absence and report having spent a pleasant and profitable time.

Dr. Mitchell, who has been practising his profession here for a few months, having concluded to take a post graduate course in Europe, has taken down his sign and is preparing to say "adieu" at an early date.

On Friday afternoon and evening the annual Sunday School Convention was held in the Baptist church. Mr. Yellowlees, of Toronto, was in attendance and delighted all who heard him. Rev. G. A. McLennan, of Norwood, County Secretary of the Association, also gave two stirring addresses, the local clergy and others taking part. Good music by the combined choirs.

The many friends and relatives of Mrs. John Robb, of Clarina, were startled and grieved last Monday morning to learn of her sudden demise. The deceased, whose maiden name was Grant, had been complaining for some time from diabetes, but had moved about in her regular household duties up to Saturday evening when a sudden collapse occurred, followed by unconsciousness, within the space of four hours, in which condition she remained until early Monday morning, when she calmly passed away. Interment to take place at the Warsaw Cemetery on Wednesday.

We are pleased to have with us again M. A. McQuade, who is under the parental roof at the Methodist parsonage and who has graduated in medicine at the recent examinations of Toronto University. The doctor pursued his preparatory course at Albert College, Belleville, at which institution he was first prizeman and gold medalist. At the completion of his studies there he spent some time in the employ of the Canada Atlantic Railway, where he held a responsible position and received rapid promotion. The Company held open for him each summer during his medical course, his former position, and on his resigning to enter medicine gave him marked proof of their favour. So that Mr. McQuade is not only an M.D., but has come into touch with men of affairs. We predict for him a bright future in his chosen profession and extend congratulations.

Anniversary services were held at the Presbyterian church on Sunday and Monday evenings. Rev. D. D. McDonald, B.A., of Keene, preached able sermons on Sunday to large congregations. A concert and lecture were the features of Monday evening. The concert was good, being taken part in by foreign and local talent, notable among whom were Miss M. Bryce, of Keene, and Mr. H. Choate and Miss J. Choate, of Warsaw. The feature of the evening, however, was the lecture, "But We Are Canadians," by Rev. G. R. Faskin, of Toronto, which was ably and eloquently delivered, abounding as it did in patriotic bits combined with a glowing description of the features and possibilities of our country. The entertainment throughout was a success.

PILLS AND PILES.

A prolific cause of piles is the use of cathartics and pills of a drastic, violent nature.

Followed by a reaction on account of the resinous, drying properties they contain.

There are other causes, but no matter what the cause or what the kind of piles, Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid can be relied upon to cure—to stay cured.

It's an internal remedy that removes the causes of itching, blind, bleeding or suppurating Piles.

A guarantee goes with each package containing a month's treatment.

It can be obtained for one dollar at James Lynch's, druggist, No. 166 Hunter street, Peterborough.

LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, TORONTO. 13a

WHAT GOVERNMENTS EXPEND.

Statement Compiled by the U.S. Department of Commerce and Labor.

The Department of Commerce and Labor of the United States, has compiled a statement, from which the following table is constructed, showing the per capita of Government expenditures in leading countries of the world:

Countries.	Population.	Expenditures.	Per capita
New Zealand....	788,000	$20,241,000	$25.36
Australia	3,773,000	142,148,000	37.66
United Kingdom	41,961,000	897,790,000	21.39
France	38,962,000	695,250,000	17.84
Belgium	6,694,000	116,500,000	17.40
Paraguay	636,000	11,007,000	17.30
Austria-Hungary	45,405,000	647,968,000	12.66
Argentina	4,794,000	60,757,000	12.66
Cuba	1,573,000	19,515,000	12.40
Netherlands ...	5,347,000	61,468,000	11.49
Portgal	5,429,000	62,170,000	11.45
Spain	18,618,000	186,846,000	10.03
Sweden	5,190,000	49,593,000	9.54
German Empire.	58,540,000	558,222,000	9.45
Canada	5,457,000	50,759,000	9.30
United States ..	80,372,000	640,323,000	7.97

The showing of the department's statistics, condensed into a nutshell, is that in practically every country in the world, excepting China and India, with their teeming populations, the per capita of Government expenditures is greater than in the United States.

It is not to be overlooked, however, that the fact is by no means a demonstration that the people of that land carry a smaller tax-burden than their brethren of other nations. Governmental systems differ. Most foreign Governments have jurisdiction over many things that fall outside of the jurisdiction of the national Government of the United States. This is the result of the constitutional apportionment of power and responsibility between the Federal Government and the State Governments. In Great Britain no end of matters are within the purview of the National Government which in the United States belong to the Government of States, to the Government of cities, or to the Government of counties.

INDIA RULERS' HIGH PAY.

British Officials in the East Receive Big Wages and Are Chosen With Great Care.

The civil service of India and other British provinces in the East is a matter of national pride, and no one can study its records and its methods without admitting its success and superiority to the ordinary official adminstration of other Governments.

The reason for the character and efficiency of the official staff in Egypt, India, Burma, Ceylon, the Straits Settlements, the Malay Federation, Hong Kong, and other British provinces in the East is easily found. The Government gets good men because it offers suitable inducements, permanent positions at large salaries, rapid promotion for merit, with liberal leaves of absence and pensions upon retirement at the termination of certain periods of service.

Lieutenant-Governors in India receive $38,800 a year, and secretaries or heads of bureaus in the Provinces are paid $12,500. Members of the Boards of Revenue in India receive $15,000 a year. All magistrates of the first class throughout the Empire are paid $10,000 a year, which is the minimum of the judiciary. District and session judges receive from that amount to $15,000 a year, according to their length of service and importance of the circuit over which they preside.

In Burma, where official responsibilities and duties are as light as in any other country of the world, and where the population is only 7,605,560, the Governor receives $38,000 a year, the chief secretary $12,500, four under secretaries $8,000 a year each, the finance officer or treasurer $14,500, disbursing officer $11,500, commissioners, who are local executives in charge of districts, $12,500 each, and a commissioner of agriculture $11,500.

All of the gentlemen now occupying these positions, and drawing these salaries, excepting the judges, began at the bottom of the ladder. They entered the public service in the Indian colonies before they were 25 years old after passing two examinations, the second occuring after one year of probation, in which their administrative qualities and adaptability had been fairly tested, and the record they made during that first year counted so many numbers in their total standing. They have been compelled to submit to similar examinations at every promotion since, and have worked their way up by merit without political influence, although, as is always the case, the personal equation entered into every calculation.

A good many weak ones drop out by the wayside. The civil service in the East Indies is a survival of the fittest; and you may be sure that a man who survives all of the tests and conditions incident to advancement is made of good stuff. At the same time, when he enters the service he knows that nobody but a better man can get ahead of him; he is sure that he will not be displaced by the favorite of some member of Parliament, and that every time a vacancy occurs he stands an equal chance of promotion with everybody else of his rank. He knows, too, that his employment is permanent upon good behavior, and, that, after twenty-four years of service, he will be entitled to a pension if he desires to retire. These pensions vary from $360 to $1,080 a year, according to the rank of the official, and they have the privilege of commuting them and receiving a stated amount of cash, which is calculated by an actuary on the same basis as is a life insurance premium.

The British Government gives pensions to both its civil and military officers upon retirement for age or disability, but requires both to provide for their wives and children after death by a form of compulsory insurance. The details may be found at length in the army regulations. Similar regulations prevail in all the European countries. Every officer who enters the military service, if he be married, must, as a condition of his appointment, pay into the treasury a stated sum for his wife and for each of his children. This sum varies according to his age, and is based upon the same risks as life insurance premiums. Every time he is promoted and upon the birth of every child his premium, or "contribution," as it is called, is increased, and each officer, both married or unmarried, must submit to a monthly deduction from his pay for insurance purposes.

ST. MARTIN'S T. A. S. ENNISMORE PICNIC.

A Great Success in Spite of Rain.

Good Attendance, Good Speeches, Good Food, Good Fellowship. Some Splendid Speeches Made.

The annual pic-nic under the auspices and for the benefit of St. Martin's Total Abstinence Society, of Ennismore, was held yesterday in Tara Grove, and in spite of drawbacks, or rather, downfalls, was a very gratifying success. There was a large attendance of people not only from the Island Township, but from the surrounding country, Peterborough, Lakefield, Douro, Lindsay and Emily sending contingents of assistants at the picnic. The large number present showed the public sympathy with the movement represented by the occasion—the raising of funds for the erection of a suitable township hall, to cost between $2,000 and $2,500, for the use of the Society as well as for general township purposes. Not only was popular interest shown in the pic-nic, but the heavens even showed their sympathy. No sooner had the large company become comfortably assembled, enjoying themselves in a very happy way than the rain which had been threatening descended copiously to the accompaniment of flashing lightning and rolling thunder. It was a pic-nic under cold water auspices and the clouds themselves contributed to make it a cold water picnic in fact as well as in name. Sed, post nubila Phoebus— the clouds rolled away, the weather became beautiful realizing the beautiful picture painted by the poetic pencil of the greatest of Irish bards, Tom Moore:—

How calm and beautiful comes on
The stilly hour when storms are gone
When warring winds have died away
And clouds, beneath the glancing ray,
Melt off and leave the land and sea
Sleeping in bright tranquility,
Fresh as if day again were born
Again upon the lap of morn.

Among the clergy present were, of course, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, the Father Matthew of Ennismore, to whose energetic work, ably seconded by a committee, is to be credited the establishment two years ago of St. Martin's T.A.S., whose membership now numbers about 300, embracing nine-tenths of the adult male population of the township. Rev. Father Keilty, of Douro, the veteran priest, who on Thursday, June 23rd, celebrates the twenty-fifth anniversary of his priestly ministrations in Peterborough county, was also present. He may claim to be entitled the original Father Matthew of Ennismore, for about twenty years ago he was the cause of the removal of the three hotels from the township, and for a score of years the township has been without hotels, and as the culmination of the work thus begun may be regarded the present flourishing St. Martin's Total Abstinence Society. Rev. Father McColl, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, and former parish priest of the township, received as he always does a warm welcome from his former parishioners, among whom his faithful work and earnest and successful efforts for their welfare, are held in grateful remembrance; also Rev. Father Brechterton, of Downeyville; Rev. Father Zilka, C.S.S.R., the reverend Redemptorist Missioner, was present an interested spectator of the way in which Canadians do good and make themselves happy. Rev. Father Phelan, of Young's Point, and Rev. Father Galvin, of the Cathedral, were also present.

The rain put a damper on the dancing platform, which had been in diligent use by the lighter-hearted and lighter-heeled members of the company, and was not again put into commission till after the speaking. Following the torrents of rain came the torrents of eloquence.

Mr. Wm. Rudkins, Collector of Inland Revenue, acted as chairman very efficiently, "gauging" the capacity of the several speakers and collecting "revenue" from their oratorial offerings as they were taken out of mental "bond."

The first speaker was Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, local manager of the Bank of Commerce, President of the Board of Trade and Central Fair Association, who, by the way is an Irishman. After expressing his pleasure at being present, he indulged in a little good-natured pleasantry, at the expense of the Scotch, incidentally treading on the toes of Rev. Father McColl, who is a Caledonian, and from whom the banker got a Roland for his Oliver, when the reverend gentlemen's turn came to speak. Mr. Charles congratulated Ennismore upon its prospects of having a suitable hall which was very much needed, and gave due credit to Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, for his faithful work.

Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Peterborough, made a few pleasant remarks of congratulation and was glad to make the acquaintance of Ennismore, and glad to take an interest in an enterprise for the benefit of the township which he believed would result from the pic-nic of the day.

Rev. Father McColl contributed a few pleasant congratulatory remarks after he had vindicated the Scotch for the "aspersions" cast upon them by a previous speaker, with the conclusion that the Scotch and Irish made a good combination. He congratulated Father Fitzpatrick and the people of Ennismore upon the energy they had displayed in the good cause they had so much at heart.

Mr. J. H. McClellan, thanked the people of Ennismore for the kindness they had shown him. He was proud of the privilege of assisting in the building of a new hall for Ennismore. He referred to the credit due Hon. Mr. Stratton in connection with the building of the bridge, and Mr. R. R. Hall would do his duty in regard to the completion of the Trent Valley Canal. Mr. Stratton, he said, was a most useful and painstaking representative.

Dr. Coughlin, of Peterborough, expressed his sympathy with the object of the pic-nic, and said great credit was due to those who had promoted temperance progress in the township. A few years ago, when he first visited Ennismore, there were three hotels and now there was none, but in their stead a Total Abstinence Society of 300 members.

Mr. Ed. M. Elliott, County Clerk and Treasurer, ex-President of the Farmers' Institute made a neat speech. He was glad to know that the object of the pic-nic was likely to be successful and for the conditions prevailing great credit was due to Rev. Fathers McColl and Fitzpatrick. He referred to the wise help that had been extended to agriculture by both Liberal and Conservative Governments, and referred pleasantly to the great prosperity of Canada.

Mr. D. O'Connell, barrister, Peterborough, said it was always a pleasure to the people of Peterborough to come to Ennismore and help its prosperity, and congratulated the people on their progress. Both the people of the township and Province had much to be thankful for. Recently Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Mr. LeBrun and himself had visited Washington, U. S. They had passed through the best states of the union, and it was the subject of frequent remark by the party that in no place, and in no state did they see anything like the general appearance of thrift, prosperity and comfort among the farmers that prevailed in Ennismore and throughout the province. He congratulated Ennismore in keeping abreast of the times in building a fine new township hall.

Mr. R. R. Hall, barrister, Peterborough, referred to the prosperity of the country, and the effect upon it of transportation facilities. In looking back upon the primitive means of transportation, we could appreciate the worth of our railways. In regard to the Trent Valley Canal, he hoped, and would do his best, in this direction, to see it completed from Georgian Bay to Trenton. The completion of this great waterway would be of benefit to Ennismore, and the the country at large, as it would mean higher prices for farmers' produce.

Hon. J. R. Stratton was very cordially received. He was glad to be present at this picnic, under the auspices of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick. When he left Peterborough he always considered himself away from home, but not when he came to Ennismore; in Ennismore he always felt he was at home so warm was the welcome given. Rev. Father Fitzpatrick was justified in his interest in total abstinence. Sobriety, and steadiness of habit were the foundation of good citizenship, and Ennismore and the county at large was profited by it. He quoted from figures to show that judging from the annual consumption of liquor, Canada was three times as sober as the United States, and four times as sober as Great Britain. This accounted for the good solid citizenship and industry and prosperity of the country. He sympathized with the work of Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, who had ably builded upon the foundations laid by Rev. Father Keilty, assisted by the work of Rev. Father McColl. A few years ago they had three hotels. These had disappeared, and now they were erecting a temperance hall. Mr. Stratton paid a high tribute to the zeal and worth of Father Fitzpatrick — "the son of Patrick" — and he hoped that as his great prototype, St. Patrick, had been the first Bishop of Ireland, so his worthy son — in zeal and good works —would yet wear the mitre. After referring to the duty of all to be true to the country of their birth, yet he pointed out, there was no place like Canada. There were differences of opinion here but none that might not be overcome by the practice of a little common sense. He spoke of the progress and prosperity of the country, brought about by the work of governments, backed by the energy and frugality of the people. "Canada, the Granary of the Empire," the motto on King Edward's coronation arch, would soon be realized in the Northwest, where last year 54 millions of bushels of wheat were raised, a considerable share of the 130 millions used annually in Great Britain, and when the country were more filled up the production would be largely increased. As the C. P. R. had been a powerful factor in developing the Northwest so would the Grand Trunk Pacific be in the same direction. Speaking of transportation, Mr. Stratton said that he had tried to see that the local roads were kept in good condition, and the railways and waterways should also receive attention. He congratulated the people upon the success of their picnic, and hoped that their new hall, which was a need in every township for gatherings — social and otherwise — of the people, would soon be completed. Mr. Stratton closed his remarks by wishing St. Martin's T.A.S. and people of Ennismore, success, and complimenting the ladies of Ennismore upon their excellent cooking.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick put the cope stone upon the speeches of the day. He had no aspirations to wear the mitre. He was quite content to labour for, and with, the people of Ennismore, till he should, if it were God's will, be laid to rest beside the little parish church. He thanked the people, especially the visitors from Peterborough and other places, for their kind patronage. He was pleased to welcome Mr. Stratton. He had helped Ennismore on more occasions than one, and was worthy, not only of their gratitude but that of the people at large. All the Gameys that could stand in the county, could not supplant Mr. Stratton in the hearts of the people of Peterborough, whose interests he had so well looked after, (applause.) While thanking him and other speakers, he should not forget his own people, who had willingly cooperated with him, especially the council and committee, in the plan for building a good, comfortable township hall, that would accommodate 600 or 700 people.

The speaking concluded with hearty cheers for the King, Father Fitzpatrick, Mr. Stratton, and the other speakers.

Then the call came to dinner, and the large tables were filled in relays by the people, who highly appreciated the splendid spread prepared by the ladies of Ennismore.

Dancing was resumed, and the dancers made up for the lost time caused by the rain.

The picnic was, in spite of the unfortunate break in the weather, a success, and a comfortable sum was added to the funds for building the hall for St. Martin's Total Abstinence Society, and for the general use of the good people of the Island Township. It is thought that the net proceeds will be between $600 and $700.

A report of the results of the sports and games is held over till to-morrow.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE THIS MORNING.

Ontario Foundry Badly Gutted by the Flames.

Most of the Building a Total Wreck —Loss Partially Covered by Insurance.

Shortly before three o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the moulding department of the Ontario Foundry owned by Mr. G. Walker Greene, on McDonel street, near Park. Before the blaze was discovered the building was in a mass of flames and when the firemen arrived there was a hard fight ahead of them. The moulding department was practically gone when the water was applied and the fire soon spread to the blacksmithshop, grinding room and cupola house which were completely gutted. The machine shop was next attacked by the flames and great damage done to the machinery. Above this department is a room for storing pumps and other articles and the flames also reached here, scorching everything badly. By heroic efforts on the part of the firemen, the flames were kept from spreading to the woodroom, which was practically untouched, but the rest of the large foundry is a complete wreck. The roof on the moulding department was completely destroyed.

The loss will be in the neighborhood of $3,000.00 and is partially covered by Insurance. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Green, this being the third time he has been burnt out in the last 8 years. He has been carrying on a most successful business for the last 4 years at the foundry and has orders to fill as far as 6 months ahead, being taxed to the utmost to supply the demand. A staff of 35 men is employed at the foundry. The work of rebuilding will commence as soon as possible.

The work of the firemen was gallant and they are deserving of unstinted praise for their efforts in saving a portion of the building. Three streams of water were used. The fire was got under control at about five o'clock.

ATHLETIC CONCERT A GREAT SUCCESS

Splendid Programme Presented in Opera House Last Evening.

Boxing, Wrestling and Music were Excellent, Many Special Features Hurtubuise and McDonough Bout was a Draw.

The Smoker and Athletic Concert in the Opera House last evening under the auspices of St. Peter's T.A.S. was in every particular a most successful event and the large audience present was highly delighted with the excellence of the programme presented. Everything as advertised was carried out to the letter and there was much more besides to add enjoyment. The committee in charge of the affair is deserving of much credit for the excellent manner in which the arrangements were carried out. The Athletic exhibitions were all clever and scientific, while the vocal and instrumental numbers were very effectively rendered a pleasing variety to the evening. The affair met with that success characteristic of all such efforts this flourishing society along the lines of athletics or concerts.

The programme opened with a few gramaphone selections, following which Messrs. Kane & Talbot rendered a violin and piano duet in such a manner that they were heartily encored. Mr. G. Morrow was heard in a pleasing vocal selection and received a recall. A wrestling bout, for the featherweight championship of Peterborough, between R. Long and W. O'Toole was a very interesting event. Both young men displayed remarkable science and their exhibition was clever from start to finish. Long secured a throw in six minutes.

A three round boxing bout between Patsy Carrol and Eddie Graham resulted in a draw.

Mr. J. Guerin was very successful in his vocal solo and in response to an encore gave an exhibition of step dancing, which greatly took the fancy of those present. Mr. R. Desautel was as popular as ever and his vocal solo was enthusiastically encored.

A wrestling bout between two unknowns was next on the programme and resulted in a draw, neither man securing a fall.

Messrs Talbot and Hickey gave a banjo and mandolin duet. A 3-round boxing bout between Messrs. O'Toole and Clancy was a spirited go, and was declared a draw. Mr. Sam O'Houlihan gave a splendid exhibition of buck and wing dancing. Mr. Geo. Lynch fairly brought down the house with his humourous reading.

The presentation of the medals won at the Victoria Day sports was an interesting number on the programme.

An excellent picture of the T.A.S. Hockey team, champions of the Trent Valley League for two consecutive years, was presented to the Society by Mr. R. M. Roy, who made a neat speech, complimenting the team on their line progress. Mr. J. O'Brien replied in suitable terms.

The event of the evening was the wrestling bout between Eugene Hurtubise and Jack McDonough. Both are wrestlers of more than local renown. The former a few weeks ago won the heavy weight championship of Canada, defeating all comers quite handily. McDonough has won many a hard fought contest, and his ability as an expert wrestler is widely known. So it was expected that when these two well trained and scientific wrestlers met on the mat there would be an exhibition worth witnessing, and none were disappointed in their expectations. For twenty minutes in periods of ten minutes each, the men struggled to secure a fall but neither was successful, and the bout was declared a draw by the referee, Mr. G. Graham. Hurtubise was the aggressor throughout but McDonough's defence work was very clever and he frequently wiggled out of dangerous looking positions. Both wrestlers are scientific in their work, and possess manly strength in a marked degree. It is hoped that another match will be arranged shortly to again test the abilities of the two men.

The programme, while one of considerable length was not of a tedious nature, there being a splendid variety in the different selections. Everyone pronounces the event a great success.

A GOVERNMENT FLOWER GARDEN.

Mr. Taylor's Fine Work at the Customs Lawn.

Mr. William Taylor, or "Daddy" Taylor, as he is affectionately called by the other boys of the Sons of England, is a worthy follower of what Tennyson calls "the grand old gardener," Adam. He is caretaker of the Customs Buildings, and takes especial pride in the grounds around them. The flower plots on the Customs House lawns, are this season "things of beauty and a joy forever"—till frost-time. Mr. Taylor has given the flower plots a new and very effective arrangement, and they are decidedly attractive. Mr. Taylor is also guardian angel and floriculturalist dry-nurse of the beautiful flower garden at the C.P.R. station, whose attractiveness extort the admiration of all who see them. Last year Mr. Taylor's station flower garden was awarded second prize for the best kept flower plot on this division.

Mr. Taylor is not so wedded to beauty that he neglects utility. In the southern part of the Customs House grounds he has a flourishing vegetable garden, growing like the weeds, that don't grow there. Of this vegetable plot, "Daddy" says "You can a'maist see t' stoof graw, me lad."

ENDURANCE.

How much the heart may bear, and yet not break!
How much the flesh may suffer, and not die!
I question much if any pain or ache
Of soul or body brings our end more nigh;
Death chooses his own time; till that is sworn,
All evils may be borne.

We shrink and shudder at the surgeon's knife,
Each nerve recoiling from the cruel steel
Whose edge seems searching for the quivering life,
Yet to our sense the bitter pangs reveal,
That still, although the trembling flesh be torn,
This also can be borne.

We see a sorrow rising in our way,
And try to flee from the approaching ill;
We seek some small escape; we weep and pray;
But when the blow falls, then our hearts are still;
Not that the pain is of its sharpness shorn,
But that it can be borne.

We wind our life about another life;
We hold it closer, dearer than our own;
Anon it faints and falls in deathly strife,
Leaving us stunned, and stricken, and alone;
But ah! we do not die with those we mourn,—
This also can be borne.

Behold we live through all things,—famine, thirst,
Bereavement, pain; all grief and misery,
All woe and sorrow; life inflicts its worst
On soul and body,—but we cannot die.
Though we be sick, and tired, and faint and worn,—
Lo, all things can be borne!
—Elizabeth Akers Allen.

Sudden Summer.

The impatient wild flowers have come rushing and crowding to greet their friends after a protracted separation, says The Toronto Globe. Spring was so long unkind that they grew impatient under her restraints, and now, with the first relaxation, they have hurried forth to display the profusion of their charms. The impressed order and decorum of the debutants has been cast aside in their spontaneous haste for recognition. We look for the hepatica to raise its woolly flower stems from among the surviving bunches of last season's leaves and display its delicate tints of pink, purple, or blue long before the single leaf of the bloodroot unfold from the white flowers it clasps and guards with tender care. We expect the trillium to remain modestly folded awaiting her turn, and the dog-tooth violet to be content with the faintest suggestion of its delicately mottled leaves. The spring beauty, too, though among the earliest, is generally content to await its due order, and the trailing arbutus, reclining cosily among the leaves and litter of the past year, may open its hidden buds at any time, according to the whims and fancies of the season. But now the favorites have all come forth at once.

Mr. G. F. Watts, R.A.

Mr. George Frederick Watts, R.A., the famous English artist, became an exhibitor at the Royal Academy in the reign of William IV., and is the only artist who can now make that at any rate physiological boast. He was just in time, for that was the exhibition of 1837, and before it was closed the King was dead, and the Tories were appealing to the electorate in the name of "the young Queen and the old constitution." Other unique experiences are Mr. Watts'. He is not, perhaps, the only man who has refused high honors. A peerage went begging to Mr. Chaplin, and there is a tradition that Mr. Henniker Heaton, usually the most good-natured of men, steeled himself to say "no" to a proposal not often rejected. Mr. Watts, however, is the only painter who has the distinction of having refused a baronetcy. The Order of Merit, which he is the only Academician to hold, has been doubly won by the artist and the man. He was born at London in 1817.

A Story of Palmerston.

A street in a northwestern suburb of London, recently associated with a horrible crime, has had its name changed by desire of the residents. The incident recalls one of the happiest stories of Lord Palmerston. He was Home Secretary in the days of Palmer, the poisoner, and a deputation of Rugeley people came to the home office to ask if there was any obstacle to having the name of the town altered. The Home Secretary asked if the deputation had considered what the new name should be, and was answered in the negative. "Why not call it Palmerston?" suggested His Lordship and the proposal was received with acclamation. Only when the deputation got outside did its members realize that "Palmer's Town" was exactly what they did not want, and that the Home Secretary had wittily shelved the proposition. So Rugeley remains on the map.

A FEW HILLOCKS.

A Recent Government Dictionary of Altitudes That Cannot Fail to Open the Eyes of Many People.

A somewhat unusual kind of Government publication (a dictionary of altitudes in the Dominion of Canada), has recently been issued by the Ottawa Department of the Interior. Even a casual perusal of this volume on hilltops cannot fail to open the eyes of many, including those of "the oldest inhabitants." The heights, it need scarcely be said, are given in feet above the sea level, and the place names are arranged alphabetically in Province and territory groups.

For our purpose we shall begin with Ontario, where we are a little nonplussed to discover that the greatest altitude is reached by Tiptop hill, which is said to be in Thunder Bay district, and the height of this appropriately-named, but, to us, wholly strange, hill is given at 2,120 feet. Next to it comes Thunder Cape, 1,950, thus soaring beyond Fort William's knoll, Mt. McKay, by 850 feet. This must prove gratifying to the good people of Port Arthur, and correspondingly provocative to those of the other burg.

It may surprise some of us to learn that next to these come Dundalk (South Grey), 1,700; Corbetton (Dufferin), 1,661, and Melancthon (in the same county), 1,660, so that the elevation connecting these points forms the roof-ridge of our western peninsula. It is now in order for the Dundalkians to take advantage of the situation by the erection of a pillar or some other conspicuous monument at the railway station to inform the traveling public that "This is the highest point in southern Ontario, 1,700 feet above the level of the sea."

There are some scores of places above the thousand feet mark, but by far the larger number are in the lower hundreds, the lowest possible level being that of Bainsville, in Lancaster township, Glengary—174 feet, the difference between which and 245 feet (nearly) will show the extent of fall in the St. Lawrence after it leaves Lake Ontario.

Toronto Union Station is placed at nine feet above the lake, or 254 above the sea, and a few other points in the city are as follows: Queen street, 260; Bloor street, 371; North Toronto station, 400; Carlton street is placed at 403 feet, but this must be a mistake. Upper Canada College is given as 510; the Parliament Buildings as 356, the top of the roof as 648, and Woodlawn avenue is mentioned at 469 feet, "the highest point in the city."

But British Columbia overtops everything, even Tip-top hill, with Mount Fairweather, which, according to some authority, is 15,292 feet above the sea, while Mounts Carruthers, Cathedral, Columbia, Daly, Dawson, Deltaform, Deville, Dome, Freshfield, Goodsir, Habel, Hermit, Hooker, Howse, Hungabee, La Perouse, Lefroy, Lyell, Nelson, Owen, Robson, Rogers, Sir Donald, Stephen, Thompson, Vaux and Victoria look down on scorn on everything under 10,000 feet high.

The highest point in Alberta is Mount Murchison, 13,500, followed closely by Mount Bryce, 13,000, with many others ranging from 12,000 to 10,000.

Assiniboia cannot boast of anything even as far up as 5,000 feet, her best effort culminating in a nameless point which may hereafter be known as Globe Mountain, 4,625 feet in height. I suggest this name because the elevation is said to be one of the most beautiful in America, and fertile almost to its summit.

In Athabaska nothing exceeds 3,000 feet in height, except Brule Lake, strange to say, and it is 3,201 feet above the sea, but surely the surrounding land is just a little bit above this.

Although Manitoba is proud, she is modest, and no attempt has been made in this Province to rival the heights of British Columbia.

Duck Mountain (it must be a mountain) caps the climax at 2,600 feet. Porcupine Mountain, at 2,500, Turtle Mountain, at 2,300, and Krang Mount, at 2,200 feet, complete the record of hills over 2,000 feet above sea level.

New Brunswick's greatest altitude is Mount Carleton, 2,716; Nova Scotia's Wilkie Sugarloaf, 1,200; Prince Edward Island's Wiltshire, 305; while Quebec's Mount Logan, 3,708, and Shickshoks, 3,500 feet, must come nearly closing this review.

It may, however, be of some scientific interest to note that the so-called mountain near Montreal is not two million five hundred thousand feet in height, as is claimed by the inhabitants who reside near its base, but only 763 feet, to the very summit, in accordance with authentic records. It may also be remarked that "the mountain" at Hamilton, Ontario, and, which has always been claimed to be at least ten thousand feet higher than that of Montreal, is, in reality only 628 feet above sea level, or 135 feet lower than the Montreal vertical prominence.

SILCHESTER'S MYSTERY.

Remains of Some of the Old Roman Houses Are Missing.

The excavations carried out during the last fourteen years by the Society of Antiquaries on the site of the ancient Romano-British City of Silchester ("Calleva Atrebatum") have revealed some very curious circumstances which have yet to be explained. The city is surrounded by a large wall nearly two miles in length, overhung with trees and overgrown with creeping plants, enclosing an area of 100 acres. Outside runs a deep fosse and large mound. This mound—sections of which have been taken—is composed solely of earth soil, while the fosse or ditch has been dug out of the gravel soil which is found a foot or so under the ground all over the country in and around Silchester, and of which one would suppose the mound to be made, since the surface soil would not have been sufficient by itself.

The question is, why was the mound made solely of earth soil, and where did this earth come from? The only explanation is that the mound is composed of all the earth removed from the surface when the foundations of the houses and streets were being formed and laid out; but this seems a curious thing to have done, for a gravel mound would have been far superior. When the remains of the houses and other buildings are uncovered there are found no traces, or very few, of the material of the upper parts, as on other Roman sites, except the foundations and pavements. Nor is any of the building material to be seen in neighboring churches, as at St. Albany Abbey, Guildford Castle, and other places, where Saxons and Normans have utilized in their churches and castles material from Roman sites. This seems to suggest that the walls of the buildings only extended a few feet above the ground, wood being used in the upper parts; but this could hardly have been the case in such an important place as Silchester, although this is the only explanation so far to account for the non-existence of the materials of the upper parts of the buildings.

There are also many pits 18 feet to 30 feet deep, at the bottom of which are found perfect pots among much rubbish and broken pottery. How did these come there? Some of the pits were possibly wells, and the pots might have been accidentally dropped in by those fetching water (the water breaking their fall and preventing them from being shattered), and after the wells were "dried up" they were used for throwing in rubbish—thus covering the vessels accidentally dropped in.

English Village Oddities.

Undoubtedly the most extraordinary township in England is that of Skiddaw, in Cumberland. It contains but one house, the occupier of which is unable to exercise the Britton's privilege of voting because there is no overseer to prepare a voters' list and no church or other place of worship or assembly on which to publish one.

The most remote village in England is that of Farley-cum-Pitton. This truly rural spot is thirty miles and a half from the nearest railway station. As a contrast to this may be mentioned the hamlet of Ystrad, about ten miles from Cardiff. This tiny settlement possesses two important main roads, two railways, and two large rivers.

A very unique feature is exclusively claimed by Trimley, a small village in Suffolk. In the one churchyard of the parish two churches are to be seen. Service is conducted three times a week in each of these churches at the same hour.

The deepest well in England is round at Hamilton, in Hampshire. It stretches 350 feet below the surface of the earth. About half-way down this well-shaft is a subway, three miles in length.

On the top of the parish church tower, in Bicknoller, Somersetshire, is a yew tree, now 5 feet high, and still growing in a hardy fashion. It is generally believed that the tree owes its origin to a seed dropped by a bird.

Perhaps the most splendidly decorated church in the Kingdom is that of Whitley Court, Worcestershire. It is entirely constructed of white marble, the pews are chastely carved, and the pulpit is of genuine Carrara marble, richly panelled with costly stones.

On the village green at Meriden, in Warwickshire, there is a large stone cross, which is supposed to mark the central point of England.

THE FAMILY HORSE.

He's such a nice and gentle horse—
No cut up—tell you that!
This summer I'm determined he Shall wear a Quaker hat.
I only wish he didn't have
Enlargement of the feet,
When gentle Dobbin's in the shafts,
The family on the seat.

A yard a minute he can go
Or faster, if he'd try.
It's great to see the fields of wheat
And fences whirling by!
I'll back a turtle any day
To beat him in a heat
When gentle Dobbin's in the shafts,
The family on the seat.

O'er country roads we journey when
The sun begins to drop.
I say "Git ap!" to make him go
And "Whoa!" to make him stop.
And there are twinkles in the eyes
Of every one we meet
When gentle Dobbin's in the shafts,
The family on the seat.

The hair upon his legs is long
And dallies with the breeze.
The stiffness of his upper lip
Has settled in his knees.
It's certainly a lovely sight
When we go down the street
With gentle Dobbin in the shafts,
The family on the seat.

Neither of Them Knew.

Lord Kelvin was once being shown over some big electric works by the foreman engineer, who was unaware of the identity of his visitor. The engineer was a capable man, and enthusiastic about his work, and he gave long lectures about everything to Lord Kelvin, who listened with great interest. Once or twice the senior partner, who was of the party, tried to tell the foreman to whom he was talking, but Lord Kelvin would not have it, and remained an attentive listener till the round of the works was concluded. Then, when the engineer had finished, he turned to him quietly, and said—"And what is electricity?" The man, somewhat abashed, admitted that the question was altogether beyond him. "Well, well," said Lord Kelvin, "that's the one thing about electricity you and I don't know."

Chinese Medicine a Bomb.

Prof. Shuttleworth was brought by the G.T.R. Detective Department recently a brass disk about 4½ inches in diameter, with the request that he see what it contained. They feared it was a bomb. It was found on the track near Welland, and had been struck by a train and indented. By the smell and appearance Prof. Shuttleworth judged it was some Chinese medicine. However, he had it bored into. His diagnosis proved correct. The disk contained a solution of some resinous substances in Chinese alcohol or rice wine. The Grand Trunk officials stated that there had been labor disturbances in the district and they had feared an attempt to dynamite a train. It was found that an accident had occurred near where the disk was found, and a Chinese medicine case was found afterwards.

An Old Northamptonshire College Founded in 1415—The Derelict Workhouse at Stradbroke, Suffolk.

Standing in the main street of the ancient borough of Higham Ferrers, Northamptonshire, England, are the ruins of a college founded and endowed by Henry Chichele, Archbishop of Canterbury. Though only a shepherd boy and born of an obscure family in that town in 1360, he rose to be the Primate of

THE COLLEGE GATEWAY.

All England. The college, founded in 1415 for a master and seven canons, was dedicated to SS. Mary and Thomas the Martyr, and St. Edward the Confessor.

At the dissolution of religious houses, in the reign of Henry VIII., the possessions of the college, which were valued at something over £856 per annum, were surrendered to the Crown, but the property was eventually regranted to the Corporation. The college, or what remains of it, is now in a ruinous condition—indeed, nothing stands now except portions of the court with the gateway in the main street of the town. One of the walls has a curious sundial with a Latin motto. About a century back part of the buildings were utilized as an inn, with the title of the Saracen's Head. Higham Ferrers, by the way, takes its second name from William Ferrers, Earl of Derby, who founded a castle there in feudal times.

A Derelict Workhouse.

It is not often that the guardians of an English union have a workhouse for disposal, but such at present is the case with the Hoxne Board, whose workhouse, situated at Stradbroke, Suffolk, has lately been advertised for sale. The building is a cruciform structure of red brick, and was erected in 1835 at a cost of £10,000, affording accommodation for about 400 adults.

Owing in a great degree to the gradual decline of the rural population the establishment was closed about 25 years since, when arrangements were made with the adjoining union of Hartesmere for the transfer of all the indoor poor to the latter's workhouse at Eye. Since this took place the Hoxne building has been practically derelict—only a caretaker and his wife occupying the roomy premises—and the monotony is only broken once a fortnight when the guardians meet in the old board room for the transaction of their business.

HOXNE UNION WORKHOUSE.

An Old Hunter's Advice.

Here is the advice an old hunter gives to those who may come in unexpected contact with bad animals:

"If you are cornered by a snake stand motionless and he will never bite.

"If a vicious dog attacks you show him a knife or some similar instrument, and he will keep out of reach. A dog can never learn the deadliness of a revolver or a gun, but unless he has the rabies he knows how to respect a knife.

"If a swarm of wild bees attacks you stand motionless and let out all your breath. Then only a few of the swarm will sting."

This advice should be reversed at sea. A man who is swimming in shark infested waters is safe as long as he kicks about and makes a great deal of noise. The shark is too timid to approach anything that looks as if it meant to fight.

"What would you do in case you were cornered by a cinnamon bear?" some one asked the old hunter.

"Say my prayers," he answered laconically.

She Gave Him Cake.

Lady—Aren't you the man to whom I gave a piece of cake recently? Tramp—Yes, ma'am. Lady—Have you been working since? Tramp—No, ma'am; I've been in the hospital ever since.—Sydney Town and Country Journal.

As It Is in England.

Citizens of Manchester, England, are complaining bitterly and writing to the papers because the conductors on the tram cars "squeeze twenty persons into seats constructed for eighteen," and, worse still, "allow some people to stand up."

His Unwitting Nice Speech.

He—I'm not given to flattery. I don't make it a point to say nice things to girls. She—Yet I'm sure that was a nice thing you said to me earlier in the evening. He—What was that? She—You remarked that you were not going to stay long.—Illustrated Bits.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

RICE AS FOOD.

More Nutriment In the Cooked Water Than In the Grains.

The rice grains that we eat and believe are nourishing do not begin to have the real nutriment that is contained in the water in which they have been cooked.

For thousands of years rice has been the main food of the Chinese, Japanese and even the Sikhs of India. When we stop to think that these warlike nations compose one-third of the human race and subsist largely on rice, it seems probable that they thoroughly understand its properties. But the orientals have found that the water that we throw away after cooking the cereal is what contains the greatest life giving properties. In fact, they prefer the water to the grain as a nutriment.

In cases of stomach trouble, so prevalent in the east, it is used with great effect and can be retained when even milk is rejected.

But for the Anglo-Saxon a delicious dessert can be made from this same rice water. After cooking the rice drain the water and flavor with some extract. Set on the ice to cool, and it will form a jelly. Heap with whipped cream or fruit and serve. This makes not only a tasty but nutritious dish and certainly an economical one.

Canada Rejects Immigrants.

New York, June 13.—The French steamer Malou arrived yesterday from Bordeaux, via Montreal and Quebec, where she landed thirty cabin and 417 steerage passengers. Twenty-three steerage passengers, who had been rejected by the Canadian authorities as unfit to land, owing to tracoma, were brought here. These immigrants will probably be returned to Bordeaux by the Ellis Island authorities.

Died Aged 110 Years.

Washington, Pa., June 13.—Mrs. Maria Cooper, colored, born a slave at Winchester, Va., died here yesterday, aged 110 years

Time seems most untimely when he brings a woman to the turn of life. Life is or should be at its ripest and best for her, and she approaches this change with a dread of its effect born of her knowledge of the sufferings of other women at this season.

There is not the slightest cause for fear or anxiety at this period if Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is used. It gives health of body and cheerfulness of mind, and by its aid the pains and pangs of this critical period are prevented or cured.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is woman's medicine with a wonderful record of cures of womanly diseases. Diseases that all other medicines had failed to cure, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of "Favorite Prescription."

"I feel it my duty to write you as I have received so much benefit from the use of your medicine," says Mrs. Linzie A. Boerman, of New Matamoras, Washington Co., Ohio. "I have taken four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' for female weakness and change of life. Before I began taking it I could not do anything. I had such pains in my head and in the back of my neck that I thought I would lose my mind. Now I can work every day. I recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to all females suffering in the period of change of life. It is the best medicine I have found."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Keep the bowels healthy by the timely use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

THE WHIPPOORWILL.

Hark! to the lay, 'tis the whippoorwill's song,
"Whippoorwill," sounding the forest along;
The daylight has fled—night reigns over all,
And silence gives place to whippoorwill's call,
Gladding and cheering the darkness of night,
Till morning brings in the glory of light.

With silver-toned echoes the woodland rings,
"Whippoorwill," sweetly and grandly she sings
Her anthem of praise to God for His love
In sending down blessings from Heaven above;
Who keepeth all creatures under His care,
And provides the humblest with bounteous fare.

Through summer's heat, her night vigils she keeps;
"Whippoorwill," she never wearies nor sleeps;
On swift wings of silence, like meteor's flight,
She catches her prey till dawning of light.
Then to her home, in the old sombre wood,
To slumber in peace and quiet solitude.

Her season is o'er—no longer she'l stay,
"Whippoorwill," farewell! she sings her last lay,
Till spring's balmy breezes kiss mother earth,
And forest and field come forth in new birth;
Her flight is by night—she shuns the bright day,
She has gone through darkness far, far away!
—Alexander Muir.

FIRE-FIGHTING HISTORY.

How Canadians and Their Fire Engine "Castor" Showed Paris Something.

That Canadian methods of fighting fire were in the van as far back as 1855 may not be known to many who have followed with admiration the record of our gallant Toronto brigade during the recent disaster, says a correspondent of The Toronto Globe. At the time of the disastrous fire in Paris, on the Quai de Billey, which occurred on November the 18th, 1855, there was at the Universal Exhibition then being held a Canadian fire engine, named the "Castor." At the commencement of the fire the appearance was so alarming and gave such indications of extension that the Canadian commissioners were induced to place at the disposition of the local authorities the prize fire engine. It was put in the charge of Mr. Perry, an officer of the Canadian Fire Department, who was in Paris at the time, who rushed it to the Quai in a remarkably short time, and, drawing the water direct from the Seine, kept several of the local fire engines supplied with a constant stream. At the height of the fire, when the flames attacked the military bakehouse, Mr. Perry directed that the whole jet be directed on the flames. The stream was so strong and effective that it cut off the fire at this point, and undoubtedly saved the Government granaries and their immense supplies of corn and flour. Some idea of what this meant to the French people may be gleaned from the fact that stores were always kept in the building to supply forty thousand men for three months.

By a strange coincidence, the Canadian Commissioner had been shown over this building only two days previous, and had taken great interest in the machinery and the new appliances just installed. One of this party, whose name is unfortunately not known, performed a most heroic act at the fire. At the height of the conflagration, hearing the alarm whistle of the boilers (an indication that they were overheated, and would explode unless the steam were let off), though every passage appeared blocked by the smoke and flame, he forced his way into the engine room, guided by the sound of the alarm, opened the valves and saved the building from being blown up.

The splendid work done by the Canadians attracted the attention of all Paris, and Marshal Magnan, through the English Ambassador, expressed the gratitude of the people for the help given them by the Canadians.

UNERRING JUSTICE.

The books say well, my brothers, each man's life
The outcome of his former living is;
The bygone wrongs bring forth sorrows and woes,
The bygone right breeds bliss.

Ye are not bound; the soul of things is sweet.
The heart of being is celestial rest.
Stronger than woe is will; that which was good
Doth pass to better—best.

What hath been bringeth what shall be and is Worse—better—last for first and first for last;
The angels in the heavens of gladness reap
Fruits of a holy past.
—Sir Edwin Arnold.

AS A WORKING TOOL

for the student and the writer, as an authoritative reference book for schools, teachers, families, business and professional men, there is one book which offers superior advantages in the solid value of its information, and the ease with which it is obtained.

One's admiration for Webster's International Dictionary increases daily as it comes to be better known. It never refuses the information sought and it never overwhelms one with a mass of misinformation illogically arranged.

The St. James Gazette of London, England, says: For the teacher, the pupil, the student and the litterateur, there is nothing better; it covers everything.

The New and Enlarged Edition recently issued has 25,000 new words and phrases, a completely revised Biographical Dictionary and Gazetteer of the World, 2000 pages and 5000 illustrations.

Our name is on the title-pages of all the authentic dictionaries of the Webster series.

KICK AND SCREAM

Baby's Awful Suffering from Eczema.

Could Not Hold Her. She Tore Her Face and Arms.

Cuticura Saved Her Life, So Mother Says.

"When my little girl was six months old, she had eczema. We had used cold creams and all kinds of remedies, but nothing did her any good, in fact, she kept getting worse. I used to wrap her hands up, and when I would dress her, I had to put her on the table for I could not hold her. She would kick and scream, and when she could, she would tear her face and arms almost to pieces. I used four boxes of Cuticura Ointment, two cakes of Cuticura Soap, and gave her the Cuticura Resolvent, and she was cured, and I see no traces of the humour left. I can truthfully say that they have saved her life, and any one suffering as she did, I should advise them to give Cuticura a fair trial." MRS. G. A. CONRAD, Lisbon, N. H., Feb. 7, 1898.

Five years later, viz., Feb. 28, 1903, Mrs. Conrad writes:

"It is with pleasure that I can inform you that the cure has been permanent as it is now six years since she was cured, and there has been no return of the disease since, and I have advised a lot of friends to use the Cuticura Remedies in all diseases of the skin."

Instant relief and refreshing sleep for skin-tortured babies, and rest for tired, fretted mothers, in warm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure and purest of emollients, to be followed in severe cases by mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent. This is the purest, sweetest, most speedy, permanent and economical treatment for torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted and pimply skin and scalp humours, eczemas, rashes and irritations.

Cuticura Resolvent, Pills and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

be benefitted by the change being made. Civic Holiday was a citizens' day, and he thought that the working people should be given an opportunity of getting out of town.

The Mayor, explaining the position of the council, said that the proposition to change the date came during the month between council meetings and he suggested that a notice be placed in the papers asking for an expression of public opinion on the proposal. The Mayor remarked that he had asked Col. Miller, who asked for the change, if any societies had made arrangements for excursions and he was informed that none had been made, because he, (the Mayor) thought that an injustice would be done by making the holiday earlier in the month, if, in the meantime, arrangements had been made by the societies for excursions. He was in sympathy with the position of the societies, that the holiday should be held on a day when excursions out of town could be arranged. He also thought that if a change were made it should be permanent.

Ald. McWilliams explained the circumstances under which the change had been contemplated by the council.

Ald. Morrison spoke, favouring the date being left as it was last year. He thought little hardship would be entailed to the Turf Club by having the Civic Holiday left as it was last year. His opinion was also that the holiday should not be held on the same day as Toronto and other cities. He thought it unwise to tie up the town so that the citizens could not leave town on that day. He thought the second Monday might be made the Civic Holiday. The Mayor might proclaim a half holiday for the first Monday in August, and moved that the former motion changing the date to the first Monday be rescinded, and that there be a half holiday on the first Monday in August.

Ald. Edgcumbe seconded the motion, which was carried.

Ald. Morrison presented the following report of the Committee of the Whole:—

Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report as follows:—

1. If a petition is presented, as has been customary, asking that Thursday afternoon next, Oddfellow Decoration Day, be proclaimed a half holiday, we recommend that the Mayor issue a proclamation for that purpose.

2. We recommend that the Mayor and Town Solicitor, be appointed to attend at Ottawa to represent the town when the application of the street railway to cross the steam railway tracks is heard by the railway commission and in the event of the Mayor being unable to attend that he appoint someone to attend in his stead, and that the expense be paid on the certificate of one of the town's representatives.

3. Owing to there being a number of streets in Ward No. 5 of the same name as streets in other wards of the town, and also owing to some duplicate names in the other wards, your committee believe it would be advisable to change the names of some of the streets and would recommend that steps be taken to make the following changes:—

In Ward No. 5: —
Brown street to Mark street.
Dickson street to Hazlitt street.
Lake street to Burnham street.
Stewart street to Rogers street.
Elizabeth street to Hunter street.
Crescent street to Knox street.
John street to Birdsall street.
Queen street to Peck street.
Lock street to Otonabee street.
In Ward No. 4:—
Mill street at Jackson Park to Fairbairn street.
Victoria street to Hilliard street.
Maple street to Cluxton street.
Short street to Stevenson street.
All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was adopted.

Ald. Edgcumbe presented the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, recommending that the firemen who went to Toronto at the time of the recent fire be paid $3 each. The report was adopted.

Ald. Hicks moved the first reading of a bylaw to appoint a tax collector for the year 1904. Mr. W. J. Green was appointed collector at a salary of $850 per year, an increase of $150. The collector will also be asked to present a monthly statement to the council showing the amount of money collected by him. The bylaw was passed.

Ald. Morrison moved the third reading of a bylaw extending the time for the completion of the street railway from July 1st to Sept. 1st, which was passed.

Ald. Adams moved the first reading of a bylaw amending a bylaw previously passed. The new bylaw provides that a circus may parade in town by paying $25, instead of $100, as that in force previously provided.

Ald. Adams asked the council what action had been taken with respect to the new outfall sewer and diversion of the creek, in the fifth ward, promised at the time of the union. He thought if the matter was not taken up at once it would be impossible to have the work completed within the time promised.

Ald. Morrison spoke on the same line. He thought the council should start at once on that matter in justice to the fellow citizens of the town in the fifth ward. The Mayor also endorsed the words of the Alderman.

Mr. Adams thought that if the engineer had not the time to do the work an engineer might be engaged to do the work.

Ald. Morrison moved, seconded by Ald. Edgcumbe, that a special committee, composed of Ald. Adams, Hicks, Rush, McWilliams, and Johnston be appointed to arrange for carrying out of these works, which was carried.

Ald. Batten moved, seconded by Ald. Morrison, that the treasurer of the Dan Spence ambulance fund be requested to pay over to the town the amount collected and on receipt of this the town pay the manufacturers $700 on account. The motion was carried.

Ald. Rush called the attention of the council to the manner of assessing the town and thought that the time had come when a change should be made, and the change suggested was that an assessment commissioner should be appointed, whose duties would be to permanently look after the assessment of the town, and he believed that the assessment would be more equitable than at present.

The council then adjourned.

FOOTBALL.

Three games are scheduled in the Midland League semi-finals for Saturday. The Quakers play at Tweed against Deseronto in a sudden death contest. Bridgenorth will travel to Bowmanville for the return game and the Y.M.C.A. will meet Locust Hill at Markham.

* * * *

The Y.M.C.A. boys will be in fine shape for next Saturday's return game with Locust Hill. The locals had the best of the second half with the visitors last week and if they play the game they are capable of, should pretty nearly come out with the long side of the score to their credit.

LACROSSE.

The T.A.S. players had a great workout on Monday evening on the School grounds, the home playing against the defence and some excellent combination work was indulged in. The boys will practice each and every evening this week in preparation for the game in Hastings next Saturday, June 18th. Reduced rates have been secured and all those who intend to go with the team should hand in their names to the secretary, Jas. Dorrie, as soon as possible. After the practice on Wednesday evening an important meeting of the executive and all players will be held and each and every one interested is urgently requested to attend. The following players are asked to turn out this evening:—Jas. O'Brien, Derocher, O'Connor, Boyle, H. McCoy, Gorham, Whaley, F. McCoy, McNicholl, Morris, McCabe, Dorris, Mahony, Joe O'Brien, Meagher, Parnell, McGrath, Augiesyc, Judd, O'Donavan, McCormick, Mulligan, H. Donavan and O'Neill.

JAPANESE WON A GREAT VICTORY.

Kill One Thousand Russians and Capture More Guns.

7,000 RUSSIANS IN FLIGHT.

At Fuchow the Russians Were Defeated and Retreated in Disorder—Vladivostock Squadron Sighted off Japanese Coast, and Three Jap Transports Narrowly Escaped Capture.

London, June 16.—A despatch to The Daily Express from Tokio, dated June 15, says news has reached there, but has not yet been officially published, of a great Japanese victory near Fuchow, on the railway, seventy miles north of Port Arthur. The Russians, it is added, were overwhelmed, lost a thousand men, left all their guns on the field, and retreated in disorder.

The Daily Chronicle's correspondent at Tokio cables the same news, adding that the Russians, to the number of 7,000 men, are now in full flight toward Tshichiao and Kaiochow.

Togo Active.

Tokio, June 16.—Admiral Togo reports that his torpedo boat flotilla, on the night of June 15, successfully laid mines near Port Arthur. On June 14, his second flotilla bombarded the enemy on the shore near Shampingtao, and was engaged by the Russian cruiser Novik and ten destroyers. The Japanese ships sustained no damage. Heavy firing and explosions were heard on the same day in the direction of Port Arthur.

Northern Fleet About.

London, June 16.—From several quarters come reports of the Vladivostock fleet having been sighted off the Japanese coast, but its exact whereabouts is not disclosed. Firing has been heard in the Corean Straits, and it is possible that an engagement is progressing. Japanese warships are hurrying to the scene. Three Japanese transports, homeward bound, narrowly escaped capture or destruction.

Vafangow Fight Renewed.

London, June 16.—The correspondent of The Central News at Liaoyang telegraphs as follows: Fighting at Vafangow (about 55 miles north of Port Arthur) was renewed yesterday, and is still proceeding. No details are obtainable, but there are persistent rumors that the Russians were partly successful, destroying three squadrons of cavalry and making prisoners of sixty men. The Russian casualties in the fighting Tuesday were 308 men killed or wounded. The Japanese casualties are not known.

Enemy Increasing.

General Kuroki's Headquarters in the Field, via Fusan, June 16.—The enemy in front of the second Japanese army are increasing, and a battle is expected. There has been no fighting in front of the first Japanese army since June 12, when two companies of Russians were driven from Wutaiho, with a loss of twenty men. The Russians have reoccupied Tongyengsu, on the Liaoyang road; Simingtsu on the Lienshangkwang road, and Sanchaitsu, on the Haicheng road, with small forces.

COUNT VON MARSHALL VISITS PETERBOROUGH.

A Former Resident Pays the Town a Visit and Renews Acquaintance.

Count Von Marshall, of Ingersoll, formerly a resident of Peterborough, but who left there over 30 years ago, is in town on a business trip, and is renewing old acquaintances. The Count who is a son of the late Count Von Marshall, of Germany, and nephew of John Jacob Astor, of New York, is a brother of the late Lady Rowe, of Peterborough. He was born and raised here, and graduated in law here.

Since his arrival here, he received the sad intelligence of the death of his wife's brother, Sheriff Webb's son, of Ohio. This intelligence caused the Count deep distress. He will remain here for a few days.

CONTRACT LET FOR Y. W. C. A. BUILDING.

Messrs. McIntyre and Hartley have Secured Contract to Build it.

The contract for building the new quarters of the Y.W.C.A. has been awarded to Messrs. A. A. McIntyre and J. J. Hartley. This building be erected on the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets, on the property recently purchased from Mr. Jas. Stevenson, and will cost in the neighbourhood of $30,000. It will be an ornament to the town, and a credit to the Association. The contractors who will erect the building also built the Y.M.C.A., and doubtless the same skill and workmanship, which have made that building one of the most admired in town, will be exercised in the new contract.

Work will be commenced almost immediately, and the work of construction will be pushed.

If you're feeling warm, drop in and have a "Hiawatha," "David Harum" or a "Crushe Fruit Sundae" at HOOPER'S.

ALD. RUSH MAKES A SUGGESTION

Thinks Town Should Have an Assessment Commission.

Believes it Would be in the Interests of the Town—Cites Experiences of Other Cities.

Ald. Rush, at the last meeting of the council called the attention of the council to the present method of assessment in force in Peterborough, and suggested that the time had come when a change might be made, in the interests of the town. His plan was to appoint an assessment commissioner who would devote his whole time to the work. He pointed out that at the present time those appointed to do the assessing were engaged only two or three months during the year, and could not be expected to keep in close touch with the affairs of the department. He believed that the assessment of the town would be much more equitably done if a permanent official were appointed to do the work. Persons wishing to build residences or business places would be obliged to obtain permits from the commissioner, and would submit plans of the proposed building, in which case the commissioner would be in touch with the new building being done, and would be enabled to fix the assessment intelligently.

He pointed out, too, that the new assessment act, which will come into effect next year, will require some very careful study before it will be understood, and it is hardly to be expected that men who spend only a few months each year, will be in a position to familiarize themselves with the details of the new act.

In Guelph, where the assessment is $4,000,000, and the rate 20 1-2 mills, the assessment commissioner has a salary of $700, and in Brantford, with an assessment of $6,000,000, and a rate of 20 mills, there are two assessors, who each receive $450 a year. In Windsor there is an assessment of $5,500,000, and a rate of 24 1-2 mills. The commissioner gets $600, and $300 as secretary of the School Board.

Ald. Rush believed that the change as suggested would be in the interests of the town.

The Mayor stated yesterday that he had not gone into the matter thoroughly, but thought some improvement should be made in the assessment department, although he was not prepared to say at the present time what changes should be made.

VALUABLE PRIZES IN WRITING COMPETITION

Mr. W. Pringle Presents Three Sterling Silver Medals.

Mr. W. Pringle, principal of the Peterborough Business College, is presenting three sterling silver medals for writing competition between pupils of the Public and Separate schools, and first form of the Collegiate Institute. Mr. Pringle's object in presenting these medals is to cultivate the art of writing, and he is to be commended for his worthy object. To-day the pupils in the third and fourth classes in the Public and Separate schools, and in the Collegiate Institute first forms are writing on this competition, one page of foolscap written in the medium slant or Spencerian system constituting the amount to be written. The principals will choose ten of the best specimens from each of the classes, and these will be submitted to Mr. Pringle and Mr. D. Walker, who will judge them and award the prizes to those they consider the best executed.

The medals are very handsome pieces of silver work. Around the outer rim is engraved, "Writing Competition, Peterborough Public and Separate Schools, Donated by Wm. Pringle," while in the centre is engraved, "Third Book Classes," "Fourth Book Classes," and on the third medal, that for the Collegiate Institute, the engraving is "First Form, Peterborough Collegiate Institute." A place is left on the reverse side for the name of the winner to be inscribed.

The medals were procured through Mr. Alex. Gibson, and are very handsome.

Mr. Whitton called Shamrock at 8 1-8 but it refused.

The Board adjourned for one week.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The celebration to be held by the Toronto Globe on the 18th inst., recalls to my memory the scenes of 67 years ago—the Mackenzie Rebellion and the results of it. The motto then was "Canada for the people," which, we are glad to say, made us owners of our lands, instead of tenants. After the late Wm. L. Mackenzie's time came the British Chronicle, the Banner, and the Globe. These all advocated the rights of the people, which we now enjoy, and every person may be the owner of his property. Sixty-seven years have now passed, and there is still a remnant who will not acknowledge the benefits arising from civil and religious liberty. Why not celebrate the existence of such a paper as the Toronto Globe, which has been and is a leader in the interests of the people of Canada. About 100 years ago a press could print 100 copies per hour of a newspaper; now 96,000 copies per hour. The progress made and the privileges we now enjoy are beyond all conception.

Potato planting has been greatly hindered by the wet weather.

The season has been favourable for the hay crop. Other crops are looking very well. The farmer expects a good return for his labours.

The pastors of both churches were absent last Sunday.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Keene, June 14.

Miss Jennie Thurston and Miss E. McCamus, of Lindsay, are here for a few days.

Mr. Rankin, of Collins Bay, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) MacDonald.

Miss Mabel Harrison is home from Ainsley Hall, Toronto, for the summer.

Mrs. Henry Newton and little daughter Greta, spent last week with Miss Bella Newton.

Rev. Atkinson, of Warsaw, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church here Sunday morning. Rev. D. D. MacDonald taking his place at the anniversary service. At the meeting on Monday afternoon in Warsaw, Miss Margaret Bryce contributed several numbers of the programme. Miss Bryce also assisted the choir of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough on Sunday morning and rendered a solo during the service.

Dr. J. M. Shaw was in Toronto on Saturday.

Among those who went to Guelph on the Farmers' Institute excursion last week were Mr. Wm. Campbell, Mr. Wm. Newton and Mr. and Mrs. W. Clarry.

Having completed his three year term in this circuit, Rev. W. B. Beecombe will take charge of the Methodist church at Pontypool in a few weeks. He will be succeeded here by Rev. D. N. Drew.

Miss Maud Campbell started on Monday for Edmonton, N. W. T., to visit her sister, Mrs. Jas. Miller.

Mrs. J. Neill, of Toronto, is visiting a number of her relatives and friends here. Her son Mr. Bruce Glass, also, who was recently married is spending a few days here before returning to his home in Jamestown, N. D.

Mrs. (Dr.) Lauriston, of Richmond Hill, with her three children is visiting her father, Mr. Jas. Elmhirst.

On Tuesday afternoon of last week Lolo, the little eight-year-old daughter of Mr. Wm. Kempt, was returning from school and attempted to climb a stump fence. In some manner she fell on a root which penetrated a considerable distance into her body, inflicting what might have proved a very serious injury. She is now rapidly recovering, and it is hoped no serious result will follow.

Sued by His Doctor.

"A doctor here has sued me for $12.50, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White of Conchalla, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used as I had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by all druggists.

DUORO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

"The Swellest Ever!" In this way an enthusiast describes the picnic that will be held in Duoro on Thursday, June 23rd. The object of the picnic is praiseworthy: to adorn the Douro church with stained glass windows. The picnic will be a city and county affair. Father Kelly came into the County of Peterborough twenty-five years ago. In Ennismore and Douro he built a stately house and a magnificent church—ornaments for all times to the county. His friends in the city and county are therefore determined that the picnic this year shall be "the swellest ever." The County Council and the Councils of Ennismore and Duoro will be officially present. Hon. Mr. Stratton, and all the leading men of the city and county will also be present. Among possibilities from outside will be D'Arcy Scott, Esq., Ottawa, and Mr. Henri Bourrassa, the well known Quebec Commoner. There will also be the usual athletic sports. The music will be first class. The dinner will be of the kind that has made Douro famous. Everybody invited. Entrance to grounds 50 cents. Make sure and take in "the swellest ever" picnic.

POLLOWED INSTRUCTIONS.

Lawyer Bangs Tells the Story of the $10,000 Mail Theft

Regina, N.W.T., June 15.—The Wilcox trial opened here yesterday. Lawyer Bangs was in the box two hours. He related how, when Wilcox first came to see him, he stated that he had taken a package out of the mail bag containing $10,000, and requested witness to defend him. Wilcox told the witness to secure a box containing certain things which should be destroyed.

Bangs then related how Wilcox gave him two keys, one of the golf house at Calgary and the other to a locker in the house. In the locker he found a telescope bag containing a tin box. Witness took this home, and upon opening it found $7,000 in $5 and $10 Bank of Hamilton bills.

There were also a number of mail bag seals, sealing wax, rubber stamps and a large metal stamp "R." These Bangs destroyed in his own furnace, Wilcox's instructions being to destroy all incriminating evidence. Asked as to whether Wilcox had told him how he opened the mail bag, witness said Wilcox had stated that he broke the seal and took out the parcel and then sealed the bag up again, using a seal which accused said he had made and which was among the articles witness had burnt in his furnace.

Witness told of his getting the money changed from Bank of Hamilton notes to those of other banks and of supplying accused with money from time to time.

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

County Police Magistrate Edmison was in Havelock on Tuesday holding Court. A girl of 15 years of age named Mabel Taylor, was accused of assault. It seems that she was in Company with two distant relatives, young boys about 12 years of age, who, she claims, were aggravating her so that she hit one of them on the nose with a stick, inflicting a painful injury, and for this she had to appear in court. The Judge adjourned the court for one week to consult the authorities of the Children's Aid Society before dealing with the case.

PAINS IN BACK NOW ALL GONE

After Twenty Years Suffering From Kidney Disease and Dyspepsia, a Perfect Cure is Made by

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

A medicine which will cure such a severe form of kidney disease as that described below can certainly be relied upon for any ordinary case of this ailment.

It seems folly to experiment with new and untried remedies when there are thousands ready to certify that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have positively cured them of this painful and fatal malady.

Mr. John Gearin, an old resident of Thorold, Ont., states: "For twenty years I was badly afflicted with kidney troubles, indigestion and bladder derangements. During that time I was a great sufferer and had to get up six tot welve times nightly to pass water. I tried different doctors and used all sorts of medicines to no avail.

"Finally, I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and soon found relief. Thus encouraged I continued to use these pills and after having taken twelve boxes was again in perfect health and vigour. I can now sleep undisturbed, the pains in the kidneys and back are gone, and I am feeling well and strong. I consider Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a great boon to suffering humanity and had I known about them when I was a young man could have escaped suffering all the best years of my life."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 8

MURDER IS CHARGED

Unfortunate Position in Which Kate A. Sharp Finds Herself.

REGINA'S $10,000 MAIL THEFT

Lawyer Bangs Tells the Story of How He Followed Wilcox's Instructions in Securing Stolen Money and Destroying Important Evidence—How Wilcox Got the Money—Crimes and Suicides.

Toronto, June 15.—Kate A. Sharp, 22 years of age, who has been boarding at 51 Simcoe street, was locked up last night on the charge of murder.

Detective Forrest has for a few days been trying to discover the mother of the infant that was found in the water at the foot of Bay street last week. He thought he was on the right trail yesterday, but he was mistaken, although his efforts were not wasted. While investigating the one case he found another of a similar character.

A few weeks ago the body of a child was found in the grounds of the Bishop Strachan School. The clue the officer was following led to the mother of this infant. She is the young woman whom he arrested last night. When taken to the station she at first denied everything, but finally broke down and confessed that she was the mother.

It is the old, old, sad story over again. She and a young man had been living together as man and wife. The child was born.

Detective Forrest has located the young man. His story is that when he came home one night the infant was dead. She told him that it had died. He had no money to give it a burial, so he wrapped the body in a newspaper and deposited it in the school grounds, where it was found. It was not thought necessary to arrest the young man, as the woman's story agrees with his.

The coroner's jury who enquired into the death of the child brought in a verdict of murder against some party or parties unknown.

To Prove what Anti-Pill, the Great System Treatment will do for you, Every Reader of this paper may have A Sample Bottle sent Free by Mail.

Derangement of the stomach is responsible for much sickness and suffering. Every organ of the body depends upon the stomach for its nutriment and strength—If the stomach is not working right the blood carries to the liver, heart, nerves and kidney tissue imperfect nutrition—They become weak and unable to perform their work—become clogged, diseased, and throw out their distress symptoms. Now you may get stimulative, temporary relief by the taking of a kidney, liver, nerve or heart specific, but the cause remains—The stomach is at fault, and so long as it keeps loading the blood with impurity—waste, so long will the blood transport and deposit disease breeding elements in the weak places—When you feel sick, help the stomach first. A well stomach means a well body. Anti-Pill, the Great System Treatment, is a new discovery that has a marvelous influence in correcting system ailments. Address, Wilson-Fyle Co., Niagara Falls, Ont., for free sample. Regular size, a month's treatment, 50 cents at Druggists.

AYLMER IN COMMAND

Adjutant-General Takes Lord Dundonald's Place.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Office of G.O.C. Will Probably Be Abolished and the Militia Forces Governed By a Military Council—Sir Frederick Borden's Strong Words in Condemnation of Lord Dundonald's Breach of Discipline.

Ottawa, June 16.—Sir Frederick Borden said in an interview yesterday morning: "Lord Aylmer has been appointed General Officer Commanding for the present, as provided in the regulations. He will enter upon the duties immediately, as provided in the regulations. I do not think we shall have another General Officer Commanding. Under the Militia Bill now before the House, there is provision for a Military Council. The Inspector-General in that Council will be an Imperial officer. I cannot say as yet who he will be."

"Will you ask the Imperial Government to make a recommendation?"

"I cannot say as yet. It will be time enough to deal with that when the matter comes up."

"Have any cables on the present situation passed between the Canadian Government and the Imperial Government?"

"So far as I know, there has not been any as yet."

The New G.O.C.

Baron Aylmer, the temporary chief of the militia, is the great grandson of the Fifth Lord Aylmer, who was a General in the British army and a Governor of the Canadas. The family has been resident in the eastern townships for the greater part of a century. His father, the Seventh Baron, served during the rebellion of 1837 and was connected with the militia till 1894, when he retired, retaining his rank as Lieutenant-Colonel. The present Lord Aylmer was born in 1842 at Melbourne, Que., and served in the Imperial army from 1864 to 1870, taking part as a British officer in repelling the Fenian Raids of 1866-70. Since 1871 he has been a staff officer of the Canadian militia and for some years has been second in command.

Sir Fred. Borden's Report.

Sir Frederick Borden's report in Council recommending that the services of Lord Dundonald be dispensed with was submitted to Parliament last night. The Minister of Militia sets forth fully the report of His Lordship's remarks at the Montreal military banquet, and then quotes his own letter to Lord Dundonald, asking if the report is correct, and the latter's reply thereto. The Minister then recites the inquiries in Parliament on the subject and sets forth the statements by Mr. Fisher and himself and the memorandum sent by Lord Dundonald to Lieut.-Col. Hughes. Sir Frederick then continues as follows:

Sir Frederick's Strong Words.

Sir Frederick Borden, in commenting on the facts, says: He is of the opinion that under the regulation which prohibits the publication through the medium of the press of anything calculated to act injuriously on the interests of the service or to excite discontent in the militia, the General Officer Commanding, who of all men should be expected to restrain such publication, has committed a breach of duty and of official decorum, which seems to have been deliberate and cannot be ignored.

Question of Qualification.

With reference to the question as to the qualifications of the senior officers, including squadron commanders appointed by the regiment which has been under discussion, the list shows that with the exception of Dr. Pickell, all had had military training and with the exception of Major N. R. Moffatt, commander of "C" Squadron, who possesses a first-class grade "A" certificate, and Major E. J. Holland, V. C., commander of "B" Squadron, who won his Victoria Cross for service in South Africa, all were technically qualified as cavalry officers.

Died From Burns.

Mount Forest, June 16.—Miss Lillian Philips, 22 years old, died in Hamilton on Tuesday from injuries received by the explosion of a lamp in her home the previous evening. The lamp was accidentally knocked off a table near where the unfortunate girl was standing. Her clothing immediately caught fire and before the flames could be extinguished she was burned so severely that despite medical skill death came within 24 hours.

Drowned at French River.

French River, June 16.—The first drowning accident of the season in this district occurred yesterday afternoon in what is known as the Little Lake. Angus McLean, a young man, whose home is near the Soo, went bathing with some other young men. He got beyond his depth and sank to the bottom. His body was recovered about two hours later and forwarded to his home, near the Soo.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

GREAT LAKE TIE-UP ENDED.

More Than 100,000 Men Idle For Six Weeks Go to Work.

Cleveland, O., June 15.—After six weeks of a tie-up on the great lakes that has directly involved a couple of thousand men, but indirectly more than a hundred thousand, who have been idle, because of its existence, a cessation was brought to the strike last night by the surrender of the masters, who, with the pilots, have been holding out for a more uniform scale of wages this season than was offered by the Lake Carriers' Association, whose boats were most affected by the difficulty between the vessel owners and their employes. The strike was declared off last night by Paul Howell, district captain of the Masters' and Pilots' Association.

PERDICARIS STILL HELD.

The Negotiations With Bandit Chief Raisuli Drag.

Tangier, June 15.—A courier from Raisuli, the bandit chief who kidnapped Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley, arrived here during Monday night. United States Consul-General Gummore and the British Minister subsequently visited Mohammed El Torres, the representative of the Sultan of Morocco, to discuss the contents of Raisuli's headquarters makes the negotiations drag. It is now thought possible that the captives will not be released this week.

Medical Reciprocity.

Toronto, June 16.—That a system of reciprocity between the provinces, permitting medical men to practice in any part of Canada, may come about, and that a modern hospital may some day become a portion of Toronto University, were the hopes expressed by Premier Ross at the annual luncheon of the Ontario Medical Association yesterday. Hon. Richard Harcourt also responded to the toast of the Legislature, and laid much emphasis upon the undesirability of medical men specializing without first having a broad foundation of knowledge. The business session of the morning included several subjects touching on life insurance matters.

Nothing New Adduced.

Regina, N.W.T., June 16.—The mail robbery case was proceeded with yesterday morning before Justice Newlands. Various mail clerks between Moosejaw, Calgary and Vancouver, gave evidence, also a clerk at the Vancouver post office, and the Bank of Hamilton at Vancouver. Nothing new was elicited. About ten witnesses were examined.

Poison For Quinine.

Quebec, June 16.—Nochan Wyckloff, aged 35 years, a Russian Jew immigrant, who arrived in this city ten days ago by the ocean steamer Quebec of the Peterson Line, was accidentally poisoned on Sunday last in the Government immigration hospital at Savard Park. Dr. Gauthier says he mistook bi-chloride of mercury for quinine.

Drummond Found Guilty.

Brantford, June 16.—Joseph Clayton Drummond was last night found guilty of perjury at the recent trial of Joseph Kennedy, charged with the murder of Irene Cole. Sentence will be passed upon him this morning by Judge Hardy.

No Competition.

The uniform success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the relief and cure of bowel complaints both in children and adults has brought it into almost universal use, so that it is practically without a rival, and as everyone who has used it knows, is without an equal. For sale by all druggists.

An Irish Jury.

A remarkable case in which Daniel O'Connell appeared was one in which a man was charged with murder. The evidence went all against the prisoner. When the time came for the defense to be made it was announced, "The murdered man will now be called." The supposed victim went into the box and satisfied the court as to his identity and existence in flesh. The judge directed the jury to return a formal verdict of not guilty, but the good men and true insisted on retiring and did so. Presently returning, they found the prisoner guilty. "Heavens, gentlemen," said the judge, "of what is he guilty? Not murder, surely?" "No, m'lord," replied the foreman, "but if he didn't murder the man he stole my old mare three weeks ago."

Business of the Session.

Before the orders of the day were called, in reply to a question by Mr. R. L. Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced that there are one or two minor Government bills and a measure to amend and improve the election law to be brought down.

Mr. W. F. Maclean intimated that the arrangement made by the Railway Committee to consider his bill establishing a two-cent passenger rate on the 28th inst. would not prevent him moving the same in the House in amendment to Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill.

Deaf Man Killed.

Berlin, June 15.—Philip Kraft of Brantford, a deaf man, about 60 years old, was killed by an electric car on the Berlin-Bridgeport line yesterday afternoon. He was walking ahead of the car, and, of course, could not hear the gong. The car was reversed, but did not stop, and Kraft was run over. One leg was severed below the knee. Deceased formerly lived in Hespeler.

Two Charged With Crime.

Toronto, June 16.—Musson Brown was taken in custody yesterday in connection with the charge of child murder against Kate Sharp. Both will appear on Monday.

COUNTY COURT AND GENERAL SESSIONS

Opened Before His Honour Judge Weller.

The Presentment of the Grand Jury.

The County Court and General Sessions opened yesterday morning before Judge Weller, in the Court House here.

Only one criminal case is on the docket, that against Jessie Airres, who is up on three charges.

The following compose the Grand Jury:—A. H. Stratton, foreman; W. H. Brethren, W. Hall, W. H. Hill, T. Hooper, W. Johnston, R. Kidd, W. Lawson, R. Nurse, G. Payne, W. Salisbury, J. Trotter, who made the following presentment yesterday:—

To His Honour Judge Weller: —

Your Grand Jury of the County Court and General Sessions beg leave to make their presentment, and would extend congratulations such as the occasion seems to demand. We have to congratulate your honour upon your good health after so long and distinguished service on the bench. We wish also to congratulate the town, county and community generally upon the satisfactory condition of public morality in our midst, as evidenced by the comparative absence of crime of a serious character. In investigating the criminal charges placed before us our duty has been comparatively light.

We also examined the jail and found everything satisfactory in regard to management by the officials, but there are material improvements necessary. The system of plumbing should, if not replaced by something modern and and effective, be thoroughly revised and remodelled. The system of heating has proved unsatisfactory, and should, in our opinion, be replaced by something more modern, more effective and less expensive.

We regretted very much the pitiable spectacle of the presence among the hardened criminals confined in the jail, of a small boy aged only nine years. He was not separately confined, but was in direct company daily and hourly with these undesirable characters. This is, it seems to us, contrary to all principles of crime prevention, and instead of being a deterrent to the lad in question, is a direct encouragement and help in fostering in him the natural instinct to lawlessness with which he seems to be endowed. We would respectfully recommend that if it be at all possible, arrangements be made to place the lad under the care of the local Children's Aid Society, in whose charge he will receive treatment and be given associations which, if there is any hope for a better life for him, will place him in the way of growing up a respectable and useful citizen.

It was our intention to visit the other public institutions of the town receiving government aid, but as there were no conveyances at our disposal, we did not make the visit and inspection which in the interests of the institutions themselves and the public seem to be periodically called for.

We are glad to note the continued prosperity of the town and county, and it seems that under such circumstances, prompt steps should be taken to continue the work of providing a county and town House of Refuge, which is very badly needed; for the unsystematic and haphazard way at present prevailing of dispensing charity and helping the indigent poor, is not only unduly expensive, but generally unsatisfactory. We note with pleasure that the town of Peterborough has taken a practical step in this direction by the purchase of a property which, it is said, can be used for the erection of a House of Refuge such as is needed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. H. STRATTON,
Foreman.

"THEY WON'T DO IT"

The Disgusted Ratepayers Reflections on Road Results.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—It seems they won't do it. Won't do what? Why keep the streets in good order—I mean the street authorities. They build a good stretch of street and seem to think their duty done. They are like some persons who bring children into the world and henceforth wash their hands of all responsibility. So with our streets. Now George street, say from Charlotte to Brock streets was put in beautiful condition. But when holes and depressions began to develop, they were allowed to grow, and are still growing, when a load or two of material would have restored the street to its pristine perfection, and applied from time to time would have kept it so. The same applies to Hunter, Simcoe and Charlotte streets as far as Reid street. Any person driving over the roads and shutting his eyes would need little effort to persuade himself that he was pounding over the rocky roads of some parts of Burleigh—some parts—for there are many stretches of road in the Northern Country far smoother than the chief thoroughfares of Peterborough.

I see that the street authorities are water-tabling Hunter street and Reid street; this should have been done long ago, and by the way, it seems to me that the road grader would have done as good a job and much more quickly and cheaply. Too little attention is paid to drainage of our streets. Drainage is the first consideration in good road building. To lay down a good road bed and then allow water to gather in pools and little lakes by not providing proper surface drainage, is a good deal like a man building a nice house and leaving the roof off. The water soaks under the road, softens the sub-layer, the road sinks and the surface is spoiled, and, like the man in Holy Scripture, who took to himself seven other devils, the last state of that road is worse than the first. For the purposes of a road—smooth surface, easy transportation and comfortable driving the money spent on the streets is largely wasted.

It is such sloppy work on our streets—such neglect of the first principles of road-making—such neglect to take a stitch in time—that makes ratepayers kick against the immense expenditure on our streets, with such immense failure. Why do our street authorities not deal with our streets in a common sense way? Simply it seems, because they defy the long suffering rate payers—simply because they won't do it.

Yours etc.,
DISGUSTED RATEPAYER.

ODDFELLOWS REMEMBER DEPARTED BRETHREN.

An Impressive Decoration Day Ceremony This Afternoon.

A Large Turn Out of Oddfellows—Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges Well Represented—The Departed Brethren

This afternoon the annual Decoration Day ceremonies were observed by the members of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges, I.O.O.F., and the turn-out of the members of this Order was the largest in the history of the town. They gathered at the Central Park shortly after 1.30 o'clock, and headed by the 57th Regiment Band, marched to the cemetery, where the decoration of the graves of the departed brethren was proceeded with. Addresses by the local clergymen were delivered in connection with the ceremony of decoration.

The deceased members of the Oddfellow Lodges, whose graves are decorated grow more numerous each year, and those who to-day were remembered by the members of these lodges were:—

A VERY PRETTY JUNE WEDDING

Miss Alberta Long Married to Mr. Charles Edward Clegg.

The marriage of Miss Alberta Long and Mr. Charles Edward Clegg took place last evening at eight-thirty o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother, 676 Water street, the Rev. J. C. Davidson being the officiating clergyman. The bride who was given away by her uncle, Mr. H. Long, wore a costume of navy blue voile, and was assisted by her sister, Miss Elsie Long.

The wedding march was played by Miss Ethel Tully.

The bride was the recipient of a number of handsome gifts including a cheque from her uncle, Mr. H. Long.

Mr. and Mrs. Clegg will leave shortly to take up residence in the West.

TRAINS WERE DELAYED

By a Mishap to a Freight Train at Agincourt.

An accident occurred on the C. P. R. last evening, near Agincourt, when some freight cars were derailed. The local due at 7.33 p.m. from the west was delayed four hours as a result.

The story of the wreck is told in the following despatch from Agincourt to the Mail and Empire: Several cars of a west-bound C. P. R. freight train were derailed from the switch at the entrance to the station yard here this afternoon. The engine with two cars, kept the rails, while the third car, which was light, failed to turn from the main track, and dragged six others with it. That further damage was not done was due to the slow rate at which the train was moving. The switch in use was of an old type, known as the McPherson. Passenger train No. 8, in charge of Conductor McAllister, arrived from Toronto at about the same time that the accident occurred and further progress was stopped. The passengers, some 60 in number, were taken to the grounds of Mr. Elliott, near by, where a Farmers' Institute picnic was in progress, and were given supper at the railway company's expense. Four hours' work on the part of the auxiliary, repaired the damages, and the trains from the east and west proceeded on their way.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND VISITING ORANGEMEN

Will be in Peterborough on July Twelth

From present prospects the Orange celebration here this year will eclipse anything of the kind ever attempted here. Not only will the Orangemen from the Peterborough District gather here, but advices are being received from other districts that they intend joining in the celebration here, and although 10,000 visitors was the number which was at first estimated, later advices give the information that at least 15,000 visitors will be in town that day.

The local members of the Order are enthusiastically working for the success of the celebration, which will surpass all previous celebrations.

VETERANS OF 1866,

LATE MR. RUSSELL HIGHLY RESPECTED

Winnipeg Paper Pays a High Tribute to his Character.

Formerly a Resident of Peterborough—Many Expressions of Sympathy at His Death.

The Winnipeg Free Press pays a high tribute to the good qualities possessed by the late Mr. Andrew D. Russell, whose death occurred recently in that city. The Free Press says:—

The funeral of the late Andrew D. Russell took place from his late residence, 122 Jarvis street, on Tuesday afternoon of this week. Rev. John Hogg conducted the services at the house and the remains were interred in St. John's cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. W. F. Graham, H. J. Edwards, J. Mowat, J. Craig, J. McLaughlin and H. Scott. The floral tributes were beautiful and numerous, among them being: Mr. and Mrs. H. Scott and family, spray; J. S. Mowat, Jr., spray; Mr. and Mrs. I. Pitblado, crown; fellow employees C.P.R. freight office, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Mowat, spray; office bearers of St. Giles, church, wreath; firm and office staff of Campbell, Pitblado & Co., wreath; Mr. J. H. Martinson, spray; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Russell, spray; Teenie Mowat, spray; Hon. and Mrs. C. H. Campbell, star; Mrs. H. Eastland, spray.

The late Mr. Russell was born in Baltimore, Ont., 15th April, 1859, and his boyhood was spent in the vicinity of his first home. Twenty years ago he married Miss H. F. Hamilton, of Peterborough, and his widow and one son survive him. Of the old home folks, the late Mr. Russell's father and mother and one sister, Mrs. Waddell, live in Peterborough, and a brother, Charles Russell, lives in Philadelphia, Pa. These relatives all have the warmest sympathy of their many friends.

Mr. Russell always took an active part in church work and was one of the board of managers of St. Giles Presbyterian church, in which church he also held the position of envelope secretary. He was also a member of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C.O.F.

The following letter is but one of the many expressing the esteem in which the late Mr. Russell was held by his most intimate associates:—

Mrs. A. D. Russell, Winnipeg:

Dear Madam,—We, the staff of the local freight office, desire to convey to you our sympathy in your great bereavement and trust that you will have sufficient strength to carry you through this trying ordeal.

The late Mr. Russell was a faithful and trustworthy employee and his presence will be much missed from our midst.

May God in His infinite goodness comfort and sustain you in this your irreparable loss.

Yours in deepest sympathy and respect,

H. J. SULLIVAN,

Signed on behalf of the staff.

PRESENTATION TO RETIRING FOREMAN

M. Geo. Minorgan Remembered by Fellow Employees.

Tuesday afternoon an event of special interest occurred at the works of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, when the employees of the company presented Mr. George Minorgan, who for 19 years has been foreman of the moulding shop, with a gold chain and locket, the latter with an engraved monogram, on the occasion of his severing his connection with the works to retire from active work.

Mr. Minorgan has been connected with the firm for 30 years in all, and during that time has made many very warm friends among his fellow employees. He leaves the employ of the firm with nothing but best wishes on the part of the members of the firm, and his fellow employees.

The following address was read by Mr. Frank Turner, and Mr. John Low made the presentation:—

Peterborough, June 14th, 1904.

To Mr. George Minorgan,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Friend George,—Having heard of your purpose to retire from engagement with the firm for which you have worked so faithfully as forteman during the past score of years, and that you will thereby sever your daily association with us, we, employees of the Moulding Department of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, wish to convey to you an expression of our appreciation of those qualities, which, during all these years, have knit us together, not only as fellow-workmen, but as friends. The flight of time brings many changes, and is frequently marked by these events, which, year by year, bring us to a better understanding of each other, and of those responsibilities which face us as duties in our relationship one with another. You have, through it all, been a wise counsellor, a constant friend, a workman who inspired in us a full sense of what was highest and best in our daily round, and we now assemble to acquaint you of our feelings. It is an occasion which, while tinged with regret on our part, does not lack its bright side, knowing, as we do, the merit of your services in the past, and we hope it will have its full measure of happiness, and contentment, and pleasant memory for you. Coupled with our very best wishes we ask you to accept this chain and locket as tokens of the friendship and esteem and remembrance from the men of the Moulding Department of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company.

Signed on behalf of the Moulders,
ROBT. MULLIGAN,
FRANK TURNER,
WALTER EASTLAND,
W. A. MOWRY,
J. LAW,
W. LAW,
J. HATCHER.

Mr. Minorgan replied to the address briefly expressing his deep gratitude to his friends for this mark of esteem, and referred feelingly to the happy relations which had always existed between himself and the staff of workmen. He assured them that he would always look back upon the years spent in their association with pleasure.

Mr. Robt. Mulligan who has worked in the moulding shop for 19 years will take Mr. Minorgan's place as foreman.

ANOTHER DIMINUTIVE HORSE STEALER

Boy of Eight Years of Age Arrested Yesterday for Bad Conduct.

There seems to be prevalent among some of the younger generation, a mania for stealing, or rather, perhaps, borrowing horses, and returning them when it is deemed advisable or convenenit. Not long ago young Schwaier made off with a horse, which was so badly used up after its long drive that the owner is still doubtful if it will again be of any use to him. Yesterday a boy named Theobald was placed under arrest for stealing a horse and rig. The boy is is but eight years of age, and it seems that he has been in the habit of jumping into rigs that he sees standing around and driving off for a pleasure trip. He has done this on three occasions. A short time ago a farmer living in Douro left his horse tied in the National Hotel sheds and when he went to secure it it had disappeared. After about four hours' diligent search Young Theobald was discovered with the horse. A few days ago he took the horse belonging to Mr. George Hutchinson, tinsmith, and he repeated the trick yesterday, and when captured was arrested. He was delivered over to his mother, who was to have appeared at the police court this morning, but failed to do so. Strict measures should be used to reform this boy. He has been warned by the Chief and others previously, with no apparent results, and his case is one which needs attention. He has already caused much inconvenience by his conduct.

DUNDONALD'S CASE

G.O.C. Relieved of Command by an Order-in-Council.

HON. MR. FISHER JUSTIFIED

Lord Dundonald Guilty of Grave Insubordination—He Had Every Opportunity to Appeal to the Ministry Before Making His Indiscreet Speech at Montreal—Has Formed No Plans.

Ottawa, June 15.—An Order-in-Council sanctioned by the Governor-General yesterday relieves Lord Dundonald of his duties as G.O.C. of the Canadian militia. The Order-in-Council as handed out late last night is as follows:

EXTRACT FROM A REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE HONORABLE THE PRIVY COUNCIL APPROVED BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL ON THE 14TH DAY OF JUNE, 1904:

The sub-committee of council having had under consideration certain recent public utterances of the Earl of Dundonald, G.O.C., on the Canadian militia and a report in relation thereto by the minister of militia, report as follows:

"On the 8th day of June, 1904, the attention of the minister of militia was drawn to a despatch in one of the newspapers of Ottawa purporting to give a report of a speech made by Lord Dundonald at a dinner in Montreal in which he assailed the government and particularly the Hon. Mr. Fisher, minister of agriculture, in relation to their action in militia affairs. On the same day the minister of militia addressed a letter to Lord Dundonald calling his attention to the report and enquiring whether it correctly stated his utterances, and the attendant circumstances. To this a reply was received from Lord Dundonald admitting the substantial correctness of the report in question.

Lord Dundonald's general remarks on what he calls political interference, as well as those in relations to the particular case, which he mentions indicates on his part a regrettable failure to appreciate the principles of British constitutional government. Lord Dundonald's recommendation of any gentleman's appointment as an officer of the militia would in itself have no force or effect. It could only become effective after receiving (1) the approval of the minister of militia; (2) the approval of his excellency the governor-general in council. The power of approval on the part of each of those authorities must of necessity carry with it the right of enquiry and rejection. In the case of members of the cabinet, while all have an equal degree of responsibility in a constitutional sense, yet in the practical working out of responsible government in a country of such vast extent as Canada, it is found necessary to attach a special responsibility to each minister for the public affairs of the province or district with which he has close political connection, and with which his colleagues may not be so well acquainted.

Mr. Fisher's Position.

"Mr. Fisher, while sharing with his colleagues that general responsibility already referred to, represents in a particular manner the eastern townships of the Province of Quebec. If, when it was proposed to form a new regiment in that district, he interested himself in the work and sought to make the organization effective, he was not merely exercising a right; he was discharging a duty due the people of the district and to his colleagues in the cabinet, who would expect him to inform himself of all the facts and advise them before approval by the cabinet of the proposed arrangements. Mr. Fisher states that so far as his interference related in any way to politics it was not to give the new regiment a political color, but to guard against that very evil, which he had reason to believe was one of the causes of failure of some previous efforts to maintain efficient military organizations in the eastern townships. He interfered not to have the regiment officered by his own particular friends, but to see that capable military men of all political colors received as far as possible equal consideration. That he did not seek to give his own political color to the regiment is abundantly evident by the fact that of eight names submitted in the list, only one was struck out by him, and by the further fact that a majority of the gentlemen of the corps given commissions with his approval are his political opponents.

"In the case of the gentleman particularly mentioned by Lord Dundonald as having been objected to, it has been shown that he had never been in any way connected with the militia and therefore was not regarded as a suitable person to have the rank of major, and that Mr. Fisher recommended for the place another gentleman who was also a political opponent, but who was well qualified by military service for a position of command.

It should be noted that at the time of dealing with that particular case, as set forth by Lord Dundonald, Mr. Fisher was not acting merely as a minister specially interested in the eastern township affairs, altho such position would have given him an undoubted right to advise; he was acting for and with the authority of the minister of militia, who was absent from the city, and therefore his action had all the force and authority of action by the responsible head of the department of militia and defence. In view of these facts it is difficult to reach any other conclusion than that the action taken by Mr. Fisher was entirely within his right and duty as a cabinet minister and entirely in the interest of a non-partisan militia service.

"It is of importance to observe that the list from which one name was struck was completed by the approval of his excellency the governor-general on the 31st of May. At that time the minister of militia had returned to the capital and was in daily attendance in his office, while Lord Dundonald was in similar attendance in his office in the same building. If Lord Dundonald had any reason to be dissatisfied with the list in its amended form, his obvious duty was to call on the responsible minister and invite a discussion of the subject. This he did not do. He made no representations whatever to his minister, but proceeded to mention and make his speech attacking the administration under which he was serving.

Dundonald's Position.

"The sub-committee, while drawing attention to the reasons which fully justify the steps taken by Mr. Fisher deem it well to state that such explanation is not a necessary part of the record. Even if Mr. Fisher's action had been as erroneously stated there would still have been no justification for the course pursued by LordDundonald. Lord Dundonald is an officer of the Canadian government, a high officer, it is true, but still an officer of the government, subject to all the limitations which are usually imposed upon public officials in regard to the action of their superior officers. FOR AN OFFICIAL TO MAKE A PUBLIC ATTACK UPON MINISTERS OF THE GOVERNMENT UNDER WHICH HE SERVES IS A PROCEEDING SO TOTALLY AT VARIANCE WITH THE PRINCIPLES WHICH MUST NECESSARILY OBTAIN IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF MILITARY, AS WELL AS CIVIL AFFAIRS, THAT IT CANNOT WITH PROPRIETY BE OVERLOOKED. IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO DO OTHERWISE THAN CHARACTERIZE THE SPEECH OF LORD DUNDONALD AS A GRAVE ACT OF INDISCRETION AND INSUBORDINANCE. In the subsequent proceedings further evidence has been afforded of Lord Dundonald's failure to appreciate the position he occupies as a public official. It appears that he desired to make a further communication on the subject. Instead of sending the communication to his minister he sent it to an opposition member of parliament and then forwarded a copy to the minister to whom it was delivered at the very moment when, as previously announced, a statement was to be made in parliament.

Regret Expressed.

"The sub-committee deeply regret that an officer of Lord Dundonald's high rank should have been so misguided as to fall into these grave errors and to pursue a course which, if ignored, would be fatal to that discipline and insubordination to constituted authority which are essential in both civil government and military service. For the reasons herein set forth, the sub-committee advise that the Right Hon. the Earl of Dundonald be forthwith relieved of his position as general officer commanding the militia in Canada. The committee of the privy council concur in the foregoing and submit the same for approval."

(Signed) J. J. McGee,
Clerk of the privy council.

Has Formed No Plans.

London, Ont., June 15.—Lord Dundonald, interviewed at 2 o'clock this morning, said he had received a telegram at 11.30 p.m. yesterday conveying an intimation that an Order-in-Council had been passed dismissing him from office. He said he did not wish to discuss the subject at present. He could not say what he would do. He had not formed any plans for future action.

Lord Dundonald at London.

London, June 15.—Lord Dundonald, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, Capt. Newton, arrived in this city at noon yesterday. Lord Dundonald's entering into London was very quiet, and that he felt the then uncertainty of his position was evidenced by the fact that he wired ahead to this city to make no display of any kind and to not provide the usual guard of honor.

The G. O. C. visited Carling's Heights during the afternoon and inspected the second brigade, which was put through the Dundonald drill, and he appeared to be satisfied with the officers and men. He did not, however, hold a general review.

The Niagara Militia Camp.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 15.—In almost perfect weather the Niagara camp was opened yesterday. By nightfall from 400 to 500 tents dotted the plain, and everything is now in readiness for the opening of routine to-day. The camp consists of the 3rd, 4th and 5th Brigades of Infantry, the Cavalry Brigade, the 4th, 7th and 9th Field Batteries, Army Service Corps, 4th and 7th Field Hospital Corps and a squad of Royal Engineers. The 3rd Brigade, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Delamere, is made up of the 37th, 39th, 44th and 77th Regiments; the 4th Brigade, by Lieut.-Col. Mason, is made up of the 12th, 31st, 34th and 36th; the 5th Brigade, by Lieut.-Col. Cruikshank, is made up of the 23rd, 20th and 35th. In the Cavalry Brigade are the 1st Hussars, G.G.B. G., 2nd Dragoons, Toronto Light Horse. The only new regiment this year at camp is the 23rd of Parry Sound. The 97th, of last year, is at the Ottawa camp.

U.S. Is Inconsistent.

London, June 14.—Replying to Lord Muskery, who asked a question concerning the proposed extension of the U. S. coasting trade restriction to the Philippine Islands, Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, said it seemed, inconsistent with the declaration of the United States Government, and that a discussion was proceeding at Washington. As the new law did not come into force till 1906 there was ample time to consider the matter. Colonial Governments, added Lord Lansdowne, differ in their attitude on this question. It was intimately connected with the fiscal problem which could not be dealt with fragmentarily.

Japanese Begin Action and Details Are Awaited.

BARON STAKELBERG REPORTS

Gen. Kuropatkin Reports That Japs Are Moving North and That They Have Occupied Village and Heights South of Vandchou—Three Thousand Japs Moving North Towards Huayensiang—A Russian Denial.

Liaoyang, June 15.—Japanese artillery yesterday opened fire upon Vafangow, a station on the railway sixty miles above Kinchou. Details are awaited.

Japs Repelled.

St. Petersburg, June 15.—A telegram to the Czar from Lieut.-Gen. Baron Stakelberg reported a battle south of the station of Vafangow, in which the Japanese attack was repulsed. Three officers were killed and Gen. Gerngross had his lower jaw shattered by a shrapnel bullet, but remained on the field.

Japs Occupy Villages.

St. Petersburg, June 15.—Gen. Kuropatkin reports to the Czar, under Monday's date, that two Japanese divisions advanced northward from Pulantien and halted in the afternoon, after occupying the village and heights south of Vandchou.

Major-General Karevitch advises the general staff of various nocturnal combats south of Wafangtien station, in which the Russians lost four soldiers killed and eighteen wounded.

Three thousand Japanese are said to be on the march northwards towards Huayensiang.

General Engagement.

London, June 15.—The Central News correspondent at Liaoyang reports heavy firing between the Russians and Japanese vanguards, which developed into a general engagement. No details are available.

10 Japs Killed.

Tokio, June 15.—While the Taihoku was engaged in laying mines at Port Arthur Monday night, a mine exploded, killing one officer and eighteen men and wounding two officers and seven men. The Taihoku, which is a naval transport, was not seriously damaged.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Premier's Stirring Speech in Reply to Opposition Leader's Amendment to Budget For "Adequate" Protection

Ottawa, June 15.—"I do not expect that because Providence is with us the Canadian people will be against us, though that apparently is the reason why the Opposition should be against us." "Sir, I care not what theories are, I want to be practical, and this country must be practical, above all things." "After being eight years in office I think I can say in the presence of friends and adversaries that we have not been imitators; we have been ourselves. We have not walked merely in beaten paths; we have hewed out our own way." "We introduced a preferential tariff; we did not imitate any other nation; we originated it." "This year, again, in order to meet a modern evil which has resulted from new methods in highly protected countries, we have invented a policy which we have every reason to believe will prove entirely effectual." These are the eloquent words in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier expressed the confidence, shared by his enthusiastic and cheering supporters, that when opportunity again offers the prosperous and contented people of the Dominion will sustain the Administration under which the Dominion has progressed as it never progressed before. The occasion was an amendment offered by Mr. R. L. Borden, reiterating the demand of the Opposition for "adequate" protection, in which the leader of the Opposition again presented his policy upon the fiscal question.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Holmes of West Huron, Broder of Dundas, Hughes of Kings, P. E.I., and Uriah Wilson.

Doan's Kidney Pills
Cured After Other Remedies Had Failed.

These Wonderful Kidney Pills will Cure the Most Obstinate Cases of Kidney Trouble If Only Given a Fair Trial and Used According to Directions.

Read what Mrs. Geo. H. Alward, Whites Point, N.B., has to say about them: "This is to certify that I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for pain in the back and kidney trouble and I do most gratefully recommend them to any person suffering in this way. I was so bad with kidney trouble that I could not get around the house. My feet and ankles were so swollen and painful that I could get no rest day or night. I tried several remedies but could get no relief whatever until a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I soon perceived a decided change for the better and had only taken two boxes when I was able to do my housework again, and three boxes made a complete cure."

Sunshine Furnace

DOUBLE FEED-DOORS

Just about the meanest thing a furnace can have is a dinky little door. Ever have one? Hit the edge as often as the hole? One has to be an expert stoker to shovel coal into some furnaces. If you're not an expert you'll get as much on the floor as in the furnace.

The Sunshine furnace is equipped with a good, big door. You can put your shovel in and drop the coal just where it is wanted—no trouble, no taking aim, no missing, no scattering, or annoyance.

Everything about the Sunshine furnace is on the same scale of thoughtfulness.

Private O'Day's Humiliation

By JAMES FENNIMORE

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Private O'Day, of the Tenth, had shown pluck in several fights with the Indians, and, therefore, stood well with his officers. He was a man who always had a song in his heart or a joke on his lips, and he was, therefore, a favorite with his fellow privates. Now and then he got tight, but unless the officer of the day was obliged to take official notice nothing was heard from it. Now and then he was guilty of other breaches of discipline, but he argued his case so well before the colonel that he was let off with a reprimand where another would have been sent to the guardhouse. In every soldier company there is always one such man—a good fighter when fighting is to be done, but irresponsible, good natured and totally careless when in barracks.

A funny thing happened one day. It was funny even to Private O'Day, as he tried his best to look at it in a serious light. He fell in love with Kitty Cline, the major's daughter. He fell in love with her at a distance—clear across the parade ground at Fort Sherman. She had been at the fort for three or four weeks, but that was his first sight of her. She was eighteen and O'Day was thirty; she was a major's daughter, used to a life of luxury, while he was a high private on $13 per month. The social gulf between them was as wide as the Atlantic ocean, and O'Day knew it, and whispered in his own ear:

"Patrick O'Day, ye are a bigger donkey than ever ye left behind ye in old Ireland, and ye ought to be taken out and kicked across the parade ground. The idea of losing yer heart to such a gurl as that! Are yez gittin' soft in the top of yer head, or is it the foolishness just comin' out that yer dear mother always contended was more than yer common sense? Out upon ye for a niany, Patrick O'Day, and do ye drive the major's darlin' out of yer head and heart and make up to the laundress of barracks No. 8."

But it was one thing to talk and another to do. Private O'Day was hard hit—so hard that he could not keep his secret, and when it became known to a dozen of his comrades he was guyed and jeered and berated by turns. Two or three days of it ought to have worked a cure and sent Patrick along to barracks No. 8, where the widow laundress of Company B, who was known to have $450 in the bank, would have welcomed him with smiles. It failed, however, and in his desperation the soldier lover did a foolish thing. Being on sentry duty at the gate one day, he removed his cap and bowed to the major's daughter as she rode forth on her pony. He did more. He had a twenty-five cent box of candy in the bosom of his jacket, purchased for the occasion, and he hauled it forth and begged her to accept it as a slight token of his feelings toward her. Of course she looked down upon him with feelings of amazement and refused his gift, and, of course, some one witnessed the performance and told of it, and Private O'Day was sent to the guardhouse for making a monkey of himself.

The next morning the soldier, whose loving heart had been deeply grieved by the rejection of his confectionery, was detailed to police duty along with other derelicts, and that was a further humiliation. The finishing blow was at hand. After some general work about the parade grounds he was set to cleaning up the major's back yard, just where the major's daughter could have a full view of him as he rolled the ash barrels about, and though he had no cause to believe that she was peeping from a rear window and chuckling over his discomfiture, the iron entered his soul instead of the shovel entering the ash heap. He was sharply reprimanded two or three times by the corporal, and in his despair and desperation he outraged military discipline by "sassing back." He was ordered to report himself at the guardhouse as under new arrest, and it was while making his way to that popular and well known resort that he suddenly decided to make a bolt for it. A citizen had ridden into the fort on a fine piece of horseflesh and thrown the reins over a post near the gate, and Private O'Day reached and mounted the animal and was galloping away before the sentinel at the gate had opened and shut his mouth.

There was delay in following the fugitive, and when pursuit was made he had a long start, and his trail was lost as he rode through the scrub toward Devil's canyon. It was 10 o'clock in the forenoon when he galloped out of the fort, and it was an hour later, and he had covered eight miles of ground, when he rode into the western mouth of the canyon. He wanted to dodge pursuit for a time, and he wanted a quiet place in which to do some thinking. There was a second reason, and that was that a thunderstorm was coming up from the southwest, and Private O'Day never got his jacket wet when there was a chance to keep it dry. He could find a dozen places in the grim, dark canyon where he would be sheltered from the threatened downpour.

Unknown to the soldier who had monkeyed with the buzzsaw, the major's daughter had ridden forth on her pony two or three hours previous to his appearance as one of the sanitary squad, and if he hadn't been so busy nursing his wounded heart he would have noticed the hoof prints leading him all the way. The girl had done a foolish thing to ride down into that somber gorge, where the cinnamon bear hid away for his noonday sleep and great lizards crawled up and down and hissed at the serpents, but she was a girl of whims, and this was one of them. She not only entered the canyon's mouth, but forced her wondering and frightened pony along over the stony trail until she could no longer see daylight unless looking upward. She was halted there when the thunder began to roll and the lightning to flash, and she had not yet turned her horse when Private O'Day, farther down and off his horse and under the shelter of a ledge, heard a sound no man forgets after hearing it once. The big black cloud, with its tens of thousands of barrels of water, had hit the peak of the mountain and burst, and the jar and roar of it was followed by the swishing and swashing of a torrent coming down the canyon. The soldier had sprung for his horse to mount and away when he heard the clatter of the pony's hoofs, and next moment the animal slipped and fell at his feet and flung its rider over its head. O'Day saw that it was a girl, but without knowing her identity he picked her up as she lay in an unconscious state, placed her on the saddle before him and made the race. The waters were throwing spray clear over him as he debouched from the canyon's mouth and wheeled to the left.

"My man," said the major to him that afternoon after calling him to headquarters, "I want to shake hands with you and call you a brave man and tell you how grateful I am. You are released from arrest, and no new charges are pending. As to anything further"—

"The widdy woman who launders for barracks No. 8 and has $450 in bank promised an hour ago to marry me, and there will be no 'anything further' to it!" replied Private O'Day as he saluted and turned on his heel.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

The Quarrel of the Humorists.

Soon after Sir Francis C. Burnand became the editor of Punch he published a skit on George Augustus Sala which cleverly burlesqued his methods and manner. Sala was connected with the London Illustrated News. As he was distinguished alike for huffiness and for geniality, there was much talk about how he would take the joke.

One evening Sala and Burnand met at the Beefsteak club, and Sala, to the mingled consternation and amusement of the gallery, referred with indignation to the article.

"If I were younger," he said, "I'd pull the nose of any man responsible for such an article."

A peacemaker intervened, to whom Burnand remarked that personally he did not think this or any matter in journalism worth quarreling about, but that if Sala felt so aggrieved he could take the matter into his own hands.

"I will!" Sala immediately cried "I will!"

And, springing up excitedly, he carried out his intention—by wringing his own nose, first with one hand, then with the other. Then, after murmuring, "I apologize," he quietly sat down.

Then it came out that the affair was a farce planned and rehearsed by Sala and Burnand and that Sala had written the article himself.

Going for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Don't put yourself in this man's place, but keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. There is nothing so good for Colic, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery and Diarrhoea. It is equally valuable for Summer Complaint and Cholera Infantum and has saved the lives of more children than any other medicine in use.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

You, or some one of your family, are sure to need this remedy sooner or later, and when that time comes you will need it badly; you will need it quickly. Why not buy it now and be prepared for such an emergency? Price, 35 cents.

Times Have Changed.

Toronto, in the olden days, had but two police stations; those in Court street and in Yonge street, near Elm. The projected increase in the personnel of the force calls to mind a case wherein Capt. Prince, the chief of thirty years ago, figured. He was walking up Yonge street one night when he heard a tremendous row going on in the highway. Capt. Prince, who was as game as a bull terrier, sprinted up the street and found that the trouble was occasioned by a woman, who was arguing strenuously with a policeman. "Take that woman in!" said the breathless chief.

"No, sir; I won't," answered the constable.

The captain was breathless with rage. Finally he gasped: "Why?"

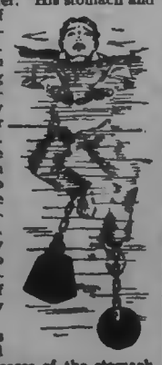
"Because she's my wife, sir. You see, I've been on the force only three months, and she is hollering because I don't go to bed at the same time as I did on the farm in Esquesing!"

And that policeman got no reprimand.—Toronto News.

English to Evacuate Wei-Hai-Wei.

London, June 15.—It appears from a question and answer in the House of Commons yesterday that the fall of Port Arthur will mark the end of British tenancy of Wei-Hai-Wei, on the Shantung promontory. Earl Percy, the Under Foreign Secretary, informed the House yesterday that under the Anglo-Chinese convention of 1898 Great Britain's lease of this Chinese port was only valid so long as Port Arthur remained in the occupation of Russia.

A MAN CAN'T swim in shackles. It isn't a question of his winning a race, but a question of being able only to keep afloat. The man who is suffering from malnutrition is like the fettered swimmer. His stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased. It is not a question with him of winning in the race for business but of simply keeping up under any circumstances.



Whenever disease affects the stomach it is affecting also the blood and the health of every organ of the body. For blood is only food converted into nutrition and nutrition is the life of the body and every organ of it.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood and enables the perfect nutrition of the body which means perfect health.

"For six long years I suffered with indigestion and my liver and kidneys, which baffled the best doctors in our country," writes H. L. Randall, Esq., of Woolsey, Prince William Co., Va. "I suffered with my stomach and back for a long time, and after taking a 'cart-load' of medicine from three doctors I grew so bad I could hardly do a day's work. Would have death-like pains in the side, and blind spells. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' Before I had taken half of the second bottle I began to feel relieved. I got six more bottles and used them, and am happy to say I owe my life to Dr. Pierce."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

The Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

INTENDED AS A BRIBE.

Justice Hood's Findings in the Bribery Charges Against Dr. Montague—The Launch of the Canada.

London, June 15.—(C.A.P.)—Justice Hood of the Victorian Bribery Commission, has found that Dr. Montague gave money to Sir Alexander Peacock, with the object of corruptly and improperly influencing him in the performance of his public duties, but Sir A. I. Peacock had not received the said money with any corrupt intent; also that Dr. Montague had offered money to George Mitchell, with the object of corruptly influencing him and Sir A. I. Peacock, but that Mitchell had not accepted the money.

With Canadian Wine.

London, June 15.—(C. A. P.)—A large gathering yesterday witnessed the launching of the new Canadian cruiser Canada at Vickers-Sons-Maxim's yard at Barrow-in-Furness. The christening ceremony was performed by Lady Strathcona, Mrs. Howard being unable to be present owing to a severe cold. A bottle of Canadian wine was used in the christening.

The principal dimensions of the vessel are: Length between perpendiculars 200 feet, breadth moulded 25 feet, depth 14 feet. She has a ram stem and is fitted with two decks, and is armed with four pompom guns, two forward and two aft. She is rigged as a fore and aft schooner. Her speed will be sixteen knots. Canadian Government Inspector Mooney expressed himself very much satisfied with the construction of the vessel.

After the launch Lord Strathcona was permitted to descend into the interior. Usually this privilege is only accorded to the principal officials of the Admiralty.

At luncheon Mr. Douglas Vickers thanked Lady Strathcona for performing the ceremony, presenting her with a handsome diamond and sapphire brooch. Lord Strathcona, replying for Lady Strathcona, said he hoped that the new cruiser was but a starter of a Canadian fleet.

Proposed Sugar Surtax.

London, June 15.—(C.A.P.)—Earl Percy, answering Mr. Gibson Bowles, M.P., said the question of a surtax leviable by the contracting States on sugar products is still before the permanent commission. The discussion has been adjourned until next meeting. The sugar convention was ratified under the explicit declaration that His Majesty's Government would not consent under any circumstances to be bound to penalize bounty-fed sugar imported into Britain from any of the self-governing colonies.

Money Letters Still Coming.

London, June 15.—(C.A.P.)—Letters addressed to Williams, the London emigration crook, are still coming in batches every day from Canadian farmers asking that domestics be sent out and enclosing the ten shilling postal order fee.

Live Lord Used Dead Man's Writ.

A singular blunder which will necessitate a re-introduction of Lord Henniker to the House of Lords and his taking the oath a second time was discovered the other day.

It appears that the writ of summons given to the last Lord Henniker was never used, he being at the time Governor of the Isle of Man. He died, and when his son, the present peer, called at the House for the writ, the officials found one in the name of Lord Henniker, and not knowing it had been prepared for the father handed it to the son. He presented the writ and was introduced to the House and signed the Parliamentary roll.

The fact that he got the wrong writ was found out because the Christian name of the father was different from that of his son, for which reason the whole ceremony of being introduced to the House of Lords and taking the oath will have to be gone through afresh.

Open Door on Algoma Central.

Toronto, June 15.—A meeting of the Provincial Cabinet was held yesterday afternoon. At the conclusion Premier Ross announced that the Commissioner of Crown Lands had decided to throw open all the reserved lands along the line of the Algoma Central Railway. These lands, reserved within ten miles of the line from mining prospectors, were partially opened in April, 1903, but the present decision opens the whole tract. "Miners and prospectors," said Mr. Ross, "will be glad to hear that there is no closed door along the Algoma Central."

AS A WORKING TOOL for the student and the writer, as an authoritative reference book for schools, teachers, families, business and professional men, there is one book which offers superior advantages in the solid value of its information, and the ease with which it is obtained.

One's admiration for Webster's International Dictionary increases daily as it comes to be better known. It never refuses the information sought and it never overwhelms one with a mass of misinformation illogically arranged.

The St. James Gazette of London, England, says: For the teacher, the pupil, the student and the litterateur, there is nothing better; it covers everything.

The New and Enlarged Edition recently issued has 25,000 new words and phrases, a completely revised Biographical Dictionary and Gazetteer of the World, 2000 pages and 5000 illustrations.

Our name is on the title-pages of all the authentic dictionaries of the Webster series.

B. A. C. TEAM WON GREAT VICTORY

Defeated the George St. Guild by 3—2 in a fast game.

This is a strange world where many strange and unexpected things happen. And one of these unexpected things occurred last evening. It happened on the George street Guild Baseball Grounds on Benson street. The George street Guild baseball team received a terrible shock from which they have as yet not completely recovered. It was the B. A. C. baseball nine which administered that shock. To break it gently, the B.A.C. team defeated the George street Guild team. The score was exactly 3 to 2. 'Nuff said? O, no, there's more to follow. It took six innings to do the trick. H. R. H. Kenner officiated as umpire. He says the winners are fit for the National League. He also adds that they play great ball. The losers thought so also.

Leaving all jokes aside the game was a splendid exhibition and during the six innings fast ball was played by both teams. But great credit must be given the B.A.C. whose team was placed on the field without an ounce of practice and they were fully anticipating an awful walloping. But such was not the case. The team batted well and afforded, their twirler as a rule, remarkably brilliant support. Hutchinson behind the bat played stellar ball, handling the sphere cleanly and throwing to bases effectively besides being handy with the stick. W. Warne ate up everything at first and was the star infielder. Moore at second stopped some hot liners and batted like a fiend. He went around the bases like a Whitehead torpedo and scored the first run. Coobrane was the whole thing at third, having 4 put out to his credit. Best at short astonished the fans by making one remarkably good catch of a hot liner. He can't explain it yet. He made up for this later by shooting an easy grounder and then hurling the spheroid fully 'steen feet over Warne's head, and had his salary cut down as a result. His speciality at the bat was a "sacrifice" hit. By daring base stealing he was responsible for one of the trio of runs. S. Warne and Turner on the outfield had practically nothing to do, but would have shone had they had a chance. Boomer had two beautiful assists from right field and was generally a handy man. The game was won in the last innings when the winners by a batting streak sent two runners over the pan.

The teams were:—

B.A.C.—Hutchinson, c; Jolliffe, p; W. Warne, 1b; Moore, 2b; Cochrane, 3b; Best, ss; Turner, lf; S. Warne, cf; Boomer, rf.

George Street Guild.—Dobbin, c; Parnell, p; Robertson, 1b; A. Mann, 2b; Dredge, 3b; Humbers, ss; Curtis, lf; Ingram, cf; H. Mann, rf.

The score by innings:—

B. A. C.... ... ...100002—3
Guild ....001100—2

H. R. H. Kenner gave perfect satisfaction as referee.

Rev. Father Feaney, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., who has been assisting in the mission at St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, during the past two weeks, preached in St. Mary's church, Hastings, on Sunday. —Star.

Mrs. F. E. Pethick, and son of Rochester, N. Y., is visiting with her mother, Mrs. S. Nelson, Lakefield.

Rev. C. Speer, Toronto, is in town, the guest of his cousin, Mr. Andrew Brown. Mr. Speer has purchased "Underwood" cottage at Chemong Park, from Mr. W. Stocker.

Mr. Chas. N. Caughey, who has been in the employ of the Wm. Hamilton Company during the past eighteen months, left this afternoon for Welland, where he has secured a more lucrative situation. While in town Mr. Caughey made many friends, who will be sorry to learn of his departure.

Mrs. S. A. Webb, of Barrie, Mrs. (Dr.) Greer, Peterborough, and Mrs. Ryerson Ritchie, Cleveland, Ohio, have been the guests of Mrs. Henry Gregg the past week. . . . Miss Fitzgibbon has gone to Peterborough to the hospital; her many friends hope to soon hear of her recovery.—Orillia Packet.

Mr. W. Cressman and Mr. H. Henderson of Norwich, left yesterday on a two months' trip to the Old Country. Mr. Cressman will visit all the leading centres with the object of purchasing a stock of the newest and latest lines of goods for the fall and and winter season. He is purchasing for a syndicate of eight stores.

Mrs. J. S. Pantland and daughter, Aggie, left last evening for a visit in Toronto. The latter has been very ill for the past nine weeks at the residence of Mr. R. J. Winch, Stewart street. Mrs. Pantland wishes through this medium to thank the many kind friends who sent flowers and made many visits during her daughter's illness.

Mr. C. H. Allison, formerly on the staff of the Examiner, and recently assistant to the second vice-president of the Illinois Central Railway, with headquarters at Chicago, has been promoted to a prominent position of trust in the offices of the president of the railway in New York. His many friends in Peterborough will congratulate him on his promotion.

Miss Letitia Quirk has received word from the Montreal Star to the effect that she has been awarded a prize in a snap shot competition conducted by that paper. Out of over one hundred who submitted photographs Miss Quirk took third prize. The scene which won the prize was one taken off the Hunter street bridge, looking down the Otonabee River.

THOUSANDS GIVE THIS EXPERIENCE

Early Kidney Ill Surely Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Story of the Great Majority who Cure Their Kidney Complaint Before it Gets a Chance to Become Bright's Disease.

St. Pierre, Montmagny Co., Que., June 15. — (Special.) — While the papers every day tell of wonderful cures of Bright's Disease and others of the most advanced stages of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, the thousands of people who cure their earlier Kidney ailments with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and thus avoid danger and suffering, are scarcely heard of. Take the case of Jos. Ed. Blais of this place, for example. Mr. Blais says:

"For three years I had kidney disease. I took Dodd's Kidney Pills, and thanks to them I am now perfectly healthy."

There is nothing thrilling about this experience. It is the same as thousands of other Canadians give. Dodd's Kidney Pills simply cured their Kidney Disease and it never got a chance to develop into Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, or any of the other terrible ailments that only Dodd's Kidney Pills can cure.

It is poor economy to try to save a few cents on a can of baking powder. Cheap baking powder means cheap food; and cheap food means poor food every time.

One can of Cleveland's Baking Powder, owing to its superior strength and purity, will last as long as two cans of "cheap" baking powder and will make better, richer and more nourishing food.

There is true economy in buying Cleveland's.

LACROSSE.

The following is the team playing against Orillia at the Murray street grounds this afternoon: Hamilton, Dillon, Morgan, Glover, Mein, Crowley, Ford, Parnell, Dumble, Robertson, Best, Armitage.

FOOTBALL.

On Saturday the Quakers will play Deseronto a sudden death game at Tweed in the Midland Football League. The local team will go to Tweed with the strongest possible team, and a good game is sure to result. Any intending to accompany the team may procure tickets at $2.30, fare and a third, from Mr. J. A. Sullivan, the manager.

The Y.M.C.A. football boys held a meeting on Tuesday and decided very much against their own wishes, to withdraw from the Midland League. The reason of this is that they being unable to arrange an excursion to Toronto, in time to get it advertised, felt that they were unable to bear the heavy expense to Locust Hill, which means about fifty dollars or more, and as the members have individually done so well this far in regards to the finances, they felt that they could not meet the call necessary to go and play the game scheduled to be played next Saturday. If the boys did go to Locust Hill and win from them, it would necessitate a further long trip and heavy expense to play off the bye. It seems hard to let the Stratton Cup go from us but it cannot be helped under the existing circumstances. However, the club intend to organize again next year and will no doubt bring the cup back to the building. Practice will still be continued every Wednesday and Friday evening on the Nicholls Oval and probably in the near future, the club may yet go to Toronto to play for the City Championship, and if they don't go they will be pleased to meet the Quakers or O.C.W.'s at a later date for our own City Championship.

RUSSIAN HOPE NOW AT AN END.

Russians Cannot Relieve Port Arthur From Jap Advance.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR JAPS.

Russian Defeat at Telissu was Very Complete—They Left 500 Men Dead on the Field, and Lost 14 Guns and 300 Prisoners—Jap Loss, too, is Heavy.

Tokio, June 17.—The Russian hope of relieving the pressure on Port Arthur by threatening the rear of the Japanese forces investing the Russian stronghold, came to an end Wednesday at Telissus, a point on the railroad fifty miles north of Kinchou, and 35 miles north of Vafangow, when the Russians were outmanoeuvred, enveloped and sweepingly defeated. They left more than 500 dead on the field and the Japanese captured 300 prisoners and 14 quick-firing field guns. The Russians retreated hastily to the northward.

The Japanese charge that the Russians violated the Japanese flag. Certain officers aver that during the fighting a body of Russian soldiers appeared carrying a Japanese flag, and that the Japanese artillery, deceived by this flag, ceased firing on that particular body of Russians. Official despatches from the Japanese commanders made specific charges of this flag violation.

Japanese Lost 1,900 Men.

Early estimates of the Japanese losses at Telissu say that 1,000 men were killed or wounded.

The Japanese attacking force was divided into right and left columns, and began the advance on Tuesday along both sides of the railroad. They encountered the Russians east of Vafandien and drove them back. At a late hour in the afternoon the Russians held a line between Tungwantiao and Tafangshen. The Japanese artillery opened on this line, and the Russians responded. The shelling continued for two hours, and it was followed by the advance of the Japanese line to a position extending from Tungchiatung to Yuhotun. Darkness put an end to the fighting. The Japanese despatched a column to the westward toward Fuchau for the purpose of covering the Russian right wing and protect their left and rear.

General Attack Planned.

During the night it became apparent that the Russians were being reinforced, and it was decided to make a general attack in the morning and force the Russians into a defile back of Telissu. When morning came it was discovered that the Russians held a line extending from Fafangshen to Chengtsushan, with a force estimated at more than two divisions. The Japanese planned to envelop the Russians near Telissu, and they succeeded admirably. While the main Japanese force was moving north along the railroad, columns were swung to the left and to the right, and finally converged at noon on the main Russian position. The Russians in this position were at a disadvantage, and they were routed. The Japanese cavalry continued to pursue the enemy, and probably inflicted considerable punishment.

The Japanese commander makes no estimate of the Russian losses, but says they were probably great. Among the Russian officers captured by the Japanese is La Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Rifles.

Russia Admits Heavy Losses.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—Emperor Nicholas has received the following telegram, dated June 16, from Gen. Kuropatkin:

"I have received the following despatch from Lieut.-Gen. Baron Stakelberg, dated June 16, 1.20 a.m.:

"'Yesterday I had intended to attack the enemy's right flank, but just as our troops had been assigned for the purpose and were beginning to successfully envelop the enemy's right flank, the Japanese in their turn attacked my right flank with superior forces, and I was compelled to retreat by three roads to the north.

"'Our losses are heavy, but they are not yet completely known.

"'During the engagement the third and fourth batteries of the first artillery brigade were literally cut to pieces by the Japanese shells.

"'Of our sixteen guns thirteen were rendered completely useless, and were abandoned.

"'The conduct of the troops was excellent, a large proportion of them refusing to retire until after they had been repeatedly ordered to do so.'"

Two Jap Transports Sunk.

Tokio, June 17.—At 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning the Japanese transports Sado and Hitachi, encountered by three Russian warships, were stopped and sunk by torpedoes. The loss in lives is probably under 1,000. Many horses and large quantities of supplies were also on board. Three hundred and ninety-seven survivors of the Hitachi have arrived at Moji and 153 survivors of the Sado have arrived at Kokura. Details of the destruction of the two transports and the full extent of the casualties are not obtainable.

Escaped Again.

Tokio, June 17.—Fortune again favored the Russian Vladivostock squadron, as a storm hid its movements from the Japanese scouting vessels. The Japanese squadron is in hot pursuit, and the crews are keenly eager for a fight. The squadron is reported to have reached harbor.

Death in Comrades Play.

Petrolea, June 17.—On Saturday, April 30, Roy Lammy was met in the woods by three other boys, one of whom, Clifton Molton, placed a rope round his neck, threw the end over the limb of a tree and hauled him clear of the ground. Lammy hung by the neck for half a minute before Molton lowered him. He died on Tuesday night. A post-mortem examination is being made, and meantime Molton has been arrested pending developments.

DEATHS EXCEED 700

Five Hundred Bodies of Slocum Victims Recovered.

HEROIC DEEDS WERE MANY

Maidens and Youths of Tender Years Contributed to the Roll, But There Is Also a Darker Side to the Story—It Is Alleged River Thieves Robbed the Dead and Injured.

New York, June 17.—With unceasing effort, search is going on for the bodies of those who perished Wednesday in the disaster to the General Slocum. What the list of victims will total scarcely none dare venture to guess, but whatever the number may be there hardly is a parallel in the history of fires where death came to so many in so brief a period of time. Police and health department officials have placed the number as high as 1,000 and more, but last night it would seem that the maximum fatality will not largely exceed 700.

All day long, from sunrise until darkness shut off even the melancholy satisfaction of watching for the dead, anxious searchers kept up their vigilance, and at dusk there had been recovered 517 bodies, for the great part women and children—mothers, who weeks ago had planned that fatal outing for their children; little ones who had longed for the coming of that fair day.

Up to dusk last night 499 bodies had passed through the morgue and of those more than 300 were identified. The east side has its human sympathies aroused to the fullest extent, and down by the river, where the boats unloaded their dead, thousands gathered throughout the day. Streets leading to the morgue were blocked and only with difficulty could the police keep clear the passage leading to the long rows of coffins for those that came to search for the missing.

Many Deeds of Heroism.

The race of the burning steamer from the moment the fire was discovered until her boats crashed on the shelving beach of North Brother Island lasted little more than ten minutes, yet that time sufficed for deeds of heroism which make the one bright chapter in the heartrending story. Brave men, devoted mothers, and even maidens and youths of tender years, each contributed their parts to the roll of heroic actions. There were rescues in the face of almost certain death, and useless but exalted self-sacrifice for the dear ones. The credit for the greatest saving of life is due to the hardy tugboat men and other followers of the river, who braved flames and held the noses of their boats against the fire-wrapped steamer until driven off by the awful heat, scorched and choking.

A Darker Side of the Story.

But there is a darker side hinted at along the river front, where are told stories that seem to be the inevitable accompaniment of all great calamities. There has been no evidence of a character specific enough to fasten it upon individuals and permit of punishment, but survivors and eye-witnesses say that some brutal acts of selfishness and cowardice on the part of the Slocum's crew were seen, and that distress signals from the burning boat were disregarded by passing craft. One man avers that a big white yacht passed the Slocum when the bodies of women and children were going overboard, and did not even slacken speed. According to this man the yacht flew the pennant of the New York Yacht Club and a flag indicating that the owner was not on board, and after passing the Slocum she steered over to the western shore and hove to, while on the bridge a man in uniform with binoculars to his eyes watched the vessel burn.

Living and Dead Robbed.

Even more horrible than this and similar acts of incredible callousness is the story of Miss Martha Weirk, who says that while she struggled in the water a boat drew alongside of her and the men in it, after stripping her of her rings and other jewelery, pushed her back into the water. The body of the steward had been rifled when found and of several hundred dollars he was supposed to have in his pockets not a cent was found.

A Remarkable Experience.

Perhaps the most remarkable case in the many appalling experiences of those who were on the Slocum was that of Miss Clara Hartman who was picked up for dead, towed behind a boat for several miles, wrapped in a tarpaulin and tagged as dead, and then recovered consciousness, at the Alexander avenue police station. It is now believed she will recover.

McCoy's Sentence.

Hamilton, June 17.—Dan McCoy, who masquerades under the names of Harry McKay and George Wilson, was sent to Kingston Penitentiary for three years yesterday morning by Police Magistrate Jelfs. Three charges of theft, and a "past" was what made the term so long.

M.C.R. Yardman Cut in Two.

Niagara Falls, June 17.—Alfred Barge, a M. C. R. yardman, was found cut in two under the car wheels at the sand pit siding of the Niagara Sand Co., near Stamford siding, on the Niagara branch of the Michigan Central at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

Member of Royal Society.

London June 17.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Strathcona has been elected a member of the Royal Society, under the clause allowing the admission every two years of some eminent person who may have been considered to have rendered conspicuous service.

MR. BORDEN REMEMBERED BY HIS FOLLOWERS.

Presentation of Silver to Opposition Leader on His 50th Birthday—Mr. Borden's Happy Reply.

Ottawa, June 17.—Yesterday Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, entered upon his 50th year. To do honor to the occasion a large number of Conservative Senators and members of the Commons assembled in the old railway committee room and presented Mr. Borden with a magnificent cabinet of silverware, which cost in the neighborhood of $1,000. The cabinet consisted of two pieces, one containing 249 pieces of sterling silver tableware, and the other 18 dozen different sets of knives, forks and spoons. Each piece bore Mr. Borden's monogram.

The gift bore the following inscription: "Presented by the Conservative members of the Senate and the House of Commons of Canada to their leader, R. L. Borden, K.C., M. P., on the occasion of his 50th birthday, June, 1904."

Mr. Borden's Reply.

Mr. Borden made a happly reply. He prized, he said, the magnificent gift, but still more the spirit that prompted the giving. On behalf of Mrs. Borden and himself he thanked those who had honored him in such a signal manner, and gratefully acknowledged the cordial support, which he had received at all times, from those who are working with him for the success of the Conservative party.

GEN. BOBRIKOFF SHOT.

Finland's Governor Dies at the Hands of An Assassin.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—General Bobrikoff, Governor-General of Finland, was shot and mortally wounded at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at the entrance to the Finnish Senate at Helsingfors.

The assassin, a son of Senator Schaumann, immediately committed suicide.

Bobrikoff was shot in the stomach and neck. He is being brought to St. Petersburg in a dying condition. The attack is ascribed to Finnish patriotism. Schaumann is believed to be a member of what is known as the Finnish patriotic party.

Governor Bobrikoff was taken to a hospital at Helsingfors.

Schaumann was a lawyer.

Gen. Count Bobrikoff, who was appointed Governor-General of Finland in 1899, made himself very unpopular by his severe measures against the press of Finland, and the stern manner in which he followed out the policy of Russia towards the Finns.

Fortune Teller Convicted.

St. Catharines, June 17.—Prof. Edward J. O'Brien, palmist and phrenologist, was found guilty by a jury at the sessions here yesterday afternoon on a charge of telling fortunes. A police officer, whose fortune O'Brien, got knowing him, as he was in plain clothes, had told, was one of the witnesses against him. His defence was that he foretold the future by palmistry, which was a science. A newspaperman testified that after reading his hand O'Brien had told him he was to be married twice. Sentence will be pronounced to-day.

Waste Word "American."

Washington, June 16.—In accordance with an order issued by Secretary Hay, the inscriptions "United States Embassy" and "United States Consulate" no longer will appear on the Embassy and Consular seals and in other places where they formerly stood. In their place on all the new record books and seals will appear the words "American Embassy" and "American Consulate" and "American Consular Agent." There is a dignity and a simplicity about the term "American" that the Secretary likes, and there are about a dozen "United States" aside from the United States of America, a fact which leads to a great deal of confusion in foreign countries.

Boy Mangled in Toronto.

Toronto, June 17.—A nine-year-old boy, John Falardeou, whose home was at 156 Eastern avenue, was instantly killed by a street car last night. The fatality occurred at the Queen street Don bridge. The little chap attempted to cross the street. His body was fearfully mangled and was taken to the morgue. The boy's father is employed in Wickett's tannery. An inquest will be held.

Lord Dundonald at Toronto.

Toronto, June 17.—Lord Dundonald arrived in the city last evening from London, accompanied by Capt. Newton, A.D.C. To the party of newspapermen who followed him to the hotel he intimated that he had nothing to say concerning past, present or future. It was not definitely decided just how long Lord Dundonald would remain in Toronto before proceeding to Ottawa.

Italian Killed.

Niagara Falls, June 17.—Monday afternoon a fatal accident happened at Lowery's quarries, St. David's, when an Italian named Ernesto Turchetto was almost instantly killed by being crushed under a heavy block of stone. He was released as quickly as possible, but died in a short time after, his breast being crushed in.

Cylinder Blown Out.

Fort William, June 17.—The cylinder head in the engine of the C.P.R. elevator D, blew out yesterday morning, and in consequence there will undoubtedly be a congestion in the wheat movement at this port for two or three weeks to come. This is considered one of the most lamentable accidents (or months. Fortunately only about 60 men are thrown out of employment.

The fishing season is open.

PREMIER VINDICATED BY TORONTO NEWS

An Attempt to Revive Racial Rancour Reproved.

The Real Cause of the Northwest Rising of 1885

The unfortunate Dundonald incident, has risen and is being used by the more unscrupulous and yellow of Conservative journals and jingo agitators, to revive racial rancour by impugning the loyalty to the Empire of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and thereby the loyalty of our fellow citizens of French extraction. The Toronto News in a broad and reasonable article vindicates Sir Wilfrid Laurier in connection with these attacks, and does so under the provocation of a letter contributed to its columns embodying the essence of the hysterical attacks made upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his fellow Canadians of French lineage. The following is the News' article referred to:—

We print to-day a letter from Mr. Malfort Boulton in criticism of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It seems to us to be more severe than the facts warrant. It is a far cry back to the Northwest Rebellion and the musket. Politically the Premier's utterance was unfortunate, but the halfbreeds of the Saskatchewan suffered undoubted grievances, and at worst he declared that if he had been in their position he would have shouldered a musket as a last effort to obtain redress. Rhetoric is a dangerous instrument and has led many a politician into trouble. But the Conservatives twenty years ago made such excellent political capital out of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's unhappy declaration that we should think they could afford to remember it only with gratitude.

No one doubts Col. Geo. T. Denison's devotion to Canada and loyalty to the Empire. But any one who has read his "Reminiscences of Soldiering in Canada" will remember that he has stated the grievances of the halfbreeds and the neglect of the Government of that day as strongly as ever they were stated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He declares that the rebellion was caused by "a remarkable instance of departmental stupidity, chicanery and stupidity." He describes the location of the half-breeds on the south branch of the Saskatchewan River, near Prince Albert and explains that some had lived in the neighbourhood for many years, while others had gone in from Fort Garry during the years following the Red River Rebellion. Their farms were laid out and fenced, their houses built, and the community enjoying and prospering, when the Government surveyors appeared and proceeded to survey the land according to the uniform plan adopted in the unsettled prairies. Then the halfbreeds took alarm. They pleaded and protested. The danger, impolicy, and injustice of the proceeding was urgently represented to the department at Ottawa. But all without avail. As Colonel Denison says:—

"One can easily understand the horror of the officials of the Department of the Interior at the suggestion that their uniform system of survey should be varied in the slightest degree. Such a breach of red tape regulations could not even be considered, so the complaints became more numerous and the department more obstinate. The months went on, nothing was done, and muttering threats were heard."

The Government system of survey divided the country into square blocks, and thus re-arranged and practically destroyed the Metis' holdings.

Col. Denison quotes from Mr. Chas. Mair, as genuine a loyalist as himself, who made frequent representations to the Government at Ottawa in behalf of the half-breeds, this statement:

"When he returned to Toronto from Ottawa he told me most positively that there would be a rebellion, that the officials were absolutely indifferent and immovable, and I could not help laughing at the picture he gave me of Sir David Macpherson, a very large, handsome erect man of six feet four inches, getting up, leaving his room, and walking away down the corridor, while Mair, a short stout man, had almost to run alongside of him, as he made his final appeal to preserve the peace and to prevent bloodshed."

Col. Denison adds.

"The whole dispute was over some 40,000 or 50,000 acres of land, in a wilderness of tens of millions of acres, for which the Government were crying for settlers. It cost Canada the lives of two hundred of her people, the wounding of many others, the expenditure of about $6,000,000 in cash, and losses of time and business that cannot be estimated. When it was all over the Government offered free to the volunteers 1,800,000 acres of land, if they wanted it to settle on, and and yet the whole dispute was mainly about some red tape regulations as to surveying some forty or fifty thousand acres of land on which people were already settled. It is not often a country suffers so severely and so unnecessarily..... The volunteer corps all over the country were volunteering their services and using every effort to be sent up to the North-west. Several of my officers came to me, and asked me if I had volunteered the services of my corps. I said, 'No, I had not.' They asked me if I would not do so. I refused for two reasons—partly because a large force had been sent to crush a few people who had been wronged and practically goaded into rebellion, but my main reason was was that if they thought I wanted to go they would certainly not send me. I also said that an officer should wait for his orders."

In the light of these statements Sir Wilfrid Laurier's utterance seems very much less heinous than it was represented to be twenty years ago.

It is true that the Prime Minister hesitated to send contingents to South Africa. To that he has frankly confessed. But he was asked to make a revolutionary departure in Canadian policy, and he had the precedent of a Conservative Government to justify his hesitation. In the main the population of this country consists of two races, and it will not be pretended that the French element had any enthusiasm for the war in South Africa. Sir Wilfrid Laurier found it hard to manage his parliamentary support from Quebec. He was attacked from many a Conservative platform for sending contingents at all. He had difficulty even with Mr. Tarte, whom Conservatives seem to have easily forgiven. Why should the statute of limitations not apply to the Prime Minister also? The fact stands, however, that under the pressure of public opinion Sir Wilfrid Laurier did send contingents, and from motives of personal loyalty to the Prime Minister, or the strength of party fealty, Quebec sustained the action of the Government.

It is fair to remember also that in Great Britain itself there was formidable opposition to the war in South Africa, and perhaps more uncompromising and intemperate criticism of the war policy of the British Government than was heard even in Quebec. After all, then, Sir Wilfrid Laurier in this connection did a substantial service to the Empire, while we avoided in Canada such a bitter and unfortunate race war as led to very cruel loss and devastation in South Africa. It is unfortunate that he should have described Lord Dundonald as a "foreigner," but the word was recalled as soon as it was, and it is always to be remembered that English is not his native language, and there seems to be no doubt that he did not mean to convey the meaning which the word naturally carries. A slip of the tongue hardly affords a substantial basis for a serious political campaign."

TIRED MOTHERS

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing a child involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly. She cannot help it, as her condition is due to suffering and shattered nerves caused by some derangement of the uterine system with backache, headache, and all kinds of pain, and she is on the verge of nervous prostration.

When a mother finds that she cannot be calm and quiet with her children, she may be sure that her condition needs attention, and she cannot do better than to take

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It builds up her system, strengthens her nerves, and enables her to calmly handle a disobedient child without a scene. The children will soon realize the difference, and seeing their mother quiet, will themselves become quiet.

Read what the Vice-President of the Mothers' Club at Hot Springs, Ark., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make every mother well, strong, healthy and happy. I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and weariness. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was, and the wonderful results she had obtained from your Compound, and decided to try what it would do for me, and used it for three months. At the end of that time I was a different woman, and the neighbors remarked it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. It seemed like a new existence. I had been suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, but your medicine cured that, and built up my entire system, till I was indeed like a new woman.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. CHAS. F. BROWN, Vice-President Mothers' Club,
31 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was married for five years and gave premature birth to two children. After that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it changed me from a weak, nervous woman to a strong, happy and healthy wife within seven months. Within two years a lovely little girl was born which is the pride and joy of our household. If every woman feels as grateful and happy as I do, you must have a host of friends, for every day I bless you for the light, health and happiness your Vegetable Compound has brought to my home. Sincerely your friend,
MRS. MAE P. WHARRY, Flat 31, The Norman, Milwaukee, Wis.

The vestibules are of the "extended platform," order; that is to say the vestibules, boxed in with glass, have been considerably enlarged, so that a number of passengers may stand outside and view the scenery in safety and comfort.

The interior fittings could not be surpassed for appropriateness of design and beauty of execution. The effects in the smoking and drawing rooms are particularly happy, and the general air of brightness and comfort is most inviting. The walls have a mahogany finish, with panels polished almost to the brightness of a mirror, while around the doors, windows, etc., is an inlaid pattern of tasteful design. The carpets of thick Wilton, like all the other upholstery are of a green shade, very restful to the eye.

Upholstery, for its own sake, has, however, been omitted from the car. Experience has shown the numerous draperies with which drawing room and sleeping cars used to be loaded up were soon full of dust and dirt. They are, therefore, now used as little as possible, and the beautifully polished panelling really gains by having nothing to hide its grained surface. The seats are covered with heavy green plush, and are most inviting from the comfort of their design and the softness of their cushioning.

They are of course converted into sleeping berths at night, there being twelve sections in all. The Canadian Pacific Railway has been the pioneer in improving sleeping accommodation and still retains an advantage over many other lines. The berths are somewhat longer and broader, and a good deal higher, and there is no place where an additional inch has so much value as in a sleeping car. It gives greater cubic space for air and enables the tallest man to sit up comfortably while dressing in either the upper or lower berths. There is, too, an opening under the lower berth that means a great deal. It supplies an exit for the surplus heat from the steam pipes that warm the car.

Another point may be mentioned in this connection. The importance of the thorough airing of bedding is well known to every housewife and is fully appreciated by the company. Whenever the sleeping car is not in use and is standing in the yard, it is aired thoroughly. The upper berths are let down, the rugs and other bedding laid out and exposed to the beneficent action of sun and air. The head rests are also tilted forward so that the air is permitted to circulate freely behind and through the seats that form the lower berths at night.

The cars are lighted by acetylene gas, the passengers being protected from the glare of them and provided with a subdued even light, by the use of globes of frosted glass. The deck lights are fitted with cathedral glass, which gives an additional finish to the appearance of the car. The splendid order in which every corner and appointment is kept, makes these new sleeping cars very attractive, and the perfection of modern railway equipment. ldw

SLEEPING CARS DE LUXE.

Provided by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has just put in commission the first of a batch of new sleeping cars, with which to reinforce its already large stock. The continual increase in transcontinental travel, the growing popularity of the Canadian Rockies and the filling-up of the Northwest has compelled the company to establish a double, daily service from ocean to ocean, which will be instituted next Monday by the departure from the Windsor Station, Montreal, of the Imperial, Limited, running, for the first time as an evening train and as a daily. To meet this expanded service a large number of additional cars were imperatively necessary, so fifteen were built, of which the first are already on the road.

The Wakefield and the Waskada were at Windsor Station yesterday, and showed, at a glance, how carefully the company has provided the luxuries as well as the conveniences of travel. Everything an up-to-date car should be, these are. They run smoothly on two six-wheeled trucks, and have the easiest possible motion. The jarring inseparable from fast running over the smoothest roadbed, is thereby reduced to a minimum, and perfect rest at night is insured.

CHANGES IN TRAIN SERVICE

Grand Trunk Railway Summer Time and its Effect on Local Trains.

The new summer time table, which went into effect this week on the Grand Trunk Railway System, gives few radical changes to the service as far as Peterborough is concerned, beyond the addition of the new fast train to Toronto, which on Monday made its first round trip, making good time, and giving perfect satisfaction to the company and to those who travelled on it.

The trains leaving here for the west now are: 7.20 and 8.35 a.m., the latter leaving at the same time as formerly. The 5.38 train is the same as before, but that from Belleville leaves for Lindsay at 9 o'clock, instead of 9.15 p.m. Arriving from the west, the local from Lindsay reaches here at 8.15 instead of 7.20 a. m. No change is made in the noon and evening trains, 11.40 a.m. and 9 p.m., the new express arriving at 10.25 p.m. The night train to Port Hope leaves at 9.05 instead of 9.10.

Two changes are made in the time of leaving for the Belleville local. The morning train leaves at 8.30 instead of 8.25, and the afternoon at 2 o'clock, instead of 2.05. Arriving from Belleville the morning train reaches here at 8.10, and the evening at 8.40, instead of 9 o'clock.

The Lakefield service is as follows: Leave Peterborough for Lakefield at 8.20 a.m., 12.15 p.m., and 5.40 p. m. Arrive at Peterborough from Lakefield at 10 a.m., 5.05 and 8.50 p.m.

OH, WHAT A JUMP!

As Folks will Say When they see the Daring Casm-Vaulting Cyclist.

Prodigious Porthos, whose seemingly super-human achievement of leaping fifty feet through space on an ordinary bicycle is the latest European star sensation, will appear here with the Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' United Shows, on Saturday, July 2nd. This is his first visit to America and he is the originator of the miraculous feat which he challenges all other cyclists to successfully imitate. None of our readers having as yet seen this heroically phenomenal performance, the following summary thereof, taken from a detailed description, accompanied by a half-page illustration, published in the New York Evening Journal of March 6th, last, will be found of general interest:—

The bicycle used is of the ordinary safety pattern, except that two stationary pocket stirrups to hold the rider's feet are substituted in place of pedals, which, as it will be apparent, would be worse than useless. Thus mounted and grasping the handle-bars with a grip of steel, Porthos starts from a platform forty-five feet from the ground. Before him lies, at an incline of forty-five degrees, a board path, less than three feet wide and a hundred feet in length, which at the bottom ends in a sharp upward curve, directly in line with and separated by a break of some fifty feet from another platform ten feet above the ground. A gentle shove from an attendant and Porthos is off on a brief but fearsome journey, the ending of which no man, not even himself, can foretell. Should this wheel swerve a single inch from the required direction, or he, for the fraction of a second, lose unflinching coolness, absolute perfection of control, concentration of instantaneous observation and supreme self-possession, deadly disaster rides with him. So rapidly does he gather speed in his furiously fleet decent that he flashes like a misty streak across the sight, and almost in the twinkling of an eye has reached the summit of the curve referred to, and he and his wheel soar upward and headlong high in air. The momentum decreases until they seem to hover in space, then the bicycle dives downward and, directed by an instantaneous delicateness of manipulation, imperceptible to the dazed and dumfounded onlookers, lands on the receiving platform, which its two wheels must strike at practically the same moment, as otherwise there would be a dreadful finish, right then and there. But seemingly superhuman nerve and skill have triumphed, and Porthos rides placidly down a gentle incline, after what might not inappropriately be termed a race with death.

INFORMATION WANTED.

The Chief of Police received the following communication Tuesday and will gladly accept any information concerning the parties described:—

June 13th, 1904.

34 Peter street, Toronto.

Dear Sir,—Can you oblige me by giving me any information about two families who emigrated to Canada from Scotland many years ago. Andrew Sully was one and his sister, married to a Mr. Grant, the other. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant, (Harry Robert by name) came over to England on a friendly visit to his relatives about the year 1870, and to see his aged aunt, Mrs. Mary Rutherford, living at that time in Whitaven, Cumberland, England. If you can give me any information about them I would be greatly obliged, as I married Mary Dickie, who was grand niece of the old man Sully, also of Mrs. Grant, his sister. Having come over here to live, my wife is naturally anxious to find them out, but is only able to remember the son of Mrs. Grant as coming over 32 years ago to Whitaven, and does not know whether they are now living in the Town of Peterborough or not. Thanking you for a reply, I remain,

Yours faithfully,
WM. LONGMILE.

THE 13TH DRAGOONS

Mr. Fisher's Correspondence Relating to the Regiment.

WAS THANKED FOR SERVICES

The Minister's Co-operation Was Invited By Col. Whitley and Col. Smart—Correspondence Between These Officers With Mr. Fisher Relating to the Appointment of Officers Tabled in the House.

Ottawa, June 17.—Correspondence between Mr. Fisher and Lieut.-Cols. Whitley and Smart and others of the 13th Scottish Dragoons, on the appointment of officers to that crops was tabled last night. It shows that the co-operation of Mr. Fisher was invited by the two officers named, and that he was thanked for his services.

In a letter to Clinton Benton of Sweetsburg, Mr. Fisher asks that gentleman whether he would care to take a captaincy or a lieutenancy. "I hope," says the Minister, "to be able to put things right at Sweetsburg in connection with the trouble that has arisen through Dr. Pickell being appointed to the command of the squadron there. That will not be, as he has no military experience. If we cannot find some one with military experience to command this squadron, which is to have headquarters at Sweetsburg or Adamsville, we will have to get a Montreal man. I would prefer to have the chief officers from the district, but I understand there is nobody in the district qualified to take the command."

In another letter to Mr. Benton on the 20th May, Mr. Fisher says: "I am sorry that a good deal of disturbance has been raised about this regiment. I really think that Col. Smart is desirous of making it a good regiment without any political leanings. He unfortunately got into contact with the wrong people and made some mistakes. He and Mr. Parmelee and I have been discussing matters here at length, and Mr. Parmelee and I are satisfied that he is honestly desirous of remedying these mistakes and doing anything he can to meet our views. It is impossible, however, to make all the changes that our friends would like. The most important ones have been done. We have adopted the plan that men without military experience, as a rule, should start as lieutenants. Major Guy Orr of Compton, is to be put in command of the Cowansville squadron in place of Dr. Pickell."

Mr. Fisher, in a letter to Major D. M. Stewart of Montreal, on the 19th of May, speaks of the difficulties in regard to recommendations for the officering of the 13th Dragoons, and says in part: "I will only say that to people who are not familiar with the eastern townships and with country life in the small places, many of the difficulties would be hard to understand. Knowing the country as I do, had I been consulted to begin with, I might have avoided all these difficulties, and any friction that may have arisen." The Minister expresses approval of Major Stewart's taking the position of second in command.

Writing on May 23rd from Montreal, Lieut.-Col. Smart thanks Mr. Fisher for having arranged, in the absence of Sir Frederick Borden, to have the appointments as agreed upon pass through Council, "and I sincerely trust they will be published at once." Lieut.-Col. Smart states that with reference to a remark of Col. Whitley, that he assumes the command under disadvantageous circumstances, he feels that everything has turned out for the best.

In a letter dated Toronto, May 22nd, Lieut.-Col. Whitley writes to Mr. Fisher: "I am dependent upon your kind promise to help us with the officers. Many will be wanted. Some always drop out for various reasons, and you know that good fellows are scarce." Lieut.-Col. Whitley expresses his objection to intemperate officers, who are useless, and do great harm. He would much prefer political opponents instead. Writing from Montreal on June 8th, he states that they are going to make a good showing, and he asks. "I shall put you in my tent," he says; "it won't do you any harm to have a night under canvas. I know you will help us in every way to make our training and, especially the enthusiasm re the 13th, a success."

COL. GREGORY RESIGNS.

Major Glasgow Wanted Promotion and His Colonel Refused to Recommend.

St. Catharines, June 17.—The report which reached here from Niagara-on-the-Lake camp that Lieut.-Col Gregory wished to be relieved of the command of the 2nd Dragoons, was a surprise to the majority of his friends and to military men generally, but some of the local officers were expecting such a move. A close personal friend says the trouble arose over the promotion of Major Glasgow without his recommendation, as he had refused to recommend him for a lieutenant-colonelcy until he qualified for the rank by attending the Military School.

Toronto, June 17.—The Globe Ottawa correspondent wires: Lieut.-Col. Gregory of the 2nd Dragoons, now in camp at Niagara, has not resigned the command owing to political interference, but because his tenure of command has practically expired. He was appointed to the command on 19th July, 1898, and on the expiration of his term last year he was granted a year's extension.

Wilcox Gets 7 Years.

Winnipeg, June 17.—Wilcox was sentenced to seven years in the Penitentiary yesterday for robbing a mail bag of $1,000. Lawyer Bangs was given 18 months, and Boys released on suspended sentence.

Major Merritt Appointed.

Ottawa, June 17.—The militia orders just issued make changes in the command of the Governor-General's Body Guard. The tenure of command of Lieut.-Col. C. A. Denison having expired, Major Wm. Hamilton Merritt is appointed in command of the corps. This corps is the oldest cavalry organization in Canada.

INSPECTION OF SEED GRAIN.

Debate in the House of Commons on Mr. Fisher's Bill.

Ottawa, June 17.—The budget having been disposed of, the House yesterday settled down to the consideration of the more prosaic but vitally important subject of agriculture. The afternoon was spent in committee on Mr. Fisher's bill respecting the inspection and sale of seed grain, which had been designed for the purpose of protecting the farmer from loss too frequently sustained by him by reason of inferior seed being placed on the market. The farmers are unanimous in their demand for stringent legislation, but the seedsmen protested against the measure being made what they consider too drastic; and some modifications have been made to meet their views, without in any way impairing its effectiveness. Progress was reported. The remainder of the day was spent in supply on the estimates for the experimental farm, members of the Opposition protesting against the increased expenditure and demanding further information before voting the money. Another batch of correspondence in connection with the Dundonald incident was brought down at a late hour last night.

In the Senate.

Ottawa, June 17.—In the Senate yesterday Senator McMullen inquired whether, in view of the dependence of a large part of Canada upon a foreign country for its fuel supply, it was the intention of the Government to take measures to encourage the peat fuel industry. Hon. Mr. Scott replied that the matter was under consideration, and no answer could be given at present.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell spoke upon the National Transcontinental Railway, and moved the same resolution in substance that Mr. Borden offered in the House.

The Lowest Death Rate.

The Swedish census shows the lowest death rate of any civilized nation. Last year it was only 16.49 per 1,000. Norway comes next, and Britain third with 18.8 per 1,000.

A Broad Statement.

This announcement is made without any qualifications. Hem-Roid is the one preparation in the world that guarantees it.

Hem-Roid will cure any case of Piles. It is in the form of a Tablet

It is the only Pile remedy used internally.

It is impossible to cure an established case of Piles with ointments, suppositories, injections or outward appliances.

A guarantee is issued with every package of Hem-Roid, which contains a month's treatment.

How the House Talks.

Usually the British House of Commons talks from seven to eight hours a day, that is, ignoring such ignoble preambles as are involved in the asking and answering of questions and the reprehensible desire to get in additional words by artful and artless dissertations. Eight hours a day means thirty-two columns of unrelenting, closely-packed type, a heartless procession of 74,000 words! Roughly speaking, 50,000 words go to the making up of a three-volume book—74,000 words is, therefore, a three-volume novel and half another very nearly. Taking the sittings of the House at five days a week, including private members' day, when the talk is even more hopelessly endless, for this is an outing for crotchets, members talk equal to seven three-volume novels a week; 28 seven-volume novels a month; 196 seven-volume novels in an ordinary session! This means 9,800,000 words a session. The odd days would make up another four volumes, making 200 volumes and 10,000,000 words.

A CUBAN HURRICANE.

Village of Elcobre Destroyed, Forty-Five Persons Known to Be Dead, and Scores More Missing.

Santiago de Cuba, June 17.—The worst storm of a decade began Friday and culminated Monday night in fourteen inches of rain, which fell in five hours, accompanied by a hurricane.

The lower village of Elcobre has been destroyed.

Forty-five persons are known to be dead and scores are missing. Bodies are floating in the Cobre River.

Twenty bodies have been recovered by boats patrolling the bay.

All the bridges on the Cobre Railway are out and many bridges have been lost on the Cuba Railway.

A train which left Havana Sunday is held between washouts 40 miles inland. A relief train bringing mail and passengers was wrecked at Moron. Two employes were killed and two others injured. The mines at Daguiri are crippled and six of the employes have been drowned. The pier has been damaged.

The city's property loss is enormous.

All telegraph and cable lines are disabled.

Given Seven Years.

St. Thomas, June 17.—The trial of James M. Sims, formerly of South Dorchester, charged with having stolen a horse and outfit, occupied the attention of Judge Colter and a jury almost the whole of Wednesday. He was given seven years.

IN MEMORY OF DEPARTED BRETHERN.

Oddfellows Decorated Graves of Former Members Yesterday Afternoon

Great Crowd at Cemetery—Monument Unveiled to Late John Fanning—Addresses by Local Clergymen—Lessons Decoration Day Teaches.

The beautiful custom of decorating the graves of the departed members of the Oddfellows' Order, is one universally observed by Oddfellows throughout the world, and in Peterborough one of the great days of the year is that one on which the memory of their departed brethren is revived so fittingly by the members of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges, I.O.O.F., and each year the observance of this custom has a wider significance, because of the fact that year by year the number of graves in which departed brethren lie, is increased, and the "three links" that bind the present with the future life become stronger.

Yesterday was an ideal day for the celebration of the decoration ceremonies, and there was perhaps a larger number of persons in the Little Lake Cemetery to participate in the event than there has been upon any previous similar occasion. The cemetery, too, looked more than usually beautiful. All day Wednesday and yesterday forenoon, those who had departed friends lying in the green plot, so fittingly designated as the silent city of the dead, had been bringing flowers with which to adorn the resting place of their friends, and to pay another loving tribute to their memory. Consequently the beautiful cemetery looked at its best. This occasion is popularly known as "Oddfellows' Decoration Day," but it has largely lost its significance, and for reasons which that society should consider a compliment. Their example in decorating the graves of their late brethren had received the sincerest flattery — imitation — for on days like yesterday the general public seem to join as enthusiastically as the brethren themselves in remembering their own sacred dead, and many a lonely spot that but for the associations of the day might have been neglected, is beautifully adorned. As an instance it was noticed that the grave of the late Andrew Douglass, whose only living relatives are in a foreign country, was very handsomely decorated, and with flowers grown on the property on Gilmour street, which he occupied during his life. Such things are mere sentiment, but they serve to show that memory of the dead can be made to confirm the ties among the living, and sweeten the human relationships, which when strengthened by the ties of kindly thoughtfulness brighten life to a very pleasant degree.

Shortly after two o'clock, the members of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges, I.O.O.F., and the members of Sherwood Forest Camp, Woodmen of the World, in large numbers, gathered in Central Park, and headed by the 57th Regt. Band, marched to the cemetery, followed and preceded by a very large number of citizens, whose attendance, the half holiday proclaimed by the Mayor, made more conveniently possible.

Upon arrival at the cemetery the members of the Oddfellows' Lodges divided themselves into four sections, headed by W. S. Robinson, N. G., of Otonabee Lodge, W. Hill, V. G., of Peterborough Lodge; W. Freeburn, V. G., and F. Wise, V. G., respectively, and made a tour of the cemetery, placing upon the graves of the departed members of the Order beautiful floral offerings.

In the meantime the members of the Woodmen of the World, whose object in participating in the event was to unveil a monument to the memory of the late John Fanning, the only member of the local Camp who died during the year. This Order erects a monument at the grave of every departed member as a means of keeping fresh his memory among the members, and yesterday the beautiful custom was observed in respect of the late Mr. Fanning. There were three members of the High Camp in town to assist in the ceremony, which was an impressive one. The 57th Band took part in the exercises, playing several hymns, including "Nearer My God to Thee," "Sun of My Soul," "How Firm a Foundation," etc.

After playing the first mentioned piece Rev. Mr. Major offered prayer, and the prescribed service of the Order, arranged for the occasion, was taken up, the visiting members of the Order taking part.

The members of the High Camp who visited the local Camp were: C. G. Hodgins, Head Council Commander, London; Ald. D. Cinnamon, Advisory London; Ald. D. Cinnamon, Advisory Commander, Lindsay; J. H. McConnell, D. C. Windsor.

As the band played the strains of "How Firm a Foundation," the handsome grey granite monument erected in loving memory of the late Sovereign, John Fanning, by the Woodmen, was unveiled, and the ceremony closed.

THE ADDRESSES.

Lieut.-Col. Miller acted as chairman of the proceedings, and in opening gave a short address, in which he said that he was pleased to again participate in this ceremony in the silent city of the dead, and perform the most sacred duty we have. Some were there to mourn the loss of loved ones gone before, and others to show their sympathy with those so bereaved.

The shortness of life should be a lesson to those who are left. When we weep over the grave of a friend, we are moved as at no other time in our lives, and it is here that sympathy finds expression.

Let us remember that we, too, some day will also be borne to this silent city, and live in preparation for such an event. Next year many of those who participated in this decoration will still be here, but there are some who will not.

Rev. A. H. Brace, of Park street Baptist church, was the first speaker called upon, and upon rising he congratulated the Oddfellows and the Woodmen of the World upon their splendid showing. The object of their ceremony was one to be commended. Death, he said, is not beautiful, but death is but the portal entering into Heaven. Flowers are beautiful emblems, and bring home messages and keep the memory of loved ones green and fresh as in days of old.

The lily teaches a lesson of resurrection, of the life beyond, Jesus said, "I am the resurrection and the life." "Bring on the flowers," said the the speaker, for they are nature's emblems and they cheer the sad heart.

Rev. J. G. Lewis, B.A., of Mark street church, was the next speaker, and gave a short, but thoughtful address. The object of the gathering, he said, was that they might quicken the memory for those who have gone. They did not come there to remember those who are great, merely, but those whom we have known and loved. The speaker said that those who achieved greatness could do so only by the assistance of those who, though more humbly situated, helped them on to greatness.

We should have an interest in each other, and this interest should inspire a spirit of happiness and charity. The man who has sunk low in the moral scale did so by the development of a side of his nature which every one of us possesses, and every man who achieved greatness did it by the development of a characteristic of nature common to all. We are all members of a common family, and the man who seeks to do good, and exercises the spirit of helpfulness is a blessing to the community. It is depressingly sad to think of dropping out of the memory of our friends at death, and this will not be the case if during our lifetime we try to be helpful.

Mr. C. G. Hodgins, High Council Commander of the W. O. W., was then called upon for an address, and spoke briefly, stating that he was pleased indeed to be invited to take part in these decoration day proceedings. He was glad that the two fraternal societies were on such intimate terms, and it was a hopeful sign to see them exemplifying the spirit of fraternity in their dealing with each other. He congratulated the members of the Orders upon the splendid turn out, and hoped that in future the two Orders represented there would be still more drawn together in the bonds of fraternity.

Rev. J. Eastow, M.A., of the Murray street church, was the next speaker. He said he was pleased to be present on this occasion. The significance of the day and its ceremonies was that all are doomed to die. A year ago one of the most healthy men, at that time, assisted in the unveiling of a monument to a departed brother, and yesterday a similar duty was performed over his grave. This reminded us that death must come to all, and we should make preparations for that day. There is a sense in which we are all immortal. We have been born into the world, and we shall continue to live throughout eternity, and it is of the utmost importance that we live in such a way in this life that we may be prepared to spend the future life in happy surroundings. Jesus came to give life, in the highest sense, and everyone should accept His great gift.

Rev. Mr. Major, Rector of All Saints, was the last speaker of the afternoon. He said that he was a little diffident to speak at the service, since it was the first function of the kind that he had participated in The monument at the head of a grave stands as the result of the desire to leave an honourable memory. This desire has been present in men of all ages. Some have a desire to be great, and some have a wish to be good, and in order to achieve their desires they make many sacrifices. This desire is natural, and therefore innocent. The desire to leave an honourable memory stimulates us to do right, and it should not be condemned. The ambition should be to so live that our lives will leave an impression and bind our memories to those left behind with the three links, of which the Oddfellows are so proud.

After the closing prayer by Rev. Mr. Major the members of the two Orders marched back to their halls, and the citizens dispersed.

The members of the Oddfellows' Lodges wish to thank through the press the ladies who so kindly contributed flowers yesterday.

PRETTY WEDDING AT "ORCHARD VALLEY".

Miss Annie Mitchell Married to Mr. J. Wesley Newman.

A wedding of special local interest took place on Wednesday night at "Orchard Valley Farm," Cramahe, the residence of Samuel Mitchell, when his youngest daughter, Annie, was married to Mr. J. Wesley Newman, son of John Newman, of Castleton, in the presence of about one hundred invited guests, from Castleton, Warkworth, Burnley, Centreton, Dartford, Peterborough Rochester, N. Y., Norham and Hastings. The ceremony was performed on the beautiful lawn in front of the family residence, under an arch of evergreens, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Mr. Shira of Norham.

The bride was very becomingly attired in a gown of cream voille and taffeta silk, and carried a bouquet of roses, and was attended by Miss Theresa Bailey, of Norham, who was dressed in pale blue organdie. Mr. Orliff Newman, brother of the groom, performed the duties of groomsman.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the party sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner, provided by Mr. John Niles of Lakeport, and later the bride and groom left on the C. P. R. for points in the west, where they will spend their honeymoon, and on their return will live at Castleton, where Mr. Newman conducts a prosperous business.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome presents, the groom's gift being a sunburst of diamonds, while to the bridesmaid he gave a pearl crescent brooch. The The bride's father gave her a cabinet grand Newcombe piano.

Those who attended the wedding from Peterborough were, Mr and Mrs. G. W. Mulligan, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Micks, and Mrs. and Miss Thornton. The bride is a first cousin of Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Micks and Mr. Mulligan.

A NEW FEATURE IN CIVIC MOVEMENTS

An Ex-Mayor's Protest Against Pavement Grades.

Breach of the Municipal act Also Inferred.

A little flutter has been created in municipal circles by the serving by Mr. T. H. G. Denne, of the following notice in reference to the grade of the new pavement on the northern part of George street, and also in reference to the material used:—

Peterborough, Ont., June 16, 1904.

Mayor and Council,

Town of Peterborough.

Gentlemen,—Please accept notice on behalf of my mother, Mrs. Henry Denne, that the sidewalk you are at present constructing on the west side of George street, north of Smith street, in front of her property, is not being laid to the proper grade, same being too high which will result in damage to her property. Further would invite your attention to the fact that you are not proceeding under the Act, under which notice was given for the construction of this work. The Act calls for a GRANOLITHIC sidewalk, notice in the paper calls for a GRANOLITHIC sidewalk, and the sidewalk that is being placed there at the present time is nothing more than a concrete walk. Kindly accept notice that we will look to you for damages, and in addition we do not propose paying frontage tax on the sidewalk as constructed for the above reasons.

Yours truly,

(Signed) T. H. G. DENNE.

If this protest proves to be well founded, and is sustained, a new problem will be presented for solution by the people's representatives in the council, and if, by any chance, in addition to the contentions of the letter being sustained, the principle involved becomes retroactive, the complication will be much intensified. It is well, perhaps, that the move by Mr. Denne has been taken. There has been no end of complaints regarding the grade of new pavements, and no little cost has been incurred in making changes, and it would be well if some authoritative decision should be arrived at in respect of the rights of citizens. The people, in the final analysis, are the corporation and their wishes and interests should be the first consideration. Our citizens do not willingly pay taxes for the purpose of having property, upon which they have expended much care and money, injured by radical and, in the opinion of many, arbitrary and unreasonable change of grades. Incidentally, the fact is emphasized that we have no settled grade for any of our streets, upon which granolithic, or concrete, pavements have to be laid. A man building a new house, and improving his property by building lawns, etc., has to use his best judgment; if he guesses the grade approximately right he suffers comparatively little loss, but in the majority of cases he runs the risk of having his house or lawn cocked up in the air, or put into a hole in regard to the grade line of a new pavement.

Years ago the Examiner advocated and urged the advisability, and necessity, of having a uniform grade struck throughout the town. This, of course, was not done, whether because it was the right and business-like thing to do, or because of the practice of the dilatory policy of drift which seems to infect municipal bodies as a normal and, apparently, necessary condition.

The pen of a Dickens, who exposed the "How-not-to-do-it" methods of the circumlocution office might find an ever-fresh and fruitful field for satire in the doings of modern municipal authorities.

If Mr. Denne's contention prevails not only he, but others, on the street in question, will have cause for similar action, and the result cannot avoid being productive of considerable cost, and that at the expense of the general tax-payer, among whom many sympathisers — because fellow-sufferers — will be found.

It is to be hoped that some solution of the trouble will be reached that will not only prevent expense and trouble in respect of the persons interested in this matter, but will also prevent delay in the construction of the necessary and desired improvements represented by permanent pavements.

Mr. R. J. Todd, of the First Church of Christ Scientists, here, returned home from Ottawa on Thursday morning after a three weeks' visit. Mr. Todd had received urgent calls from a number of suffering friends in that city, and while there his work was greatly blessed. Notwithstanding strong pressure brought to bear upon Mr. Todd to remain in Ottawa, his friends in Peterborough will be glad to know that he decided to remain with the growing church here. —Com.

Mr. Owain Martin, Gilmour street, has packed his household goods and his Lares and Penates, and removed them to his summer home, Lake Duchesne, near Ottawa. Mrs. Martin left to-day for Toronto, where she will remain pending the fitting up of her summer home for occupation. Mrs. Martin as well as the entire family, will be much missed from the neighbourhood and the town. During her brief residence in town she achieved, by virtue of her pleasing and kindly qualities, a very considerable popularity and high esteem with those privileged with her society.

OBITUARY.

The Death of Mr. Wm. F. Elliott After a Year's Illness.

This morning at 8 o'clock Mr. Wm. F. Elliott, passed away at his residence, corner of Park and London streets. He had been suffering from illness for about a year. Recently under a change of treatment his condition seemed greatly improved and his family and friends were much encouraged to hope for his recovery, but a change developed suddenly and the end came. The deceased gentleman, who was 48 years of age, was a native of Smith Township, the eldest son of the late James Elliott. Mr. Elliott was not very well known in this vicinity for he has been absent from town and county for about twenty years, until his return to Peterborough two years ago. When the Missing Link was building, Mr. Elliott took employment as foreman with the contractor, Mr. H. J. Beeman. On the completion of this line, Mr. Elliott went to Quebec with Mr. Beeman, where he married and remained till, as stated, two years ago, when he came back to Peterborough. Mrs. Elliott and two sons of nearly adult years, survive him. The funeral takes place from the family residence on Sunday next at three o'clock p.m.

SUSPENSION OF BROKERAGE FIRM.

Messrs. McMillan and Maguire have Called Meeting of Their Creditors.

The suspension of Messrs. McMillan & Maguire, stock brokers, Hunter street, came as quite a surprise to local speculative and investment circles. The Peterborough branch, of which Mr. E. S. Clarry, has been the local manager, has been doing a good business, and the firm were conducting a purely commission house business through New York agents. They met with three unfortunate reverses during the past six weeks, by which they lost heavily. The last of these three failures came on Wednesday night, when Laidley & Co., their Chicago agents, and a firm of long standing on the Chicago Board of Trade, suspended. McMillan & Maguire, finding themselves embarrassed by these failures, decided to call a meeting of their creditors for Saturday morning at ten o'clock, at their head office in Toronto.

Mr. Clarry, the local manager, when interviewed to-day, stated that the first intimation he had of the firm's embarrassment was after he had reached Toronto on Wednesday night, whither he had been suddenly called that afternoon. Mr. Clarry then referred the Examiner to the following item from the Toronto Globe:—

McMillan & Maguire, dealers in stocks, cotton and grain, at the corner of King & Yonge streets, suspended yesterday. They had branch offices at Brock street, Kingston and Hunter street, Peterborough.

Mr. D. F. Maguire, when interviewed by the Globe yesterday, said: —"Our suspension was due to the failure of our New York and Chicago correspondents, viz., Floyd, Crawford & Co., C. W. Stausel and W. H. Laidley. We are now going through our books, and cannot yet say anything regarding our liabilities. We have called a meeting of creditors for Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

"Why did they fail?"

"Well, Laidley had too many wires on a dull market. They must have paid $50,000 a month for wires. Our own wire to Toronto, Kingston and Buffalo, cost us $30,000 a year. On all their wires there must have been over 120 offices. Now all the markets are declining, and there is not enough business."

"You are not a member of the Toronto Stock Exchange?"

"N; but we buy through the Consolidated Exchange of New York."

"What did you do about grain?"

"We are correspondents of W. H. Laidley & Co., who were members of the Chicago Board of Trade. Before we could become their correspondents, we had to be endorsed by the Chicago Board of Trade, which has been fighting bucket shops for years. That showed our position in business. Everyone knows that on a falling market the bucket shop wins and that on a rising market the bucket shop loses. Well, wheat has been declining, showing that Laidley were not conducting a bucket shop business. While on this subject I may say I am of the opinion that more money was lost in Toronto on the Toronto Stock Exchange than there was in bucket shops."

ORILLIA WON EXHIBITION GAME

A Good Game of Lacrosse Yesterday Afternoon

Score was 4-3—Locals had Better Play at Start but Could not Stand the Pace

In one of the prettiest games of lacrosse seen in Peterborough for a long time, the Orillia intermediate team defeated the local boys by a score of 4-3. The match which was an exhibition one was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators, including several hundred supporters of the Orillia team. The match for the first three quarters was very closely contested, the quality of lacrosse being fine, but towards the finish, when the visitors were in the lead, the play lagged somewhat. As the homesters were somewhat winded and the winners were contented apparently with their lead and did the "rag" act to considerable extent. The play was of a very exciting nature, neither team being more than one goal to the good at any stage of the contest, and it was anybody's game throughout. The crowd greatly enjoyed the match and both teams were heartily cheered when brilliant work was done, which was the case very often for the game was full of thrilling plays.

SHOWED UP WELL.

The showing of the local boys was a pleasing surprise to many of their supporters who expected a rather decisive defeat, when the reputation of the visitors was considered, and the fact that the locals were in poor shape for a hard game was realized. For the first two quarters the Peterborough did the pressing and held a lead of two goals. But then the superior condition of the Orillians began to tell, and by a strong finish they won out. But the homesters showed that there is plenty of fine material for a corking team right in this town, and had the boys had the training and practice and team work which the visitors have had there might have been a different tale to tell about yesterday's game. As it is the boys did most creditably and are deserving of much praise for the game they put up.

CONCERNING THE HOME TEAM.

Every man played his position well. Vic Hamilton in goal turned aside many a hot shot ticketed for the nets and he did a great deal towards keeping the score down. Dillon showed up better than in any game this season. He frequently intercepted a dangerous pass in front of the flags and relieved the pressure by a throw or run. Morgan at cover also did good service in breaking up the rushes of the visitors. Glover appeared as much at home on the defence as on the home field, his checking being very effective while he frequently made excursions down the field and assisted the home. "Sharkey" Mein played excellent lacrosse, checking and intercepting passes in great shape and shining prominently throughout. Crowley was also a most valuable man on the defence, and his stick and the ball were great favourites. Ford played a dashing game at centre, his checking being a feature of the game. Both Crowley and Ford had speedy men to check, and they did their work well. Parnell played a steady game on the home, catching and passing nicely and being prominent in many rushes. Dumble was also fast and sure, playing an effective game throughout. Robertson, though not in good condition, did good work and showed that he has not lost his old time brilliancy. Ernie Best was in the game from start to finish catching and passing accurately and shooting as a rule right on the flags. He put up a splendid game, Aritage also played a fast game, dodging, passing and shooting in clever fashion. His work on the home was very effective.

SOME WILD PASSES.

The catching of the homesters was good as a rule and the passing was generally good also, that is when the passes were made to a home man. But too frequently the ball was passed right into the stick of an opponent. The fact that the jerseys of the two teams were somewhat similar may have been partly the cause of the mistakes in passing, though the visitors were never guilty of this error. The boys played a nice combination and as a rule attempted to go right in on the flags. This was the only way to score for the visitors defence refused to be drawn out an inch.

VISITORS A FAST BUNCH.

The visitors have a speedy and well balanced team. Every man is a sprinter, an excellent stick handler and a good lacrosse player. The combination is remarkably accurate and the shooting fairly so. The home knew just where to throw the ball and frequently six or seven men would handle the rubber in a rush. The defence was firm as a rock and repulsed many hard attacks. Arens stopped many a wicked shot while Quinn and Hynds played great lacrosse. Curran was the most brilliant on the home, playing a beautiful game. He is as fleet as a deer and is one of the neatest stick handlers ever seen here. Donaldson and Pennock were also were also very effective on the scoring. The team should have little trouble in capturing the intermediate honours.

PLAY WAS CLEAN.

The game was a gentlemanly exhibition and though several were ruled off, their transgressions were not glaring ones. The referee was strict and by being so kept the play clean throughout.

The teams were: —

Orilia	Peterborough.

Arens	Hamilton

Mr. F. A. Clarke refereed most satisfactorily.

FIRST QUARTER.

The locals started to rush things at the start and a couple of shots hit the posts. Armitage and Robertson each lost good chances to score. The ball went to Peterborough's end where Dillon secured and passed to Mein who delivered the goods to Parnell who transferred to Armitage who scored by a neat shot in two minutes. An Orillia man went off for cross checking. Two hot shots nearly scored and another Orillia man was sent off. The visitors got the first shot on goal which Hamilton stopped. Pennock had an open chance to score but shot aside. Quarter time saw the score 1-0. The play was for the most part in the visitors' territory.

SECOND QUARTER.

The locals again did the pressing but shot wildly. Hamilton stopped two stiff ones and Best, after a nice run sent in a strider to Arenes who neatly cleared. After 13 minutes of play, which was in favour of the locals, Curran saw a nopening an tied the score. But saw an opening and tied the score. But made a great shot which was stopped and the ball went down to Dillon who returned to Armitage who passed to Dumble; the latter passed to Robertson who scored by a great shot from the side in one minute. Score 1-1. Donaldson dodged three men in a row and nearly scored, but Morgan relieved him. A man from each side was ruled off. Best gave Arens a wicked one to stop. Bad shooting spoiled several good chances for scores. Armitage put in two warm shots, but Arens was always there and at half time the score was 2-1.

THIRD QUARTER.

In the third quarter the visitors began to improve and Hamilton had several to stop. Glover made a beautiful rush, dodging several sticks, aimed in the close proximity to his cranium. After 14 1-2 minutes play Pennock scored just before the whistle blew for three-quarter time. Two Peterborough and one Orillia man were ruled off in this quarter.

FOURTH QUARTER.

The Orillians went in to win in this quarter and the pace began to tell on the locals. In five minutes Donaldson scored from a pretty rush. The Orillia home was working like a charm. But after ten minutes' play, Glover made a long pass to Best who threw to Robertson and George's aim was again true, and the score was tied. Arens was playing brilliant lacrosse and Hamilton was stopping some dandies. Shortly before time expired Curran scored and the game was won and lost. Four men for each side were given rests in this quarter.

JESSE AIRRIES ACQUITTED

On all Three Charges at the County Court.

Jesse Airries is again a free young man. Yesterday afternoon he was acquitted of two charges laid against him and it now seems that the police had secured the wrong man in the cases of robbery and assault, which so aroused the public some months ago. Yesterday the two cases were those of robbing Mrs. Baker of a watch and money on March 2nd, and one of indecent assault. It could not be proved in either case that Airries was the man though in the first case there was some evidence which made it look rather suspicious, but the evidence was not of a sufficiently convincing nature to warrant the jury in bringing in a decision of guilty.

The three indictments against Airries were the only cases to take up the attention of the court at the sitting.

NEW STEAMER WAS SUCCESSFULLY LAUNCHED.

'Stony Lake' Felt the Water for the First Time Yesterday.

Yesterday morning the new steamer, Stony Lake, was successfully launched at Young's Point before a large crowd of spectators, including those on St. Paul's excursion run from town. The launching process was carried out without a hitch, and as the boat slid gracefully into the water she was christened by Miss Young. The boat will be fitted up with the necessary furnishings, etc., this week, and will be in running order by the first of next week it is expected. She is a fine craft, and will no doubt be largely patronized this summer.

Remember the Canadian General Benefit Society Excursion on Saturday Afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock, to Jubilee. Music for dancing. Tickets 40 cents., Children 20 cents.

ANNUAL EXCURSION A GREAT SUCCESS.

St. Paul's Young Men's Guild up the Lakes Yesterday.

Large Crowd Enjoyed the Day—Orchestra was on Board.

The second annual excursion of St. Paul's Young Men's Guild, to Stony Lake, will go down in the annals of this society as one of the most thoroughly enjoyable and successful events ever held in connection with it. It was an event which has been looked forward to by many with anticipation of great pleasure and the realization was even more enjoyable than the anticipation for the large number which was present yesterday. Everyone went prepared to have a splendid time and no one was disappointe. It was a merry crowd of excursionists who took advantage of every opportunity which presented itself to enhance the pleasure of the event. The day was an ideal one for a sail on the picturesque waters of the lakes where the scenery was at its prettiest.

The excursionists left on the morning train for Lakefield where the steamer Majestic was lying in wait to convey the party about the lakes. A stop was made at Young's Point where the excursionists had the pleasure of seeing the new steamer "Stony Lake" launched. There was a large number present from those in the vicinity, the event being one around which much interest centred. The launching was conducted without a mishap and the new steamer, a model of beauty, glided gracefully upon the waters amid the cheers of the onlookers.

A short stay was made at Juniper Island, and Lakefield was reached about noon, where it was discovered that all had the possession of a remarkable appetite, and arrangements were at once made for satisfying the inner man. After this act had been successfully performed, the Majestic headed for Mount Julian, where a short stay was made. The boat proceeded up to the head of the lake and upon returning stopped at Sandy Point, which was reached at four o'clock. A baseball match, remarkable for brilliancy and stings was played here, and provided all kinds of amusement for both players and spectators. Teams were chosen, captained by Richard P. Watt and Ross Cameron, and after a desperate struggle the former's bunch of experts won by a score of 10—3. Those were the players:—

Winners—Rosenburg, c; Watt, p; Ferguson, 1b; Boyd, 2b; Menzies, 3b; Rev. Dr. Torrance, ss; Hall, rf; Logan, cf; B. Laing, lf.

Losers.—Cameron, c; Walker, p; Conrad, 1b; Watkey, 2b; A. Laing, 3b; Pollock, ss; Rev. J. A. Wilson, rf; Wood, cf; Tanner, lf.

Mr. W. Davidson umpired most satisfatorily and—unconventionally.

Five innings were played and intense was the prevailing excitement. Watt twirled a la Mathewson and his "railroad outs" as Archie Laing put it were very tantalizing to his opponents. The clergy present, of course, played great ball, the batting of Rev. Dr. Torrance being sensational. It was found necessary to keep a pant and small boy in the lake owing to a strong weakness which Boyd had of swatting the leather into the briny deep. Space will not permit of individualizing the players and their work, but suffice it to say the style of ball exhibited was worthy of the Guild League, which is as much as to say that it was of stellar variety.

Tea was served at the Point and about 8 o'clock a start was made for Lakefield. The sail down the lake was a most delightful one and no one was anxious to reach the destination. A special train conveyed the excursionists to Peterborough, arriving in town about 9.30 o'clock.

The pleasure of the trip was greatly enhanced by the presence of the Maiorana Orchestra, which rendered delightful music throughout the day. The orchestra is composed of three pieces, harp, violin and mandolin and the combination was a most effective one. They were very liberal in their selections, which included music to suit every taste.

The Guild was largely represented at the excursion. Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. J. A. Wilson were both present as well as many of the congregation, not members of the Guild. The affair could hardly have been more successful and was characteristic of the flourishing condition of the Guild.

DEPOSITING THE OLD COLOURS

An Unique and Attractive Ceremony in St. John's Church.

The special feature of the afternoon service in St. John's Church on Sunday will be the ceremony of depositing the old colours of the Fifty-Seventh Regiment, which have served their day and (literally) generation, which will be both interesting and unique. This service concerns, not only the present members of the regiment, but all former members whether officers or men, who will be cordially welcomed. It is probable that those who have, by virtue of their military associations, a quasi official right to be present, will tax the capacity of the church to the utmost, thereby necessarily leaving no space for accommodating the general public.

Woodmen Meet To night.

A special meeting of Sherwood Forest Camp, No. 50, is called for to night at 8 o'clock in the Hunter Street Hall. Head Council, Mr. C. O. Hodgins will be present. Full attendance is requested.

THE KING'S BOOTS.

Royal Bootmaker Talks of the Royal Footwear.

The King wears an 8½ boot and his foot is well proportioned

So says Mr. Leo Thomas of St. James' street, the royal bootmaker, in an interesting interview on the King's boots, which appears in the current number of Footwear.

His Majesty has practically a pair of boots for every uniform he wears, besides walking boots, walking shoes, evening shoes, and shooting shoes.

It is a popular delusion that the King orders his boots in large quantities. This is not the case. He orders, as a rule, only one pair at a time, although occasionally several pairs which are required for specific purposes, and which differ from each other, are included in one order.

"The King," said Mr. Thomas, "knows precisely what he wants, and insists upon having it. He is one of the greatest students of detail I know, and I have come in contact with a great number of people, as you can well imagine. There is not an ornament, a button, or a particular style but what he remembers, even after the lapse of a long period since the goods were orginally made for him."

As for material, the King never wears either box calf or glace kid, the latter of which he considers too effeminate for his use. "For a smart, neat walking boot he prefers," Mr. Thomas says, "the vamps cut from patent kid or fine blacking leather."

But, whatever the material, it is the very best procurable.

The King's boots and shoes are all made on specially modeled lasts, and the work, it goes without saying, is hand sown.

The price the King pays was not stated, but one remark made by Mr. Thomas is significant:

"I pay as much as 14s and 15s per pair to a workman who simply attaches the soles to the uppers, which is as much as most people of an average pay for an entire pair of boots."

Among His Majesty's favorites are Russian calf derbys for shooting, calf patent evening dress shoes for evening, and Oxford ties, a bregue shoe, for walking.

Mr. Thomas also makes all the Prince of Wales' boots and shoes, the style and character of which are very like those of the King.

There is an interesting souvenir at Mr. Thomas' shop in the shape of a high pair of military-looking boots with gilt spurs attached.

"That pair of boots," said Mr. Thomas to the interviewer, "was made by me for the late Duke of Clarence to be married in. His Royal Highness died just about the time the boots were completed. They were not, of course, delivered; but I subsequently obtained the consent of his royal parent to retain them as a memento of the sad occasion."

The Story of "Self-Help."

From a statement made to a representative of The Young Man it is evident that the book "Self Help", was offered to a publisher between March, 1854, and July, 1856, and the following is the story of one of the most successful books of the century:

A Leeds firm was willing to publish it and divide the profits, but I wanted it to come out in London. So I offered it to Routledge, but the Crimean War was then raging, and the book trade was consequently at a very low ebb.

I remember old Routledge saying, "Nobody will read books nowadays; newspaper accounts of battles and fights are much more to the public taste. If you will call any day, you will find, the manuscript on the counter of my publishing house.'

So I went one day and saw my "Self Help" lying amongst a lot of other documents; I picked it up and took it away with me and put it on one side, thinking "This won't do." But as soon as "Stephenson" was published, I thought, I will bring out the old manuscript, "Self Help," and see if I can't make something of it.

So I took it to Mr. Murray and said, "Will you publish this?"

"Yes—what is it?"

"It is a book I have had beside me for some time; will you publish it on the same terms as 'Stephenson'?"

The arrangement was, I had two-thirds and he one-third of the profits.

"I will be very glad to publish 'Self Help,'" said Mr. Murray, "but you must let me have half the profits."

It was not quite finished, so I told him I would consider the matter. I eventually got him to publish the book at my own risk. "Self Help" ran through a large number of editions; twenty thousand copies, I think, were sold the first year. It has been translated into all the languages of Europe without exception, and in some cases twice over—Italian, French, Spanish, German, Danish, Norwegian, Swedish, Russian; and also, curiously enough into Japanese. The books went on, as a partner of Murray's used to say, like hot cakes.

AS A WORKING TOOL

for the student and the writer, as an authoritative reference book for schools, teachers, families, business and professional men, there is one book which offers superior advantages in the solid value of its information, and the ease with which it is obtained.

One's admiration for Webster's International Dictionary increases daily as it comes to be better known. It never refuses the information sought and it never overwhelms one with a mass of misinformation illogically arranged.

The St. James Gazette of London, England, says: For the teacher, the pupil, the student and the litterateur, there is nothing better; it covers everything.

The New and Enlarged Edition recently issued has 25,000 new words and phrases, a completely revised Biographical Dictionary and Gazetteer of the World, 2000 pages and 2000 Illustrations.

Our name is on the title-pages of all the authentic dictionaries of the Webster series.

Origin of Primrose Day.

"Primrose Day," 1904, is past and over, and I fancy that very few people realize that it was originated by a Sir George C. Birdwood, K.C. I.E., who before the first anniversary of Disraeli's death wrote to the secretary of St. Stephen's Club, suggesting that Lord Beaconsfield's favorite flower should be used to decorate the club dining tables. This, however, was not done, and the indefatigable Conservative induced Lord Lytton and some influential men to wear buttonholes of primroses on the 19th of April, and finally at his own expense advertised the movement in the papers, and the idea "caught on," and to-day thousands of bunches of primroses are sent to London, and all Conservatives bedeck the lapel of their coats, and in some cases the facade of their houses, with the little flower, which means a source of income to the children of the rural districts in many parts of England.

"Le Quais Des Grand Augustins."

Mr. J. W. Morrice, whose picture "Le Quais des Grand Augustins," in the Paris Salon, has been purchased by the French Government, is a son of Mr. David Morrice, the well known cotton merchant of Montreal, and a brother of Mr. Arthur Morrice of Toronto. He was educated at the University of Toronto, where he graduated B.A. in 1886. During his four years of student life he lived in the second house at the Residence, and, though of a somewhat reserved disposition, was highly appreciated by those who had the privilege of his acquaintance. Even in those days he devoted a great deal of time to drawing, and he was also a clever performer on the flute. Shortly after graduating he left for Europe to study art and has lived in Paris most of the time since.

No More Operations.

The day for operations for piles is past for all who know of the efficacy of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for this horrible ailment. It doesn't matter what form of piles you have, so long as you use Dr. Chase's Ointment carefully and plentifully, it will soon bring relief and cure. Ask your friends and neighbours what they know about this preparation.

MAJORITY GROWS LARGER.

Division in the House of Commons on the Budget Was a Record Breaking One For Government.

Ottawa, June 16.—When the orders of the day were called in the House yesterday, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated than an Order-in-Council had been passed relieving Lord Dundonald of his duties as general officer commanding the Canadian militia. He said there was other correspondence in connection with the matter, which would probably be laid on the table before the House adjourned.

Labor Commission Cost $81,718.

Replying to Mr. Smith of Vancouver, Sir William Mulock stated that the cost of the commission issued in 1886 to enquire into the relation of capital and labor in Canada was $81,718. Fourteen commissioners were appointed. Two reports were made, and, acting on these reports, an act was passed creating a labor bureau for the settlement of labor disputes. This act, Sir William said, remained a dead letter.

From the Newspapers.

Mr. Clarke was informed that the amount collected since 1898 for the carriage of Canadian newspapers through the mails was as follows: 1899 (six months), $21,750; 1900, $104,850; 1901, $107,344; 1902, $116,576; 1903, $129,470, and in 1904, till the month of April, $100,-024.

Reports at Early Date.

Mr. Clarke asked for all the correspondence received so far from the Amalgamated Society of Dominion Engineers regarding the employment of alien labor on the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Sir William Mulock replied that he knew of no correspondence that had been omitted. He suggested that it would be well to wait for the report of Judge Winchester's commission, when the full correspondence would be supplied to the House.

This was agreed to on the understanding that the report should be made at an early date.

Will Take Monday.

Mr. Borden remarked to the Prime Minister that it would be desirable to have all Government legislation brought before the House at an early date. The Prime Minister replied that the Government proposed to take Monday for Government business, and when the motion is made next Friday he hopes to be able to announce the nature of the remaining legislation.

TERRIBLE DISASTER

Six Hundred New York People Burned to Death or Drowned.

EXCURSION STEAMER BURNED

The Majority of the Victims Were Women and Children—Frightful Panic Among Those on Board—Many Jumped Into the East River Before the Slocum Was Beached—Pitiful Scenes.

New York, June 16.—One of the most appalling disasters in the history of New Yok, tragic in its immensity, dramatic in its episodes, and deeply pathetic in the tender age of most of its victims, occurred yesterday in the East River, at the entrance to Long Island Sound, within a short distance of the New York shore, and within sight of thousands of persons, the majority of whom were powerless to give aid.

By the burning to the water's edge of the General Slocum, a three-decked excursion steamer, the largest in these waters, more than 600 persons, the majority of whom were women and children, were burned to death or drowned by jumping overboard or by being thrown into the whirlpool of Hell Gate by the lurching of the vessel. Approximately 500 bodies have been recovered, and now are being tagged at the morgues of Bellevue Hospital and Harlem.

Held Choked With Bodies.

Divers still are busy taking bodies from the hold of the vessel, which, they say, is choked with bodies, and hundreds who leaped or were thrown into the river have not been recovered. The fire is said to have broken out in a lunch-room on the forward deck, through the overturning of a pot of grease. The wind was high and all efforts to subdue the fire were futile.

The captain is under arrest and says it would be inadvisable for him to make any statement at present, but he says that he and the first and second pilots, Edward Van Hart and E. M. Weaver, were in the pilot house until the Slocum was beached.

Sunday School Excursion.

The General Slocum left Third street, East River, at 9.30 a.m., having on board the annual Sunday school excursion of St. Mark's German Lutheran Church, Sixth street. Her destination was Locust Grove, on the Sound. The excursion was in charge of Rev. George C. F. Haas, pastor of the church. The vessel was commanded by Captain William Van Schaiack, one of the best known excursion boat captains in New York harbor, who has commanded the General Slocum almost since she was built in 1891. The number of excursionists on board variously is estimated at from 1,500 to 2,500, but according to an official statement issued by the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company, the number of passengers was 473, that being one-third of the vessel's licensed capacity.

Decks Crowded With Merrymakers.

The steamer proceeded up the East River, each of her decks being crowded with merrymakers, with bands playing and flags flying. The Slocum had reached a point at the sunken Meadows, off 135th street, which is at the extreme eastern end of Randall's Island, when fire broke out in a lunch room on the forward deck, caused by the overturning of a pot of grease. A high wind fanned the flames into instant fury. Efforts to subdue the fire were futile, and word was sent at once to the captain, who started to land the steamer at 134th street. He was warned, however, that the boat would set fire to lumber yards and oil tanks there, and changed the Slocum's course, heading her for North Brother Island, half a mile away. The flames now had broken out all along either side of the steamer, and were fanned by a strong head wind. The passengers, seized with a panic, rushed to the rear of the vessel to escape the heat and the smoke that were increasing constantly. The wild disorder increased, as frantic mothers sought to find their children, who had been at play about the decks.

Jumped Overboard.

The steamer's whistle was blowing for assistance, and tugs and other nearby craft answered to the call. Before any of the boats could reach the burning steamer, however, the frantic women and children began to jump overboard. The current was strong and there are many whirlpools in the channels. The boats that were following the Slocum picked up many from the water, but these were only a small number of those that were seen struggling in the swift current. On the Slocum the first sweep of the flames cut off escape from the hurricane deck, where a great many of the women and children were crowded together, and soon burned away the light woodenwork which supported the deck. It is thought that most of those who were on this deck were burned. As the fire increased the struggle to gain a point of vantage at the stern became frightful. Women and children crowded against the after rail until it gave way and hundreds were pushed off into the river. After this there was a steady stream of those who jumped or were thrown into the water. The tugs and small craft following after kept close in the wake of the Slocum and rescued all of those who came within reach of their crews. Few of those who were saved had on life preservers. Throughout all the wild panic the officers and men of the blazing boat stayed at their posts.

Decks Caved In.

The Slocum got within fifty feet of the northwest point of North Brother Island and there stopped in the shallow water. Just before the vessel was beached, the hurricane deck, the supports of which had burned away, fell with its load of women and children, adding to the panic and horror of those on the deck below.

Very soon after parts of the second and third decks also caved in. But before this happened the tug Walter Tracey had come alongside the burning steamer and had been lashed to it. Many of the passengers were taken off by the crew of the Tracey, which remained alongside the steamer until the tug's pilot house took fire.

Pitiful Scenes.

The scene on North Brother Island as described by the rescuers was a pitiful one. Body after body was washed ashore or brought in by boats and added to the long row on the beach. Fifty-three persons died there while the doctors were attending them.

For hours the bodies of the burned and the drowned drifted ashore on the island, and between 181st street and 128th street in Manhattan. Some came ashore still alive. Many of these died, while others will recover.

Meanwhile the Slocum burned to the waters' edge. At 12.25 o'clock, two hours and twenty-five minutes after the fire was first discovered, she sank. It is estimated that there were nearly 100 charred bodies on her decks. Just after the steamer sank the water was black with bodies

CURIOSITIES OF SIGHT.

Warriors in a Night Attack Black Their Faces Like Minstrels.

The whole world has lately been reading of torpedo attacks and how, through the black waters and in the shadow of night, one vessel can creep up and deal awful destruction to another. But few of those who have been reading about these attacks know what curious efforts are made to procure invisibility on the part of those who direct the deadly torpedoes.

In our own navy, even during the annual manoeuvres, there is one torpedo boat order that is all but unknown to the general public, and this order is, "All hands black faces!" When that order is given every soul on board the torpedo boat, from the chief officer to the lowest in rank of the men, blacks his face after the manner of the average "nigger" minstrels; indeed, the stock of pigments usually kept for the purpose is obtained from some purveyor of stage requisites. And the result is vastly effective, for, even on the blackest night, a white face can be almost seen at once, standing out from the surrounding gloom, by eyes that are pretty well accustomed to the darkness.

As far back as the days of Nelson the boarding parties that used to do such acts of desperate valor in cutting-out expeditions all had their faces blacked when a night attack was planned, and, however unheroic it may seem, every man nowadays going to what may be an awful death on a torpedo boat attack is as black as any sweep; even hands, arms, and neck being included in the blackening process.—Tit-Bits.

World's Record Shooting.

The Queen's Edinburgh Rifle Brigade have been declared the winners of an Imperial rifle match shot for in various parts of the King's domains, and have created a new world's record in rifle shooting.

Their team of ten, firing seven shots each at three ranges—200, 500 and 600 yards—made the remarkable score of 1,002, which is an average of over 100 points per man.

A score of 104, or one less than the possible, was made by Sergeant Ommundsen for the winners. This marksman won the King's prize at Bisley in 1901:

The following were the results:

1. Queen's Edinburgh Rifle Brigade	1,002
2. Bangalore Rifles	956
3. 13th Canadian Infantry	951
4. Altcar Rifle Club	940
5. 2nd V.B. Liverpool Regiment	930
6. Liverpool Rifle Club	915
7. Rupanyup Rifle Club, Australia	909
8. 77th Canadian Regiment	904
9. Natal Coast Rifle Association	902

Three Rifles on a Seesaw.

William Redmond, M.P., once arose to speak in the House of Commons, according to The Boston Evening Record, and there came a question, hurled at him from the Right side of the House:

"Will you vote for this bill if it comes up?"

Mr. Redmond looked from one side of the House to the other and slowly answered:

"I will——"

Immediately the Right side of the House burst into a storm of applause. But Mr. Redmond continued, as soon as he could be heard:

"——not——"

Then the storm came from the Left side, and as soon as it subsided for a moment he completed what he started:

"——answer that question."

And perfect silence reigned on both sides.

¶ Your brain is tied pretty closely to your digestive machinery.

¶ Like a coal fire when it gets clinkered up, it's generally the fuel that's to blame.

¶ "FORCE" is what you might call a "free-burning" food.

¶ If you eat plenty of it you won't have those stuck-in-the-mud days when everything seems to be going backward instead of forward.

Sunny Jim

When you buy coal you find some stones mixed with it. These stones cost as much as the coal. They also take up and waste more heat than the coal they displace would have developed.

Just so with the foods you eat which you do not digest.

People who would quickly build Brawn, Brain, and Bone should eat plenty of "FORCE."

Because it is not only rich in the Phosphates and Nitrogen of Wheat that build Brain, Nerve, and Brawn, but is malted with Barley, so that it digests other foods in the stomach, extracting greater nutrition from them.

Serve cold (or hot) with real Cream, or Fruit.

"FORCE" is made in Canada.

THE AUSTRALIAN BARS

BARMAIDS OF ADELAIDE LIKE A DROP OF FIZZ.

Prettier and More Stylish Than Young Women in Similar Occupations in West Australia—How a Jewess "Planted" the Wine and Spirit Circular's Sociologist and Investigator—Australians No Believers in Soft Drinks.

The expert investigator and indefatigable sociologist who illuminates the pages of Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular with accounts of the bars of many peoples has reached the land of the laughing jackass in his travels. Adelaide pleases him. American beers may be bought there, but the stronger waters familiar to all observers of dead walls and bill boards are not to be had. In Adelaide the sociologist reached the decision that the barmaids there are, as a class, prettier and more stylish than the young women in similar occupations in West Australia. In Adelaide the barmaids do not drink spirits, but "few will refuse a drop of fizz, for they not only like it, but to sell 'wine' redounds to the glory and profit of a barmaiden." The wages are low. The observer writes:

Their boys (to them every male human being from 17 to 70 is spoken of as a "boy") suffer in proportion to provide flowers, gloves, theatre tickets, silk blouses, shoes and occasionally coats, costumes or bits of jewelry for their particular fancies among those fascinating females.

Even the earnest student from abroad is lured to extravagance. The Circular's hero spent an hour or two each evening in one bar, "swapping tales with the barmaids." Hear his story:

Of these one was a Jewess of great beauty, who always called me "Doctor," because, she said, I resembled one who had cured her mother of some dreadful eye trouble. Well, Rene asked me to take her to the circus on her next night off, and said she would bring her mother, "who adored the circus." We consented, and at the time fixed met Rene "and her mother," and her father and married sister, and two brothers as well! Not bad for a plant, but we took our medicine smilingly, for cleverness ought always to be appreciated, even when it is displayed at one's expense.

The philosopher victimized keeps his temper. The circus was a great success. One evening the "largest living tiger in existence" mouthed his trainer, "the great Mexican Lion King," a native of Jamaica.

The management reported the trainer's injuries as "slight," but he died before morning, and in twenty-four hours the circus management had an offer of £1,000 for the tiger, which previous to this incident had been held at £200. Advertising pays. The circus is not unduly prosperous, but the "earnings almost paid their gas bills." But the business situation demands attention. The brewers control most of the bars. Great inducements are necessary to obtain a foothold in the market. The outlook is by no means hopeless, however:

With a smooth, sound rye, not less than five years of age, a man versed in gentlemanly salesmanship (no "hustler" would succeed here), with tact and a little patience might pick his brewer—as he would have practically no competition from similar lines—and with some missionary work of his own, and conversion—by tips—of a few of the most popular of barmaids, a trade would be created in very short order, with profit to the exporter from this side whose whiskey could be made to net him at least $1.50 per gallon in bond, f.o.b., Atlantic or Pacific ports.

Given a sound, mature rye, a good man, a liberal allowance, capital and patience enough to wait a reasonable time for the adventure to become profitable, and we can get into that trade to stay; but success will be due mainly to eternal vigilance that no shipment be ever sent whose standard of quality, strength, color and flavor is not in all respects equal to that of the first shipment.

A pleasing future for the man versed in "gentlemanly salesmanship" to whom the Adelaide mission falls. "Adelaide, as to temperature, is delightful during the Antipodean autumn, winter and spring, say, from May to September; but during the other seven months it is what Gen. Sherman called war!" The barmaids are "deft and smiling, and at times even frivolous"—but not so the thrifty Rene. Adelaide is "the city of churches," and the best Scotch and brandy is sold at 12c. a drink and pour your own poison.

There is a good band, the closing hours "are punctually observed," and Sundays are dry days, except in the big hotels. "Proprietors wax rich," for the "Australians are no believers in soft drinks."

"The Thread of the Season."

It was recently stated in Canadian Associated Press despatches that the Hon. Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton, the wife of the Colonial Secretary, has lately completed a drama which Mrs. Patrick Campbell will produce at the Camden Theatre on June 6. It appears that the piece at present bears no title, but it may be called "The Thread of the Season," an appropriate phrase, in that it aptly describes the story. It is a society play in three acts, and deals with one of the social problems, namely, the arduous task imposed on dressmakers' assistants during the season by fashionable dames. Mrs. Patrick Campbell will take the part of one of these humble workers, and she will wear the same dress throughout the performance. Among the other twenty-two speaking parts, however, there are numerous female characters who will wear dainty confections.

The Naming of Port Arthur.

Port Arthur was named after Lieutenant Commander Arthur of the British Navy, who anchored his ship in the bay one day about fifty years ago. He was the first foreign ship that had visited the bay.

When Building Was Cheap.

In the days when "The Grange" was built, houses were not dear in Toronto. That was in 1817. Anyone who has seen "The Grange" will have noted that this colonial facsimile of an English manorial establishment is not only large, but well and solidly built. A visit to the interior tells the same story, and reveals a sort of architecture which would have delighted the soul of an Anglo-Saxon king. In that rambling manor, with its panelled walls and dark, lofty ceilings, and heavy carved balustrades, are carloads of walnut and oak; timber enough, if sold for furniture, to build ten large, up-to-date houses in Toronto, even at the present extravagant cost of building. The walls are solid, and the masonry in good condition. The outside pillars are of stone. The building—now the oldest brick house in Toronto—looks as though it might easily stand another half century. Yet, according to Mr. Goldwin Smith, the present occupant of "The Grange," this remarkable building was put up for the fabulous sum of $4,000!

Seventy-Eight Miles an Hour.

The Michigan Central Railway recently made a world's record for fast runs on steam railways, knocking out all previous records. President Ledyard, of the Michigan Central, and President Newman, of the New York Central, passed over the Michigan Central, en route from New York to Chicago, on a special train of one baggage and three private cars. From Niagara Falls to St. Thomas, 115 miles, the time was 97 minutes. On the west end it took twelve minutes and thirty seconds to reach Shedden, owing to slowing up through the city and for the bridge. Windsor, 111 miles, was made in 94 minutes, 30 seconds. From Sheddon to Essex, 86 28.100 miles, the run was made in 66 minutes, or 78 53.00 miles an hour. On the east division, where from Perry it is uphill, 91 59.100 miles, was run in 73 minutes, at the rate of 75 48.100 miles an hour.

Against Alien Labor.

Sault Ste. Marie, June 16.—The alien labor law was the subject for discussion at the meeting of the Soo Board of Trade last night, and a resolution was passed endorsing the petition laboring men have prepared to send to Ottawa, asking the Government to amend the law so as to provide means of retaliation against Americans when thought necessary or advisable.

NOT ONE TO SPARE.

"Which shall it be? Which shall it be?"
I looked at John—John looked at me
(Dear, patient John, who loves me yet
As well as though my locks were jet);
And when I found that I must speak
My voice seemed strangely low and weak.
"Tell me again what Robert said,"
And then I, listening, bent my head.
"This is his letter: 'I will give
A house and land while you shall live,
If, in return, from out your seven
One child to me for aye is given.'"
I looked at John's old garments worn,
I thought of all that John had borne
Of poverty and woe and care,
Which I, though willing, could not share;
I thought of seven mouths to feed,
Of seven little children's need,
And then of this: "Come, John," said I,
"We'll choose as one gives them as they lie
Asleep"; so, walking hand in hand,
Dear John and I surveyed our band.
First to the cradle lightly stepped,
Where Lillian, the baby, slept,
Her shining curls, like gold alight,
A glory 'gainst the pillow white.
Softly the father stooped to lay
His rough hand down in a gentle way,
When dream or whisper made her stir,
And huskily he said, "Not her!"
We stooped beside the trundle-bed,
And one long ray of lamplight shed
Athwart the boyish faces there,
In sleep so pitiful and fair;
I saw on Jamie's rough, red cheek
A tear undried. Ere John could speak,
"He's but a baby, too," said I,
And kissed him as we hurried by.
Pale, patient Robbie's angel face
Still in his sleep bore suffering's trace,
"No, for a thousand crowns, not him!"
He whispered, while our eyes were dim.
Poor Dick! bad Dick, our wayward son,
Turbulent, reckless, idle one—
Could be spared? Nay, He who gave
Bids us befriend him to his grave;
Only a mother's heart can be Patient enough for such as he.
"And so," said John, "I would not dare
To send him from our bedside prayer."
Then stole we softly up above
And knelt by Mary, child of love.
"Perhaps for her 'twould better be,"
I said to John. Quite silently
He lifted up a curl that lay
Across her cheek in wilful way,
And shook his head. "Nay love; not thee."
The while my heart beat audibly.
Only one more, our eldest lad,
Trusty and truthful, good and glad—
So like his father. "No, John, no.
I cannot, will not, let him go."
And so we wrote, in compliant way,
We could not give one child away;
And afterward toil lighter seemed.
Thinking of that of which we dreamed,
Happy in truth that not one face
Was missed from its accustomed place;
Thankful to work for all the seven,
Trusting the rest to One in heaven.

Spurgeon's Joke.

Mr. Spurgeon was once traveling in a railway carriage, the only other occupant of which was a maiden lady of somewhat severe aspect, and to pass the time he entered into conversation with her on various topics.

The train happened to pass Kelvedon, in Essex, where Spurgeon first saw the light, and the preacher who dearly loved a joke, pointed from the window and remarked, "A very great man was born there—Mr. Spurgeon, the eminent preacher."

The lady looked at him with a stony stare for some time, and then replied, "If St. Paul had been passing his birth place, he would have said, 'A very great sinner was born there, Mr. Spurgeon.'" It was the first estimation which the preacher had that he had been recognized by his traveling companion.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, and Leucorrhea, that, after over a third of a century's experience in curing the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in cash for any case of these diseases which he cannot cure.

IT STANDS ALONE.—The "Favorite Prescription" stands alone, as the one and only remedy for these distressingly common forms of weakness, possessed of such positively specific curative properties as to warrant its makers in proposing, and binding themselves to forfeit, as we, the undersigned proprietors of that wonderful remedy hereby do, to pay the sum of $500 in legal money of the United States in any case of the above diseases in which after a fair and reasonable trial of our treatment, we fail to cure. No other medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee; no other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its manufacturers in making such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and turn your back on any unscrupulous dealer who would insult your intelligence by attempting to foist upon you some inferior substitute, under the plea that "it is just as good." Insist on having the article which has a record of a third of a century of cures and which is backed by those willing to forfeit $500 if they cannot cure you.

In cases attended by a leucorrheal drain a solution of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets should be used conjointly with the use of the "Favorite Prescription." They are sold by all druggists, or sent post-paid to any address, on receipt of 25 cents in stamps. Send 50 cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Address WORLD'S DISPENSARY, Buffalo, N. Y.

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.

Workingmen's Paper Wants Civic Beauty Conserved and Enhanced.

At great expense the civic corporation and private citizens have done much in recent years to beautify the city, and the result has been most gratifying and favorably commented upon, both by residents and visitors.

Still, more might be done in the line already adopted, with but little expense on the part of the city or individuals; but in a direction involving absolutely no expense, no move has been made.

Who with an eye for beauty or an abhorrence of outrageous ugliness can have failed to notice the ragtown appearance the city presents for weeks preceding the advent of the annually-looked-for circus? Great flaming streamers are tacked all over buildings, even on the main streets, windows are disfigured with flaring pictures of impossible performances, and the billboards made to look so loud that they can be heard blocks away.

The result is unmitigated ugliness, without the slightest excuse therefor.

Billboards in their normal state are an eyesore, and should be done away with by a city bylaw, as was done in Cleveland. In that city the owners refused to remove their abominations in accordance with the city's orders, so Mayor Tom Johnston had them chopped down and carted away, and the result was less ugliness and more beauty.

Another feature offensive to good taste is the glaring advertisements of the patent medicine fakirs on the blank walls and buildings of business places and private houses. There is no reason why the city should allow these to be used for other than the announcement, in a decent and reasonable way, of the business of the occupant.

Then there is the overhanging sign nuisance and backwoods, huckstering way of displaying goods outside their windows and doors—sometimes the displays being disgusting to the sight as well as malodorous, and always looking out of place.

Occupants of property have a right to use their premises up to the street line, and not one inch farther. If one man appropriates a foot, another will take two and a third three, greatly to the inconvenience of pedestrians.

Why should all these things be permitted? The nuisance is apparent, the city gains no advantage, and the growing beauty of the city is marred.

What lover of decency in the City Council will take the initiative?—Toronto Toiler.

First G.W.R. Engine.

The Galt Reporter states that the first locomotive engine on the Galt branch of the Great Western Railway arrived upon the line on Monday last with a load of rails for the track. The workmen are now engaged in laying the rails, and there is a prospect that the road will soon be opened.

The disastrous accident which took place a few days ago on the Great Western Railroad was occasioned by a cow attempting to run under the third car, which threw it off the track and precipitated it down an embankment of seventy feet, causing the death of seven persons, three fatally wounded and several severely injured. No blame attached to the conductor.—From The Globe, June 8, 1854.

A Sarcastic Parson.

During the crofter disturbances in Skye a British gunboat was sent up to Portree, having on board, among other people, the sheriff of Inverness-shire, Mr. Ivory. A clergyman who sympathized with the crofters took for his text on the following Sunday the words from Kings 10, 22: "Once in three years came the navy of Tarshish, bringing ivory and apes and peacocks."

Tree Nursery at Guelph.

Considerable progress has been made with the tree nursery at the Ontario Agricultural College. Hon. John Dryden stated recently that in the spring of 1906 he expected they would be in a position to distribute to the farmers of the Province at least 200,000 trees of various classes.

"We have during the past ten days transplanted about 50,000 two-year-old evergreens—pine, Norway spruce, larch, etc.—and we have sown enough seed to give us 30,000 more," said Mr. Dryden. "We have also gathered enough acorns for at least 100,000 red and white oak trees, a variety of commercial timber which cannot be very well transplanted, but which grows somewhat rapidly from seed. Besides these we have several other varieties, such as maple, beech, birch, ash, and so on."

The trees are planted apart from two to four inches one way, and from twelve to fourteen inches the other way.

GEMS OF THE MONTHS.

JANUARY.
By those who in this month are born
No gem save garnets should be worn.
They will insure you constancy,
True friendship and fidelity.

FEBRUARY.
The February born will find
Sincerity and peace of mind,
Freedom from passion and from care,
If they the amethyst will wear.

MARCH.
Who on this world of ours their eyes
In March first open shall be wise;
In days of peril firm and brave,
And wear a bloodstone to their grave.

APRIL.
Those who in April date their years
Diamonds shall wear, lest bitter tears
For vain repentance flown
This stone emblem of innocence is known.

MAY.
Who first beholds the light of day
In spring's sweet flowery month of May,
And wears the emerald all her life
Shall be a loved and happy wife.

JUNE.
Who comes with summer to this earth,
And owes to June her day of birth,
With ring of agate on her hand
Can health, wealth and peace command.

JULY.
The glowing ruby should adorn
Those who in warm July are born;
Thus will they be exempt and free
From love's doubts and anxiety.

AUGUST.
Wear a sardonyx or for thee
No conjugal felicity.
The August born, without this stone,
'Tis said, must live unloved alone.

SEPTEMBER.
A maiden born when autumn's leaves
Are rustling in September's breeze,
A sapphire on her brow should bind;
'Twill cure diseases of the mind.

OCTOBER.
October's child is born of woe,
And life's vicissitudes must know;
But lay an opal on her breast
And hope will lull the foes to rest.

NOVEMBER.
Who first came to the world below
With dull November's fogs and snow,
Should prize the topaz's amber hue,
Emblem of friends and lovers true.

DECEMBER.
If cold December gave you birth,
The month of snow and ice and mirth
Place on your hand a turquoise blue—
Success will bless you if you do.

To Preserve Your Shoes.

Never try to wear a shoe too small or that does not fit when you first put it on.

There is no misery more distracting than a shoe that hurts the foot.

Never let your shoes get hard and dry. Don't let them run over.

Don't let the heels run down.

Don't dry a wet shoe till you have rubbed it well with a flannel cloth and then with vaseline.

Never put shoes near the stove.

Half a peck of oats, kept in a small box, will be the very cheapest and best filling for a wet shoe. Fill the shoe and shake the oats down, after having rubbed and oiled it, and set in a dry place to dry gradually. When dry pour the oats back for further use.

Take a wet rag and wash the shoe at least once a week, and oil overnight to keep in good condition.

Never handle patent leather until you have warmed it.

Never wear goloshes with good shoes.

There is no part of a lady's dress which should be more scrupulously neat or that is so often neglected.

THE TRIO RETURNED FROM WESTERN TOUR.

A Three Week's Run Through Western Canada and United States.

What Things the Tourists saw on the Way.

Messrs. H. H. Edmison, W. G. Morrow, and W. H. Bradburn, returned last night from a three weeks' tour. The primary object of their tour was to visit Winnipeg in the interests of their own private affairs, and of others associated with them. The party speaks in glowing terms of the conditions of affairs in Winnipeg. The general commercial conditions are splendidly good. The twenty chartered banks in the city, splendidly housed in buildings equal, if not superior to any of their kind in Chicago, which was also visited by the party—are kept in a state of feverish activity from the demands on their funds created by the large volume of business flowing through the city, and this, in turn, due to the inrush of settlement of the boundless area of the Northwest.

The city is forging ahead rapidly in growth. Building operations are brisk, as many as 500 or 600 houses being under construction. There is said to be no land boom. Prices of real estate rule high, but there is comparatively little turn over, owing perhaps to the fact that lots within the city are being utilized for building purposes. Nevertheless the progress and commercial activity in the city are wonderful, as brisk and great in proportion to its size as in Chicago, which the party also visited en route for St. Louis, where the great World's Fair was visited. There is a fairly large attendance, but things are in an uncompleted condition, and it is supposed that it will be October before the Fair is under full swing. The party had some difficulty in the United States in exchanging Canadian for American money, the Yankees evidently do not know a good thing when they see it, for they refused to take Canadian money, even bank notes, at more than two and a half per cent. discount. They forgot, or they don't know, that there is not a bank in the United States, founded on as solid a basis, with bills as good as minted gold, as the ordinary chartered bank of Canada.

The good, old fashioned fishing tackle, the kind that catches fish, is the kind you get at Salisbury's and the prices are the very lowest.

TWO GREATEST MENAGERIES UNITED.

Rarest Wild Beasts with Interesting Histories

No one competent to express an opinion of the subject ever questioned the claim that Adam Forepaugh's menagerie contained the biggest and rarest collection of wild beasts ever moved by road or rail; with that of the Sells Brothers such a close second in cost and magnitude as to make the rivalry between them highly interesting. From Madison Square Garden, New York, to Melbourne, Australia, the surpassing result of combining these two traveling zoological gardens is well known. It may be incidentally mentioned that in the last named city value and interest were added to this living aggregation by the purchase there of the enormous tigers forming a notable feature of its public zoological garden. One of these terrible creatures was shot seven times with a Winchester, at close range, in Maysville, Ky., in the effort to rescue a fool-hardy keeper from its massive jaws. Some idea of its strength and vitality may be gathered from the fact that it still lives, with four balls in its body, three others having passed entirely through it. Among the recent additions are to be seen the extraordinary and unprecedented number of fourteen living, full-grown Polar Bears, a single specimen of which has heretofore been regarded as an exceptionally rare feature. Another ponderous amphibious attraction is the biggest known living Nile Hippopotamus, who, since the Sells Brothers brought him and his late mate, twenty-five years ago, has grown from a blessed baby of five hundred weight to tip the scales at four tons, and, strange to relate, though naturally a tender tropical creature, has become acclimated to live long, and prosper in water, whose temperature would just suit the fourteen Polar Bears. The double herds of biggest, lightest and brightest elephants—whose united ages it has been computed, would reach from the beginning of the first great pyramid to the completion of the last sky-scraper—the Sultan droves of gigantic and sacred camels and dromedaries, the great double dens filled with an intercontinent congress of splendid specimens of everything worth seeing that roars, chatters, coils, crushes, ravages, ruminates, runs or flies, will also be here on Saturday, July 2nd, and you will have a full hour in which to inspect them and enjoy the popular promenade concert by Prof. Merrick's fine military and arenic band, before the brilliant circus and hippodromatic performances are announced.

A BEAUTIFUL BOOK.

"A beautiful book," is a mild and weak term to describe the beautiful publication issued by the Grand Trunk Railway System in connection with the St. Louis World's Fair. In typography, conception, illustration and general make up, it is a veritable publication de luxe. Its beautifully embossed covers, bearing allegorical figures, in alto relievo, symbolizing the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans are an indication of the excellence and beauty of the contents, 48 pages, of profusely illustrated, descriptive matter, relating to the capital features of the Exposition, including excellent maps of the city of St. Louis, with street car lines, and other routes, guiding visitors to the great Fair. Excellent maps of the expansive Grand Trunk Railway System, which reaches the greater part of the continent, are also given. The book, with its photogravures, printed on art paper, equal in finish of effect to the finest work of the camera artist, constitute the book a beautiful souvenir of, and a splendid guide to, the Exposition, as well as of the enterprise, alertness and taste of the Grand Trunk Ry. The Examiner has to thank Mr. J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, for a copy of this captivating publication, from whom copies, well worth having, may be obtained by enclosing four cents, and addressing him at Room 308, Union Station, Toronto.

THOUSANDS GIVE THIS EXPERIENCE

Early Kidney Ill Surely Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Story of the Great Majority who Cure Their Kidney Complaint Before it Gets a Chance to Become Bright's Disease.

St. Pierre, Montmagny Co., Que., June 15. — (Special.) — While the papers every day tell of wonderful cures of Bright's Disease and others of the most advanced stages of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, the thousands of people who cure their earlier Kidney ailments with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and thus avoid danger and suffering, are scarcely heard of. Take the case of Jos. Ed. Blais of this place, for example. Mr. Blais says:

"For three years I had kidney disease. I took Dodd's Kidney Pills, and thanks to them I am now perfectly healthy."

There is nothing thrilling about this experience. It is the same as thousands of other Canadians give. Dodd's Kidney Pills simply cured their Kidney Disease and it never got a chance to develop into Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, or any of the other terrible ailments that only Dodd's Kidney Pills can cure.

FOOTBALL.

Upon learning of the default of the Y.M.C.A. team to Locust Hill, the Wanderers team very kindly came to the rescue and offered to go to Locust Hill to-morrow and give that team a game as that they would not be entirely disappointed. This action of Wanderers is indeed a commendable one, and shows that although they have had a season of rather poor luck, they are still true sports, and are prepared in a case of emergency to fill a vacancy, and do their best to prevent disappointments.

The Quakers leave to-morrow on the 11.35 C.P.R. for Tweed, where they play a sudden death game with the Deseronto eleven, former champions of the Prince Edward League, and who have won their district this year without playing a game. The Quakers have been playing good ball this year as their record shows and the game to-morrow should be one of the best played in the Midland League series this season. The line up for the Quakers will be as follows:—Goal, E. Bellegthem; backs, J. Dorris, B. Simpson; halfbacks, M. Guerin, P. Fitzgerald, G. McEwen; forwards, E. Benton, C. Fitzgerald, W. Crowley, J. Guerin, M. Cungadall; spares, L. Brooks, I. Moore. Manager Sullivan claims that the above named team should put up a great game and feels confident of victory. The following is a quotation from the Norwood Register, regarding what Caughnawaga has to say for the Quakers, and shows the true sporting spirit of the Caughnawaga bunch: "The district was won by the Quakers. The champions we can safely say are the most gentlemanly lot of fellows that ever faced a ball. They win square or not at all. They now stand at the top of the class and well deserve their victory, being everyone of them properly qualified to hold their own against any that come their way. We, the Caughnawaga eleven and rivals in district four wish them every success in the finals and hope to see them advance as rapidly as when in the district games."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

I was greatly surprised yesterday to read in the columns of the local press that the Y.M.C.A. football team had defaulted the game to be played in Locust Hill to-morrow, and had decided to play no further games in the League this season. This action on the part of the Y.M.C.A. team, is to say the least, unsportsmanlike, and does not cast a very creditable reflection upon the character of sport indulged in by the institution represented by this team. The Locust Hill team came here last Saturday, paying their own expenses, and gave the Y.M.C.A. a good game, and judging from the number of spectators seen on the grounds, the gate receipts should have been satisfactory. I understand that the Y.M.C.A. team promised to play the return game in Markham to-morrow, and the Locust Hill team made all arrangements in accordance with this understanding, and it is quite natural to suppose that they will feel that they have been unfairly treated by the Y.M.C.A. team, by the latter defaulting at this late date.

It seems to be a line of conduct which does not do the association credit, and it is to be hoped that it was not taken with the consent of the Executive Officers. That the team which won the cup last year, under circumstances which are still fresh in the memory of those associated with the League at that time, should default after having had a home game, to a team which has thus far shown a good sportsmanlike spirit, is certainly a record, of which the Y.M.C.A. team and its supporters have no cause to feel proud. If it is a question of finances, surely there are enough supporters of the team who would be willing to advance them the small amount of money required to enable them to make the trip and maintain their honour, at least for the Association, which the team represents, and which if it stands for anything, it should be true sport, both for the sake of doing right, because it is right, and for the sake of a good example.

To-morrow afternoon's game between the T.A.S. and Lindsay promises to be a lively contest. The total abstainers have won three games in a row and have eyes on the pennant and consequently will exert every effort to win out in to-morrow's contest. Quinlan will be on the wish and as he is pitching great ball these days, a victory is anticipated. The game will be played on the Murray street grounds.

The Lindsay Post says: — The game between the T. A. S. of Peterborough, and the Fenelon Falls bunch yesterday, resulted in a win for the T.A.S. by 6—4. The game was umpired by Mr. Tim Burke, town, who reports a good game, run off very smoothly. His decisions were not challenged by either team. Tim makes a good umpire, is fair and impartial, and is popular with the boys.

In an interesting game of ball at the Oval last evening, the Peterborough's won from the Auburns by 11-2. Seven innings were played. Dan McCabe was on the slab for the winners and pitched good ball, fanning several and keeping the hits well scattered. He was given good support by Graham behind the bat. McCorry was hit freely at times and was somewhat wild. Lamonte cracked out two two-baggers. The teams were:—Peterborough,— McCabe, p; Graham, c; Filling 1 b; Lamonte, s.s.; Sheridan, 3 b; Waram, l.f.; Fitzgerald c. f.; Simpson, r.f. Auburn, —McCorry, p; Gillespie, and Belleghem c; Kelly 1 b; Giller 2 b; Renton s.s.; Clegg 3 b; Cray l. f.; Latimer, r.f.; Shaw, r. f. Umpire, F. Brown.

• • •

Last evening on St. Luke's grounds the young Quakers made their 6th straight victory by defeating St. Luke's Guild by a score of 3 to 1. Quinlan had the Guild team at his mercy during the first two innings, striking out five men. Swanston allowed one hit and two bases on balls in the fourth, thus filling the bases, and with one man out it looked dangerous but Budley was there with the goods and got himself out of the hole by striking out the last two batsmen. Taken all through it was fast and exciting. Gillespie pitched a very good game for the losers. McMullen made a sensational catch of a foul, making a nice run from his position at third base, to get the ball. O'Toole for the losers also made a nice catch at third.

Batteries were, Quinlan, Swanston and Heaslip; Gillespie and Crane.

The Young Quakers would like to arrange a series of games with the Guild League teams.

• • • •

In the snappiest game of baseball seen in the Guild League this season St. Andrew's won from Charlotte street in the concluding three innings of their match last evening by 1—0, losing the round by a score of 5—1. The game was a brilliant exhibition of ball marked by fast fielding and fine pitching. The contest was witnessed by a large crowd, there being members of every Guild in the League present to see the contest. Patterson on the rubber for St. Andrew's was in great shape last evening, allowing but two scattered hits. Roddy, though suffering from a sore arm, also pitched great ball, and kept his hard-hitting opponents down to two safe hits, both being clean drives by Elliott. The Charlotte street boys played a steadier game in the field, giving fine support to their twirler; they had three men left on bases in the last innings, the required hit not being forthcoming. St. Andrew's scored in the last innings, on an error, a base on balls and a hit. A sharp double play by McWilliams and E. Roddy spoiled a chance for a score in the last innings. Both Thornton and McDonald caught in splendid fashion. The teams were:—

St. Andrew's.—Patterson, p; McDonald, c; Elliott, 1b; McKnight, 2b; Glover, 3b; Foster, ss; F. E. Kerr, lf; Reid, cf; Miller, rf.

Charlotte Street — H. Roddy, p; Thornton, c; Jolliffe, 1b; Carr, 2b; E. Roddy, 3b; McWilliams, ss; Sanderson, lf; Fuller, cf; Ryan, rf.

Umpire, H. R. H. Kenner.

The standing of the teams in District No. 2, of the Guild League is now as follows:

	Won.	Lost.
Charlotte Street	2	0
St. Andrew's	1	1
St. Luke's	0	2

Next week Charlotte Street plays at St. Luke's.

CRUISE OF THE SEA GULL.

First Canadian Cargo to Natal, Africa, Was a $3,500 Loss—From Toronto to the Port of Durban.

This is the tale that was told to me
My a battered and shattered son of the sea,
To me and my messmate, Silas Green,
When I was a guileless young marine.

While the Transportation Commission is traveling about the country gathering information on this important question, many opportunities occur for reminiscences of earlier days of transportation in Canada, and few are better qualified to speak of these than Mr. Robert Reford of Montreal, says The Globe. On one of these occasions Mr. Reford gave a most interesting account of his experiences as a merchant in Toronto, where he conducted business in the Market nearly fifty years ago. At that time a line of four schooners of about 450 tons ran for three years between Liverpool and Toronto, continuing on to Chicago. Mr. Reford recalled the names of two of them, the Wirralight and the Jack de Mole.

Among Mr. Reford's possessions of that time was the schooner Sea Gull, of about 300 tons. In 1862 his friend Capt. Frank Jackman of Toronto suggested fitting this vessel out with a cargo for Port Natal, now Durban, South Africa, where the captain had a friend, through whom he felt confident a very profitable sale of the cargo could be made. "Well, but," said Mr. Reford to the captain, "what will we load her with?" and at the captain's suggestion lumber was the cargo, but 200 barrels of whiskey, at that time selling for about 25 cents a gallon, and a quantity of general merchandise were added. A seafaring commander was secured at Quebec and the voyage begun. After a long delay in the doldrums at the equator the Sea Gull reached Cape Town, where she had the misfortune of losing her anchors in a storm. A similar experience was also met at Port Elizabeth. The schooner finally arrived off Port Natal in a storm, which carried her 200 miles away. Returning she was again driven past the port, but made it on the third attempt, running straight into a little stream, which left her high and dry when the tide went out.

Now was Captain Jackman's chance to make a fortune by the sale of his cargo, but, alas, the population of Natal had little use for lumber or whiskey. The natives had risen, and the white population were in terror for their lives, their greatest desire being to be taken away. The lumber seemed useless for anything but coffins. It was unloaded, and sugar, rum, ostrich feathers and baboons shipped in its place, besides 50 passengers anxious to be taken anywhere else With this cargo and the whiskey still on board the return voyage was made to Boston. Whether from the presence of the ripening whiskey on board or otherwise Mr. Reford did not explain, but the monkeys behaved so badly that only two reached America alive. And after discharging her cargo at Boston the Sea Gull returned to Toronto, where the baboons were turned over to delight the juvenile portion of the population.

Mr. Reford added that the loss on the venture was not more than $3,500.

Such was the tale that was told to me
By that modest and truthful son of the sea;
And I envy the life of a second mate,
Though captains curse him and sailors hate,
For he's not like some of the swabs I've seen,
As would go and lie to a poor marine.

Gas at Medicine Hat.

Medicine Hat, June 16.—A tremendous flow of natural gas was struck in the municipal wells yesterday. It flows 1,500,000 feet per day. It is a wonderful thing for Medicine Hat.
